This was a queen's bed, but almost equally gorgeous ones were common for several centuries. In the reign of Queen Anne a bedstead put up as a prize in a lottery was reported to have cost over £3,000.—London Family Herald.

Graft in the Household.

The tipping system has become acute now that graft is boldly recognized as "business," and the world has no shame for the majority of workers in the vineyard. A charming young matron exclaimed the other day that graft had even invaded her household. She was asked how that were possible and replied, "I have discovered that my most trusted and faithful maid has been approached by some one who shall be nameless to advise the cook, who is another treasure, to leave me." "But she did not?" "Yes, she did," said the young matron, laughing. "Yes, she did, and I don't blame her for the price. My nice Jelia was paid $20 to sell me out, and the cook's wages are about double what I can pay." "A case of bribery." "Not at all—plain, unvarnished graft," was the philosophic response.—Boston Herald.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed out this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days' test will surely tell. Try it once and see. Sold by all dealers.

Aerial Show Opens in Boston.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 16.—The first air-ship show ever given in America will open in Mechanics' Building today to continue until February 23. It is officially called the First National Exhibition of Aerial Craft. More than a score of large flying machines will be shown, among them the Boston balloon, the Baldwin dirigible, a Wright model, a Curtiss type, Langley, Bleriot, Santos-Dumont and other machines.

Not In Love.

The cashier of a French bank enters the private office of the president nervous and agitated.

"Sir," he says, "I have something on my mind which I feel myself compelled to disclose, though for months I have striven to conceal it." The president turns pale. "The fact is I love your daughter!"

The president breathes more freely. "Ah, you love my daughter! Do you ever make any errors in your books or in counting your cash, find yourself abstracted, eh?"

"Never, sir," with pride.

"Then, sir, I must decline to encourage your suit. You are not really in love."

Kept Dodging.

There was a chicken to be killed for Sunday dinner at the Cranes'. Mr. Crane did not like to wring its neck; likewise he shrank from using an axe.

"I have it," he finally decided. "I'll shoot it. So, armed with his trusty gun, he took the chicken to the woodshed. Little Robert, anxious to be in at the death, followed. By and by Robert's mother, hearing no sound, stepped to the back porch and called, "Robert, hasn't your father killed that chicken yet?"

A Curious Dish.

The favorite dish at Egyptian banquets is a curious one. It appears to be a lamb roasted whole, and it is, but there is much more to it than appears on the outside, for inside the lamb is a turkey, and inside the turkey is a chicken; the chicken is stuffed with a pigeon, the pigeon with a quail, and a becafico, said to be the smallest bird known, except the humming bird, is at the heart of this curious roast.

Still There.

Peckham (meeting an old friend)—Why, Dingley, is this you? I haven't seen you for ten years. How are you anyhow? Dingley—Oh, I'm just like I used to be. By the way, Peckham, how's your wife? You used to say you had the best girl when you were single. Peckham (sadly)—She's still here.—Life.

A Gastronomic Feat.

"Ah, I've seen some rough times, sir!" said an old salt. "Once we were wrecked and we'd eaten all our provisions. Then we ate our belts, and then the ship turned turtle, and we ate her too!"

NEWS OF THE CITY

Local Events Gathered by Times' Reporters.

Meetings Postponed.

The meeting of the Canadian Club which was to have been held tonight has been postponed until Thursday night of next week. Mr. Blackstock will be the speaker.

An Accident at Blackwater.

A truck of the tender on the engine of the Grand Trunk passenger train which left here at 5.35 Tuesday evening for Toronto, broke at Blackwater, and the line was blocked for several hours. The two trains from Toronto were made into one and arrived here about midnight.

On Indian List.

At the police court yesterday morning a man named Nathan Stabler, was summoned for violation of the liquor license law, who was found on Feurnary 18, on the street, in an intoxicated condition. Stabler was unable to be present on account of illness, and the case was accordingly enlarged until Friday next.

Fair Directors Will Meet.

A meeting of the directors of the Peterborough Fair will be held in the City Council chambers next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The prize list will be revised, committees appointed and other business arranged.

Campbellford Citizen Dead.

Mr. Sam Fox, M.P., of Lindsay, accompanied by his son, passed through this city on Tuesday morning to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law, Mr. Ivey, of Campbellford. The deceased was an old and well-known resident of Campbellford.

Bindery Apprentice Wanted.

We want a good boy in our bindery department to learn the bookbinding trade. A splendid chance for a bright boy to learn a first-class trade. Apply at Times Bookstore.

An Apple Spill.

While in the act of delivering a load of apples to Mr. Oke on George street yesterday, Mr. J. D. Frowlie, a farmer, had the misfortune to lose control of his horses, which bolted across the street, where they collided with a post, spilling the apples in every direction. Little damage was done save for the loss of the apples.

After 26 Years.

Mr. S. Spry, of Melfort, Sask., is spending a few days in town the guest of his uncle, Mr. Louis Spry. Mr. Spry formerly resided in Port Hope and also in Haliburton county, and is known to very many of the old residents of this city. This is the first visit to Peterborough in 26 years, and he naturally has much to say regarding the great changes which have taken place during that period. He, like many others who have gone to the West, has made his "pile," and is regarded as one of the prominent citizens of Melfort. Mr. Spry, in addition to his regular occupation, is interested in the Carrot River Journal, a weekly paper published in the district. He leaves for Toronto in a day or two, where he will spend a couple of weeks previous to going home.

Zam-Buk

THE GREAT HERBAL SKIN-CURE

You need a balm for that skin disease, that ulcer, that eczemous patch, that cold sore? Or perhaps you are one of the many thousands who suffer silently, yet acutely, from that terrible ailment, piles? If so, the balm you need is Zam-Buk. In proof of this, review the following eloquent facts:

Medical men admit Zam-Buk's great superiority.

Children, who have once had Zam-Buk applied to their sores, ask for it again. They know it eases their pain!

In every country of the world, to which it has been introduced, Zam-Buk has become the most widely used home remedy. Intelligent and unlearned persons agree on its merits. Prof. Lascelles Scott, the great analyst, says of Zam-Buk, "I certify its entire purity and value for skin injuries and diseases."

The other week, an African chief said to a missionary, "Mi yebe cigbe aliga nana," meaning "I like best that green medicine."

Four years ago Zam-Buk was unknown in Canada. To-day druggists regard it as the leading staple in ointments!

Such is the verdict of the people and surely all this spells superiority! Zam-Buk is used—not because we say it is good, but because it has made good its own case in the homes of the people. It is "something different." Try it!

WHAT MOTHERS SAY ABOUT IT:

Mrs. A. Hanley, Greenhill, Ont., says:—"My little boy had a sore on one of his ears and it spread to his face. I tried many things but nothing did any good until I tried Zam-Buk. This cured him and didn't leave a spot."

Mrs. Benjamin Hubley, of Goshen, N.B., says:—"I think very highly of Zam-Buk. My daughter Priscilla was terribly affected with Eczema in her head. We could not get it cured and she seemed to be all on fire with itching and burning. Her head was raw with sores. We heard of Zam-Buk and a course of this balm cured her completely."

Zam-Buk is a sure cure for eczemas, ulcers, cold sores, chapped hands, frost bites, bruises, cuts, burns, and all skin injuries and diseases. Also cures piles; 50c all druggists and stores, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

ST. PAUL'S MEN ORGANIZE.

"Brotherhood of St. Paul" Formed Has Laudable Object.

The young men of St. Paul's Presbyterian church held a meeting Tuesday night in the Sunday school for the purpose of starting a new organization for men in connection with the church. The name which they give the new organization was the "Brotherhood of St. Paul."

The purpose of the Brotherhood as stated in the constitution is: To further in every way possible by the young man the activities of ote Church, to keep an accurate record of strangers, and personally invite them to the church and other meetings, to create a home-like atmosphere in the church, to assist in ushering, taking up the offering, encouraging Bible study among young men, to visit hotels on Saturday evening, giving strangers an invitation to Sabbath services, and by helping in every way possible the cultivation of a social fellowship among the young men of St. Paul's church.

The officers of the Brotherhood are:—

Hon. Pres.—Rev. R. Pogue.
Hon. Vice-Presidents—Mr. H. O. Fisk, Mr. T. A. S. Hay.
President—Mr. Percy McLean.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.

Knights of Pythias Have a Delightful Evening.

The visit of the Grand Lodge officers and the third rank work team from Toronto to Marathon Lodge, No. 39, K. of P., on Tuesday night, marked one of the most important events in the history of the lodge. A class of sixteen candidates were given their third rank and knighted. The ceremonies were watched with interest by Grand Chancellor Geo. Geddes of St. Thomas, and Grand Prelate J. O. Wilson of Toronto, while Deputy Grand Chancellor G. E. Barnes of Toronto, assisted the teams.

Before the rank of knight was be stowed upon the candidates, the new officers of the lodge were installed by the Grand Lodge officers as follows—

P.C.—Dr. Middleton.
C.C.—V. Hamilton.
V.C.—Hugo Patterson.
M. of W.—Dr. Middleton.
Prelate—Thos Savigny.
K. of R. and S.—T. W. Wilson, P. G.
M. of F.—J. T. Squires.
M. of E.—C. M. Blewett, P.C.
M. of A.—F. A. Jacobi.
I.G.—M. D. Lake.
O.G.—J. D. Armstrong.
Representative to Grand Lodge—T. W. Wilson.

The following visitors were present: J. J. Pettit, M. G. Hay, Bathurst Lodge, No. 92, St. Thomas; Al. Ingle, C.C., Toronto Lodge, No. 69; St. Perkins, Lindsay, and H. Wilson, Toronto.

While the new-born knights were being registered, Grand Chancellor Geddes called P.C.C. Dr. Middleton to the chair, and on behalf of the officers and members of Marathon Lodge he addressed the retiring chancellor commander, and presented him with the P.C.C. jewel, to which he stated that while he was not in office now he would continue to exert himself in the interests of the lodge.

TO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 17.—The electric chair in the State penitentiary here, is to claim another victim tomorrow, which is the date fixed for the execution of Anglo S. Hamilton, the Lynchburg murder. Hamilton's crime was the murder of Mrs. Sallie B. Hix in Lynchburg last June. After two trials had resulted in jury disagreements he was tried a third time and convicted of first degree murder. Hamilton, who had a life of dissipation prior to the arrest, professed religion a few months ago and his entire time of late has been spent in effort to procure himself for the ordeal.

EDWARD J. TOWNSEND, President.
ALEXANDER H. BEATH, Vice-President.
JAMES K. MACLENNAN, Secretary-Treasurer.
JOHN ANNIS, of Markstay, Ont.
JAMES TOWNSEND, of Mabel, Que., and
JOHN H. CLARY, of Sudbury, Ont.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent dated April 16th, A. D., 1909, and is empowered to carry on in all its branches the operations of a mining, milling, reduction and development Company.

The Company was organized more particularly to acquire and develop certain of the mining claims on Emerald Lake commonly called the Townsend-Annis gold properties.

Mr. Townsend had an undivided eleven-sixteenths interest in Mining Location W.D. 154, and Mr. Annis had three water claims adjoining and extending westward from W.D. 154. The Company has a working option on the remaining five-sixteenths of W. D. 154 from Mr. William Crawford, of Haileybury, formerly of Sudbury. The Company purchased outright the interest of Mr. Townsend and Mr. Annis.

These claims are distant about 32 miles almost due north from Warren, Ontario, and lie on the east side of Emerald Lake. In winter they are reached from Markstay by an existing road some 40 miles long, needing some small repairs in places—in summer from Temagami station on the T. and N. O. Railway, by steamer to Obabika Bay on the north-west arm of Lake Temagami, and thence a distance of ten miles, in all, by water, four short portages excepted, to Emerald Lake and W.D. 154 is reached.

On W.D. 154 the ore outcrops in the form of a deposit, in width from 300 to 500 feet, and has been traced on the strike for about 1,000 feet. The dip is nearly vertical. The contact wall on the south side is jasper and magnetite and on the north side is black slate. The gangue rock is calcite, schist and quartz, heavily mineralized with gold-bearing iron-pyrites. Considerable stripping and test pitting have been done at various points, and at each point good values in gold have been found. All blastings have disclosed free gold and pannings show many colors. The directors believe this property to be

Four assays from Messrs. Handley and Parker, of Sudbury, showed respectively $2,419.01, $1,026.68, $787.63, and $162.72 per ton. Ledoux and Company of 99 John Street, New York, $26.45 (from an iron-pyrites sample). Kropp's, Germany, gave $68.00 per ton from an iron pyrites sample.

The Directors have decided to place 50,000 shares on the market at the special price of 50c per share, in blocks of not less than 50 shares each. Allotments will be made as applications, accompanied by the necessary cash, have been received for 20,000 shares. Should this number not be subscribed for by February 15th next, money will be refunded promptly. The above low price is to provide the necessary funds for the installation of the proper milling and reduction plant and for the carrying out of the necessary mining operations. See prospectus.

All have not the knowledge or the necessary capital to send out prospecting parties, but many small capitalists can afford to put up $25.00 or more to get a share in this local enterprise where they know that first, last and all the time they will get a square deal. Come and see samples. Have them assayed yourself. Investigate for yourself.

Porcupine may have plenty of gold but you don't need to go further than Emerald Lake for gold. Many mining men of Sudbury know W.D. 154. Cut out this advertisement. Watch for following ads. Get a prospectus and all information from any of the Directors, or from Editor of the Times.

VOL. XXXIII NO. 37 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY FEBRUARY 18 1910 PRICE TWO CENTS

Government will Make No Other Concessions to Temperance Men

Toronto, Feb. 17.—Contrary to general expectations there was no wholesale deputation from the temperance people up to meet Sir James Whitney and the Provincial Secretary this morning. Other years they came in their hundreds, and the premier was compelled to address them from the main stairway. This morning all was different.

Five gentlemen came quietly to the buildings, quietly walked upstairs, quietly entered Sir James' office, and to cap the climax, would no consent to the presence of the press at the interview.

They were President Joseph Gibson, Secretary Ben. H. Spence, Miles Vokes, and Rev. T. Beverley Smith.

The memo which the delegates presented to Sir James asked for the abolition of the bar, drinking in clubs, the doing away with the three-fifths clause, and the treating system.

Sir James urged on the deputation the necessity of complete co-operation among themselves. He told that whenever temperance matters were discussed by the cabinet, the question of the three-fifths clause was given full consideration. He did not regard it as a handicap, but one of the most important things contributing to the ultimate success of the local option cause. If local option succeeded it would be found how important this three-fifths clause was. The government was not lagging behind public sentiment in the matter of temperance legislation.

May Necessitate an Appeal to the People

Edmonton, Feb. 18.—The Rutherford Administration is evidently face to face with a political upheaval. Following the resignation of Hon. Mr. Cushing, Mr. John Stocks, his deputy, is also out. Sensational developments may be expected within the next few hours. The cause of the split is said to be the refusal of the premier and Hr. Cross to give any information concerning the contract of the Great Waterways Railway, or to divulge the names of the officers and incorporators, or anything pertaining thereto, even to Mr. Cushing. It is believed that the result of the resignation of Mr. Cushing and his following in the House may necessitate an appeal to the people.

ANOTHER MINISTER RESIGNS.

Edmonton, Alta., Feb. 17.—Your correspondent has absolutely reliable information to the effect that the political situation is still critical. It is difficult to surmise what will happen.

The disaffection in the government's ranks is strong. While Mrt Cushing is the only minister to resign so far, there may be another. All depends upon the clearing up of certain suspicions concerning the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway.

BACK FROM DEATH.

A Chicago Patient Had Apparently Expired.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—Breathing and pulsating ceased entirely for ten minutes in the body of Frederick McNear, at the Chicago Baptist Hospital Thursday morning. Now he is clamoring for a beefsteak.

McNear was brought to the hospital on Wednesday night suffering from neurotic oedema. Towards morning he seemed improved, and Dr. McNamara and the nurse, Miss Anderson, both left the room. Returning with an oxygen tank, Miss Anderson was horrified to find the patient apparently dead.

She screamed for Dr. McNamara, and hasty examination showed that McNear had ceased to breathe, and that his heart was not beating. Injections of atropine and nitroglycerine, were hastily administered. Dr. McNamara continued his efforts at artificial respiration, and at the end of ten minutes McNear gasped.

Oxygen was then administered, and for more than half an hour the physician and the nurse continued to work over him. Now he is considered out of danger.

Vegetable Dinner For Hotel Men.

Montpelier, Vt., Feb. 18.—As an expression of their dissatisfaction with the prevailing high price of meats, the Vermont Hotel Men's Association converted its annual dinner here to-day into a purely vegetarian feast. No meats of any kind were included in the elaborate menu.

Plan to Divert Immigration.

Shreveport, La., Feb. 17.—The Interstate Farm and Land Congress, which has for its principal object the diverting of immigration to the South and South-west, began a three days' convention in this city to-day. The attendance includes many representative of railroads and commercial organizations of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

A FRIENDLY GROCER.

Dropped a Valuable Hint About Coffee.

"For about eight years," writes a Mich. woman, "I suffered from nervousness—part of the time down in bed with nervous prostration.

"Sometimes I would get numb and it would be almost impossible for me to speak for a spell: At other times I would have severe billious attacks, and my heare would flutter painfully when I would walk fast, or sweep.

"I have taken enough medicine to start a small drug store, without any benefit. One evening our grocer was asking Husband how I was and urged that I quit coffee and use Postum, so he brought home a pkg. and I made it according to directions and we were both delighted with it.

"So we quit coffee altogether and used only Postum. I began to get better in a month's time and look like another person, the color came back to my cheeks, I began to sleep well, my appetite was good and I commenced to take on flesh and become interested in everything about the house.

"Finally I was able to do all my own work without the least sign of my old trouble. I am so thankful for the little book, "The Road to Wellville." It has done me so much good. I haven't taken medicine of any kind for six months and don't need any.

"A friend of ours who didn't like Postum as she made it, liked mine, and when she learned to boil it long enough, her's was as good as mine. It's easy if you follow directions." Read the little book: "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

HAVE YOU CHILBLAINS?

Nothing Like Zam-Buk for Them.

If you are a victim to the itching of chilblains — that intolerable tickling as soon as they get warm, and that almost unbearable soreness when they are rubbed—try Zam-Buk. Mrs. F. S. Sargent of Quebec, says: "For many winters I was troubled with chilblains. I tried first one remedy and then another, but could never get anything but temporary relief from the awful itching and burning. I at last procured a supply of Zam-Buk, and determined to give it a trial. I was so pleased with the result from the first application that I continued with the treatment, and in a short time my chilblains were quite cured."

Zam-Buk is equally good for chaps, cold sores, frost-bite, etc. Mr. B. Zapoll, of Dorland, Ont., says: "I had the big toe of my right foot badly frozen. I suffered great pain, and had to have a doctor. He lanced the toe and dressed it, but the pain continued to be very bad, and for several days I could not walk. I then used Zam-Buk, and the first few dressings gave me great relief. The wound healed up quickly, and in a very short time the toe was quite right again." All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk, 50 cents box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Plenty of Room for Settlers.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 17.—Good farms await 30,000 or more settlers in Northern Minnesota, according to reports rpreparred for the Northern Minnesota Development Congress, which assembled here to-day for a two days' session. Needed railroad extensions, improved highways and ways and means of attracting desirable immigrants are the chief subjects scheduled for discussion at the congress. A feature of the gathering is an exhibition of grains, minerals and other products of Northern Minnesota.

PRINCE ITO'S ASSASSIN TO DIE.

Former Editor Who Killed Japanese Diplomat Sentenced.

Port Arthur, Manchuria, Feb. 17.—Inshan Angan, the Korean who assassinated Prince Ito, former Japanese resident general of Korea, at Harbin, Oct. 26, 1909, was convicted to-day and sentenced to death. Angan was formerly an editor and was alleged to be a member of a Korean secret organization the purpose of which was the assassination of Prince Ito.

SCORES FROM CANADA.

Eighty-six Canadian White Slaves Arrested in Boston.

Boston, Feb. 16.—In discussing "white slavery," in his fourth annual report last night, Police Commissioner Stephen O'Meara came to the defence of the Canadian Provinces which have been accredited with furnishing the great bulk of the "white slaves" of the 6,669 women arrested in Boston last year for any of the offences that might connect them with white slavery, only 86 were natives of Canada.

DESPERADOES RAIDED HOTEL!

Killed One Guest and Then Robbed the Clerk of the Night Receipts.

New York, Feb. 17.—Two desperadoes with drawn revolvers raided the lobby of the Waverly Hotel on the Bowery today, shot and killed Fred Bevlin, a guest, who, when they demanded money for drinks, was only able to produce a dime, and then held up and robbed the clerk of the night's receipts. Less than $10 all told was the result of the holdup and murder. The men ran out of the hotel after the shooting and a large force of detectives was at once started out on their trail.

LET CANADA BORROW SHIPS.

And Build Seven Dreadnoughts — Congdon of Yukon Supports Government.

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—The Commons yesterday continued the debate on the Government naval proposals. F. T. Congdon of the Yukon, regarding whom there had been doubt, declared in favor of Laurier's policy. Dr. Chisholm, the Conservative member for East Huron, presented another new scheme by which Canada would borrow the smaller ships from the British navy which has plenty to spare, thus saving enough to finance seven Dread noughts, and then save money. He criticised the government for failure to assist McCurdy and Baldwin, the Canadian aviators.

WOMEN ON POLICE FORCE.

They Would Wipe Out Juvenile Crime Says Dr. Shaw.

Buffalo, N.Y., Feb. 17.— The Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National American Women's Suffrage Association, at the first political convention of women suffragists ever held in Erie County, said that if women get the franchise in New York State the first job they will seek will be on the police force. "One hundred women on the police force of New York City would do more to wipe out juvenile crimes and films against childhood than all the other forces in Greater New York combined," so Dr. Shaw declared.

NEARLY A TRAGEDY.

Car Fell Down a Forty-foot Bank Near London.

London, Feb. 17.—One of the big electric cars on the Springbank line shot down a 40-foot embankment, west of the city, and came to a rest a few feet from a cove in which the water is very deep. The crew escaped with slight injury, but J. Elson of Byron, had his leg hurt, and was badly shaken up.

The accident was caused by ice on the track.

Let the Women Work the Farms in Canada

London, Feb. 17.— Miss Bimnie Clark, a lady farmer, hopes to raise £20,000 to form schools of agriculture for women in sections of Canada. Miss Clark suggests that the difficulty of obtaining sufficient reliable hired labor could be overcome by training women in the handling of farm implements. She urges the establishment of government elevators in every wheat town.

HALF OF THEM MARRIED NOW.

London, Feb. 17.—Colonel Lamb, of the Salvation Army, announces that of the large number of women sent to Canada two years ago quite half have married Canadians.

BIG RAIL ORDER FROM CANADA

London, Feb. 17.—Lady Dudley will shortly visit Canada to obtain information regarding nursing organization in connection with a suggested scheme for Australia.

A Canadian order for 18,000 tons of steel rails has been received in Glasgow.

New Brunswick Legislature Meets.

Fredericton, N.B., Feb. 17.— The Provincial Legislature convened to-day and was opened with the usual ceremonial. A large amount of routine business relating to education, the proposed establishment of a tuberculosis sanitarium, applications for franchises and other matters give promise of a busy session.

DOG MADE FOR CROWD.

Stratford, Feb. 17.—A big collie dog that was being shot, was not badly hurt by the first shot, and made for the crowd. Mr. A. Snowden then held the dog while it was being despatched, but his finger was badly bitten in doing so.

Strathroy, Feb. 17.—Gordon Dymond, aged six years, son of Mr. W. P. Dymond, was slightly bitten on the wrist by a dog on the way home from school, and he has been taken to the Pasteur Institute, New York.

St. Thomas, Feb. 17.—A dog from Aylmer, supposed to be mad was killed with an axe four miles from here, and other dogs that had been attacked by it were shot.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets invariably bring relief to persons suffering from chronic constipation, headache, biliousness, dizziness, sallowness of the skin and dyspepsia. Sold by all dealers.

AFTER THE BOYS.

The chief of police is out after the boys who make a practice of using the streets for a hockey rink. In the vicinity of St. Paul's church daily practices are held by the boys on the sidewalks, and the chief is determined to make an example of these street hockeyists. So the boys had better take warning and confine their hockey games to some more suitable place.

Laborites and Irish to Force New Election

New Chairman of Labor Party Says He Learns Asquith will Take Office with No Assurance from King

London, Feb. 17.—John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, has found himself unable to guarantee the Nationalists' support of the budget in case its increased whiskey tax is retained, according to a report that went the political rounds this afternoon.

In support of this report was a hurried conference between Premier Asquith and King Edward.

The cabinet then began its seventh meeting in the last seven days, an unprecedented number of meetings in such a short time.

WELCOME ANOTHER ELECTION.

London, Feb. 17.—George M. Barnes, member of parliament for Glasgow, Blackfriars Division, who two days ago was elected chairman of the Labor party in Parliament, threw a bomb-shell into the political arena this afternoon the shape of a manifesto, which, if acted upon, means the severance of the ties which heretofore have united the Liberals and the Laborites.

"I learn," writes Mr. Barnes, "that Premier Asquith is to hold office without assurance from the King with regard to the veto, and that the veto is to be dealt with after the budget.

"That, of course, will not be acceptable to the Labor party.

"It means that the powers that be think the general election was not sufficiently decisive with regard to the Lord's veto, and it involves therefore, another election before the question of the Lords is settled.

"If another general election is to occur, we should have it as soon as possible."

Canada Doesn't Want Britain to Prosper at Her Expense

London, Feb. 17.—Joe Martin, interviewed on the new German-Canadian trade treaty, said: "Whether this is the right spirit to adopt towards the Mother Country does not enter into the question. In business you cannot be friends. If it be to Canada's interest to take the surtax off, then no one can blame her. From my standpoint, it is in the interests of Canada to remove the surtax, but then I favor the reduction of all these tariffs. Canada regards all countries commercially alike where her own interests are concerned, and would treat Germany just as she would Britain. Canadians can be ever so loyal, yet that will not affect their commercial treaties. You are never going to get the people of Canada to work for Britain.

"When it comes down to money matters, it each for himself. Canada always rejoices to see Britain prosperous, but she does not care that it should be at her expense. Commercially Canada is traveling in the right direction."

Fear Germany will Profit and England's Trade will Suffer from Treaty

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—Mr. Armstrong, member for East Lambton yesterday asked Mr. Fielding if it was not true that all imports from Germany are being freed from the surtax, while only certain enumerated exports from Canada were admitted to the benefits of the German conventional tariff?

Mr. Fielding replied in the affirmative. He said that only the surtax was given up, and that the maximum Canadian tariff applied to imports from Germany. On the other hand, a number of Canadian products received the benefits of the German minimum tariff.

Mr. Armstrong enquired as to the fate of manufacturers who had built up a business, relying upon the German surtax to keep down competition.

Mr. Lalor (Haldimand) pointed out that the knitting industry and other industries would be hard hit by German competition. He asked that their raw material, like mercerized yarn, be put on the free list.

Mr. R. L. Borden asked if it were not true that all the rest of the British Empire were receiving a much better tariff treatment from Germany than Canada would receive as a result of this convention.

Mr. Fielding: Great Britain, of course, gets the benefit of the minimum German tariff, because she affords Germany favored nation treatment.

Mr. Borden: Is it not true that after the German treaty was denounced by the Imperial Government at your request, a new treaty was made which gave the minimum tariff not only to Great Britain, but to all the self-governing States except Canada.

Mr. Fielding could not answer this question.

Replying to Messrs. Armstrong and Lalor, he said that the surtax had only been a war measure, a commercial war measure. He did not think that any manufacturer was justified in investing money upon the supposition that the surtax would continue indefinitely.

London, Feb. 17.—Under the heading, "Canada cannot wait," the Mail devotes an editorial to the German-Canadian treaty, which, it describes as a blow to British trade. It says there is good reason to believe the Dominion Government was ed to see the issue of the struggle for tariff reform in England before taking the step. The removal of the surtax will be bad news for Yorkshire and Lancashire, "but," says the Mail, "so long as the people of this country refuse to make tariff agreements with the states of the Empire, they cannot complain.

The Standard, referring to the possibility of further negotiations between Canada and Germany, relies on the sagacity of Canadian statesmen to see that tariff reform cannot be delayed much longer, and adds it would create an uneasy feeling in London financial circles if the Dominion were too compliant now that Germany has abandoned her rather high-handed methods.

The Standard's Berlin correspondent says the new provisional agreement is likely to affect Canadian imports from Britain considerably. Germany will invade Canada, and German commercial travelers will sell goods under cost until an inroad has been made on the trade with Britain. Germany hopes in the course of time to persuade Canada to discontinue her preferential treatment with Britain.

A scheme will be developed to woo Canada by devoting German capital toward the development of mines and industries in the Dominion and by increased German emigration to Canada, where representatives of the German race already number nearly half a million.

A severe blow will likely in the near future be dealt to the British shipping trade with Canada, as large German shipping companies are maturing plans for a regular line of fast steamships to carry emigrants and goods to Canada, and thus break the monopoly now held by Britain. Canadian exports to Germany will likely also show a large increase in the near future.

Despatches say that the liveliest satisfaction is expressed in Berlin. The Tageblatt says the new agreement, which is surely the beginning of an extraordinary rejuvenation of mutual trade relations, deserves to be greeted most warmly.

Woodville Church Wrecked by Explosion Lives in great Danger

Lindsay, Feb. 17.—Mrs. Wm. M. Kee was terribly burned and injured by an explosion of an acetylene plant in the Methodist church at Woodville during the progress of prayer meeting last night. Several other persons were thrown from their seats and bruised. The interior walls in the basement were blown out; the floor of the auditorium was blown up and the pulpit thrown into the choir loft. The church had recently been remodeled and re-decorated.

Special to The Times.

Lindsay, Feb. 17.—The bright and newly renovated and redecorated Methodist church at Woodville, was almost completely wrecked last night by an explosion of the acety almost completely wrecked last night by an explosion of the acetylene gas plant.

The faithful adherents of the flock were gathered together in a room of the basement of the church for the purpose of holding the regular prayer meeting, but something was noticed to be wrong with the lights, and Mrs. William McKee, wife of the sexton of the church, went into the room where the plant was kept, and proceeded to light a match to investigate matters.

Immediately after the first flicker of the match a terrible explosion occurred which rocked the entire building, and the lives of the twelve or fifteen persons in the buildings were in great danger. The walls shook and the roof wobbled, but fortunately withstood the shock, and remained in place. However, the floor, the seats, the pulpit, the gas jets, the stoves, book cases, dishes, and other decorations in the different rooms were completely dislodged and rattled from their fastenings.

Chaos ensued, and it was with great difficulty that the people in the church, who were in a front room of the basement, gained egress. This they did, however, without being injured beyond some slight bruises.

ENVELOPED IN FLAMES

Mrs. McKee, however, was not so fortunate. She was thrown against the wall of the room, and was almost immediately enveloped in flames. For a wonder she was not rendered unconscious, and had presence of mind enough to run for the only door, which leads upstairs, and out on to the street. She rushed out with her clothes and hair all on fire, and several men came to her assistance. She was seriously burned and may not recover.

The church had just been recently built had been wiped out.

Today as a result of the explosion it is almost in complete ruins, being badly shattered. There is insurance.

DENIES RUMORS.

Sir James Whitney Denies Rumors Regarding Changes in Assessment Act.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—Just before the House came to the "orders of the day" yesterday afternoon, Sir James Whitney made an important statement denying rumors as to the government's intentions to alter the basis of assessment.

"There has been a propaganda," said the premier, "going on lately around the legislature with regard to the proposal to change the basis of the assessment law, so that the taxation would fall upon the land more than upon the improvements.

"The gentleman who has undertaken this has induced a number of the papers to come out in favor of it, and it is not difficult to understand how he was able to do this as he is a journalist.

"It is stated in a paper that the government has under consideration the question of adopting this proposal. I wish to state," declared the premier that the question is not under the consideration of the government. The measure regarding assessment that will come before the house will be the measure in the main reported by the Assessment Committee that sat during the recess.

$250,000 FOR HOSPITAL.

Mr. John C. Eaton Will Erect Wing as Memorial to His Father.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—Mr. J. W. Flavelle, president of the Toronto General Hospital, has just announced that Mr. J. C. Eaton, president of the T. Eaton Co., has donated $250,000 for the erection of the surgical wing of the main building of the proposed general hospital on College street. It will be erected as a memorial to the late Timothy Eaton, father of the donor.

The total number of beds to be provided for in the general surgical department is a hundred and forty-five.

The trustees of the board found their resources represented by cash subscriptions of $800,000 from the university, private citizens $700,000, city of Toronto $200, making in all $1,500,000, with an approximate aggregate of $2,000,000 to be met.

This recently donated and very generous contribution of a quarter of a million is very encouraging to the board.

"It is a noble gift," said Mr. Flavelle. "The $250,000 will erect a magnificent surgical building which will stand as John C. Eaton's tribute to the memory of his father."

Will Not Dam the Niagaria

Buffalo, N.Y., Feb. 17.—It was learned from an authorative source here today that the proposal to dam the Niagara River to raise the water level of the Great Lakes is disapproved by the International Waterways Commission in its report submitted to the Secretary of War at Washington, and the Minister of Public Works at Ottawa.

It was held by the Canadians that to construct a dam to maintain or raise the level of Lakes Erie, Huron, Michigan and Superior would unbalance rily lower the levels of Lake Ontario and the Canadian canal system. American transportation interests backed the project, but those in Canada never favored it.

The proposition was to build a concrete structure of mechanically operated sluiceways from the American shore of Niagara River at Buffalo to Fort Erie, Ont. The dam was to cost $1,000,000.

It is expected the full report will be made public in about a month.

Dying of Cholera

Local Physician Says Thousands Dying in Europe Can Be Saved With Proper Medicine.

What is it that keeps down cholera, cramps, and summer complaints in America? Ask any doctor or live druggist and he will tell you "Nerviline." Just fancy, a million bottles are sold every year to people who use Nerviline for stomach disorder, cramps, flatulence, and summer complaint. For fifty years in most Canadian homes no other pain-relieving medicine but Nerviline is kept. Nothing cures the aches, pains and sickness of the entire family so quickly as Nerviline.

LETTER NO. 4272

"As far back as I can remember, at least 50 years ago, there was never a time that our home was without 'Nerviline.' In the summer time, when the children ate green apples and got sick with diarrhoea and cramps, it was Nerviline that cured them. Mr. father used Nerviline frequently to cure gas on his stomach and acute indigestion. There are but few minor ailments that Nerviline does not cure, and I know of no medicine so useful; in fact, so indispensable around the home as Nerviline."

This letter, written by Mrs. N. C. Butcher, a well known resident in Battersea, shows the high opinion entertained of Nerviline by those who have used it constantly for nearly half a century.

You'll never regret using Nerviline. Get it today, keep it on and for an accident or sudden case of sickness in your home. Refuse anything else offered you instead of Nerviline. 25c per bottle, or five for $1.00. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

BRIEF SPEECHES.

There has long been a feeling in Canada against long speeches, both in Parliament and out, and it happily seems to be growing with some effect. The four-hour speeches of the old days of Sir Charles Tupper and others of his school are becoming rare. The man who makes a comparatively brief speech is certain to have better attention in the House, and to have his speech more widely read when it is published than the man who needlessly stretches out what could be said in half an hour or an hour to three or four hours.

On this subject the Guelph Mercury says:

It is now becoming recognized that a good speech is one which consumes no more than an hour. Its goodness shrinks in direct ratio with the amount of time that the speaker takes over the patience mark; and the patience mark is somewhere in the vicinity of sixty minutes. The greatest speakers in Britain are content with an hour, and they find it possible to say much in that time. A British statesman handles an imperial question to his own, and his audience's satisfaction in half the time that a Canadian statesman will sometimes take to discuss a bill for the regulation of the sale of birdseed, or some other weighty problem. Verbosity, which is the antithesis of eloquence, has rendered debates in Canada deadly dull and prosy.

It is gratifying to note that there is a change in sentiment. Lengthy speeches are to be tabooed in future and debates will be bounded by reason rather than prolixity. It will not only save time but money as well. Canada has paid dearly in the past for long-windedness of her public men. The cost of Hansard comes to no mean figure.

The Newfoundland Legislature opened recently and the Speech from the Throne takes a rather optimistic view of the future, says the Charlottetown Guardian. Codfish has advanced in price, the manufacture and shipment of paper on an extensive scale has begun, there is hope of opening up coal areas, and the government will endeavor to stimulate the agricultural industry. In these ways it is hoped to check the exodus and give more employment at home with fair wages. A royalty will also be imposed on the iron ore shipped from Belle Isle.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—50c Sold by all dealers.

THE MAD DOG SCARE.

Hamilton People are Alarmed at the Situation.

Hamilton, Feb. 15.—The village of Stoney Creek, near here, is considerably excited over a mad dog scare. Mrs. Captain Williams, about 75 years of age, was seriously bitten yesterday afternoon by a collie dog, belonging to Mrs. John Lottridge. The lady has not shown any unfavorable symptoms yet, and the dog is being confined awaiting developments.

There appears to be a difference of opinion in the City Hall regarding who should enforce the orders in council prohibiting dogs running at large, without muzzles. The Board of Health officials think the city should enforce the orders while the aldermen look to the Board of Health to do the enforcing.

AND GERMAN'S WAR STRENGTH IS STILL GROWING.

More Than a Million Men are Under Arms Now.

London, Feb. 15.—The military correspondent of The Times, in reviewing the position of the German army gives some interesting particulars of its development during recent years. Of the imperial budget of $712,500,000, for the financial year ending March 31, 1910, the sum allotted for army expenditure was $302,500,000. This does not represent the whole of the army charges, which are nearly $250,000,000.

The peace strength of the German army has risen during the past year to 620,000 men of all ranks and 111,820 horses. The number of reservists called out for training during the year has risen to 456,398 excluding officers, or an increase of more than 110,000 over the figures for 1906. The German plan is to train each soldier twice for fourteen days while in the reserve and once for fourteen days while in the Landwehr.

The number of reservists recalled during the year for training has risen of late at the rate of 30,000 a year and will continue to rise until the plan is in full operation. Thus there are and hereafter will be more than a million men under arms at one time or another each year.

The year 1907 is the last for which complete statistics of recruiting have been published. The recruits examined number 1,189,945 among whom there were 532,092 of the age of 20, who were examined for the first time. In all 435,933 were incorporated in the armed forces, including 212,661 in the active army and 10,374 in the navy.

About one-half of the army recruits were 20 and the remainder 21 or 22. There were only two-one-hundredths of 1 per cent. of illiterates. Voluntary engagements numbered 53,900 for the army and 3,939 for the navy.

"Germany leads the world in aeronautics," says this writer, "and the last year has only confirmed her supremacy in the air. Her aerial fleet consists of twelve dirigibles, systems Zeppelin, Parseval and Gross, while there are fifteen other dirigibles in private hands, susceptible of being requisitioned.

"The German plan is to set by methods of registration and subsidy; to prepare as for the navy, the establishments and the means for rapid construction and to aim in particular an increased speed so as to obtain relative independence of the weather. The successful trial of the Gross III., which made over 37 miles an hour on her trial trip on December 31, is a case in point.

"The Deutscher Luftflottenverein aspires to preserve for Germany the lead in aeronautics that she has already acquired and the German soldiers are inclined to believe that the aerial navy may render good service in the field both for tactical and for strategical exploration, while experiments have been made in dropping explosives from the airships.

"It is thought that the zone of exploration of the dirigibles is already greater than that open to a cavalry division. It has, moreover, openly stated that exploration by dirigibles will not await a declaration of war.

"In many other directions there has been steady progress in preparing the army for war. The officers at the war school have been increased from 400 to 600. A census of motorcarriages has shown that there are 41,727 of all classes available for requisition, and during the manoeuvres of last year great use was made of them and also of moto-cyclists, who will probably be formed into special corps.

"The companies of machine guns are increasing, and there will eventually be one company with six guns with each regiment of infantry. The cavalry is now for the greater part armed with the 1908 carbine modified to take the S bullet and sighted up to 2,300 yards. The distribution of the new automatic pistol, pattern 1908, will be completed this year.

"Mobile field kitchens have given good results and will soon be general use. Wireless stations are being erected at various places. The latter census of horses shows that Germany possesses 4,345,000 horses of all sorts, including 3,500,000 four-year-olds and upward.

"In many other minor details the progress of the army has been very satisfactory, and the chief causes of complaint are, first, the deficit of 900 officers of the army, and secondly the manner in which the Emperor's military cabinet deals with the questions of selection and promotion.

"Excluding 3,000,000 untrained or superficially trained Landsturm and Ersatz reserve, there are over 4,000,000 trained soldiers now available for war, and there are over 6,000 field guns. It has not, however, been the custom of the German staff hitherto to rely so much upon quantity as upon quality.

"It will be with young and highly trained men, aged from 21 to 27, that the first great blow will be struck in case of war, and all attention has been concentrated upon making the first echelon of the army as perfect as human effort can compass. The record of the last year shows that from almost every point of view the German army continues to receive constant accessions of material and moral strength."

BABY GOES TO JAIL.

Hamilton Woman Sentenced to One Month for Shop Lifting.

Hamilton, Feb. 16.—Hugging her three-months-old child to her breast and sobbing as if her heart would break, Mrs. Landrey was sentenced to one month in jail by Magistrate Jelfs this morning, after he had found Jelfs this morning after he had found her guilty of shop-lifting. It was proven that she had stolen a number of articles from Stanley Mills' departmental store. The worst feature of the case was, that though the evidence was so convincing against the woman, she sought to lay the blame on another child who carried a bag ostensibly for the purpose of putting the stolen articles in. The baby went to jail with the mother, and there was not a dry eye in the court as the two left.

WILL GIVE HELP.

Balfour Will Aid in Passing of Budget.

London, Feb. 14.—All fear of a Parliamentary deadlock on the passage of the budget in the Parliamentary session that begins tomorrow, was removed today by an official assurance from Arthur J. Balfour, one of the foremost figures in the Conservative party, to Premier Asquith that the Conservatives will help the Liberals to pass the Lloyd George budget.

Balfour declares that the Conservatives are as much opposed to the budget as ever, but they are unwilling to assume responsibility for continuing the tie-up of the national finances, which were thrown into chaos when the budget was rejected last fall.

The Conservatives admit, also, that another immediate general election, which would be necessary were the budget rejected again, would precipitate a panic, which the Conservatives desire to avoid, according to Balfour.

The Conservatives' agreement to support the budget makes it practically certain that the budget will be the first thing taken up when Parliament re-convenes.

Despite the fact that Parliament meets tomorrow, the personnel of the new cabinet is still unannounced the delay being unprecedented. It is said that Asquith's delay in naming the cabinet is due to King Edward's refusal to agree to swamp the House of Lords with Liberal peers in the event of the Lords continuing their opposition to the Liberals' legislative program.

MANITOBA TO BE "DRY."

This is Now What the Temperance People Want.

Special to The Times.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 15.—Plans for pushing a vigorous prohibition campaign with the object of making the whole of Manitoba "dry" will be discussed at the Provincial convention of the Royal Templars, which will assemble here to-day for a three days' session. Reports prepared for presentation to the convention show that as a result of the local option election last December the sale of liquor is now barred in more than three-fifths of the Province.

A GREAT TREAT.

Ralph Connor's new story, "The Foreigner," has been bought by the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal and publication will begin in two or three weeks. Ralph Connor's former stories "The Doctor," "The Prospector," "The Man from Glengarry," and others have made him famous as a story writer, and "The Foreigner" is regarded by many as his best. It is a thrilling story of the Canadian West. It is said that the price was the biggest by far ever paid for a serial story. It will be a great treat to readers of the Family Herald and Weekly Star and those who become subscribers to that great weekly during the next two weeks will be in time for the opening chapter. The beautiful picture, "The Soul's Awakening" is still offered as a premium. The combination is the biggest dollar's worth in the market to-day.

New Tuberculosis Hospital Opened.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 15.—Much interest will centre this afternoon in the opening of Ottawa's new Tuberculosis Hospital, by the Governor-General. The event, which is regarded as the most advanced step yet taken in the campaign to wipe out the "white plage" in Canada, will be marked by a reception in which many prominent medical men, scientists, and others participate. The Ontario Government will be officially represented at the opening by Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary.

LAND FRAUD TRIALS.

Three Prominent Men to be Placed on Trial.

Boise, Idaho, Feb. 15.—The Federal District Court convened here today for the trial of the so-called Kettenbach timber land fraud cases in which William F. Kettenbach, of Lewiston and several other wealthy and prominent residents of northern Idaho are charged with defrauding the Government out of valuable timber lands. The cases were brought here on change of Venue from Moscow.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured.

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in the country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly upon the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY PERSON WHO IS THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, solely owned and occupied by him, or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

FREAK CATALOGUING.

British Museum Has a System That Few Can Fathom.

It may seem ungrateful in an old reader who has reaped so many benefits from the great library in Bloomsbury to find fault with the arrangements, and if I stood alone in this complaint I would retain my isolation, but the grievance is ventilated by many.

In the first place, I and J are thrashed as the same letter, as U and V are. That was all right when the catalogue was begun and was in manuscript, but now that printing has superseded handwriting the obsolete fashion of cataloguing Jones and Ives under the same letter or Vale and Unwin as having the same initial might be discontinued and the modern usage adopted.

In the second place, anonymous works are catalogued according to a bewildering system, the object of which seems to be to hide the identity of the work.

Take the case of the valuable little book with the following title: "An Account of the Origin of Steamboats, in Spain, Great Britain and America and of Their Introduction and Employment Upon the River Thames Between London and Gravesend to the Present Time"—A. c., 1821. One would think that it would be catalogued under "Steamboats," that being the main subject, but no—it is catalogued under "Spain." I am told the rule is to take the first proper name.

That rule, however, is not applied in the next case. A well written little book published in 1907 is entitled "Devon, the Shire of the Sea Kings." "Devon" would seem to be the natural heading, but no—in the catalogue it will be found under "Great Western Railway."—London News and Queries.

Frederic Harrison's Rules of Life.

"Touch not tobacco, spirits, nor any unclean thing. Rise from every meal with an appetite. Walk daily for two hours. Sleep nightly for seven hours. Reverence all to whom reverence is due. Be content with what you have." Such are the rules of life laid down by Mr. Frederic Harrison, the veteran Positivist and man of letters, who celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday recently. Mr. Harrison lives up to his rules, and is as active and as well today as many men half his age. Indeed, he claims to feel younger than ever. He is not sparing in his denunciation of bad habits. Smoking he describes as a "beastly habit"; playing cards as "wearisome and inane." With regard to literary work, he claims never to have written for the sake of writing or for money, but only when he had something to say.

THE EAGLE'S EYE

A Screen That Protects It Against a Too Brilliant Light.

The eagle that stares proudly at the sun has now been found to be no figment of tradition.

M de Chardonnet, in a paper communicated to the French Physical society, has shown that the eagle's eye has a special apparatus adapted to this feat, though it seems probable that he is not the only bird with this useful possession.

The apparatus is not, however, the "nictitating membrane" which all of us have perceived in looking even at the barnyard fowl. That is a membrane designed merely to wipe the eye and to keep it clear of dust.

M de Chardonnet's discovery was made while he was studying the transparency of the central part of the eyes of animals. He had already noticed that the eyes of night birds, such as owls, were more transparent than any other for ultra violet rays, and he had tried to push the experiments further by ascertaining whether they would be affected by ultra violet rays alone.

These experiments failed because of the absence of responsiveness on the part of the birds, which did not appear to manifest any sensation in passing from darkness to light, whether this last was visible to human eyes or not. M. de Chardonnet's failure led him to inquire whether there was any organ of which he was ignorant in the bird's eye, such as would intervene in such circumstances.

While dissecting a bird's eye he was struck to find an organ to which French naturalists have given provisionally the name of the peigne or comb. A better idea of its function would be obtained by calling it a parasol.

This organ is formed of a very thin membrane, black-opaque and situated in the eye where the optic nerve penetrates it. The structure of this membrane is such that the retina is completely masked when the "parasol" is open. It is reasonable to suppose that the parasol is therefore a screen to protect the eye against a too brilliant light, whether the light is visible in the ordinary sense or whether it consists of ultra violet rays.

The Nickel Fisher.

"The up to date American newsboy can learn something in Berlin," writes a New Yorker from that city. "One of the popular sellers of newspapers in this town is a gray haired, tall, soldierly looking man who has adopted an original method. He has the papers attached, one copy of each publication, to a long fishing rod, on the top of which there is a little pocket for coins. People on omnibuses and at upper windows may be served by means of the rod. They help themselves to the paper they desire, deposit their money in the little bag, and the sold paper is replaced by another from the stock which the old man carries in a bag slung over his shoulder. The children in the district where he does business call him the 'nickel fisher.'"

Naming Men-of-war.

The big battleships of the United States navy have thus far been named after the states of the Union and the cruisers for the cities. But the department has a good rule by which the names of men who in the past distinguished themselves in the service can be bestowed on the smaller craft. Thus the memory of five naval heroes has just been honored in the designations of the five new torpedo boat destroyers authorized by congress.

Aggravating.

When the late General Edward M McCook lived in Pike's Peak he once presided at a dinner in honor of a famous Indian fighter.

Mr. McCook, as he then was, concluded his introduction of the Indian fighter with the words:

"I can find but one fault with the colonel's methods. I allude to his well known custom of enlisting in his regiment only bald headed men. To aggravate the Indians' feelings so cruelly as that is carrying war too far."

Cheerful.

A certain philosopher used to thank God when he had the gout that it was not the toothache, and when he had the toothache he gave thanks because he had not both complaints at once.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed out this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days' test will surely tell. Try it once and see. Sold by all dealers.

IF SICK--WHY PAY

Unless Health First Returns.

Here is what should and must be done! Now you would not willingly pay for bad that was worthless.

Then why pay for bad health? Remember, that proves to you the quality of your health. If still sick, then you have not received what a dollar should buy. So you pay nothing.

Now I gladly pay dollars to the sick, even to those who have spent hundreds with other doctors. I pay them because I have learned how to make well. I have learned how to make them strong. I have learned how to make them vigorous. I have learned how to make them full of vim. I have learned how to make them full of vitality. I have learned how to make them full of energy. I have learned how to make them full of power. I have learned how to make them full of nerve force. I have learned how to make them full of nerve power. Who Writes References?

"How in the world do other folk live?"

"What other folk?" asked her friend.

"Why, the other folk who write the references. Take that last cook I had. She gave me the most written reference I ever saw and also the telephone number of the woman who gave it to her and for whom she had worked for more than a year. I called up the woman, and she was enthusiastic. 'Why, I'd take her back again in a minute if she'd come,' was her ultimatum, and before she reached that she praised the cook up to the skies. She said she was a splendid pastry maker, soups were her specialty, her desserts were always delicious. The best dessert I ever got out of that girl was a plain cornstarch. Her soups were like dishwater, and everything between was equally bad. And how look at the waitress I have! Her reference was a marvel. She was refined, this writer stated, and quiet and neat. She knew just what to do without being told. I never saw anybody so careless and indifferent as that girl. She never knows a thing that I haven't told her at least a dozen times. I have to keep my eye on what she does all the time. Am I such a frightful crank, or what is it? How in the world do other folk live?"—New York Press.

OVER-WORKED KIDNEYS.

Cause, Rush of Blood, Poisons, Dizziness.

J. T. Chetland, the well-known railway engineer of Hamilton, found the strain always resting upon many of his occupation vastly intensified by a tendency of the blood to rush to his head, and often at times when clearness of vision and great steadiness were demanded. Finding some difficulty in bending—a stiffness with pain having settled in his back, it occurred to him that his kidneys might be at fault. "This was a happy idea, for by it I not only got rid of the pain but many other troubles as well. I took a full dose of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and was glad to note that some obstruction of the kidneys which I had lately noticed, was at once relieved. The flushed appearance of my face gave way to a more rational color and there was a perceptible improvement in my appetite. Dr. Hamilton's Pills certainly act splendid upon the blood, removing heat and fulness and that sort of dizziness that makes a man at the throttle wish when it sizes him that he were elsewhere."

No medicine gives such unquestionably good results for stomach, liver and blood troubles as Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are mild, certain, and always curative. Refuse any substitute.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Local Events Gathered by Times' Reporters.

Will Be Acting Chairman.

Dr. George Burnham, it is said, will be appointed acting chairman of the Board of Education during the absence of Mr. L. M. Hayes in England. A committee of the board have recommended it, and the appointment will no doubt be made at the next meeting of the board

Collegiate Institute Gymnasium.

It is proposed to ask the Ontario Government for a grant toward the erection of a gymnasium in connection with the Collegiate Institute. The government grant to the High schools is based on the equipment, and in order to secure a larger grant, a gymnasium is necessary. It is proposed to erect a seperate building in the rear of the institute, and equip it in a first-class manner.

George Street Church.

The congregation of George street Methodist church have given a call to Rev. Isaac Couch, M.A., B.D., pastor of the Central Methodist church of Hamilton, to succeed Rev. E. A. Pearson, who has accepted a call to another church in Hamilton. Rev. Mr. Couch was in Toronto previous to his present pastorate in Hamilton, and was secretary of the Toronto Conference. He is spoken of as a splendid speaker, and in every respect an able minister.

Do you know that cough can be prevented? Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It is also a certain cure for croup and has never been known to fail! Sold by all dealers.

Split the Milk.

Mr. J. Dunmitt's horse, attached to his milk van, took fright on Reid street yesterday at an passing car, and ran away, upsetting the sleigh, and spilling the milk and scattering the cans in all directions. Little damage was done.

A Popular Appointment.

Mr. George McKee has been appointed caretaker of the Collegiate Institute building in the place of Mr. John Hart, resigned. Mr. McKee is known to most of our citizens, being one of the conductors on the George street section of the street railway, and is very popular.

A New Auto.

Messrs. Warne Bros., the popular and progressive druggists and jewelers, have purchased a splendid new Russell Car, from the Canada Cycle and Motor Co., Toronto. It is a model L, of the latest type and equipped with modern auto devices. It is driven by a 30 h.p. 4-cylinder engine, and is built on strong lines, and will make a splendid addition to the city's autos. It is a five-passenger car, and cost Messrs. Warne Bros. $2,050. It was bought from Messrs. Drummond & Duffus, local agents for the Canadian Cycle and Motor Company.

Looking Forward.

No doubt Peterborough offers many attractions for excursionists, but some sort of a guide to places of interest, the means of reaching such spots readily, and houses of entertainment, is badly needed. Last summer hundreds of visitors complained of the lack of either such a pamphlet or of the attention of some city authority, by which their stay in our midst would have been rendered much pleasanter and conducive to a return visit. The Legal Committee of the City Council, which also undertakes the duties of a Reception Committee, are going to push things in this connection the coming summer, and are itaking a step in the right direction by authorizing Aldf Duffus to have printed 5,000 or 10,000 copies of a guide to Peterborough at a cent and a quarter per copy the smaller number and a cent per copy the larger number, for distribution to visitors. Copies of these pamphlets will also be sent to societies and organizations likely to arrange for excursions. $100 spent in this way will eventually earn a good dividend for the city. The Local Committee, it is understood, will also look after the welfare of commercialists here in any other direction practicable. Of late years the influx of summer visitors has steadily increased, and will continue to do so if the Reception Committee adopt a fair measure of enterprising aggressiveness.

IN SOCIETY

Rev. Father McCall is spending a few days in Ottawa.

Mrs. W. H. Robertson will not receive today owing to illness in the family.

Messrs. J. H. Moorehouse and W. E. Turner, representing the Scientific Survey of the Dominion Government, has been in the city for the past few days in connection with their work.

The birthday party which was to have been held at the home of Mrs. George Mather, Charlotte street, last night by the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's church, has been postponed until Tuesday next.

A very pretty home wedding took place on Wednesday last at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mann, Smith, when their eldest daughter, Miss Eunice Ada, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles E. Moore, only son of Mr. J. K. Moore, of Smith. The ceremoney was performed by Rev. Jas. Bonnar, pastor of Gilmour Memorial church, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

As the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Ida Jackson of this city, she looked charming in a beautiful dress of white liberty satin with trimmings of lace. She wore a bridal veil with wreath of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white roses The bridesmaid, Miss Sadie Mann, sister of the bride, looked very pretty in a gown of pale blue. She carried pink roses. The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. George Adam, of the Bank of Commerce, Guelph. After the ceremony and hearty congratulations had been bestowed on the young couple, the guests sat down to a sumptuous repast.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore left on the 4.38 train on an extended trip to New York and Bermuda, followed by the best wishes of a host of friends. Mrs. Moore traveled in a suit of brown, with hat to match.

MAN'S LAST HOPE.

The Times Second-Sight Artist Has a Glimpse Into the Future.

When man was domiciled in the Garden of Eden he had a host of animal friends, and even he and the serpent were evidently on speaking terms. But the machinations of the woman and the serpent lost to him his heritage, and engendered enmity between his seed and that of every living creature, woman and the dog and the horse excepted. From time immemorial poor man has retained the affection and friendship of both horse and dog, and revelled in the love and companionship of the daughters of Eve. 'Tis true the magical cat has entered somewhat into man's life, but pussy's nocturnal habits and quarrelsome disposition has relegated her to the ranks of man's four-footed foes.

The noble horse, too, has fallen from his high estate in man's regard for the interference of science has severed the old-time cord of inalienable comradeship that once existed between them, to the promised extinction of the former.

The dog, about whose almost human instincts and wonderful devotion to man poets and other foolish people have written tons of rhapsodical rubbish, has proven traitorous to his trust and developed a love of rabies that prompts man to shoot him on sight.

And woman, lovely woman, man's companion made to order at the incipiency of creation, is rapidly forsaking her old-time protector to win her way to independence under the suffragist flag.

Poor old man! What is his future lot to be? Alienated from his old-time friends and companions, the woman, the horse and the dog, to whom will he turn for sympathy and support? At first sight it looks as though in the near future he will meander through this world in solitary loneliness, eagerly looking forward to the end. But, no! He has a last hope. There is still one friend who sticketh closer than a brother. For when the last man is lying flat on his back, gasping his last breath, the common house fly will be there, buzzing around in search of a choice spot on his nose on which to alight in loving friendship and support.

TELLS HORROR OF SHIPWRECK.

Sole Survivor of the Chanzy Relates How He Saved Life.

CIUDADELA, Balearic, France, Feb. 17.—Marcel Rodel, the sole survivor of the steamer General Chanzy which was wrecked Thursday on a reef off the Island of Minorca, told a thrilling narrative, prior to his departure for France this evening, of the terrible experience of the steamer, e said:

"At 5 o'clock I was awakened by a splitting crash, and fled to the deck. The darkness added terror to the frightful scene. Enormous seas were breaking over the steamer. One sea ripped off a railing to which a score of women were clinging. Being an excellent swimmer, I allowed myself to be carried off by the next wave. The next moment the air was rent by a violent explosion; the wreckage shooting over my head."

Rodel took refuge in a grotto at the base of a high cliff, where he passed a day and a night.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

LOST GRACE OF THE CLIPPER

Yoke Gone From Mast and Ratlines From Rigging.

In general appearance one craft are much changed—it must be admitted in some respects, not for the better Cargo steamers particularly have degenerated in outward form. They are clumsier, more angular, less graceful than formerly.

One looks in vain for the clipper bows, rakish masts and trim sails of the early traders. The changes which culminated in the tramp of to-day came gradually.

First, the masts, already reduced in number, size and importance by the supersession of steam over sail power, were stripped of yards and square sails, and later the tryasils in some steamers, not even a staysail being carried.

Now, alas for sentiment, masts are frequently fitted without rake, and gawky a ship so fitted looks alongside those of the older style. But a raked mast is a bad derrick post, and efficiency first, appearance last, is the present rule.

Even standing rigging, with its convenient ratlines, beloved of the youthful mariners, is disappearing in favor of the widely spaced guy ropes, a prosaic iron ladder riveted to the mast giving access to the masthead.

In many vessels too, forests of derrick posts stand up awkwardly from the deck, making with derricks and running gear, when seen on the skyline, a most extraordinary show the ships looking for all the world like floating factories.

Outward appearance apart, however, change of design has always been in the direction of simplification of parts, perfection of detail and general improvement. Thus the standard of comfort has been raised. Forecastles are not the poky holes they once were. The limit of deck space per man is greater, the 'tween decks loftier and light and ventilation improved.

Officers, too, are seldom now accommodated in the bridge 'tween decks, with its close atmosphere and passages smelling of the engine room but are housed on the upper bridge in roomy, central apartments, airy, dry and convenient to the deck.

Railed gangways now span the dangerous wells; bulwarks have been raised and strengthened. The valuable machinery openings are protected with substantial castings, and bridge fronts are strong enough to defy the wildest seas. Thirty years ago there was little science and much rule of thumb practised in the designing offices of the shipyards. Not infrequently the model was made to please the eye and the line plans afterward drawn from it. No one can defend this practice, although the graceful forms of the clippers of that day were thus evolved.

Before the Daphne disaster few private firms went the length of making the stability investigations. What were metacentres and centres of gravity? Vessels had been built since the ark with little regard to such matters, and could still be built, so the clipper experts reasoned. Then came the Daphne accident and changed this. Stability became everything.—Cassier's Magazine.

CHANCELLOR INTERRUPTED.

How Mr. Lloyd-George Had to Yield to the Upper House.

It was afternoon, a day or two ago. There was a little quiet stir in the lobby and about the door and by the Bar of the British Commons. The sergeant-at-arms, sword-girt, reached for his white gloves, and slowly put them on. An official at the swinging doors flitted about. On his hands unwonted white gloves; on his face a look of something-is-going-to-happen. An opening and closing of doors very quietly. Something was in the air.

A super-dignity suffused officials. A P. glanced up at the clock and out through the doors. A distinguished member was addressing the House. He was arguing a point in favor of one of the countless details of the budget. Argument on argument, quiet, gentle explanation across the table.

He stood, a slim, spare figure, dark-haired and bright-eyed and small-featured, by the big end of the Mace—suddenly there was a rumble of sound out of sight in the distance. Then the giant doors were flung back, and and a stiff-built messenger came in, gazed at the Speaker, drew himself to attention, and shouted in long solemn tones, "Black Rod!" The arguer and explainer was still arguing and explaining. Then in came Black Rod, a delightful admiral in the British navy, in black official garb, holding his black rod perfectly horizontal close to his right shoulder, bowing three times, and gently commanding the House of Commons to come up to the House of Lords and hear the Lords Commissioners signify the royal assent to various bills passed by the wicked peers, although sent to them by the Commons.

The slim man by the Mace had to break off his speech in the middle when the command came from the House of Lords. He smiled, ceased speaking, dropped back obediently into his seat on the Treasury bench. The wicked peers had cut into the speech of Mr. David Lloyd-George.

All the M.P.'s rose in silence and bowed reverently in their places while Mr. Speaker, his long robe over his arm, his full-bottomed wig playing about his shoulders, the great Mace borne by his side on the shoulder of the sergeant-at-arms, passed down the floor of the House and out along the road to the House of Lords. Then the Minister whose speech had been cut in twain fell in behind, and M.P.'s trooped pell-mell behind him. Thus was the House of Commons led reverently and peaceably to the House of Lords by the demagogue of Limehouse.

Broke the Combination.

The father of Judge W. H. Wadhams had a chicken coop and a dog and a stable hand. It began to look to Mr. Wadhams as though some one had discovered the combination. So he kept the coop and the stable hand, but he got a new dog. Next day the best old negro who groomed the Wadhams horses came to him.

"You los' you affection foh po, boss?" he asked.

"No, Scipio," said Mr. Wadhams. "I like you as well as ever."

"Then," asked Scipio peevishly, "w'y'n't you the old Rover in de chicken coop stid of dat new dorg?"—Argonaut.

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product of any kind enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

ALEXANDER H. BEATH, Vice-President.
JAMES K. MACLENNAN, Secretary-Treasurer.
JOHN ANNIS, of Markstay, Ont.
JAMES TOWNSEND, of Mabel, Que., and
JOHN H. CLARY, of Sudbury, Ont.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent dated April 16th, A. D., 1909, and is empowered to carry on in all its branches the operations of a mining., milling, reduction and development Company.

The Company was organized more particularly to acquire and develop certain of the mining claims on Emerald Lake commonly called the Townsend-Annis gold properties.

Mr. Townsend had an undivided eleven-sixteenths interest in Mining Location W.D. 154, and Mr. Annis had three water claims adjoining and extending westward from W.D. 154. The Company has a working option on the remaining five-sixteenths of W. D. 154 from Mr. William Crawford, of Haileybury, formerly of Sudbury. The Company purchased outright the interest of Mr. Townsend and Mr. Annis.

These claims are distant about 32 miles almost due north from Warren, Ontario, and lie on the east side of Emerald Lake. In winter they are reached from Markstay by an existing road some 40 miles long, needing some small repairs in places—in summer from Temagami station on the T. and N. O. Railway, by steamer to Obabika Bay on the north-west arm of Lake Temagami, and thence a distance of ten miles, in all, by water, four short portages excepted, to Emerald Lake and W.D. 154 is reached.

On W.D. 154 the ore outcrops in the form of a deposit, in width from 300 to 500 feet, and has been traced on the strike for about 1,000 feet. The dip is nearly vertical. The contact wall on the south side is jasper and magnetite and on the north side is black slate. The gangue rock is calcite, schist and quartz, heavily mineralized with gold-bearing iron-pyrites. Considerable stripping and test pitting have been done at various points, and at each point good values in gold have been found. All blastings have disclosed free gold and pannings show many colors. The directors believe this property to be

The Largest Outcropping of High-grade Ore Known in the World To-day.

Four assays from Messrs. Handley and Parker, of Sudbury, showed respectively $3,419.01, $1,920.68, $767.68, and $162.72 per ton. Ladoux and Company of 99 John Street, New York, $26.45 (from an iron-pyrites sample). Kropp's, Germany, gave $68.00 per ton from an iron pyrites sample.

The Directors have decided to place 50,000 shares on the market at the special price of 50c per share, in blocks of not less than 50 shares each. Allotments will be made as applications, accompanied by the necessary cash, have been received for 20,000 shares. Should this number not be subscribed for by February 15th next, money will be refunded promptly. The above low price is to provide the necessary funds for the installation of the proper milling and reduction plant and for the carrying out of the necessary mining operations. See prospectus.

All have not the knowledge or the necessary capital to send out prospecting parties, but many small capitalists can afford to put up $25.00 or more to get a share in this local enterprise where they know that first, last and all the time they will get a square deal. Come and see samples. Have them assayed yourself. Investigate for yourself.

Porcupine may have plenty of gold but you don't need to go further than Emerald Lake for gold. Many mining men of Sudbury know W.D. 154. Cut out this advertisement. Watch for following ads. Get a prospectus and all information from any of the Directors, or from Editor of the Times.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Kent Throop.

The death occurred yesterday morning at 5 o'clock, of Mrs. Kent Throop, aged 76, at the residence of her son, Mr. George Kent Throop, Weir street. Mrs. Throop was seized with a paralytic stroke last Monday morning and was unconscious from then until her death.

The deceased lady who lived here nearly every winter for the past eighteen years, came to Cobourg with her parents when she was four years of age, and was married there sixty years ago to the late Mr. Kent, who predeceased her 21 years ago. She was a native of Canterbury, England. Two sons survive, Albert David, of Cobourg, and George Kent of this city.

The body will be taken to Cobourg today on the 11.45 G.T.R., and the funeral will take place there on Monday afternoon. Service will be held at the family residence this

Time to Call Halt in School Expenditure

That the taxpayers may judge of the way our schools are being managed, we publish the following comparative statement. It should set all thoughtful citizens thinking:

	For Municipal purposes.	For School purposes.
Belleville	$ 88,568	$ 25,574
Brantford	198,917	67,999
Chatham	147,876	39,965
Fort William	141,857	48,642
Hamilton	576,997	197,186
Kingston	144,563	41,315
London	426,843	191,461
Ottawa	777,224	360,650
Peterboro'	93,607	66,757
Port Arthur	149,757	56,528
St. Catharines	105,219	35,237
Stratford	125,189	49,293
Toronto	3,330,672	1,239,372
Woodstock	63,023	27,834

Comparing these figures we get the proportion of school expenditure to other expenditure as follows:

Peterborough	71
Ottawa	45
London	44
Woodstock	44
Port Arthur	38
Toronto	37
Brantford	34
Hamilton	34
Fort William	34
St. Catharines	33
Stratford	32
Belleville	29
Kingston	28
Chatham	27

It will thus be seen that Peterborough has not only the most expensive school system, but is away far up in the lead.

Long Pursuit in the Northern Wilds Fled with Dog Team

Toronto, Feb. 18.—The latest story of a chase after that most elusive of animals, the blind pig, comes from the wild country north of Fort William. This time it is Provincial Officer J. H. Cooper, who took the role of pig chaser, and his hunt led to the discovery of a small syndicate of men and women, making a livelihood out of the sale of liquor.

The constable seized a consignment of the fiery stuff at a railway station, packed as usual, in bales of merchandise. He determined to wait till somebody called for it, and as the saying is, "stuck around" till the claimant appeared. The latter was a wary gentleman, however, and took to the bush with all the speed at his command followed by the officer.

FLED WITH DOG TEAM.

The pursued had a dog team, and made good speed, but the officer stuck to him, and tracked him through the snow. The tracks led to a little log shanty away back in the woods behind Lake Kashabowie, which had been under suspicion for some time.

The officer entered, and found inside a woman lying in bed and claiming to be very sick. She wanted medical attendance, she said, and the officer left to get it for her. When he got back he found that the wounded bird had flown. The cabin showed every mark of having been hurriedly abandoned. The occupants had left behind them hogs, poultry and cattle. All the furniture which could not be packed up had been abandoned as well. Cooper was not to be baffled though, and started off once more, this time again following the trails in the snow. For two days he stuck to it. As the chase got hotter those in the lead grew desperate.

ABANDONED THEIR SUPPLIES.

Finally, the officer gaining all the time, found the deserted dog sleigh, a tent, blankets, provisions, and much of the fugitives' clothing. He burned everything except valuables, and once more set off in pursuit. At the time of making his report he had not yet come up with them, but he writes that he expects to do so in the course of the next few days. One of the women in the party is ill, and there is little chance that the party will be able to continue its flight through the deep snow and bitter cold without dogs and without the clothing which it abandoned in its first flight.

The party, which is being followed has been under suspicion for some time. It has been supplying adulterated liquor to miners and lumbermen for quite a while, but no proof could be got. If Cooper manages to catch them within the next few days there will probably be plenty of evidence against them.

Woman Killed Man who Tried to Assault Her

Fort William, Feb. 18.— Another tragedy has marked the coal dock section of this city, this time the victim being Paul Fimcoolisky, who was shot and almost instantly killed by Mary Matevieu in self-defence. Both are Glasians, and the woman, who has been married but a few months, says the dead man forced his way into her home, and tried to assault her, whereupon she shot him. The killing occurred about two o'clock yesterday afternoon in a little house at 521 McLaughlin street. The blouse which Mary Matevieu wore is in the possession of the police, and is torn about the shoulders and arms as if in a scuffle. The parties are Galicians, the woman being only about twenty, and good looking.

A NEW CHURCH.

Growth of Charlotte Street Congregation Demands New Church.

At a meeting of the Quarterly Board of the Charlotte street Methodist church, the following resolution was passed:

"Moved by Mayor Morrow, seconded by A. B. Cunningham, and resolved, that in the judgment of those present at this meeting, the time has come to consider the question of the building of a new church and for the purpose of further discussion that an adjourned meeting of this board be held at the call of the chair."

At the same meeting a unanimous and hearty invitation was extended the pastor, Rev. G. W. Henderson, to remain pastor of the congregation for the next conference year. Mr. Henderson cordially thanked the board and decided to accept the invitation.

IN FOOD.

What a Clergyman's Wife Found.

The wife of a Minnesota clergyman found the solution of her troubles in a simple change of food of which she says:

"My case proves that proper food will cure almost any ailments. For years I suffered from dyspepsia which became chronic and was treated by some of the most skilful physicians, but was not cured.

"Medicine would help for a time but the old troubles would always return because the cause was still there, and kept me weak and sickly most of the time. I had the grip every year for five years, always suffered from colds and my whole condition showed that I did not get the proper nourishment from food.

"Finally I began eating Grape-Nuts according to directions. I may say that since that time my stomach has not troubled me at all but a remarkable change took place. All through the long cold winter I ate nothing but a saucer of Grape-Nuts and cream in the morning and no matter how severe the cold I did not suffer and I did not have the grip or even a cold.

"Grape-Nuts food certainly nourished me until I have a strong constitution, feel like a new person, and indeed was never healthier in my life."

A Whack at Politicians—Criticism by Alliance of Those who Lobby the License Commissioners

Toronto, Febf 18.—A sharp attack on alleged corruption in the enforcement of the Liquor Act characterized the closing meeting of the Dominion Alliance this morning.

The report on law enforcement brought A. O. Hogg of Oakwood, to his feet. Mr. Hogg was chairman of the License Commissioners of Victoria County. He said:

"Pohticians who dabble and interfere with the administration of the law ought to be ashamed of themselves. Take a case in point. Down there in Lindsay we had men come to us and tell us of hotels where men go in on Saturday and stay till Monday, being drunk all the time. When they came to me and told me of it. I explained that the meetings of the License Board are public. They took the hint, and made the charges to the face of the license holder, and he admitted it, so we cancelled the license."

"Then what happened? Why, we had the member from the riding come to us, and say, 'He's a good friend of mine, whom you have out out; don't be too harsh on him. That's what we were told. (Cries of "Shame!;") Then the man himself came to me, and said, 'I guess you don't know I am a member of the party. 'Which party?' I asked. 'Oh you know.' 'No, I don't: and it wouldn't make any difference,' said I. We cannot grant the license.' (Cheers.)

BLAME INSPECTORS.

"Remember, people," continued Mr Hogg, "if the License Commissioners have the support of the temperance people they will do their duty, and put down lawlessness if told of it. I'll venture to say that no board would give a license to a man who breaks the law, where the facts are known, and no government would stand for such an administration. Perhaps that will be an encouragement to those who think that boards do not enforce the law.

"But there are inspectors who do not always do their duty, In one instance we went to an inspector to lay a complaint, and we were told to go to his Satanic Majesty."

"He told you that?" asked Chairman Gibson, in surprise.

"He did, in plain English," declared Mr. Hogg.

"Then you hadn't far to go," said the chairman, amid general laughter.

"We appealed to the department, and the inspector was quickly induced to do his duty.

"Take another instance. A certain license holder was deprived of his license. When the case came before the commissioners, as to whether he should get it back, he brought the ablest lawyer to plead his case, and he did plead it strongly. The next time I saw the lawyer, he came as candidate for the legislature and asked me to use my influence for his election. I told him I would make addresses, but would refill of where I last heard him speak. Another man was elected, but he was no better. Why, a license commissioner who resigned his position in disgust, told me why he did so—'Because,' said he, 'If you touch a fellow who has got a pull with the government, he'll get someone to pull you into line; and he does pull some of them into line too.'"

"Are license commissioners supreme in granting licenses," was asked.

"They are," replied Mr. Hogg.

Rev. Ben. Spence: "The license was held up on a technicality. Nothing can be done by going to your member in these matters, as the supremacy of the commissioners is the very point behind which the politicians hide. As Mr. Hogg says, the politician says he has nothing to do with the matter, while at the same time he sees that pliable men are appointed, who will do just as they are told."

"That is the kernel of the matter" declared Mr. Hogg.

The report on law enforcement recommended that temperance people attend the courts when cases were tried to strengthen the hands of the magistrates and inspectors; that the government abolish all local boards, and establish a Provincial board, and commended the government for not issuing licenses in New Ontario.

OBBECT TO THE ADS.

An attack on newspaper advertisements was made, culminating in the following resolution:

"Whereas prominent and attractive advertisements of intoxicating liquors are being admitted into respectable public newspapers, which circulate in hundreds and thousands of the home of the country, and are calculated to deceive and debauch our younger people.

"And whereas the insertion of such advertisements tend to destroy the moral effect of editorial utterances in support of temperance reform—these advertisements being in some cases printed on the same page as those editorials.

"Therefore resolved that this convention protests in behalf of the temperance people against the insertion of such advertisements in our family newspapers and calls upon our publications to purge their columns of such deceptive and dangerous advertisements.

The Late Member of Alberta Cabinet gives Reasons for Resigning

Edmonton, Alta., Feb. 18.— The brief session of the legislature throbbed with interest yesterday when Premier Rutherford announced to the House the resignation of Hon. Mr. Cushing as minister of public works. He said the resignation was regretfully accepted, but read the correspondence which had passed between himself and the ex-minister of public works.

The letter of resignation stated that Mr. Cushing could not agree with the manner in which the premier handled the railroad policy of the government, while particular objection was taken to the contract with the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway, which he stated, was made without his knowledge. Under the circumstances he felt that his position as minister of the government was no longer tenable.

WILL SPEAK LATER.

On closing the epistle the Premier remarked that Mr. Cushing desired to postpone any statement he may make relative to the cause of his resignation. Later Mr. Cushing explained he was afflicted by a severe cold, and would state his position to the House on Monday. He said that he certainly disagreed with the government on certain particulars of the administration. Mr. Boyle Sturgeon was again after information. He said that in respect to the return placed on the table on Wednesday there was no evidence as to who signed the agreement. The premier, in reply, said he was not aware of this oversight, and would have the information supplied. He also stated that at an early date as possible information in respect to the C.N.R. and G.T.P. branch lines company would be placed on the table, and a full statement of railway transactions.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Serious Indian Revolt Europeans in Peril

Allahabad, India, Feb. 18.—Jagidalpur is today the center of one of the most serious Indian revolts of recent years. Thousands of Indians are said to be involved, and the small loyal part of the population, including a few Europeans, is in danger. There are 120 police available for duty.

The government is rushing troops to the scene, but it is doubtful whether they can arrive before an outbreak occurs.

The Jagdalpur disturbance is believed to be the result of the uprising in the Bastar state, in the suppression of which the authorities have as yet made little headway.

Several clashes have already occurred between those in the van of the relief expedition and the rebel outposts.

The worst fight so far reported was at Indravati River, where soldiers fired on the rebels, and killed half a dozen.

Dr. Cook Turns Up and Admits Identity

Santiaga, Chili, Feb. 18.— Dr. Frederick A. Cook today admitted his identity.

He visited his old comrade, the Belgian engineer, Bysselbergbe, and the two were together for some hours.

The two men were members of the Belgian Antarctic expedition of 1897-'98, and the engineer recognized Cook when they were fellow-passengers on the steamer from Valdivia.

Until now, however, Cook has refused to recognize his former companion.

It is just possible that Cook was on the steamer Lima, which was wrecked in the Straits of Magellan, the passengers of which were rescued after most thrilling adventures. The vessel left Europe about Christmas.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

House and Household Effects of Louis Spry Consumed by Flames.

The residence of Mr. Louis Fry, lot 5, con, 10, North Monaghan, was destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon between four and five o'clock, when the family was absent from home and the entire contents were consumed.

"They saved nothing but the clothes on their back," said a neighbor to a reporter, and then suddenly remembering an item, he said: "Say, they did; if I'm not mistaken a cream separator was saved, but everything else was burned into ashes, and they have nothing left to them but the barn.

No one seems to know the cause of the fire, and that may be understood from the fact that Mr. Fry had driven into the city, and Mrs. Fry was making an afternoon call at the home of a relative, Mrs. Robert Collin. It seemed an unfortunate circumstance that the smoke and flames were unnoticed for some time. The neighbors, in most cases, appeared to be away, and the flames had eaten their way through the house before anyone arrived. Mr. John Clark was the first on the scene, but the fire had advanced too far by that time, and he was unable to render any assistance. The flames made a regular blast furnace of the house, which fell an easy prey to the devourer. The house was owned by Mr. J. J. Lundy, according to a report.

ENNISMORE.

(From a Correspondent)

In the death of Miss Mary Agnes, daughter of Mr. Michael Flood, which occurred on the 2nd instant, Ennismore loses one of its most loveable young ladies. She was only 17 years of age, and was beloved by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She was popular with her host of friends, not only in this township, but in all parts of the country. The Times joins in extending to the bereaved family its heartfelt sympathy.

British Views of the New Treaty

London, Feb. 18.—Asked by London pressmen if Canada's latest commercial convention constituted a powerful argument for tariff reform here, Lord Strathcona replied: "I don't know party politics at all. I represent Canada, and therefore cannot speak for the government of Britain."

A prominent member of the London Chamber of Commerce, said the agreement was a very important affair, no doubt, and would greatly help the trade between the two countries. It was only a foretaste of what might come here if there is a change in our fiscal arrangements. It was useful as an object lesson on the advantages of reciprocal treatment between one country and another.

HOW SHEFFIELD FEELS.

The head of one of the principal steel making firms at Sheffield stated that the treaty would make it more difficult for the English to trade with the Dominion in steel mining implements. Any impression that German steel was inferior to British had no good foundation. The treaty was another nail in the free trade coffin.

John Rodgers, of Joseph Rodgers and Sons, Limited, was not inclined to take a pessimistic view of the effect of the treaty upon the cutlery trade, so far as the higher qualities were concerned.

George Wostenholm and Son, who probably do the largest English cutlery trade with Canada, think the table and jackknife trade will not be much affected. Many German razors are dearer than British ones. The new tariff will, it is said, enable them to reduce their prices against Sheffield firms who have been making efforts forerover the trade.

NEW SECRETARY APPOINTED.

H. M. Gilchrist of Quebec City, to Succeed Mr. F. G. Hassard.

Mr H. M. Gilchrist of Quebec City, has been appointed successor to Mr. F. G. Hassard, as secretary of the local Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Gilchrist has been in association work since 1901, and has been in his present field for three years. He went to Quebec from Paris, Ontario, where he had organized the work of the association in the new building, which was presented to the town by Mr. John Penman, who is and has been for some years chairman of the Provincial Committee of the Y.M.C.A. of Ontario and Quebec.

Before going to Paris Mr. Gilchrist was secretary of the Stratford Association, and was there when the building was erected. The Stratford Association is a combination town and railway work, being supported largely by the Grand Trunk Railway so that Mr. Gilchrist has had a varied experience in association work.

Mr. Gilchrist comes to Peterborough well recommended by all who know him and his work and the association and city are to be congratulated on securing such a man with so little delay, since there is a scarcity of men of ability for Y.M.C.A. work.

Mr. Gilchrist will arrive in the city to take up his duties about the 20th of April.

THE FEDERAL LIFE.

Results of the Past Year the Best Yet.

The management of the Federal Life Assurance Company, are being congratulated on the splendid showing made at the 20th annual meeting of the company held at Hamilton.

The report, which is given in another place in this issue, shows new business consisting of 2,600 applications for insurance aggregating $3,063,696.66, of which 2,501 applications for $3,504,236 were accepted. As in previous years the income of the company shows a gratifying increase and the assets of the company have been increased by $329,602.88 and have now reached $3,643,949.59, exclusive of guarantee capital. The security for policyholders including guarantee capital amounted at the close of the year to $4,513,949.53, and the liability for reserves and all outstanding claims, including $20,000 set aside as a special addition to policy reserves, $3,351,954, showing a surplus of $1,162,995.53. Exclusive of uncalled guarantee capital, the surplus to policyholders was $292,995.53. Death claims to the amount of $200,406.07 were paid. Including cash dividends and dividends applied to the reduction of premiums with annuities, the total amou applied to the reduction of premiums, with annuities, the total payment of policyholders amounted to $347,274.43. The assurances carried now amounted to $21,049,322.31.

Never in the history of this progressive company has such a fine statement been presented. It is creditable to Mr. David Dexter, the managing director, and the Board of Directors.

Mr. George H. Pope, George street is the local agent of the company.

An Official Visit.

Lindsay Warder: The members of Damascus Lodge, Knights of Pythias, Lindsay, were honored last evening by the presence of Mr. C. M. Blewett, deputy grand chancellor, of Peterboro lodge, who made an official visit to the local lodge and received a very cordial welcome by the local members. A number of members were present and from now on the youngest fraternal society in Lindsay will be boomed as it never was before. The society has been in existence in Lindsay for only a year and during that time has attained a membership of over fifty members.

Laymen's Conference in Dallas.

Dallas, Texas, Feb. 19.—A four days' conference of the Laymen's Missionary Movement will be formally opened in Dallas this afternoon with a reception in honor of Prince Yus, Rev. J. Campbell White and other noted evangelists who are to address the gathering. Delegates from all over the south-west are here to attend the conference, which promises to be one of the most notable of its kind that has been held in this country.

"EVEN IN YOUTH NEVER STRONG"

Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"Even when I was young I was not robust and healthy like other girls. I suffered from headaches and had sort of bluf feelings that deprived me of the joyful spirits and pleasures other girls seemed to get. After I married I found I could not throw worries off like other women, and those dull feelings of despondency and weariness made me very unhappy. There was no cause to feel so, and my doctor said my liver was sluggish and this accounted for my poor color, my tiredness, languor and despair. The pills the doctor gave me were too purgative, made me weaker because they were too active for my constitution. Dozens of my friends recommended Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and they were so mild and healthful. Well I never used a pill that acted so quietly as Dr. Hamilton's. They were so comfortable to use I was afraid they might not help. But in a week I knew they had been actively engaged in cleaning up my system. They did the work of a tonic and blood medicine combined. I improved to a marvellous degree with Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I now maintain the most perfect kind of health by using them just once or twice a week."

It is Mrs. E. V. Erlanger, the wife of Capt. Erlanger, well known at Gloucester, who relates the above experience. She proved what you and all others, men and women, can prove—that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are best for restoring health and best for keeping the system in perfect running order. Don't be misled into using anything but Dr. Hamilton's Pills, sold in yellow boxes, 25c. All dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Invaluable to Every Farmer

The Wonderful Power in Curing Sick Cattle and Colicky Horses Makes "Nerviline" Worth its Weight in Gold.

The stockman or farmer that doesn't know of the thousand and one uses of Nerviline around the stable, has a great deal to learn. "Why, I wouldn't think of looking my stable door at night without knowing I had a supply of 'Nerviline' on hand. I always get a dozen bottles at a time from my druggist.

NERVILINE CURES COLICKY HORSES

"To cure colic, indigestion and bad stomach in a horse or cow there is no remedy on earth the same class as 'Nerviline.' Last summer I had a $250 horse that got the growers, and I would have lost him if I hadn't been able to give him Nerviline. I poured a full bottle of Nerviline in a pint of water down his throat and saved his life. I know of neighbors who have saved many heads of valuable stock, stricken with colic, just by using Nervilipe. It is equally good as a rub-on liniment, and I know from my experience that for man or beast, internally or externally, 'Nerviline' is worth a dollar a drop."

THE QUIET LIFE.

To many city dwellers urban life sometimes grows irksome. Often they tire of the stress and strain, the roar and bustle of metropolitan existence. It is then that they long for remote and quiet places for simple rural scenes. With George Gissing's "Henry Ryecroft," they experience fatigue at the world's growing noisiness and desire to escape the persistent clamor of traffic-thronged streets.

After years of struggle, for a living got by his pen in the city, a legacy enables him to settle down in a modest Devon cottage. There he writes: "Every morning when I awake I thank Heaven for silence. This is my orison. I remember the London days, when sleep was broken by clash and clang, by roar and shriek, and when my first sense, on returning to consciousness, was hatred of the life about me. Noises of wood and metal, clattering of wheels, banging of implements, jangling of bells—all such things are bad enough, but worse still is the clamorous human voice."

Again he says: "I remember with a strange feeling that there are people who, of their own free choice, spend night and day in cities, who throng to the gabble of drawing rooms, make festival in public eating houses, sweat in the glare of the theater. They call this life. They call it enjoyment." Despite the persistent trend of population towards large centers, there are thousands who share Henry Ryecroft's sentiments and sensibilities. If they could, gladly they would escape the unseemly pressure, unwholesome excitement and nerve-wracking sound of city life. Happy is he who, being so inclined is able to gratify his simple desires by settling down in a country cottage furnished with a garden, a few books and an occasional friend.

A GREAT TREAT.

Ralph Connor's new story, "The Foreigner," has been bought by the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal and publication will begin in two or three weeks. Ralph Connor's former stories "The Doctor," "The Prospector," "The Man from Glengarry," and others have made him famous as a story writer, and "The Foreigner" is regarded by many as his best. It is a thrilling story of the Canadian West. It is said that the price was the biggest by far ever paid for a serial story. It will be a great treat to readers of the Family Herald and Weekly Star and those who become subscribers to that great weekly during the next two weeks will be in time for the opening chapter. The beautiful picture, "The Soul's Awakening," is still offered as a premium. The combination is the biggest dollar's worth in the market to-day.

The Federal Life Assurance Co.

Of Canada

The Twenty-eighth Annual Meeting of the shareholders of the Federal Life Assurance Company of Canada was held at the Company's Head Office in Hamilton, Tuesday, 15th February, 1910, at 2 p.m., Mr. David Dexter in the chair, Mr. W. H. Davis, Acting Secretary.

The Annual Report, as follows, was read and adopted, on motion of the President, Mr. Dexter, seconded by Vice-President Lieut.-Col. Kerns:

Your Directors have the honor to present the Report and Financial Statement of the Company for the year which closed 31st December, 1909, duly vouched for by the Auditors.

The new business of the year consisted of two thousand six hundred applications for insurance, aggregating $3,663,896.66, of which two thousand five hundred and one applications for $3,564,236.00 were accepted.

As in previous years, the income of the Company shows a gratifying increase, and the assets of the Company have been increased by $329,092.86, and have now reached $3,643,949.53, exclusive of guarantee capital.

The security for policyholders, including guarantee capital, amounted at the close of the year to $4,513,949.53, and the liabilities for reserves and all outstanding claims, including $30,000 set aside as a special addition to policy reserves, $3,351,254.00, showing a surplus of $1,162,695.53. Exclusive of uncalled guarantee capital, the surplus to policyholders was $292,695.53.

Policies on one hundred and fifteen lives became claims through death, to the amount of $290,406.07.

Including cash dividends and dividends applied to the reduction of premiums, with annuities, the total payment to policyholders amounted to $347,274.43.

Careful attention has been given to the investment of the Company's funds in first-class bonds, mortgage securities, and loans on the Company's policies amply secured by reserves. Our investments have yielded a very satisfactory rate of interest.

Expenses have been confined to a reasonable limit, consistent with due efforts for new business. The results of the year indicate a most gratifying progress. Compared with the preceding year, the figures submitted by the Directors for your approval show an advance of nearly ten per cent. in assets.

The assurances carried by the Company now amount to $21,049,322.-31, upon which the Company holds reserves to the full amount required by law, and, in addition thereto, a considerable surplus.

You are to be congratulated on the fact that the surplus over capital and all liabilities increased $42,624.88 during the past year, from which a special addition of $30,000 was made to policy reserves.

The field officers and agents of the Company are intelligent and loyal, and are entitled to much credit for their able representation of the Company's interests. The members of the office staff have also proved faithful to the Company's service.

Your Directors are pleased to be able to state that the business of the Company for the current year has been of a most satisfactory character, and that the outlook for the future is most encouraging.

DAVID DEXTER.
President and Managing Director.

AUDITORS' REPORT

To the President and Directors of the Federal Life Assurance Company:

Gentlemen,—We have carefully audited the books and records of your Company for the year ending 31st December last, and have certified to their accuracy.

The Cash and Journal Vouchers have been closely examined and agree with the entries recorded.

The debentures, bonds, etc., in the possession of the Company have been inspected, whilst those deposited with the Government have been verified by certificate, the total agreeing with the amount as shown in the Statement of Assets.

The accompanying statement, viz., Revenue and Expenditure, Assets and Liabilities, show the result of the year's operations and also the financial position of the Company.

Respectfully submitted.

C. S. SCOTT, F.C.A.,
CHARLES STIFF, C.A., Auditors.

THE NEXT GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

A British Columbia newspaper, in speaking of the rumor that the Duke of Connaught might be appointed as successor to Earl Grey in the governor-generalship of Canada, questions the advisability of such appointment. With the language of the protest nobody can find fault, and with the intent of it, few. As a visitor to the Dominion the Duke of Connaught or any member of the Royal family would receive a whole-hearted welcome, but the office of governor-general is a political and public one, the term extends four years, and as a people we are somewhat touchy about those boundaried where the influence of Rideau Hall ceases, to make way for that of parliament Hill. It would be unfortunate if the influence of the governor-general's office should at any time, because of the person of its occupant, take on an importance the constitution makes no provision for, and which the temper of the country could not approve.

There is every reason to suspect that the mention of the name of the Duke of Connaught was entirely gratuitous in the first place—that his name was put forward, not by the King's advisers, in the expectation that the unauthorized nomination would embarrass the ministry, or lead to the appointment of the Duke of Connaught, and in the setting up of a miniature royal court in the most important of the over-sea dominions to the great joy of flunkeyism everywhere.

It would be too bad if the unauthorized use of the Duke of Connaught's name in this connection had embarrassed the Duke more than the prime minister, and had led to a royal hunting trip to Africa. Members of the royal family do not occupy, do not desire to occupy such posts as that at Ottawa. Earl Carrington, experienced in political life, answerable for his acts, will, no doubt, succeed Lord Grey.

It is promised that the duke will return by way of Canada, and in that case the welcome he will receive as a royal visitor will, undoubtedly be a cordial one.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured.

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in the country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly upon the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY PERSON WHO IS THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, solely owned and occupied by him, or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

$250,000 FOR HOSPITAL.

Mr. John C. Eaton Will Erect Wing as Memorial to His Father.

Toronto, Feb. 17—Mr. J. W. Flavelle, president of the Toronto General Hospital, has just announced that Mr. J. C. Eaton, president of the T. Eaton Co., has donated $250,000 for the erection of the surgical wing of the main building of the proposed general hospital on College street. It will be erected as a memorial to the late Timothy Eaton, father of the donor.

The total number of beds to be provided for in the general surgical department is a hundred and forty-five.

The trustees of the board found their resources represented by cash subscriptions of $600,000 from the university, private citizens $700,000 city of Toronto $200, making in all $1,500,000, with an approximate aggregate of $2,000,000 to be met.

This recently donated and very generous contribution of a quarter of a million is very encouraging to the board.

STAYING YOUTHFUL.

Give Your Mind New Thoughts—Stop Worrying.

Whatever your age may be, begin now to think of yourself as in the dawn of new developments. Say to yourself many times a day that you possess more vital power, more mental force, more magnetism and charm than ever before in your life.

Say also that you are better loved and more fully appreciated for all your virtues and charms than ever before and that your ability to give and receive happiness is unlimited.

Then use moments which you have been accustomed to like away or in empty to mechanically thought in improving yourself. Let this improvement be threefold until body and mind and spirit all radiate new brilliancy.

Give your mind new thoughts. Give your spirit new aspirations and feed your brain with some new purpose.

Keep up whatever accomplishments you possess. Cultivate new ones. Begin at forty, fifty or sixty even to study languages and music and art.

And instead of continually thinking about advancing age think about increasing qualities and charms. Instead of worrying over added years rejoice over added occupations and means of enjoyment. Encourage the young to seek your society. Amuse and interest them, and this can be done only by keeping in sympathy with their ideas.

If you find your thoughts running along the line of criticism and disparaging comparisons of the young people of the day with those of your own morning time keep your ideas to yourself.

THE KISS HYGIENIC.

Not the Thing Posts Have Over, but It's Germ Proof.

And now we have the kiss hygienic—an answer to those who have started a crusade against the kiss on the ground that it spreads contagion.

The kiss hygienic is made possible through the medium of a very simple little contrivance designed by a German genius named Herr Hermann Sommer. It consists of a small ivory or metal frame, made something like a tennis racket, across which is stretched a bit of silk gauze. This gauze is soaked in disinfectant and then interposed between the kisser and the kissee at the psychological moment, and then—well, then follows the kiss robbed of all its terrors and but few of its delights, so the inventor says. There can be no exchange of disease germs in the kissing when this device is used. The disinfected gauze prevents that absolutely.

Of course this kiss hygienic isn't quite the old time kiss. For instance the disinfectant isn't particularly agreeable to the taste even when its flavor has been concealed by perfumes, as the inventor advises. Then, too, the interposition of the device may seem something like the presence of a third party. Also the device raises a question that is highly embarrassing to the modest young woman—Shall she presume to provide herself with the contrivance in anticipation of the visit of the young man who is attentive to her, but who as yet is nothing more? Then, too, something of the spontaneity of the old fashioned kiss is likely to be lost, and also something of that thrill which posts have sung of the meeting of lip with lip.

But, then, with the alternative of kissing hygienically or not at all, it is not easy to guess what the world will say—at least that part of the world that is still young enough for romance. It will again offer thanksgiving that necessity is the mother of invention.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by all dealers.

PRINCE ITO'S ASSASSIN TO DIE.

Former Editor Who Killed Japanese Diplomat Sentenced.

Port Arthur, Manchuria, Feb. 17.—Inchan Angan, the Korean who assassinated Prince Ito, former Japanese resident general of Korea, at Harbin, Oct. 26, 1909, was convicted to-day and sentenced to death. Angan was formerly an editor and was alleged to be a member of a Korean secret organization the purpose of which was the assassination of Prince Ito.

DESPERADOES RAIDED HOTEL!

Killed One Guest and Then Robbed the Clerk of the Night Receipts.

New York, Feb. 17.—Two desperadoes with drawn revolvers raided the lobby of the Waverly Hotel on the Bowery today, shot and killed Fred Devlin, a guest, who, when they demanded money for drinks, was only able to produce a dime, and then held up and robbed the clerk of the night's receipts. Less than $10 all told was the result of the holdup and murder. The men ran out of the hotel after the shooting and a large force of detectives was at once started out on their trail.

LET CANADA BORROW SHIPS.

And Build Seven Dreadnoughts — Congdon of Yukon Supports Government.

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—The Commons yesterday continued the debate on the Government naval proposals. F. T. Congdon of the Yukon, regarding whom there had been doubt, declared in favor of Laurier's policy. Dr. Chisholm, the Conservative member for East Huron, presented another new scheme by which Canada would borrow the smaller ships from the British navy which has plenty to spare, thus saving enough to finance seven Dread noughts, and then save money. He entitled the government for failure to assist McCurdy and Baldwin, the Canadian aviators.

If you would have a safe yet certain Cough Remedy in the house, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupefying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

WOMEN ON POLICE FORCE.

They Would Wipe Out Juvenile Crime Says Dr. Shaw.

Buffalo, N.Y., Feb. 17.—The Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National American Women's Suffrage Association, at the first political convention of women suffragists ever held in Erie County, said that if women got the franchise in New York State the first job they will seek will be on the police force. "One hundred women on the police force of New York City would do more to wipe out juvenile crimes and vice against childhood than all the other forces in Greater New York combined," so Dr. Shaw declared.

May Be Lucky Heir.

Anna Eva Fay, who created such a furore in Peterborough and other cities and towns in Canada, has been left a fortune of $100,000 by an aunt. But the trouble is, Eva has disappeared, and cannot be located. Mr. Fay is dead, but his wife is supposed to be starring in the South or in Europe. The missing heiress is between 25 and 35 years of age, and it is not known whether she is married or single. She has not been in Toronto for years, but has been heard of in the theaters of Chicago, Buffalo, Cleveland and Rochester.

A Correction.

In our issue of the 14th instant, an article appeared in The Times in which reference is made to Mr. J. H. Clary of Sudbury. Our reporter intimated that he had practiced law in Hastings. This is a mistake, as that gentleman never was in Hastings, having confused the name of Mr. "J. H. Clary," with that of Mr. "L. F. Clary," who is an esteemed resident of Hastings village. We cheerfully make the correction, and add our apologies for the stupid blunder.

A Pleasant Evening.

The members of St. Andrew's church Y.P.S.E. spent a very pleasant time last evening at the home of Mr. Charles Long, near Coldsprings. About thirty of the young people gathered at the church at 7 o'clock, where two sleighs were filled. It is needless to say the drive was thoroughly enjoyed, as the evening was perfect and every person was in the best of spirits keeping music with the bells. Mr. and Mrs. Long made an excellent host and hostess. The evening was spent in music and games, and at the close of the evening, refreshments were supplied by the lady members of the society, which were very much enjoyed.

"HEADACHE, WEAKNESS, HEART TROUBLE"

"I Suffered With for Years—Pe-ru-na Cured Me Entirely."

Miss Albina Chauvin, No. 69 Rue Agnes, St. Henri, Montreal, Can., writes: "I consider Peruna better than any other remedy, as it cured me when nothing else could. I suffered for years and years with heart trouble, headache and weakness. I never expected to find anything to cure me. I saw one day, in "La Presse," that Peruna was excellent and I tried it. One bottle produced a change in me and if the price had been $100 a bottle I would have paid it gladly. I have taken six bottles and am entirely cured. Please accept my thanks and best wishes for your Peruna."

"Please Accept My Thanks and Best Wishes For Your PE-RU-NA."

Many cases of heart trouble are caused by reflex disturbances.

Derangements of the stomach and liver produce symptoms of heart trouble.

Catarrh of the stomach is a very frequent cause of sympathetic heart disease.

Palpitation, shortness of breath and bloating after meals are the most prominent symptoms.

Such a condition of the stomach is also liable to produce headaches of the worst sort.

Medicines that palliate the symptoms will never lead to a cure.

It is the effect which Peruna has upon the stomach, healing the mucous membranes and restoring the natural function of the stomach, that causes Peruna to bring such prompt relief.

ALEXANDER H. BEATH, Vice-President.
JAMES K. MACLENNAN, Secretary-Treasurer.
JOHN ANNIS, of Markstay, Ont.
JAMES TOWNSEND, of Mabel, Que., and
JOHN H. CLARY, of Sudbury, Ont.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent dated April 16th, A. D., 1909, and is empowered to carry on in all its branches the operations of a mining., milling, reduction and development Company.

The Company was organized more particularly to acquire and develop certain of the mining claims on Emerald Lake commonly called the Townsend-Annis gold properties.

Mr. Townsend had an undivided eleven-sixteenths interest in Mining Location W.D. 154, and Mr. Annis had three water claims adjoining and extending westward from W.D. 154. The Company has a working option on the remaining five-sixteenths of W. D. 154 from Mr. William Crawford, of Haileybury, formerly of Sudbury. The Company purchased outright the interest of Mr. Townsend and Mr. Annis.

These claims are distant about 32 miles almost due north from Warren, Ontario, and lie on the east side of Emerald Lake. In winter they are reached from Markstay by an existing road some 40 miles long, needing some small repairs in places—in summer from Temagami station on the T. and N. O. Railway, by steamer to Obabika Bay on the north-west arm of Lake Temagami, and thence a distance of ten miles, in all, by water, four short portages excepted, to Emerald Lake and W.D. 154 is reached.

On W.D. 154 the ore outcrops in the form of a deposit, in width from 300 to 500 feet, and has been traced on the strike for about 1,000 feet. The dip is nearly vertical. The contact wall on the south side is jasper and magnetite and on the north side is black slate. The gangue rock is calcite, schist and quartz, heavily mineralized with gold-bearing iron-pyrites. Considerable stripping and test pitting have been done at various points, and at each point good values in gold have been found. All blastings have disclosed free gold and pannings show many colors. The directors believe this property to be

The Largest Outcropping of High-grade Ore Known in the World To-day.

Four assays from Messrs. Handley and Parker, of Sudbury, showed respectively $2,419.01, $1,620.00, $787.63, and $102.72 per ton. Ledoux and Company of 99 John Street, New York, $26.45 (from an iron-pyrites sample). Kropp's, Germany, gave $68.00 per ton from an iron pyrites sample.

The Directors have decided to place 50,000 shares on the market at the special price of 50c per share, in blocks of not less than 50 shares each. Allotments will be made as applications, accompanied by the necessary cash, have been received for 20,000 shares. Should this number not be subscribed for by February 15th next, money will be refunded promptly. The above low price is to provide the necessary funds for the installation of the proper milling and reduction plant and for the carrying out of the necessary mining operations. See prospectus.

All have not the knowledge or the necessary capital to send out prospecting parties, but many small capitalists can afford to put up $25.00 or more to get a share in this local enterprise where they know that first, last and all the time they will get a square deal. Come and see samples. Have them assayed yourself. Investigate for yourself.

Porcupine may have plenty of gold but you don't need to go further than Emerald Lake for gold. Many mining men of Sudbury know W.D. 154. Cut out this advertisement. Watch for following ads. Get a prospectus and all information from any of the Directors, or from Editor of the Times.

Miss McPherson Passed Away Sunday

Word has been received in the city of the death of Miss McPherson, one of the aged ladies, who was so brutally beaten at her home near Norwood by Henderson, who is now in jail here. No hope was entertained by the doctors for her recovery from the time of the fiendish attack.

Mr. George Stevens of Ashburnham, called up The Times last night and corroborated the above report. He and Mrs. Stevens called at the McPherson home yesterday morning about 11 o'clock, j ust shortly after the death of Miss McPherson. Mr. Stevens states that there is but slight hope for the recovery of the sister as her condition from shock and from the effects of the attack are pitiable to behold.

Canadian Girl Startles Paris---One of Great Singers of the World

Paris, Feb. 19.—Dorothea Toye, a young girl from Winnipeg, Manitoba, aroused great attention last night at a reception given by Ambassador Bacon at the embassy.

Miss Toye has two voices, one a three-octave soprano, the other a tenor of great power and sweetness. She came to Paris to consult Prof. Frank Dossert, director of the National Conservatory of Music, regarding the advisability of an operatic career. When he heard her soprano voice he said she was unquestionably fitted for grand opera. A moment later he was stunned to hear her sing a "Pagliacci" song. Her tenor recalled Caruso's voice in intonation, phrasing and exact rendering.

REMARKABLE PERFORMANCE

Musicians say such a phenomenon is unprecedented in musical his tory. She can actually sing a soprano and tenor duet with herself. Ambassador Bacon said: "It is the most remarkable performance ever heard."

It is needless to say that all Paris is talking of her. Personally Miss Toye is a slight girl of singularly bright and winning manners. She is one of eight sisters, all musicians. Physicians as well as musicians are greatly interested in her accomplishments. She has been invited to go to London to sing before the medical congress.

WEST IS PROUD OF HER.

Winnipeg, Feb. 19.—Miss Dorothea Toye, mentioned in Paris cable as having achieved great success with her voice, is a native of Portage la Prairie, where she received most of her musical training.

Her father is a wealthy contractor, now living in Fort Rouge, Winnipeg, at 339 Wardlaw avenue.

A MUSICAL FAMILY.

Miss Toye comes of a very musical family, several of her sisters being well known in the local musical world.

These include Mrs. M. E. Wright, Indian Head, Sask.; Mrs. R. M. Richardson, Portage la Prairie, Man; Mrs. F. Rouleau, Langham, Sask.; Mrs. Peter McPherson, Winnipeg; Mrs. H. Prouse and Mrs. C. W. Wills, both of Alexander, Minn., and the Misses Effie and Hazel Toye of Winnipeg.

Chain of Explosions Terrify the Citizens of Toronto Saturday

Toronto, Feb. 19.—Several people sustained minor injuries and one at least had a narrow escape from death by an explosion which hurled ten heavy iron covers of the Telephone Company's man holes thirty feet into the air at 2.30 Saturday afternoon. Glass was blown from windows all along the route which lay about that section immediately adjacent to Spadina avenue and Queen street. Gas escaping into the conduit hermatically sealed by ice and snow is the cause given.

At Huron and St. Patrick streets, Policeman Wallace (291) was standing almost over the manhole, which is set in the sidewalk on the southeast corner. The heavy iron cover was blown high in the air and with the force of the escaping gas which also ignited, the policeman was hurled about 15 feet into a snow bank. His face and clothing was scorched, and his right leg was severely wrenched, but he was able to proceed to his station and thence to his home. The heavy cover of the hole was broken into four pieces.

DAMAGE TO PROPERTY.

At Queen and Peter streets, the damage to property was the most severe, and also a number of passers by were slightly injured by flying blocks of ice. Here, as at Soho and Bulwer streets and Soho and Phoebe streets, the manhole top was hurled up through the cables strung from the poles above and these were wrecked.

J. J. Wright of the Electric Light Co., was at first notified that it was his manholes which were blown up. He later declared that not one of them belonged to his company. When asked for the probable explanation of the matter he said there is always a certain amount of free gas in these conduits and that this might easily be ignited by a spark from a defective insulation on one of the cables, allowing a contact with the metal interior of the conduit.

CHAIN OF IGNITION.

This, once ignited, would run along from one hole to another, thus causing the series of explosions. The force of the explosions would be increased by the fact that the covers were practically hermetically sealed by snow and ice.

WOMAN STRUCK BY ICE.

One woman passing along Queen and Peter streets was struck in the face with a flying piece of ice. She went to Lemaire's drug store on Queen street and had it dressed, but went on without further attention. One runaway was caused, but the man and woman who occupied the sleigh were uninjured, and it was stopped in two blocks.

Saturday's explosion is the most extensive and serious of the kind which has taken place in the city, but it is by no means the first. Like blow-outs occurred in the down town section of Yonge street in the electriet light conduits last summer.

SATURDAY MARKET.

High Prices Prevail—Eggs Bring 30c. Per Dozen.

There was a fair attendance on the market on Saturday. Eggs sold as high as 30c. per dozen, and butter from 23 to 26c. Chickens from 90c. to $1.25 per pair. Little wood was offered, prices ranging from $4.50 to $5 for hardwood.

SLUGGISH LIVER RUINED BUSINESS MAN'S HEALTH.

Story of a Merchant Who Almost Lost His Business and His Health Through Neglecting Early Symptoms of Disease.

"My life for years has been of sedentary character," writes T. B. Tichfield, head of a well-known firm in Buckingham. "Nine hours every day I spent at office work and took exercise only on Sunday. I disregarded the symptoms of ill health which were all too apparent to my family. I grew thin, then pale, and before long I was jaundiced—eyes skin were yellow, my strength and nerve energy were lowered, and I was quite unfitted for business. In the morning a lightness in the head, particularly when I bent over, made me very worried about my health. Most of the laxative medicines I found weakening, and knowing that I had to be at my business every day I neglected myself rather than risk further weakness. Of course I grew worse, but by a happy chance I began to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I was forcibly struck by the fact that they neither caused griping nor nausea, and it seemed incredible that pills could tone, cleanse and regulate the system without causing any unpleasant after effects. Dr. Hamilton's Pills acted with me just as gently as nature—they gave new life to my liver, strengthened my stomach, and won me back to perfect good health. My skin is clear, dizziness has disappeared and my appetite, strength, spirits are perfect."

Refuse anything offered you instead of Dr. Hamilton's Pills which are sure to cure. Sold in 25c. boxes, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ontario.

Buy your St. Patrick Day cards at The Times Bookstore, they have the newest and largest assortment to choose from, and the price is three for five cents.

ENNISMORE RESIDENT DEAD.

Demise of Mr. Patrick Murphy, a Well Known Resident.

On Saturday morning last the death occurred of Mr. Patrick Murphy, at his late residence in Ennismore. He was 87 years of age, and had resided all his life in this township. Two weeks ago the late Mr. Murphy was stricken with an attack of pneumonia, which terminated in fatal results. He was a son of Mr. James Murphy, and a member of St. Peter's Court, C.O.F. Besides his wife five children survive. The funeral will take place this morning at nine o'clock to St. Martin's church, and thence to St. Martin's cemetery, Ennismore.

WITH MASONIC HONORS.

The Remains of David Breckenridge Buried Yesterday.

The remains of the late David Breckenridge, arrived on the C.P.R., on Saturday evening from British Columbia, where he passed away under distressing circumstances, and were interred with Masonic honors from the residence of the deceased's brother, Mr. Matthew Breckenridge, No. 168 Boundary street, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Breckenridge was forman of the Crow's Nest Pass Lumber Company at Warner, and became suddenly ill on Feb. 12, with gastritis. He was attended by Dr. Watt, but his symptoms becomibg alarming, the fastest team available was procured and an attempt made to reach the hospital at Cranbrook, but he died suddenly in his wife's arms when within a few miles of Cranbrook.

HOTEL LICENSES.

An Interesting Comparison of Ratios as They Will Work Out.

Some of the city councils of Ontario have passed bylaws to reduce hotel licenses, Ottawa, Kingston, Peterborough, St. Catharines, and Brantford. When the new license year begins on the first of May next, the cities of the Province will line up as follows:

Niagara Falls	13 540
Belleville	16 600
Port Arthur	15 690
Windsor	23 690
Chatham	14 740
Kingston	25 900
Stratford	16 910
St. Thomas	16 910
Guelph	15 915
Hamilton	66 1,020
Peterborough	13 1,270
Fort William	12 1,320
St. Catharines	13 1,325
Ottawa	55 1,500
London	26 1,900
Brantford	9 2,300
Toronto	110 3,600

The two extremes are Niagara Falls with one license for each 540 people, and Toronto with one license for each 3,600 people.

St. Andrew's Church

The service in St. Andrew's church last night was of a very interesting nature. The Young Men's Guild and members of the Young Men's Bible Class formed the choir, and assisted in making the praise service bright and attractive. Mr. James Browne and Gordon Wright assisted and a solo and quartette added much to the brightness and profit of the evening service. The burden of Mr. Potter's address to the young men was: "The taking advantage of the good start given them in life and the overcoming of hindrances so frequently thrown in the way of young men."

THE JEWISH RACE.

Interesting Address By Jewish Presbyterian Minister.

At St. Paul's church yesterday morning Rev. S. B. Rohold, first Hebrew Christian Presbyterian pastor, superintendent of work amongst the Jews in Canada, preached. The subject was; "The Present Condition of the Jews and Their Attitude Towards Christianity."

The speaker was born in Jerusalem, a son of a leading rabbi, educated and brought up for the same position. Thirteen years ago after his conversion he left the Holy City and labored with much acceptance among his brethren in Scotland. Two years ago he came here by the invitation of the Presbyterian Church, to organize the work amongst the Jews in Canada, with its headquarters amongst the 16,000 Jews in Toronto where his efforts were met with singular success. The mission which is situated in the very heart of the Jewish quarter, has become a center of attraction to all kinds and classes of Jews. The mission has now a regular staff of seven missionaries, three men and four women, who carry on a very aggressive work in the following departments: Reading rooms, night schools for men and women, sewing classes for women and girls, Sunday school, Boys' Club, kindergarten, tract distribution, gospel services, and Bible classes and open air services, free dispensary, club for young business women, systematic visitation of homes, hospitals and other institutions.

Mr. Rohold not only told of his work, but dealt with the Jewish problem in general.

Mr. Rphold also delivered an address in the Y.M.C.A. in the afternoon and preached in Knox church in the evening.

A Painful Accident

The many friends of Master Carlyle Potter, will be sorry to learn of his meeting with a painful accident on Saturday night about 8.15. Carlyle, in company with his brother, was walking along George street and fell on the icy pavement near the G.N.W. telegraph office, breaking his leg. A rig was summoned and he was conveyed to the manse where Drs. Greer and Eastwood were called and set the limb. He spent a fairly good night and rested well yesterday.

Miners Have Terrible Experience in North

Lost for Sixteen Days and Had to Kill Dogs for Food—Arms were Frozen

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 19.—Lost for sixteen days in the Koyukuk Valley, Alaska, with the thermometer registering 54 to 60 below zero, without food, matches, ax or knife, Vernon Brewster, an old-time prospector, was forced to kill three of his dogs to save his own life in the frozen wilderness.

Brewster has just reached Nome to recount his terrible experience. His journey down the Koyukuk was beset with terrible privations and multiplied hardships. He was making his way from Chandler to Beetles, and had food but for three days. In taking a short cut he missed Beetles and struck the river below where the store is located.

On the sixth day out his condition became desperate. He feared that if he slept he would freeze to death, and almost exhausted with hunger he killed one of his dogs.

For the next few days he went without food, and then, growing weaker and realizing that his team could not hold out much longer, he killed another dog to satisfy his own hunger and the ravenous appetites of the team. Five days later, with death again at his elbow, a third dog was sacrificed. On the sixteenth day he staggered into the telegraph station at the mouth of the river, where he was immediately given medical attention and nursed back to normal health. One of his hands was badly frozen, and his face scarred in many places by the cold.

Peter Munson, another Kongardk miner, reports an even worse experience. He became lost in a blizzard while on a stampede to ocate claims on the Pilgrim River on New Year's Day, and was taken to Nome for treatment. Both feet and hands were so badly frozen that all four members had to be amputated. Notwithstanding this, gangrene set in, and Munson became a raving maniac By this time he has probably found release from his sufferings in death as there was no hope of his recovery

Henderson Faces a Serious Charge

Henderson, the Englishman, who is now confined in jail on the charge of brutally beating the elderly Misses McPhersons at their home near Norwood, and one of whom died yesterday, will now face a more serious charge. Henderson has been remanded from time to time, waiting the outcome of the condition of the elder of the sisters, as very little hope was entertained for her recovery, as she was so brutally beaten up.

It will be remembered that Henderson was in Peterborough for a short time when he attempted to swindle a number of citizens. It is alleged that he is also wanted in Toronto.

Will Accept the Call

Hamilton, Feb. 18.—Rev. Isaac Couch, pastor of Central Methodist church, who has received a call to George strust church, Peterborough, announced yesterday that he would accept the call subject to the approval of the Conference Stationing and Transfer Committee. Rev. E. A. Pearson, the present pastor of the Peterborough church, has accepted a call to Central church.

SHOT MEMBER'S SON.

Fred Carroll of Carroll, Manitoba, Victim of Girl's Revolver.

Winnipeg, Feb. 19.—Fred Carroll, son of A. H. Carroll, member of the local legislature for South Brandon, was shot and seriously wounded last night by Lottie McCulloch, who up to a few months ago had been a domestic in his father's house.

About one month ago young Carroll was married and had taken up his residence in the village of Carroll, Man., where his father also resides. Last night about eight o'clock Miss McCulloch called at Carroll's house. When he appeared the girl drew a revolver and without warning fired, the bullet taking effect in Carroll's stomach. She gave herself up to the police. Jealousy is said to be the cause.

TRAMP REMEMBERS.

Coin to Farmer Who Gave Him a Meal and Shelter.

Nashville, Ind., Feb. 19.—David Ornstein, a farmer living in the southern part of Brown county, has found that bread cast upon the waters returns after many days—only in this case it was a bread and meat "hand-out" given to a tramp five years ago.

One bitterly cold day in December, 1904, a tramp appeared at the Ornstein home. He was given supper, a bed and breakfast and departed.

While the family was at supper a few days ago a man called and asked food and shelter for the night. He was taken in and after supper handed Mr. Ornstein a $20 gold piece, explaining it was for the supper given him five years ago. The tramp is now in business.

Terrible Experience of Ship-Wrecked Crew

London, Feb. 19.—To be wrecked on a barren island near the dreaded Cape Horn, and to be forced to subsist for 13 days on mosses and shell fish, was the terrible experience of the crew of the London sailing vessel Deccan, which foundered off the extreme south of the South American coast.

The men were ultimately rescued by a sealer, and they have just been landed at Liverpool by the Pacific Line steamer Dromah. The Deccan left Port Talbot with a cargo of coal last August. She was bound for South America, and had on board a crew of 27, including six apprentices.

When the vessel was near Cape Horn, the master, Captain Parnell, was taken ill. He was put ashore at Port Stanley, subsequently returning to his home at Port Madoc, where he died. The ship proceeded on her voyage, but encountered seas of tremendous violence, and was driven ashore on Mos Island.

FOOD SUPPLY GAVE OUT.

Immediately she struck, her mainmast went overboard, and, being badly damaged, the vessel began to fill rapidly. The men took to the boats with a few biscuits and some tinned meat, and the vessel went down a quarter of an hour afterwards. A landing was effected on the Island of Terra del Fuego, and here the crew remained marooned for 13 days. The food supply gave out, and the men had to subsist on mosses and shellfish.

Rain and sleet fell almost incessantly, and the only shelter the men had was a tent made from pieces of the ship's sails.

RESCUED AT LAST.

In their explorations of the island the men found several human skeletons, indicating that shipwrecked men had previously perished there. At the end of 13 days a sealer was sighted, and the crew were rescued and landed at Punta Arenas, from which port they sailed for Liverpool.

SOLVES NEGRO PROBLEM.

President Taft Gives His Views at Conference on Education.

Washington, Feb. 19.—In the prosperity of the south lies the solution of the race problem in the opinion of President Taft, who participated last night in a conference of educators and philanthropically disposed men and women of Washington, on industrial education in the south.

"There are two things working toward the solution of the negro problem," said the president. "One is the development of interest among the better class of southerners in the education of the negro, and a consciousness of the fact that nothing will so much help the south as such education. The other important feature is the increase of wealth of the south.

"I am delighted to have 15 cent cotton, whether it be high or not, because it means the prosperity of the south, the development of her educational system and the working out of the most difficult problem ever presented to a people."

Washington Diplomats Want to Favor Canada But Don't Know How

United Staies Don't Know Who to Deal with —Due to Lack of Direct Canadian Representation at Washington

Washington, Feb. 19.—Officials in Washington are now deeply immersed in the question of the application of the maximum or the minimum tariff to Canada, Mr. Knox, secretary of state, has summoned John G. Foster, United States consul-general at Ottawa, to Washington, for conference. Mr. Foster arrived here today and was at the state department, and in conference with the bureau of trade relations, and the tariff board. He also saw President Taft.

NO DIRECT AMBASSADOR.

This tariff matter brings out very pointedly the disadvantage of Canada not being granted the right to have a diplomatic representative at at Washington. Indeed negotiations with Canada at the start have been hampered by an entirely false impression having been given Canada by the British ambassador, that no matter what the position of Canada in treating with the United States, this government would have no tariff war, and the maximum would not be applied.

Mr. Bryce has, it is stated, entirely misunderstood the friendly expressions of President Taft with reference to Canada, and the United States has been represented as "easy" to Sir Wilfrid. As a result Canada seems to have adopted a close understanding with France that neaither is to make any concessions in the belief that if Canada evadeas the maximum France will also evade it, and everything will be lovely.

KNOX WANTS TO KNOW.

Secretary Knox today requested Mr. Bryce to inform him whether the United States shall conduct tariff negotations with the Dominion government direct or through the British embassy. This is the first formal moved made by the state department. In the case of all other countries, the ambassadors or ministers have called at the state department, and negotiations have been opened. With reference to Canada, her best friend, the United States makes the first move. There is a feeling that there should have been reciprocity with Canada long ago.

FRANCE INDIFFERENT.

Canada is not the first country was misinformed regarding the attitude of this government. The German ambassador on his first visit brought up the expressions in the president's annual message that the United States did not desire a tariff war, and assumed that the minimum would be applied to every country. He was disabused of this idea very quickly. France does not seem to care, and the charges are three to one that she will receive the maximum of the Payne tariff March 31.

WANT TO FAVOR CANADA.

So far as Canada is concerned, the situation has been painted in too roseate hues to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and he may make the mistake that France is making now, and that Germany almost made. At the same time no one can say that Canada will not get the minimum as a matter of friendship. The disposition is to do everything under the law to favor Canada. No one is blind to the disadvantages to the United States of a tariff war with Canada, nor to the disadvantages that Canada also might suffer.

In a general way the president's attitude on the Canadian tariff situation is about what it was on the German. He is unofficially optimistic but has said nothing to handicap the work of his advisers on the tariff board, or in the state department, and his final decision will largely rest on what these advisers say. In addition to this the president sees it as his duty to adhere to the law as set down by the Payne tariff act and apply the maximum to any country whichunduly discriminates against the products of the United States.

As explained today at the state department, it is not a question of sentiment, but a question of fact.

Asquith will Ask House to Decide

London, Feb. 19.—The speech with which King Edward will open parliament on Monday received his majesty's final approval and signature at a meeting of the privy council in Buckingham Council this morning. The new ministers were also sworn in and received the seals of office.

Seldom has an address from the throne and its interpretation by the prime minister been awaited with such intense interest, as on the tenor of these hangs the life of government. Premier Asquith is credited to day with therather clever plan of submitting to parliament as a whole the question of whether priority shall be given to a consideration of the financial bill or to the question of the veto power of the House of Lords. Should he decide upon this course it is difficult to see how the Unionists could avoid supporting the premier's predilection in favor of the budget, as they have insisted persistently upon the necessity of regularizing the finances of the country before an attack upon the House of Lords is made.

STRANGE LANGUAGE.

Natives in Northern Nigeria Speak in Peculiar Tongue.

London, Feb. 19.—You may have noticed something in the newspapers about the Nigerian Railway, which is being pushed through Northern Nigeria, and about half way across the African continent. It is a big job getting a railway through the swamps and forests and over the rivers of West Africa. The men who do it call themselves—modestly—mud shifters. And just as the railway is in sight of its objective comes the book of the man who laid down—not the rails—but the language.

There will not be many reviews of the grammar of the Ghari language. Don't start! By a curious chance I happen to know of the labor and fun that went to make up Major's Edgar's "dictionary" of a speech that had never been written down. Plugging through Northern Nigeria he found natives that talked a language that was never spelled or understood by anyone outside the area. You will imagine the major, as political agent, annexing some few hundred miles of territory, calling together the men of unknown speech, and, with the aid of interpreters, jotting down what they mean by that.

As a result the dictionary maker has got together a grammar and a dictionary of some thousands of words that will take the Ghari country. And even in Northern Nigeria you will find proverbial philosophy. For example, there is a proverb that, in mercy to the printer, I do not attempt to reproduce in the original: "An elephant in another town is bees." Which is, as you will perceive, the replica of the prophet without honor in his own country.

ORGANIZATION OF COUNTRY.

It was necessary to get the country organized on a family and financial basis. So this young officer sailed into the village of the principal chief and summoned the natives to appear before him (in one side he ranged the males, on the other the ladies. Then he asked the men to choose whom they would take for a wife. And that law, promulgated by the youthful major is typical of the British compromise.

CAR MEN GO ON STRIKE.

Amalgamated Association Claims Membership of 5000 Will Tie Up System.

Philadelphia, Feb. 19.—The street car situation in this city reached an acute stage this afternoon, when the men affiliated with the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes began turning in their cars at various barns and refused to take them out again.

After the union leaders learned th that the men were turning in their cars a formal strike order was issued. C. O. Pratt, national organizer of the Amalgamated Association, claimed that 700 had been dismissed, but this was denied by officials of the company, who declare that not one-fifth of that number had been discharged.

There are about 6000 motormen and conductors employed by the company, which controls every street car line in the city. The union claim an organization of 5000, but company officials say not more than 1,500 are affiliated with the Amalgamated Association.

At 3 p.m., the company issued a statement that 270 cars out of 1660 in operation had been turned in by strikers. The statement also said that 176 men had been dismissed yesterday and today for good and sufficient cause.

The union leaders express their belief that the company will be tied up by 6 o'clock.

Ralph Connor's new story "The Foreigner," has been bought by the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal and publication will begin in two or three weeks. Ralph Connor's former stories "The Doctor," "The Prospector," "The Man From Glengarry," and others have made him famous as a story writer, and "The Foreigner" is regarded by many as his best. It is a thrilling story of the Canadian West. It is said that the price was the biggest by far ever paid for a serial story. It will be a great treat to readers of the Family Herald and Weekly Star and those who become subscribers to that great weekly during the next two weeks will be in time for the opening chapter. The beautiful picture "The Soul's Awakening," is still offered as a premium. The combination is the biggest dollar's worth in the market today.

Horse Distemper

GIVES CLEARNESS TO SKIN

Weeds and Purifies Blood and Thereby Keeps you in Good Health.

Most women and some men try to remove yellowishness of skin, blotches, dark lines under the eyes by cosmetiques. Such means are as useless as disappointing. When the skin lacks clearness, particularly when the body is emaciated, it is simply the stain upon the skin of impurities in the bowels that are carried about by the blood. Sluggish activity is certainly the cause of bad complexion even if regularity should be pretty fair.

Better than any cosmetique, because they remove the cause of skin discoloration, Dr. Hamilton's Pills ensure inward cleansing and activity. In addition to their laxative action they are a true tonic to all the eliminating organs, liver, kidneys, bowels, and glands. Dr. Hamilton's Pills remove the cause of all blood troubles that manifest themselves outwardly, and they fortify and strengthen the organs and thereby prevent a return of diseased conditions.

One box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills proves their merit, even one dose shows how different they are from other pills. 25c. per box, at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

BI-LINGUAL SCHOOLS.

It is time that the people of this Province were being told something of what is going on in their midst. The leading papers on both sides appear to be afraid to give the facts in regard to the demands which are being made on the Ontario Government by the Quebec hierarchy. It is certainly a dangerous step which the French Roman Catholic Church is asking us to take, for we do not believe that the proposal is popular with the English-speaking Roman Catholics. Ontario does not desire to perpetuate the French language in this fair Province.

The tongue of the British people and of the Canadian people is English, and if the French of Quebec are to get on in the world it is necessary that they should know the English language. Hence in Quebec they must learn the English language. On the other hand in Ontario there is little or need for French. English is our tongue and English it will remain. From a business standpoint there seems, therefore, little reason why we should go out of our way to establish what might be termed French schools in Ontario. As the Kingston Standard puts it, if the French want to learn French they can learn it at home or (the French language in Ontario being rather an accomplishment) they can pay for it as they pay for other accomplishments such as music and the like, and take it privately.

If the Ontario Government knows what is best for it, it will never attempt to fasten the French language on the people of this province.

THE MONORAIL.

Canada is to lead the way in the adoption of the monorail system of railroading if it is true, as announced, that the Canadian Pacific will build a system of this kind in the Okanagan district of British Columbia.

The monorail system is one made possible by the perfecting of the gyroscoope car. This has been accomplished by an Englishman, Mr. Louis Brennan, who has demonstrated that it is possible successfully to operate a gyroscope car, carrying forty passengers, on a single rail at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour. The car swings around sharp curves, climbs steep grades, runs with perfect stability.

It is declared that a gyroscope train on a single rail can run at a much greater speed than the trains now in use, and this with greater safety than is assured under present conditions. A speed of one hundred miles an hour in absolutely safety is stated to be quite possible.

It will be easily seen that the gyroscope trains can be operated at less cost than the steam train and that in other ways, too, there may be a saving under the new system. Add to this consideration the greater consideration of less liability of accident—and it will be readily seen that the gyroscoope train is likely to supplant the other.

And a Canadian corporation is to be the first to make use of the new system for commercial purposes.

The Federal Life Assurance Co.

Of Canada

The Twenty-eighth Annual Meeting of the shareholders of the Federal Life Assurance Company of Canada was held at the Company's Head Office in Hamilton, Tuesday, 15th February, 1910, at 2 p.m., Mr. David Dexter in the chair, Mr. W. H. Davis, Acting Secretary.

The Annual Report, as follows, was read and adopted, on motion of the President, Mr. Dexter, seconded by Vice-President Lieut.-Col. Kerns:

Your Directors have the honor to present the Report and Financial Statement of the Company for the year which closed 31st December, 1909, duly vouched for by the Auditors.

The new business of the year consisted of two thousand six hundred applications for insurance, aggregating $3,063,906.66, of which two thousand five hundred and one applications for $3,504,235.00 were accepted.

As in previous years, the income of the Company shows a gratifying increase, and the assets of the Company have been increased by $339,092.86, and have now reached $3,643,940.53, exclusive of guarantee capital.

The security for policyholders, including guarantee capital, amounted at the close of the year to $4,513,949.53, and the liabilities for reserves and all outstanding claims, including $30,000 set aside as a special addition to policy reserves, $3,361,264.60, showing a surplus of $1,102,695.53. Exclusive of uncalled guarantee capital, the surplus to policyholders was $292,695.53.

Policies on one hundred and fifteen lives became claims through death, to the amount of $200,406.07.

Including cash dividends and dividends applied to the reduction of premiums, with annuities, the total payment to policyholders amounted to $347,274.43.

Careful attention has been given to the investment of the Company's funds in first-class bonds, mortgage securities, and loans on the Company's policies amply secured by reserves. Our investments have yielded a very satisfactory rate of interest.

Expenses have been confined to a reasonable limit, consistent with due efforts for new business. The results of the year indicate a most gratifying progress. Compared with the preceding year, the figures submitted by the Directors for your approval show an advance of nearly ten per cent. in assets.

The assurances carried by the Company now amount to $21,049,322.-31, upon which the Company holds reserves to the full amount required by law, and, in addition thereto, a considerable surplus.

You are to be congratulated on the fact that the surplus over capital and all liabilities increased $42,624.88 during the past year, from which a special addition of $30,000 was made to policy reserves.

The field officers and agents of the Company are intelligent and loyal, and are entitled to much credit for their able representation of the Company's interests. The members of the office staff have also proved faithful to the Company's service.

Your Directors are pleased to be able to state that the business of the Company for the current year has been of a most satisfactory character, and that the outlook for the future is most encouraging.

DAVID DEXTER.
President and Managing Director.

AUDITORS' REPORT

To the President and Directors of the Federal Life Assurance Company:

Gentlemen,—We have carefully audited the books and records of your Company for the year ending 31st December last, and have certified to their accuracy.

The Cash and Journal Vouchers have been closely examined and agree with the entries recorded.

The debentures, bonds, etc., in the possession of the Company have been inspected, whilst those deposited with the Government have been verified by certificate, the total agreeing with the amount as shown in the Statement of Assets.

The accompanying statement, viz., Revenue and Expenditure, Assets and Liabilities, show the result of the year's operations and also the financial position of the Company.

Respectfully submitted,

C. S. SCOTT, F.C.A.,
CHARLES STIFF, C.A., Auditors.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A California judge has decided that the mule is a deadly weapon. It will, therefore be against the law to carry your mules concealed.

Finland has a new diet. For the benefit of people who may wish to know the truth it may be said that Finland's new diet is not a result of the high cost of living.

According to the judgment of Governor Hadley of Missouri, the problem of the high cost of living will never be solved until every married couple keeps a cow. If Hadley is right the case is hopeless. Few of the girls who are now growing up are doing anything whatever to fit themselves for the exertions they would be compelled to put forth as milkers.

A GREAT TREAT.

Ralph Connor's new story, "The Foreigner," has been bought by the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal and publication will begin in two or three weeks. Ralph Connor's former stories "The Doctor," "The Prospector," "The Man from Glengarry," and others have made him famous as a story writer, and "The Foreigner" is regarded by many as his best. It is a thrilling story of the Canadian West. It is said that the price was the biggest by far ever paid for a serial story. It will be a great treat to readers of the Family Herald and Weekly Star and those who become subscribers to that great weekly during the next two weeks will be in time for the opening chapter. The beautiful picture, "The Soul's Awakening" is still offered as a premium. The combination is the biggest dollar's worth in the market to-day.

Vegetable Dinner For Hotel Men.

Montpelier, Vt., Feb. 18.—As an expression of their dissatisfaction with the prevailing high price of meats, the Vermont Hotel Men's Association converted its annual dinner here to-day into a purely vegetarian feast. No meats of any kind were included in the elborate menu.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY PERSON WHO IS THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, solely owned and occupied by him, or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to obtain homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

Plan to Divert Immigration.

Shreveport, La., Feb. 17.—The Interstate Farm and Land Congress, which has for its principal object the diverting of immigration to the South and South-west, began a three days' convention in this city to-day. The attendance includes many representative of railroads and commercial organizations of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by all dealers.

AN HONEST POLITICIAN.

Sir Wilfrid Lawson Was an Honor to the British Commons.

"Laws should be adapted to those who have the heaviest stake in the country; for whom misgovernment means not mortified pride or stinted luxury, but want and pain and degradation and risk to their own lives and to their children's souls." Mr. George Russell has put these noble words in the forefront of his memoir of the late Sir Wilfrid Lawson, and they give the keynote of the life portrayed therein.

Sir Wilfrid Lawson is described by one who knew him as an "absolutely honest man." His life shows it. He entered politics in 1859, and left them in 1906. Yet he was the same man all through. The ideals he fought for at Carlisle in 1859 he fought for until his death. He never faltered; he never changed. Some of his ideals have been accomplished. Others remain ideals. But there is not one which was, or is, not noble and unselfish.

He was once described as a "gloomy fanatic." Probably a more gross misdescription was never penned. He came of a sturdy Border stock. The Wybergha of Clifton have been there since the days of the Third Edward. The Lawsons of Brayton were another ancient Border family, which had again and again represented Cumberland in Parliament. In 1688, Sir Wilfrid Lawson looked round about him for an heir, as he was childless, and he chose his nephew, Thomas Wybergh, who assumed the name of Lawson, and from him our hero was descended. Young Lawson's life was that of an ordinary country squire, save that the religious surroundings of his home were more marked. But withal there was little of stern sour puritanism about the home at Brayton. "My father enjoyed a long day's hunting or shooting almost to the end of his life, and in skating and playing hockey on the ice he often tired out younger men."

And the love of open-air life and field sports passed on to the son. Many thousands have asked the question, "D'ye ken John Peel?" Young Lawson "ken'd" him, and he bought the hounds that Peel had hunted, improved the pack, and became Master of the Cumberland Foxhounds. Incidentally Sir Wilfrid settles the right reading of the old song, "With his coat so gay" in the conjectural emendation of those who cannot conceive of a huntsman without a red coat. But Lawson says, "his gray coat is no more a myth than himself, for I well remember the long, gray garment."

This, then, is the type of man who sought to enter politics in 1857. A typical English gentleman, bearing an ancient name, heir to a large inheritance; and a thorough sportsman. And, with all this, there was a sturdy Radicalism which never changed and never faltered.

The first essay for Parliament was unsuccessful, but in 1859 young Lawson stood with his uncle, Sir James Graham, of Netherby, Cumberland, Whig, Peelite and Liberal, a hard-hitting politician of the old school, whose favorite aversion was Disraeli. Lawson was roused out of bed in the middle of the night by a deputation of Carlisle Liberals, and—"in my robes of repose"—he furnished his election address there and then. He was returned after a stiff contest, and took part in the fights of Lord Palmerston's last administration. Here, perhaps, we may finish off Sir Wilfrid's electoral experiences. He was turned out of Carlisle in 1865, but won the seat back in 1868 and held it until 1882, when he stood for Cockermouth and was defeated by ten votes, the Irish vote going against him. In 1886 the Irish vote went for him, and he held the seat until 1900, when khaki proved his undoing. Cumberne gave him a refuge in 1902, and he returned to Cockermouth in 1906.

When We Sleep.

The Hindus never sleep with their heads to the north, for they believe that to do so would cause their days to be shortened. There is much superstition in Hindustan as to the point of the compass towards which the head should point when in bed; to lie in the direction of the south being thought to be productive of longevity, whereas the east and west, it is asserted, are calculated to bring sickness and change of scene respectively. The Japanese never sleep with their heads to the north, their reason being that the dead in their country are always buried with their heads in that direction. So particular are the Japanese in this respect that, in their sleeping rooms, a diagram of the points of the compass will usually be found pasted upon the ceiling of the room for the benefit of guests. The Russians, too, dread the northern position, as they have been taught that all evil emanates from that quarter of the heavens, and that by sleeping with their heads towards it they are in danger of disaster, illness, or sudden death. The Hungarians, Poles, Patagonians, the Samoans, and several African tribes have the same objections on various grounds, but all tending to the one direction.

DOG MADE FOR CROWD.

Stratford, Feb. 17.—A big collie dog that was being shot, was not badly hurt by the first shot, and made for the crowd. Mr. A. Snowden then held the dog while it was being despatched, but his finger was badly bitten in doing so.

Strathroy, Feb. 17.—Gordon Dymond, aged six years, son of Mr. W. P. Dymond, was slightly bitten on the wrist by a dog on the way home from school, and he has been taken to the Pasteur Institute, New York.

New Engines on the C.P.R.

Some new locomotives have been turned out on the C.P.R. recently. They are known as an Atlantic type engine. There are only two driving wheels, but they are 84 inches in diameter. The "long legs," as the engineers speak of them are conductive to greater speed. Instead of having the driving wheels at the rear end of the engine, they are underneath the middle part, and a smaller wheel called "an idler," is beneath the cabin. It derives its name from the fact that it has no propelling power, but acts merely to steady the locomotive. The placing of the wheels is designed to allow for a wider fire box.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL.

Met in Council Chambers on Saturday the 12th.

The North Monaghan Council met on Saturday, 12th inst., in the county committee room, in the City of Peterborough, at 2.00 p.m. The members present were: W. G. Howden, Reeve, and James C. Morrow, Wm. Robson and J. H. Forster, councillors. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Communications were read from the following:

E. M. Elliot, county treasurer, showing the land and tax collections made by him in 1909 and also the returns of taxes still in arrears, and owing the township.—Filed.

Dr. W. T. Greer, Medical Health Officer, enclosing his annual report re the sanitary conditions, and showing number of contagious diseases reported in the township during the year 1909.—Filed.

W. H. Bradburn, the township treasurer, enclosing the returns from the collector's roll for 1910 and showing the abatements and remissions due the collector for taxes charged therein and uncollectable. This return was as follows:

A. S. Armstrong $2.59, no goods returned against land.

Edgar Amson, 75c, moved out of the township.

Chas. Braddock, 75c, moved from the township.

J. E. Connor, $1.75, moved from the township.

Geo. Dickson, $2.59, no goods returned against land.

Wm. Field, 75c, removed from the township.

Ed. Hedger, 75c, moved from the township.

Thos. Hubble, $2.75, moved from the township.

H. Killinbeck, $1.75 moved from township.

Jas. Sexsmith, $2.75, moved from the township.

On motion these returns were allowed and an order was passed for $50 in payment of the collector's salary for 1909.

A communication was also read from R. Lees, Public School Inspector, for the County of Peterborough, calling the attention of the council to the necessity of appointing a truant officer in each township throughout the county. The clerk was directed to forward a copy of this letter to the several school boards in the township.

Accounts were handed in from the following:

A. Reynolds, fees for burying the remains of an unknown man found near Springville last fall, $12.

Dr. T. N. Greer, fees, M. H. O., 1909, $17.

J. McIntosh, refund, errors in roll, $6.05.

J. J. Fair, clerk of Cavan, showing contra account against N. Monaghan.

Moved by Messrs. Morrow and Robson that the accounts of Messrs. Grefr, Reynolds and McIntosh be passed and paid, and that the clerk is hereby directed to communicate with the Cavan council, with the purpose of having cheques issued by both townships for the full amount of their accounts and exchanged on settlement thereof. This was carried.

The committee of the whole council appointed re revision of statute labor divisions reported having considered the matter, and after going over various propositions relating to a readjustment of the statute labor system at present in force in the township, had decided to re-divide the township into six road divisions and increase the number of overseers from five to six. This report was received and adopted, and the clerk was instructed to prepare a by-law accordingly to be passed at the next meeting.

An application for the office of collector of taxes was received from Wm. Stevens.

It was moved by Messrs. Morrow and Robson that Mr. J. McIntosh be re-appointed collector for 1910 at the same salary paid last year. — Carried.

By-law No. 626 to authorize the reeve and treasurer to borrow money to meet the current expenses was then passed, signed and sealed.

The auditors' statement and report for 1909 was presented and read. This statement, requiring a few alterations, was referred to the auditors for correction.

Council then adjourned until Saturday, the 12th of March, to meet in the same place at the same time.

"HEADACHE, WEAKNESS, HEART TROUBLE"

Miss Albina Chauvin, No. 60 Rue Agnes, St., Henri, Montreal, Can., writes:

"I consider Peruna better than any other remedy, as it cured me when nothing else could. I suffered for years and years with heart trouble, headache and weakness. I never expected to find anything to cure me. I saw one day, in "La Presse," that Peruna was excellent and I tried it. One bottle produced a change in me and if the price had been $100 a bottle I would have paid it gladly. I have taken six bottles and am entirely cured. Please accept my thanks and best wishes for your Peruna."

"Please Accept My Thanks and Best Wishes For Your PE-RU-NA."

Many cases of heart trouble are caused by reflex disturbances.

Catarrh of the stomach is a very frequent cause of sympathetic heart disease.

Palpitation, shortness of breath and bloating after meals are the most prominent symptoms.

Such a condition of the stomach is also liable to produce headaches of the worst sort.

Medicines that palliate the symptoms will never lead to a cure.

It is the effect which Peruna has upon the stomach, healing the mucous membranes and restoring the natural function of the stomach, that causes Peruna to bring such prompt relief.

ALEXANDER H. BEATH, Vice-President.
JAMES K. MACLENNAN, Secretary-Treasurer.
JOHN ANNIS, of Markstay, Ont.
JAMES TOWNSEND, of Mabel, Que., and
JOHN H. CLARY, of Sudbury, Ont.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent dated April 16th, A. D., 1909, and is empowered to carry on in all its branches the operations of a mining, milling, reduction and development Company.

The Company was organized more particularly to acquire and develop certain of the mining claims on Emerald Lake commonly called the Townsend-Annis gold properties.

Mr. Townsend had an undivided eleven-sixteenths interest in Mining Location W.D. 154, and Mr. Annis had three water claims adjoining and extending westward from W.D. 154. The Company has a working option on the remaining five-sixteenths of W. D. 154 from Mr. William Crawford, of Haileybury, formerly of Sudbury. The Company purchased outright the interest of Mr. Townsend and Mr. Annis.

These claims are distant about 32 miles almost due north from Warren, Ontario, and lie on the east side of Emerald Lake. In winter they are reached from Markstay by an existing road some 40 miles long, needing some small repairs in places—in summer from Temagami station on the T. and N. O. Railway, by steamer to Obabika Bay on the north-west arm of Lake Temagami, and thence a distance of ten miles, in all, by water, four short portages excepted, to Emerald Lake and W.D. 154 is reached.

On W.D. 154 the ore outcrops in the form of a deposit, in width from 300 to 500 feet, and has been traced on the strike for about 1,000 feet. The dip is nearly vertical. The contact wall on the south side is jasper and magnetite and on the north side is black slate. The gangue rock is calcite, schist and quartz, heavily mineralized with gold-bearing iron-pyrites. Considerable stripping and test pitting have been done at various points, and at each point good values in gold have been found. All blastings have disclosed free gold and pannings show many colors. The directors believe this property to be

The Largest Outcropping of High-grade Ore Known in the World To-day.

Four assays from Messrs. Handley and Parker, of Sudbury, showed respectively $2,419.61, $1,620.68, $787.68, and $102.72 per ton. Ledoux and Company of 99 John Street, New York, $26.45 (from an iron-pyrites sample). Kropp's, Germany, gave $66.00 per ton from an iron pyrites sample.

The Directors have decided to place 50,000 shares on the market at the special price of 50c per share, in blocks of not less than 50 shares each. Allotments will be made as applications, accompanied by the necessary cash, have been received for 20,000 shares. Should this number not be subscribed for by February 15th next, money will be refunded promptly. The above low price is to provide the necessary funds for the installation of the proper milling and reduction plant and for the carrying out of the necessary mining operations. See prospectus.

All have not the knowledge or the necessary capital to send out prospecting parties, but many small capitalists can afford to put up $25.00 or more to get a share in this local enterprise where they know that first, last and all the time they will get a square deal. Come and see samples. Have them assayed yourself. Investigate for yourself.

Porcupine may have plenty of gold but you don't need to go further than Emerald Lake for gold. Many mining men of Sudbury know W.D. 154. Cut out this advertisement. Watch for following ads. Get a prospectus and all information from any of the Directors, or from Editor of the Times.

$2,000 for an Industrial Commissioner

Voted by the City Fathers Last Night—Board of Trade Guarantee Another $2,000 for the Same Purpose

The city fathers met in special session last night.

There were present: Mayor Morrow, and Aldermen Duffus, Duncan, Morgan, Buller, Gillespie, Metheral, Graham, Batten, Phelan, Bradburn, Turner and Hicks.

The 57th Regt. Band was largely represented by its members in support of the effect that, although their instruments had been removed from the old hall to the armories they were opposed to their becoming the property of the regiment.

A communication was read from Mr. John Harper, secretary of the 57th Regt. Band, acknowledging that the instruments had been subscribed for by private citizens on the understanding that they should be held by the city in trust for the ratepayers, and pointed out that notwithstanding it is desirable that the band's instruments and other property should be kept in the new armories, there is no wish on the part of the band to disturb present arrangement under which they are vested in the city for the ratepayers.

Mr. Harper, secretary of the band, addressed the council, and offered that his organization are a unit in their desire to have the instruments remain in the ownership of the city, and 35 members have signed a paper to that effect. Sixty per cent. of those who subscribed for the instruments did so on the understanding that they should be held by the city in trust for the ratepayers, and the band were strongly opposed to their being taken over by the regiment.

This cleared up any misunderstanding that may have existed on this matter, and the municipal authorities will see to it that the instruments are still held by the city in trust for the people.

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSIONER.

The proposition that the city contribute $2000 and the Board of Trade raise another $2000 to provide for a commissioner of industries and his expenses, came up in the regular way, but Ald. Morgan proposed that in view of the high rate for 1910, the city postpone any such action for another year, and he moved that the clause in the report of the Committee of the Whole, recommending that $2000 be granted for the above purpose be struck out. Ald. Metheral seconded Ald. Morgan, contending that the tax rate is now too high enough this year without inflicting the individual rate payer with additional assessment for an industrial commissioner. He could not see that the operations of an industrial commissioner would benefit the working man, whose present burden of taxes is as much as he can comfortably bear.

Ald. Duffus favored the proposition that the city should adopt the industrial commissioner scheme. He thought the only way to reduce the assessment is to secure new industries. Many schemes have been tried with this end in view but have proved of no avail, and it is now up to the city to adopt a measure, such as the proposed one, which promises to produce the desired results. He supported the proposition that the city grant $2000 for an industrial commissioner, and was gratified to learn that the Board of Trade had guaranteed a like amount.

Ald. Gillespie in response to Ald. Metheral's contention that it would not be fair to burden the workingman with additional taxes, pointed out that on an assessment of $1500 the additional taxes for an industrial commissioner would merely amount to 35 cents. He could not see that this was going to prove a hardship to anyone.

The Board of Trade were well represented at the meeting, and Mr. Dan O'Connell assured the council that the board would have no difficulty in raising $2000 to add to the $2000 from the city in support of an industrial commissioner. All citizens who had been so far approached by members of the board had endorsed the scheme and promised to respond liberally in the way of contributions.

Ald. Morgan's motion was here voted on and lost by a big majority of nays. Consequently the city will appropriate $2000 this year in support of a commissioner whose duties will be to adopt ways and means to secure new industries to locate in our midst.

VOTE OF THANKS.

Ald. Batten moved, seconded by Ald. Phelan,—That the thanks of this council be tendered the Ministerial Association for arranging for the Municipal service at All Saints' church last Sunday, and also to Rev Mr. Trumpour and the officers of the church for their very acceptable services on that occasion.

The council adjourned.

THE WEATHER.

Fair and very cold.

Reform of Lords is Proposed, More Dreadnoughts Promised

Entire Abolition of Veto Not Suggested—Moderation Characterizes Speech—Nationalists and Radicals Disappointed—Redmond Expects New Election by Easter

Legislative proposals will be advanced with all convenient speed to define the relations of the two Houses of Parliament and to secure the undivided authority of the Commons in matters of finance and their predominance in legislation.

These measures, in the opinion of my advisors, should provide that this House should be so constituted and empowered as to exercise impartially in regard to proposed legislation the functions of initiation and revision, subject to proper safeguards of delay.

From the King's speech.

London, Feb. 21.—King Edward failed to cut the Gordian knot in his speech from the throne today, opening the third parliament of his reign and the moderate nature of the proposals made for the reform of the Lords may precipitate a crisis between the Liberals on one side and the Irish Nationalists and Laborites on the other, all three parties supposed to form the ministerial coalition.

The King was expected to state definitely whether the budget or the bill to limit the veto power of the Lords should have preference. He failed to do so, but from the prominence he gave the budget in his speech and his reference to it first, it is assumed the government wishes to pass it before the Veto bill.

The Nationalists and Laborites warned Premier Asquith some days ago that unless he gave them positive assurance that the veto would be taken up first they would not support the Liberal program, but force the cabinet's resignation and another election.

The only reference in the speech to the proposal to limit the power of the Lords was the following:

"Recent experience disclosed serious difficulties due to the re-occurring differences of opinion between the two Houses.

"Legislative proposals will be advanced with all convenient speed to define the relations of the two houses of parliament, and to secure the undivided authority of the Commons in matters of finance and their predominance in legislation.

"These measures, in my opinion, and in the opinion of my advisers, should provide that the House of Lords be so constituted as to exercise impartially its functions of legislative initiation and revision."

PARTIZANSHIP INEVITABLE.

The King's reference to the desired impartiality of the Lords was generally construed as meaning that the existing system renders undue partizanship in the upper body inevitable.

The suggestion that the Commons should be supreme in matters of finance, is a practical guarantee that the veto bill will receive the King's earnest support, though it has not lessened the demands of the Nationalists and Laborites that it be taken up before the budget.

SIX OR EIGHT DREADNOUGHTS.

That the administration will keep up its big naval program was clearly indicated by the King's reference to the budget for the fiscal year, which, he said, carried, in creased naval expenditures. The naval program is said to include six or eight Dreadnaughts for this year.

The King explained that holding up the last budget necessitated borrowing, creating a situation that demanded legislative attention.

As a whole the King's speech was a disappointment, particularly to the Radicals and Nationalists, who hoped for stirring deliverances on the King's part. The King was in better voice than usual, and his reading of the speech was plainly heard in the farthest corner of the chamber.

The reading of the speech occupied only four minutes and at its close their majesties retired, and the session was suspended for two hours.

A BLACK HAND CHIEF

Sentenced to Thirty Years in State Prison.

New York, Feb. 20.—Lupo, "The Wolf," chief of the Black Hand in America, Giuseppe Morello, chief of Sicilian counterfeiters in this country, and six of their confederates were found guilty this afternoon, of making spurious money, and were sentenced tonight to hard labor in the Federal Prison at Atlanta, Ga., for terms varying from fifteen years and $1,000 fine, to thirty years and $1,000 fine. The accumulated sentences and fines aggregate 150 years and $7,500.

Lupo, who is under sentence of thirty years for murder in Italy, where he was tried while a fugitive from justice, wept copiously during his counsel's plea for mercy, and had to be supported when leaving the room after sentence. Callicho collapsed in the arms of two marshals, sobbing "not just, not just." Morello fainted and went into convulsions. All the others sobbed bitterly.

The sentences are as follows: Ignazio Lupo, 30 years and $1,000 fine; Giuseppe Morello, 25 years and $1,000; Giuseppe Palmero, 18 years and $7,000; Giovanni Callicho, 17 years and $600; Vincenzo Giglio, 15 years and $1,000; Salvatore Cina, 15 years and $1,000; Nicolo Sylvestro, 15 years and $1,000; Antonio Cecela, 15 years and $1,000.

As Palmera was being sentenced, there was a loud report from a flashlight, in realistic imitation of a Black Hand bomb.

Nine other members of the gang are awaiting trial. It is charged that the seventeen floated nearly $500,000 of counterfeit bills, peddling them at 25 cents on the dollar.

EGYPT'S PREMIER SHOT.

Seriously Wounded by Student at Cario.

Cairo, Feb. 20.—Boutros Pacha Ghali, the Egyptian premier and minister of foreign affairs, was shot and seriously wounded today by a student, who was arrested. The student fired five shots, three of the bullets lodging in the premier's body Two of them, however, inflicted only superficial wounds. The bullets were extracted, and it is practically certain that the premier will recover.

The crime was entirely of a political nature, the would-be assassin being a Nationalist. He declared that his motive was a desire to avenge various acts of the government, which the Nationalists attribute personally to Boutros Pacha.

DISASTERS BY SEA AND LAND.

Dunwoody Bay Claims Victims of Two Shipwrecks—Two Railway Wrecks.

Queenstown, Feb. 19.—The Italian ship, F. S. Clampa, with all of her crew, was lost in a gale off Dunwoody Bay. The wreckage came ashore today. It is understood that the crew numbered twenty, and some of the bodies have been recovered.

DUTCH VESSEL OVERDUE.

London, Feb. 19.—The Dutch merchant steamer Prins Willem II., which left Amsterdam Jan. 21, for West Indian Ports from New York with 14 passengers and a crew of 36, and which should have reached Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, on Feb. 8, is now 13 days overdue. Nothing has been heard of the vessel since she passed Ushant, on the Brittany coast of France, on Jan. 23. Her sister ship, the Prins Willem IV. has joined the Dutch cruiser Utrecht in the search for the missing vessel.

The Prins Willem II. was reinsured yesterday at Lloyd's at the high rate.

CRASHED INTO CREEK.

Wheeling, W., Va., Feb. 19.—A Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad freight train, running wild, crashed through a trestle over a creek, 15 miles from here early today, falling a distance of thirty feet, and burying the engineer, fireman, and two brakemen, riding in the cab, beneath a twisted mass of iron.

The fireman was killed. The three other trainmen were probably fatally injured. A special train brought them to this city.

Cherry, Ill., Feb. 19.—Four more bodies were taken out of the St. Paul Coal mine today. This makes a total of 126 bodies recovered since the disaster of Nov. 13.

Charles Athorton, known as the "top boss," who was shot while at his post of duty by Melac Manditch yesterday afternoon, was reported to be dying.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes with Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—50c. Sold by all dealers.

The Mrs. Scott-Raff and Conservatory Orchestra Concert Last Night

The Mrs. Scott-Raff and Conservatory Orchestra concert in the Conservatory Music Hall last night was a great success and the program was rendered by the orchestra under the direction of Mr. R. Gliddon in excellent style. Mrs. Scott-Raff who has appeared before Peterborough audiences on several occasions, was warmly received, her different readings last night were pleasing acceptable to the large audience, as was evidenced by the applause this talented lady received.

The Conservatory Orchestra is possessed of a highly creditable band of musicians, and the rendition of the truly difficult numbers last night was a great credit to themselves and their leader, Mr. Gliddon, who must justly feel proud of such an orchestra of finished musicians.

Following is the program rendered:

1. (a) "March of the Priests" from Athalia ... Mendelssohn
   (b) "Sicilian Chimes," Reverie ... ...Kerry Mills
2. Expression. "What is it?" Mrs. Scott-Raff.
3. (a) Idyl ... ... Paul Lincke
   (b) Barn Dance ... ...Kerry Mills
4. Narrative,
   "Inheritance"
   "Bird Philosophy"
   "A Limited Language,"... Batchelder
   "Yale Yarns" ... ...Scribner's Character Study
5. Mexican Dance, "Dark Eyes,"... Moret
6. "Aux Italiens" (with orchestral accompaniment), from Il Trovatore ... ... Owen Meredith Mrs. Scott-Raff.
7. Fantasia for Cornet, Op. 345 Rollinson Palmo Caturio.
8. Lyrics,
   "To a Skylark" ... ... Shelley
   "Kisses and Crosses" ... Ethelwyn Wetherald
   "At Midnight" ... Verna Sheard
   "The Little Road" ... ... Anon Mrs. Scott-Raff.

Canada's Land Forces will be Reorganized

Montreal, Feb. 21.—Canada's land defences are to be reorganized, according to Lieutenant-Colonel Worthington, M.P., and the first part of the scheme will be carried out immediately across the St. Lawrence from Montreal, where, near the entrance to Victoria Bridge, barracks and forts will be erected and stores of between 700 and 800 men will be permanently employed. It is said that the Militia Council has decided upon complete re-establishment and re-equipment of militia, and that permanent corps shall be greatly strengthened.

Convicts' Pay to go to Their Families

Two prison reforms may be instituted with the opening of the new Central Prison at Guelph: one providing for the payment to the family of the convict of at least a part of his earnings in prison, and the other will mean that the prisoners will do largely municipal or colonization work, so that there shall be no possibility of competition between convict and free labor.

Canadian Forestry Meeting.

Federicton, N. B., Feb. 21.—Judging from the number of delegates and visitors already in the city the annual meeting of the Canadian Forestry Association opening here to-morrow will be the largest and most representative convention ever held by the organization. Nearly every province will be well represented and among the speakers will be a number of public men of wide prominence.

Always direct your visitors to town to the Times Bookstore for souvenirs. Only place where you can get Foley china with views on each.

Comparison of Municipal and School Expenditure

To The Editor of The Morning Times:

Sir,—In a recent issue of The Morning Times is published a comparison of municipal and school expenditures by which it appears that Peterborough's school expenditure in proportion to municipal expenditure "is away up in the lead". The table published gives but an imperfect statement and without further information is misleading. It must be borne in mind that Peterborough has expended for new schools and improvements in the last five years $160,000, on which she is now paying interest and sinking fund. It will also be remembered that by our liberal expenditure we secured the location here of the splendid Normal School.

It is also not to be ignored that the best expenditure we make is on education. It lasts longer and gives better results than money in the savings bank.

The city that spends the most in preparing its future citizens for the battle of life is the most enlightened and best managed city, for education is enduring and ordinary municipal expenditure, however judicious, must be largely for work that is not enduring.

The following fuller table will be easily read by any intelligent reader:

	Popul lation	Expenditure Municipal Purposes	Expenditure Per School Purposes	Expenditure Per Capita Per School	Expend. and Charge of Capita for Mun. Pur.
Brantford	20,711	198,917	67,999	3.28	12.69
Chatham	10,226	147,878	39,965	3.90	16.35
Fort William		141,857	46,642
Hamilton	67,248	576,097	97,186	2.98	8.53
Kingston	18,196	144,553	41,315	2.27	10.21
London	49,547	426,643	191,461	3.82	12.14
Ottawa	80,284	777,224	350,000	4.36	14.09
Peterborough	16,907	93,007	66,757	3.94	9.44
Port Arthur		149,756	56,528
St. Catharines	12,303	105,219	35,237	2.86	11.41
Stratford	14,489	125,189	40,293	2.86	11.41
Woodstock	9,429	63,023	27,634	3.05	9.12
Toronto	400,000	3,330,672	1,239,372	3.09	11.42

It will be seen from above figures that in proportion to population Peterborough expends less for municipal purposes than any of the places named, except Chatham, and that her expenditure for education exceeds other places is wholly to her credit. No place in Canada can show a finer class of school buildings than Peterborough and if our present school expenditure appears high we have something to show for it. For buildings and educational results we stand A. 1, while some of the places where the expenditure appears low are away below Peterborough in Educational standing. We are proud of our school buildings, of our staff and of the results as credited by the Government, and it is hoped that Peterborough may retain her creditable place amongst the cities of the land.

D. W. DUMBLE.

City of Philadelphia is now Under Siege

Philadelphia, Feb. 21.—With every member of the police force on duty, and the regulars augmented by specially picked men sworn in for the purpose, this city today is practically in a state of seige. Following the rioting of yesterday, street fighting was resumed when the street car company, whose employes are on strike, attempted to run cars today.

Because most workmen were forced to resume their regular employment today the rioting was not as severe as yesterday and the police managed to break up all of the fights without serious damage being done. A drizzling rain made pedestrianism most uncomfortable today, but most people walked to work rather than face the chance of stopping a brick or a bullet by patronizing the cars of the trolley company.

Vehicles of all descriptions have been pressed into service and team owners are reaping a harvest, but are unable to take care of more than an infinite small part of the regular traffic. In the Kensington district where the worst of yesterday's rioting took place, many workers are idle today. This section is inhabited mostly by the working people, and those who work at a distance remained at home, as they are in strong sympathy with the strikers.

POLICE HELPING COMPANY.

The police are receiving severe criticism because on the Lancaster avenues division they are running the cars with the non-union motormen hidden in the doorways of the cars telling them how to do it.

"The company is liked," declared C. O. Pratt of the union today. "That is the only way the calling out of 3000 special police, who have been sworn in by the mayor, can be explained. If Reyburn really wants to preserve order we will tender him all of our union men, and we will preserve order."

No attempt was made today to operate cars during the night. It is stated that for the present at least the company will make no attempt to keep its line open after dark. As an evidence of the fury of yesterdays riot, it is stated by the company that 297 of its cars were damaged and many will have to be rebuilt. Strike-breakers were brought in from other cities today and escorted to the car barns by police who carried revolvers in plain sight. This prevented any organized attack on the men, although a number of them were struck with bricks and stones.

GENERAL STRIKE POSSIBLE.

The big danger is of a general strike. The local federated union favors the men, and has intimated that if it is shown that a general strike of all union men will aid the workers in winning their fight, it will be ordered. If called, it will precipitate the most bitter labor struggle since the great strike of 1677, and none can forecast the outcome.

There is little chance of any sudden termination of this strike. Ever since the last strike was compromised through the forcing by the political leaders of an agreement on both sides that was satisfactory to none, the company has been preparing for another clash with the unions, and they were better prepared than the men on Saturday.

Officials of the company declare today they will spend every dollar in the company's treasury before they will give in on any point. The union men declare they will not compromise, but will keep the company from running its lines until it agrees to do business only with Amalgamated Association men and pay the union scale.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured.

BACK-WEARY MEN.

The Helping Hand of Dr. Hamilton's Pills Will Cure in a Few Weeks.

"Foundry work compels men to work in the winter in very cold shops," writes Tunis T. Bolter, a well-known mechanic in Hamilton. "I contracted a very severe cold a few months ago which settled in my back and kidneys. I suffered constant pain, and in bending over my work and in heavy lifting, the pain at times was excruciating. My digestion got all out of order, doubtless because the kidneys didn't work right. My wife had used Dr. Hamilton's Pills as a family medicine and I took her advice and started them also. To my great delight a few doses helped me so much it was proof I was using a true remedy. Natural action of the kidneys was brought about, burning and aching ceased, and the back-lameness gradually disappeared. I no longer fear my work. I feel strong and robust, and with such a remedy as Dr. Hamilton's Pills at hand I will probably never again be sick. I advise every working man to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

No other medicine will regulate the system and maintain health like Dr. Hamilton's Pills—beware of the dealer who tries to induce you to take something else on which he makes more profit. Sold in yellow boxes 25c. Prepared by The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ontario.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS COMING.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, West Peterborough's representative in the Dominion Parliament, has secured a couple of the best speakers in the house to address the citizens on Friday night in the Grand Opera House. Those gentlemen are Messrs. E. N. Macdonald, K.C., of Pictou, N.S., and Dr. Beland, M.P., Beauce, Que. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the West Peterborough Liberal Association. Ladies will be made specially welcome.

PUBLISH MY LETTER THE WORLD OVER.

The Words of Harold P. Busby, Who Was Permanently Cured of Chronic Lumbago by "Nerviline."

"Three years ago I discovered that a man subject to lumbago might just as well be dead as alive." These words open the sincere, straightforward letter of H. P. Busby, a well-known man in the plumbing and tinsmithing business in Portland.

"One attack came after another, and lumbago got to be a chronic thing with me. I could scarcely get in a day's work before that killing, grinding pain would attack my back. I used a gallon of liniments, not one of them seemed penetrating enough to get at the core of the pain. I read in the Montreal Witness about Nerviline, and got five bottles. It is a wonderful medicine. I could feel its soothing pain-relieving action every time it was under control with Nerviline, I built applied. When I got the disease up my strength and fortified my blood by taking Ferrozone at meals. This treatment cured me permanently, and I urge everyone to give up the thick, white, oily liniments they are using, and try an up-to-date, penetrating pain destroyer like Nerviline.

"Please publish my letter the world over. I want all to hear of Nerviline."

Don't be cajoled into receiving anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." Large bottles 25c.; five for $1.00. Sold everywhere or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

SUFFRAGGETTES IN PARIS.

The Suffragette is to have a chance to show that she does those things better in France.

Secure in the knowledge that she cannot receive a vote, much less hold an official place, she will present herself as a candidate before each constituency in Paris at the general elections in May. From the preliminary announcements we gather that she will raise no riots and throw no bricks; that she will force no question of jails and compulsory feeding. Gallic courtesy apparently is to rule the hour of the canvas, and for the martyrdom of the feminine candidatures will be the compensation of a most distinguished consideration.

Such a campaigne as a spectacle will be eminently French. To a strenuously inclined sisterhood in Britain or in America it should command itself as exemplary—a hint from Paris as well worth accepting as anything in contemporary lines of hats or gowns.

The prime object of the French Suffragette is, like that of her British sister, to attract attention to her cause. She may be trusted to do this piquantly, even without violence. If she shall succeed in setting a fashion in graceful amenities "on the stump" the procession of her debtors in campaign ethics will reach around the world.

STREET PAVING.

In view of the fact that Peterborough will soon have to consider the paving of the streets of the city, the following will be of interest. Kingston is giving attention to this subject, and the city engineer, in a report to the council of that city, stated that a pavement which had given apparently A.1. satisfaction in northern cities and towns of the United States for residential streets was a macadam roading treated with tarvia. There were three grades of tarvia, one grade being used solely as a dust layer very similar to road oil and supplied with ordinary sprinkling wagons, while the other grades are used in construction. The cost of a tarviated macadam roadway would be eight to ten cents per square yard more than the regular macadam road or 38 or 35 cents per square yard as compared with 30 cents in the case of the latter.

After constructed the surface of tarviated macadam roadways remain all in good condition for one year when another application at about three cents per square yard would be required. In two years after the second application a third would be put on at about the same cost. The engineer suggested that tarviated macadam be laid on three or four blocks during the present year as an experiment. If four blocks, the extra cost over and above the cost of ordinary macadam would not exceed $300.

The engineer recommended that tarvia be used on part or all of the streets recently macadized. The cost would be about the same as crude petroleum, and the engineer believes that it would prove much more satisfactory.

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop a pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Shoop's—will relieve any pain in 20 minutes, as directed. Follow the formula on the box. We say it can't be better. Relieves nervously pains, head pains, back pains. 20 tablets 25c. Sold by druggists.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Tom Longboat was fined again this week for an over-indulgence in firewater. Tom, when at his best no one could outrun, is evidently going into a contest with an opponent who always wins and the longer the race the surer the victory.

THE QUIET LIFE.

To many city dwellers urban life sometimes grows irksome. Often they tire of the stress andstrain, the roar and bustle of metropolitan existence. It is then that they long for remote and quiet places for simple rural scenes. With George Gissing's "Henry Ryecroft," they experience fatigue at the world's growing noisiness and desire to escape the persistent clamor of traffic-throngred streets.

After years of struggle, for a living got by his pen in the city, a legacy enables him to settle down in a modest Devon cottage. There he writes: "Every morning when I awake I thank Heaven for silence. This is my orison. I remember the London days, when sleep was broken by clash and clang, by roar and shriek, and when my first sense, on returning to consciousness, was hatred of the life about me. Noises of wood and metal, clattering of wheels, banging of implements, jangling of bells—all such things are bad enough, but worse still is the clamorous human voice."

Again he says: "I remember with a strange feeling that there are people who, of their own free choice, spend night and day in cities, who throng to the gabble of drawing rooms, make festival in public eating houses, sweat in the glare of the theater. They call this life. They call it enjoyment." Despite the persistent trend of population towards large centers, there are thousands who share Henry Ryecroft's sentiments and sensibilities. If they could, gladly they would escape the unseemly pressure, unwholesome excitement and nerve-wracking sound of city life. Happy is he who, being so inclined is able to gratify his simple desires by settling down in a country cottage furnished with a garden, a few books and an occasional friend.

Threatening feverishness with child runs is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh nor sickening. They are indeed "the stitch in time." Carried in pocket or purse. Preventics are a genuine safeguard against Cold 25c. Sold by all dealers.

THE MONORAIL.

Canada is to lead the way in the adoption of the monorail system of railroading if it is true, as announced, that the Canadian Pacific will build a system of this kind in the Okanagan district of British Columbia.

The monorail system is one made possible by the perfecting of the gyroscope car. This has been accomplished by an Englishman, Mr. Louis Brennan, who has demonstrated that it is possible successfully to operate a gyroscope car, carrying forty passengers, on a single rail at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour. The car swings around sharp curves, climbs steep grades, runs with perfect stability.

It is declared that a gyroscope train on a single rail can run at a much greater speed than the trains now in use, and this with greater safety than is assured under present conditions. A speed of one hundred miles an hour in absolutely safety is stated to be quite possible.

It will be easily seen that the gyroscope train can be operated at less cost than the steam train and that in other ways, too, there may be a saving under the new system. Add to this consideration the greater consideration of less liability of accident—and it will be readily seen that the gyroscope train is likely to supplant the other.

And a Canadian corporation is to be the first to make use of the new system for commercial purposes.

DEPT. OF MILITIA AND DEFENCE OTTAWA.

SEALED TENDERS (in duplicate) for the supply of Coal and Fuel Wood required to heat the Military Buildings at Kingston, Belleville, Fort Hope, Cobourg and Peterborough, Ont., for the year ending March 31, 1911, will be received up to Monday, March 7 next. Each tender is to be marked "Tender for Fuel," and addressed to the Secretary of the Militia Council, Ottawa.

Printed forms of tender containing full particulars may be obtained from the Secretary of the Militia Council, Ottawa, or at the office of the District Officer Commanding, Kingston, who will furnish all information required.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque, on a Canadian chartered Bank, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Militia and Defence, for five per cent. of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party making the tender decline to sign a contract when called upon to do so, if the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product of any kind enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its exceptional beauty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer, are seen in evidence.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY PERSON WHO IS THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 30 acres, solely owned and occupied by him, or his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days' test will surely tell. Try it once, and seal Fold by all dealers.

THE VALUE OF MONEY.

Wise Mothers Teach Daughters How to Spend Judiciously.

When a girl reaches thirteen her weekly dime should be increased to 25 cents. Many small items of attire, such as gloves, stockings, collars, she will be able to see to for herself through this addition.

Now the mother, having taught her wise spending, will begin to delegate some of her own duties to the child. She has to learn marketing properly. The mother takes the girl with her for some time on her buying expeditions; then she allows her to take the round for a week or so, checking her when she goes a little wrong.

She learns inspection of goods, so that she can discriminate between good and inferior brands of groceries, meat, fish and the like. She learns how to buy and what to buy. Market tables she studies so as to find out beforehand what things are in or out of season and what the prices are. Then she is ready to meet any overcharge with the right knowledge.

She learns food values, knows what foods give energy and vitality and which form flesh and build up the body. She learns when to buy in quantity and also when not to buy in quantity on account of certain things deteriorating through keeping.

She learns the enormous difference that exists between a cash account and a credit account. The mother explains all this to her. Her own training with her little weekly income of a dime for all these years will have prepared the ground of her mind to receive it all, and she is an apt pupil, willing and ready to take her mother's place in the home at a minute's notice any time.

When she has the reins she gets her requisitions ready for the week and, with her mother, checks the items before going out to buy. She knows how to get the most for her money at the grocer's, the butcher's or the baker's and will not be cajoled into buying anything not arranged for.

She knows her income and its limitations and has learned how to restrict her wants rigidly. She will not give her orders blindly, but will see everything before she buys it. Meat, vegetables, groceries, milk, butter, eggs, fish, poultry—she knows their weak points and reveals them. The tradespeople serve her aright and respect her. She is a good judge and will get full weight in goods. She checks all bills before paying them, so as to detect any mistake either for or against her. She thus compels extra care in attendance on the tradesman's part.

A girl like this is a treasure her mother is not very willing to part with. It is a treasure easily attained, because girls love this marketing and delight in doing it. And it is just as well to take a little trouble to know how to do it well. Later on some lucky man will delight in his housekeeping treasure, too, and still later another generation of boys and girls may arise to bless not only their mother, but the grandmother who was the source of all her knowledge.

HINTS FOR THE TOILET.

A teaspoonful of tincture of benzoin to two tablespoonfuls of rosewater makes the celebrated "lait virginal."

Be sure that neither your hair tonics nor your face powders contain lead or arsenic, as they poison the skin and scalp.

Straight hair can be curled by moistening with quince seed, rolling in paper and holding until dry between hot tongs.

Lip toothbrushes occasionally in boiling water and always rinse thoroughly after using. Teeth wash or powder left on the brush decays.

A dry skin should avoid the use of alkaline soaps, toilet powders or aromatic vinegars. They are too drying and cause the growth of wrinkles.

Never use anything but a blunt instrument around the nail. To scrape nail roughens surface and increases difficulty in cleaning. It also bruises cuticle in pushing it back from base of nail and causes hangnails.

Preparations of sulphur for the skin are not always beneficial. When used incessantly they often prove irritating. It is a good plan to apply the sulphur washes or powders at night, then in the morning add some soothing lotion to the wash water, as bran, almond meal or oatmeal.

DENIES RUMORS.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—Just before the House came to the "orders of the day" yesterday afternoon, Sir James Whitney made an important statement denying rumors as to the government's intentions to alter the basis of assessment.

"There has been a propaganda," said the premier, "going on lately around the legislature with regard to the proposal to change the basis of the assessment law, so that the taxation would fall upon the land more than upon the improvements.

"The gentlemen who has undertaken this has induced a number of the papers to come out in favor of it, and it is not difficult to understand how he was able to do this as he is a journalist."

Tell Some Sick One

It Is Free If It Fails.

Will you do an act of humanity?
Will you tell some sick friend of this, or remember it yourself?

Tell him or her, that you have learned of a medicine so certain that its maker says pay it not a dollar, if it fails.

And you, no doubt, already know of Dr. Shoop's Restorative and its possibility.

For 20 years it has been the standard remedy for Kidney and Bladder ailments everywhere in America.

When the "inside" or controlling nerves of these vital organs begin to fail, Dr. Shoop's Restorative is quickly realized, and promptly relieved, and brought these nerves and organs back to healthy health.

I do not say that Dr. Shoop's Restorative cures Bright's or Kidney disease in all cases.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes direct to the outside of these ailments—the failing, inactive, feeble or controlling nerves. And herein lies the secret to my success.

When these nerves are again made well and strong, then that is the outside end of all such sickness.

To me it is a great gratification, that I am the only physician able to say to the suffering sick, "Take my prescription for full 30 days, and if it fails to help you, the entire expense is mine—not yours."

Then why should the sick take any chances on any other medicine, when maker does not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer?

I also have a Rheumatic Remedy—and that remedy is covered by the same identical "no help, no pay" promise you plan.

Besides, you are free to consult me just as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up many serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice plan. My best effort is surely worth your simple request.

So let me hear from you or order at once. Take the message to some sick friend.

A postal will bring the opportunity.

I will have an honest and trustworthy druggist to whom you can conveniently go for the 30 day test.

But first, ask me for the order, for all druggists are not authorized to give the 30 day test.

So write me now and save all delays. Remember that tomorrow never comes. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

EDWARD J. TOWNSEND, President.
ALEXANDER H. BEATH, Vice-President.
JAMES K. MACLENNAN, Secretary-Treasurer.
JOHN ANNIS, of Markstay, Ont.
JAMES TOWNSEND, of Mabel, Que., and
JOHN H. CLARY, of Sudbury, Ont.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent dated April 16th, A. D., 1909, and is empowered to carry on in all its branches the operations of a mining, milling, reduction and development Company.

The Company was organized more particularly to acquire and develop certain of the mining claims on Emerald Lake commonly called the Townsend-Annis gold properties.

Mr. Townsend had an undivided eleven-sixteenths interest in Mining Location W.D. 154, and Mr. Annis had three water claims adjoining and extending westward from W.D. 154. The Company has a working option on the remaining five-sixteenths of W. D. 154 from Mr. William Crawford, of Haileybury, formerly of Sudbury. The Company purchased outright the interest of Mr. Townsend and Mr. Annis.

These claims are distant about 32 miles almost due north from Warren, Ontario, and lie on the east side of Emerald Lake. In winter they are reached from Markstay by an existing road some 40 miles long, needing some small repairs in places—in summer from Temagami station on the T. and N. O. Railway, by steamer to Obabika Bay on the north-west arm of Lake Temagami, and thence a distance of ten miles, in all, by water, four short portages excepted, to Emerald Lake and W.D. 154 is reached.

On W.D. 154 the ore outcrops in the form of a deposit, in width from 300 to 500 feet, and has been traced on the strike for about 1,000 feet. The dip is nearly vertical. The contact wall on the south side is jasper and magnetite and on the north side is black slate. The gangue rock is calcite, schist and quartz, heavily mineralized with gold-bearing iron-pyrites. Considerable stripping and test pitting have been done at various points, and at each point good values in gold have been found. All blastings have disclosed free gold and pannings show many colors. The directors believe this property to be

The Largest Outcropping of High-grade Ore Known in the World To-day.

Four assays from Messrs. Handley and Parker, of Sudbury, showed respectively $2,419.81, $1,020.63, $787.63, and $102.72 per ton. Ledoux and Company of 99 John Street, New York, $26.45 (from an iron-pyrites sample). Kropp's, Germany, gave $68.00 per ton from an iron pyrites sample.

The Directors have decided to place 50,000 shares on the market at the special price of 50c per share, in blocks of not less than 50 shares each. Allotments will be made as applications, accompanied by the necessary cash, have been received for 30,000 shares. Should this number not be subscribed for by February 15th next, money will be refunded promptly. The above low price is to provide the necessary funds for the installation of the proper milling and reduction plant and for the carrying out of the necessary mining operations. See prospectus.

All have not the knowledge or the necessary capital to send out prospecting parties, but many small capitalists can afford to put up $25.00 or more to get a share in this local enterprise where they know that first, last and all the time they will get a square deal. Come and see samples. Have them assayed yourself. Investigate for yourself.

Porcupine may have plenty of gold but you don't need to go further than Emerald Lake for gold. Many mining men of Sudbury know W.D. 154. Cut out this advertisement. Watch for following ads. Get a prospectus and all information from any of the Directors, or from Editor of the Times.

If you would have a safe yet certain Cough Remedy in the house, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupefying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, hugging mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

Advance in Sugar.

The advance in sugar will mean considerable to the housekeeper of Peterborough, but it is in keeping with the raise lately in other household commodities. All grades of sugar advanced fifteen cents per hundred in Peterborough. The advance is said to be caused by the scarcity of raw material.

The Late John R. Campbell.

The death occurred on Saturday last of John R. Campbell, in North Monaghan, after lengthy illness. The deceased was in his seventy-fourth year and was well known and highly respected. To the sorrowing members of the family who are left to mourn his loss, the sympathy of a host of friends is extended. The funeral will take place this afternoon from the family residence to Little Lake Cemetery.

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop a pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Shoop's—will stop any pain in 20 minutes, sure! Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Checks womanly pains, head pains, any pain. 20 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

George Gauthier Acquitted.

George Gauthier against whom a charge of stealing a chicken was preferred, was dismissed by Magistrate Dumble at the police court yesterday morning. Several witnesses were heard, but it was not sufficient to make a conviction. However, it appears that another young man committed the theft and he has since left the city, but Chief Reazel has sworn out an information against him. Mr. G. E. Gordon appeared for the prisoner.

On Suspended Sentence.

At the police court yesterday morning Frederick Palmetier, who a week ago, pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery, was allowed out on suspended sentence. The forgery consisted of fixing the figure one to a cheque made out to the prisoner on the C. G.E. Company for $8.05. His worship allowed him to go on suspended sentence and administered some good sound advice to him.

Inquest Begun on Margaret McPherson

Inquiry Being Held at the McPherson Home Before Coroner Kindred

Havelock, Feb. 21.—The inquest into the death of MargaretMcPherson, who was assaulted by Henderson on January 29th, and who passed away Sunday morning after three weeks' suffering, commenced at the McPherson home on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, before Coroner Kindred, of Havelock. Crown Attorney Wood of Peterborough, was present, while Mr. E. Kerr of Peterborough, appeared on behalf of Robert Henderson.

The evidence of Susan McPherson, who was assaulted also on the same date, and her sister, Mrs. Graham, who was the first to appear on the scene of the tragedy, as well as that of Dr. Sutton of Norwood, who dressed the wounds of the deceased, and attended her, was taken when the jurors had been sworn in, with Mr. John Fitzpatrick as foreman.

Dr. Sutton, in his evidence, said that he believed death was due to the blow inflicted, causing severe shock, from which system could not recover.

The inquest was adjourned until Monday next, at one o'clock, at the town hall at Norwood. The jury directed that a post-mortem be conducted by Dr. Crawford of Havelock, assisted by Dr. Hobberoft.

Susan McPherson, when sworn, said, I am a sister of deceased. Have lived here forty years (she is 74 years old). Three weeks ago last Friday, while I was alone with my sister, a strange young man appeared, and asked for his dinner, which was given to him at 11.10 a.m., and for which he paid 10 cents. In conversation with him he said his name was Thompson, and that he came from Glasgow, Scotland, and that he was looking for his brother to take back to Scotland. He went out after dinner, and at 12 o'clock returned. I saw him through the window pick up the axe. He opened the door, and lifted the axe and struck my sister on the head while her back was turned toward him. After being struck she remained on her chair with her hands folded on her lap. He then struck at me, but I threw up my hand and warded off the blow, so that I was not severely injured. I screamed before I was struck. The young man then left in the direction of Norwood, while I went to my sister's, Mrs. Graham, who resides a quarter of a mile away. When I returned my sister still sat in the chair, and Mrs. Graham and myself placed her in bed. Doctors Pettigrew and Sutton arrived in an hour and a half, and were in constant attendance since that day. Everything possible was done for her. She never left her bed, and gradually grew weaker, passing away at 1040 Sunday morning. She was in good health before being struck—able to do house work, and the day before walked half a mile. She had had no serious illness of late years.

Cross-examined by Mr. Kerr, she said:

Prisoner made no threats nor did he speak when he appeared the second time. There was a little money in the house but prisoner did not know it. No change was made when the dinner was paid for. He did not appear angry, but was very civil and mannerly. We had more than ten dollars in the house but the prisoner did not know it. I think he was frightened away by the scream.

Mrs. Nancy Graham when sworn, said:

I am a sister of the deceased. I live a quarter of a mile from her house. On the day of the attack my daughter came in and said: "Something is wrong at auntie's, for I hear Susan screaming and crying." My daughter and I went to the rescue. When I reached the house Margaret was still in the chair with her hands folded and her head hanging down on her breast. Blood was streaming from her head, and we carried her to bed. I seen her about four weeks before and she was in good health.

To Mr. Kerr:

I could not say what reasons prisoner had for doing the act. I did not know that my sisters had any money in the house.

Dr. N. F. Sutton, when sworn, said: I was called with Dr. Pettigrew to attend deceased on Friday, January, 1

January 28th, arriving at 12.45. He found Margaret McPherson in bed with blood running from her head. There was a wound two and a half inches long on the top of the head caused by some hard edged instrument. The outer plate of the skull was penetrated, but not the inner. She was in a semi-unconscious condition as she did not want her hair cut. I attended her every day since. She regained consciousness on January 29th, remaining so until Feb. ruary 9th. She took very little nourishment. I think death was caused by the blow causing severe shock from which her system could not recover. I gave up hope for her recovery on February 14th. Up till then I thought she had a chance for recovery.

He thought a post mortem necessary.

Lumbering Operations Booming this Year

The Cavendish Lumber Company's Output Will Be a Record One.

About Two Hundred and Fifty Men are at Work in Woods This Season.

Mr. Wm. Cresswell, who has the contract from the Cavendish Lumber Company to clean up what is known as The Dickson Company's timber is hustling these days. The Cavendish Company, whose mills are situated at Lakefield, have only three more years in which to clean the large pine off the limits, and have contracted with Mr. Wm. Cresswell, their former superintendent, to do this job. Mr. Cresswell has 250 men at work in the camps, and expects to float 200,000 logs in the spring. Besides the Cavendish Company will also have about 60,000, gotten out by themselves. Mr. Cresswell will drive these logs through the lakes and deliver them at Lakefield, where they will be manufactured into lumber for the Canadian and American markets.

After the limits are exhausted of large pine, lumbering operations, so far as the Lakefield mills are concerned, will probably cease. The Pubstige Lumber Company, it is understood, have purchased the lighter timber of the limits, of which there is a vast quantity, and will continue operations, only of course in a smaller way, employing fewer men and horses.

NEW CASTRO PLOT DISCOVERED.

Many Venezuelans Arrested as Anti-Government Conspirators.

Caracas, Venezuela, Feb. 23.—The discovery of a new plot against the government and in the interest of former President Castro has caused a sensation. Many arrests of prominent persons have been made. Disquieting rumors regarding the political intentions of General Jose Manuel Hernandez, leader of the Nationalist party and formerly minister at Washington, who is now in Paris, have alarmed his partisans here.

BREAKS HIS NECK IN THEATER.

Acrobat in Newark Music Hall is Fatally Hurt in Leap.

New York, Feb. 22.—George Sully, 34 years old, an acrobat, of New Brunswick, N. J., was injured in a Newark theater last night so that his death is only a question of hours. He with his three partners was at the American Music Hall. The finale of their act has been for Sully to leap from the stage floor to a table and then onto a chair standing on the table, the flight being done so that it looks to be one jump from the floor to the chair. When Sully hit the chair it toppled over and he plunged with it to the stage. The curtain went down so quickly that many in the audience did not realize Sully had fallen, and while his feat was being loudly applauded his companions picked him up. He was rushed to the city hospital, where it was found his neck was broken.

Proposes that Canada Should Ask Britain to Build Warships for Her

Montreal, Feb. 22.—Following up its denunciation of the naval policy of the Government and Opposition, the Montreal Star today outlined its policy as follows:

"We believe that Canada should undertake the construction and maintenance of such an addition to the naval forces of the Empire as shall satisfy our honor and come within our means.

"We believe it is essential that the ships we decide to build shall be constructed as rapidly and efficiently as possible against the hour of danger to the Empire which far more skilled observers than some of our placid parliamentarians feel is imminent. We believe that Canadian officers and Canadian sailors should be trained in the naval lore and under the discipline of the finest navy in the world.

SHIPS TO BE OURS.

"We believe that Canada should enter into an arrangement with the British Admiralty by virtue of which our addition to the navy of the Empire shall be ours in the fullest meaning of the word, yet one that will permit the attainment of all these other results much more effectively than through any of the proposals submitted for the consideration of parliament.

"Let us authorize Great Britain to build at once a certain number of ships, Canada assuming the payment of the interest on the cost of their construction. Let the ships be recognized as belonging to Canada, let them be named after Canadian provinces and Canadian cities, and let them be manned and officers as far as possible by the men whom we recruit and send over to be trained in the ways and knowledge of the British navy.

POWER TO RECALL THEM.

"Let us arrange that, on two years' notice, should Great Britain desire time to replace them, we may recall any or all of our ships to Canadian waters and place them under the control of our Naval Department with their Canadian officers and crews competent to handle them as the traditions of the British navy require that warships should be handled.

"This would give us the maximum of efficiency at the minimum of cost. It would give us as well trained and disciplined a personnel as is possessed by any navy in the world. It would bring home to the Empire the fact that Canada was trying to assume, in spirit as well as in form, her share of the responsibilities of mutual assistance. It would furnish us with modern warships at the lowest price and without any immediate expenditure."

The Situation Grows More Serious in the City of Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Feb. 22.—Although President John J. Murphy, of the Central Labor Union, declared he had called a strike of all the thousands of union men in Philadelphia, no such action has been taken officially, and the more cool-headed union men declare such action will not be taken.

Murphy made the statement about the general strike after the arrest and imprisonment of C. O. Pratt, the leader of the street car strike, who was today held in $3,000 bail on the charge of inciting to riot, conspiracy and disorderly conduct.

Murphy announced early this morning that he intended going to Washington to confer with President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, and Vice-President Mitchell, regarding the call for a general strike. Later he announced that he had called a general strike, but the various union headquarters announced that they had received no such official action. At least 100,000 men would be affected if such a strike were called. Murphy was greatly excited when he made his talk about the general strike.

TWO BOYS HURT!

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 22.—It will be up to President Gompers and Vice-President Mitchell of the American Federation of Labor, to decide whether there shall be a general strike of all union workmen in the city of Philadelphia.

Following the arrest last night of C. O. Pratt, leader of the strikers, John J. Murphy, president of the Central Labor Union, and Peter Driscoll, president of the local carmen's union, left this morning for Washington to confer with Gompers and Mitchell as to the advisability of calling out every union man in Philadelphia.

Murphy and Driscoll are said to favor such action in retaliation for the arrest of Pratt, who is still held in the city prison without bail, on the charge of inciting to riot. Pratt is to be given a hearing today, but it is said the police plan to hold him without bond in the hope that, without a leader, the strike will be broken.

LOOKING FOR RIOTS.

The arrest of Pratt has put the strikers and their sympathizers in an ugly mood, and the police believe today will be marked by many riots. To prevent this, strict orders have been issued to prevent the collection of crowds in any part of the city.

It is said union men all over the city are in favor of the strike, and that if Gompers and Mitchell will sanction it every union man here will lay down his tools completely paralyzing business.

MORE SPECIAL POLICEMEN.

Four hundred special policemen will be sworn in today by Director of Safety Clay in addition to the 600 sworn in yesterday, and arrangements have been made to use the State fensibles in full uniform and armed with loaded muskets, as police today in the riot districts. In the event the conduct of the crowds should demand it.

Gen. Wendell P. Bowman, after a conference last night with Mayor Reyburn and Director Clay, ordered the officers of the entire first brigade of State troops to be prepared for active service in the event their presence should be demanded.

The State fencibles, however, would be the first to be called, as they are, by their charter, under control of the city, and not the State authorities. The State fencibles have already been sworn in as policemen.

STOCKING DYE CAUSED POISON.

A case at Kingston shows vividly the danger of neglecting to apply Zam-Buk to a cut or sore. Mrs. A. Harrison, living in Place d'Armes, while attending to her household duties, struck her ankle against a sharp projection on the furniture. She took no notice of the injury, deeming it trival. In a day or two the ankle began to swell and cause excessive pain. A doctor called in, found that dye from her stocking had entered the wound and set up blood poison. Treatment with Zam-Buk followed, but it was several days before the limb was out of danger. "Had it not been for the powerful antiseptic properties of Zam-Buk and its exceptional healing virtues the wound might have had a very serious result," says Mrs. Harrison. "But I believe if I had applied Zam-Buk at the time of the injury, it would have prevented blood-poisoning altogether."

5000 Facts About Canada.

The public will warmly welcome the new 1910 edition of that indispensable booklet "5,000 Facts About Canada," compiled by Frank Yeigh, whose writings and lectures on Canada are widely known. The popularity of the publication is shown by its sale of nearly 50,000 copies, not only in Canada, but through the empire, and indeed the world. The 1910 edition contains a large percentage of new matter, under such heads as—agriculture, mining, banking, trade, railways, wheat growing, education, religions, etc., while a new feature is a budget of Empire Facts. The The book is a revelation of the riches and resources of the Dominion. It is published at 25 cents a copy by The Canadian Facts Publishing Co., 607 Spadina ave., Toronto, Canada, or may be had from newsdealers.

The Premier's Illness is Not Very Serious

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—An emphatic denial is given to the story sent out last night to the effect that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's illness is of a serious nature. Sir Wilfrid has been suffering for some days from an attack of la grippe, from which he is now practically recovered. He was able this morning, and as a matter of fact has been able all along, to attend to his correspondence as usual, dictating a large number of letters to his private secretary. Sir Wilfrid's physician has advised him that it would be better for him to remain in the house for a couple of days, and as there is nothing going on in the House which necessitates his presence there for the next day or two, he is taking this advice, and does not expect to be out till Wednesday.

NOT THROAT TROUBLE.

There is no truth whatever in the report that Sir Wilfrid is suffering from a throat affection, or that his facial muscles have been affected by his illness. Apart from the fact that Sir Wilfrid had a couple of colds, and on one occasion was incapacitated by toothache, he has been in good health this session. If he remains indoors until entirely free from the present touch of la grippe, there is no reason to believe that he will not continue in good health.

The premier in recent sessions has shown some disposition to save himself more than when he was younger, and does not sit in the house so much when it is in supply, or attending routine business. In this course he is encouraged by his colleagues, who are quite able to keep the parliamentary machinery going.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is not a common every-day cough mixture. It is a meritorious remedy for all the dangerous and troublesome complications resulting from cold in the head, throat, chest or lungs. Sold by all dealers.

COBOURG'S BIG LEVEE.

Will Entertain Congregational Conference Next June.

Cobourg, Feb. 22.—In June next the Congregational Union for all Canada will meet here. Ministers will be present from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It will be the first time that the Cobourg Congregational church has entertained this body, and a great gathering is expected.

Downfall of The Government Not to be Long Delayed

Winnipeg Fast Seven Defeated the Locals in Exhibition Came

The Peterborough hockey seven who clashed with the Northern Crow Crown Bank team of Winnipeg, were defeated last night by a score of 11 to 4.

The ice was in splendid shape and some very fast work by both teams was exhibited. There was a fairly good crowd in attendance.

The locals were very erratic in the shooting line, and Clarke, who was in the nets for the visitors, proved a hard proposition. For the visitors Watson, at right wing, a former member of the Bank of Commerce staff here, played a brilliant game.

Following is the line up:

Peterborough.		Winnipeg
Derocher	Goal.	Clarke
Hellernan	Point.	Fowler
McDougall	Cover.	White
Ray	Rover.	Borland
Crane	Center.	Barclay
Weatherstone	Right.	Watson
McMillan	Left.	Gardiner

Referee—Claude Robinson of Winnipeg.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a very valuable medicine for throat and lung troubles, quickly relieves and cures painful breathing and a dangerously sounding cough which indicates congested lungs! Sold by all dealers.

The Next Governor-General of Canada

A British Columbia newspaper, in speaking of the rumor that the Duke of Connaught might be appointed as successor to Earl Grey in the governor-generalship of Canada, questions the advisability of such appointment. With the language of the protest nobody can find fault, and with the intent of it, few. As a visitor to the Dominion the Duke of Connaught or any member of the Royal family would receive a whole-hearted welcome, but the office of governor-general is a political and public one, the term extends four years, and as a people we are somewhat touchy about those boundaried where the influence of Rideau Hall ceases, to make way for that of parliament Hill. It would be unfortunate if the influence of the governor-general's office should at any time, because of the person of its occupant, take on an importance the constitution makes no provision for, and which the temper of the country could not approve.

There is every reason to suspect that the mention of the name of the Duke of Connaught was entirely gratuitous in the first place—that his name was put forward, not by the King's advisers, in the expectation that the unauthorized nomination would embarrass the ministry, or lead to the appointment of the Duke of Connaught, and in the setting up of a minature royal court in the most important of the over-sea dominions to the great joy of flunkeyism everywhere.

It would be too bad if the unauthorized use of the Duke of Connaught' name in this connection had embarrassed the Duke more than the prime minister, and had led to a royal hunting trip to Africa. Members of the royal family do not occupy, do not desire to occupy such posts as that at Ottawa. Earl Carrington, experienced in political life, answerable for his acts, will, no doubt, succeed Lord Grey.

It is promised that the duke will return by way of Canada, and in that case the welcome he will receive as a royal visitor will, undoubtedly be a cordial one.

ST. KITTS' PUBLICITY MAN.

John P. Casey to Be on Lookout for Industries.

St. Catharines, Feb. 22.—John P. Casey was appointed industrial commissioner of St. Catharines, at a meeting of the City Council last night.

Drink on Trains.

Belleville Intelligencer: At the meeting of the Ontario Branch of the Dominion Alliance in Toronto, Rev. Dr. McTavish wanted to know if the selling of liquor on trains could not be prevented. "If it can be, it should be stopped." He pointed out a case where several men boarded a train at Kingston, and when they arrived at Belleville they were drunk.

A few minutes delay in treating some cases of croup, even the length of time it takes to go for a doctor often proves dangerous. The safest way is to keep Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and at the first indication of croup give the child a dose. Pleasant to take and always cures. Sold by all dealers.

CIGARETTE SET OFF DYNAMITE.

Ten Men and Boy Injured by Explosion From Spark.

Pittsburg, Feb. 22.—Ten men and a boy were injured, three of them fatally, when sparks from a cigarette ignited two five-pound cans of dynamite in an elevator descending into the Briton mine, near Dubois, early today. The passengers on the mine cage were stripped of clothing. Eight of the injured are foreigners.

MAY PLEAD INSANITY.

Henderson, on Charge of Murder, Said to Be Irresponsible.

Henderson who is locked up in the county jail on a charge of murder, is said not to be mentally responsible. He is only rational at times, and does not seem to realize his awful position. When told that Miss MacPherson, one of the victims of his terrible assault, was dead, he did not appear at all to be concerned. Mr. F. D. Kerr, who has undertaken his defence, will probably plead insanity.

The inquest on the body of Margaret McPherson, opened on Monday, and was adjourned until next Monday, in order that a post-mortem be held.

Believing that men are able to pray better alone, a Kansas City preacher has arranged to have the men and women of his congregation worship in separate rooms on prayer meeting evenings. He has probably made a serious mistake if he has gone to any trouble for the purpose of providing a large room for the men.

The Laborites Announce That They Will Insist on Veto Bill Coming First.

Will Oppose Naval Expenditure—Demand Lloyd-George of His Promise to Resign.

London, Feb. 22.—The forty members of the Labor party today joined the Irish Nationalists in opposition to the Liberal program, as outlined by Premier Asquith. Speaking for his party, George Barnes declared on the floor of the House of Commons that the Laborites would demand that the limitations of the Lords' veto be taken up before the budget.

He declared for Irish Home Rule, and repudiated the increased naval expenditures of the forthcoming budget.

Mr. Barnes quoted Lloyd-George to the effect that the Chancellor of the Exchequer would not retain his portfolio without guarantees that the veto power would be curtailed.

With the disaffection of the Nationalists and Laborites and seventy Liberals, Premier Asquith has not more than 205 votes assured for his program. On the budget matter, it is assumed, that enough Conservatives will support the Liberals to insure its passage.

RESCUES 68 FROM STEAMER.

Chilean Tugboat Saves Survivors From British Wreck.

Quellon, Chile, Feb. 22.—The Chilean tugboat Pisagua, arriving here, reports that the Chilean cruiser, Ministre Zenteno, has rescued the eighty-eight persons who had been left on the wreck of the British steamer Lima in the Huamblin passage, Strait of Magellan.

EXPLORER THOUGHT DEAD BACK.

Arthur T. Leith Returns to Washington From Labrador's Wilds.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Mourned as dead by his wife and friends for the last four months, Arthur T. Leith, a geologist, explorer and hunter, has returned, safe and well, from the frozen regions of Labrador to his home in Washington. Mr. Leith started out last summer from the north shore of Lake Superior, with his brother, Dr. C. K. Leith, professor of geology in the University of Wisconsin; F. S. Adams of Duluth, and Hugh Roberts, of Superior, Wis. They went 150 miles north of the Labrador trading post of Great Whales. Dr. Leith and Mr. Roberts made their way home in the fall, but the other two men remained until Christmas and experienced terrible hardships.

EMPEROR WILLIAM HAS COLD.

German Ruler Confined to Room and Cancels all Engagements.

Berlin, Feb. 22.—Emperor William has cancelled all audiences and visits arranged for the next few days owing to a cold. He had expected to attend a meeting of the agricultural council to-day, but sent word by the lord marshal of the court that he would be unable to do so. Inquiries at the palace brought the reply that, while his majesty had been advised to remain in his room and avoid all public engagements, he had experienced nothing more serious than a cold due to the damp and blustering weather.

MAD MULLAH TAKES WARPATH.

With Dervishes, Kills, Burns and Captures 14,000 Camels.

Aden, Arabia, Feb. 22.—Mohammed Abdullah of Somaliland, the "Mad Mullah" is again on the warpath. A big force of dervishes has raided the sultanate of the Mijertins, killing and burning in all directions. The slaughter of the tribesmen was very heavy. One whole town was ruined by fire and 14,000 camels taken by the dervishes. The administration of the sultanate of the Mijertins is entrusted to the government of Italian Somaliland.

DIZZY SPELLS, HEADACHES.

A Sufferer of Twenty Years Comes Forward With a Real Cure.

"I can't remember any time during the past 20 years when my head specks would come before my eyes, and it seemed as if all the blood in my body wanted to rush to the head." Thus opens the letter of Mrs. Enoch S. Spry, of Putnam, P.Q., and continuing her interesting statement she says: "Work or exertion made my heart beat terrible, and going up stairs caused such shortness of breath that it fairly frightened me. My doctor told me then it was poisons in the blood and if that was the cause Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest blood renewer on earth. I tell you how I feel today, and you can understand what a great cure Dr. Hamilton's Pills have made. I feel strong enough now to work like a man, as for going upstairs on the run, it doesn't bother me at all. I eat and sleep as any well person ought, and as for dizziness which used to frighten me so much, it has entirely disappeared. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful woman's medicine. They helped me in other ways too, and I know every woman that uses them will have comfort and good health." Refuse anything offered you instead of Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25c. per box. All dealers or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ontario.

LAME BACK.

Just the Sort of Thing That Proves to the World That the Best Liniment Ever Made is

NERVILINE.

When it comes to determining the real merit of a medicine, no weight of evidence is more convincing than the straightforward statement of some reliable and well-known person that has been cured. For this reason we print the verbatim statement of Juan Ef Powell, written from his home in Carleton. "I am a strong, powerful man, six feet tall, and weigh nearly two hundred. I have been accustomed all my life to lift great weight, but one day I overdid it, and wrenched my back badly. Every tendon and muscle was sore. To stoop or bend was agony. I had a whole bottle of Nerviline rubbed on in one day, and by night I was well again. I know of no liniment possessing one-half the penetration and pain subduing properties of Nerviline. I urge its use strongly as an invaluable liniment and household care for all minor ailments, such as strains, sprains, swellings, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, rheumatism, and muscular pain."

LETTER NO. 4709

No better medicine for during pain was ever put into a bottle than Nerviline—over one million bottles used every year—better try it yourself. 25c. of five for $1.00. At all dealers or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

NOT DESIRABLE IMMIGRANTS.

The proposition which, from despatches from London, appears to be under consideration by some of the municipal authorities in Great Britain, that they should send numbers of the unemployed to Canada, will not meet with approval on this side of the Atlantic. We are ready to give a hearty welcome to immigrants of the right class, men and women who are qualified to become good citizens here and to adapt themselves to the conditions existing in the Dominion. But it is only necessary to read the reports of the Poor Law officials in London and other towns in Great Britain to realize how unsuited to these conditions is a very large proportion of the unemployed in that country. They are not merely unemployed, but unemployable, as regards a very large percentage of those who are compelled to seek relief in the workhouses and the benevolent institutions in the Old Country. To send them to Canada would neither benefit, nor be anything less than a burden and embarrassment to us. Most of these people belong to the towns and cities in England and Scotland, and from their habits are not likely to be able to adapt themselves to the conditions they would find here. Of course a certain proportion of them might "fall on their feet" in Canada and eventually succeed in this country. But the majority of the people for whom the local authorities in the cities of Great Britain have to provide food and shelter are utterly incapable of making a fresh start here.

It is certainly a very difficult problem that the British authorities have to face in this question of unemployment. It seems now to have become a chronic situation—one very different and much more serious than the occasional periods of trade depression, with the consequent reduction in the amount of available employment, that characterized the economic situation in Great Britain during the early and middle periods of the last century. Various circumstances have contributed to this change. The decrease in the quantity of land under tillage; the foreign competition in many lines of domestic industry, and the attractions of city as compared with rural life, have all had a part in bringing about a situation greatly to be deplored and a source of weakness to the community.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured.

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in the country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly upon the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

LOOKING FOR WORK.

Commenting a few days ago on the death of a deaf-mute, who was killed on the railway track while walking from Guelph to Toronto in search of employment, the Ottawa Citizen says: "It seems incongruous, indeed, for us to send missionaries to China however great the need, or however splendid their message, while we compel deaf-mutes to tramp the ties in winter weather, to be crushed to death by the locomotive whose warning signal they are not able to hear.'

These words are quoted by the Hamilton Herald with some surprise and some approval, and the fact is mentioned that in Germany and in England recent legislation has been based on the principle that society owes every man the employment that will enable him to earn his living. It is a question that should interest thoughtful minds. While one may dispute the statement that the world owes everyt man a living, who can dispute this other statement that the world owes a man a chance to earn his living? When he cannot get this it generally means that there is bad management somewhere—on the part of the man himself, or on the part of society.

What is being attempted in the United Kingdom in the way of regulating employment and bringing the worker into touch with work will be sure to have its influence on Canada and the United States. Old arrangements have broken down in Germany and England. The world cannot be left to his own devices to starve in one country while in the next wealth decays for the want of workers. In times past governments have done a great deal of specialized thinking in the interests of the noble, those with landed interests, those with capital to invest at home and abroad. There is thinking to be done, too, on behalf of those who have nothing to invest but their labor, who have no capital but the strength and skill of their hands! On this continent society is not quite so directly responsible for the existence of poverty, and the condition of the workless, as in those other countries which maintain class privileges and social monopolies. Here the captains of industry still rise from the ranks, and the railroad president may still prove to be one who began work as a brakeman. Yet we are drifting faster than we should in the direction in which all peoples have gone—in the direction of managing the country to suit the hopes and desires of the successful and the fortunate rather than for the advantage of the vaster number whose needs are more in want of consideration.

To begin with, we should surely have for such a man as the deaf-mute, who was killed on the railway track, while on a winter walk in search of work, and for all such as he, who are willing to work, yet handicapped by deafness, or blindness, or other physical infirmity, a government bureau, which would undertake to see that they are honorably employed so long as they render good service for their wages. Men handicapped by physical infirmity have a narrow choice of occupation, and for that reason have a special claim to consideration.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The gift of Mr. J. C. Eaton, of a quarter of a million dollars for the purpose of erecting an hospital in memory of his father, the late T. Eaton, is a generous one, and one that could hardly be devoted to a better philanthropic use.

Congress refused a considerable portion of the reward suggested to Peary, one representative declaring that his discovery was of no use to mankind and little benefit to abstract science. Who was it said that ingratitude was the vice of republics?

Threatening feverishness with child ren is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product of any kind enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this famed Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY PERSON WHO IS THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, solely owned and occupied by him, or his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

START A WAR ON SOCIALISM.

Catholics Begin New York Campaign —Mob Barricades Building.

New York, Feb. 22.—"Socialism is a menace to our civilization! Philosophical evils arise from its propaganda. It crops out under various guises. It walks arm in arm down one block with atheism and bobs up with some new sequaintance around the corner. It must be suppressed." With this attack by Rev. Dr. William J. Kerby, professor of sociology at the Catholic University of America in Washington the Catholic church last night made plain its attitude toward socialistic doctrines, and at the cathedral college, held the first of a series of ten lectures under the auspices of the Institute of Scientific Study. Archbishop Farley presided and all the dignitaries of the Catholic church in this city attended.

Cheers and outbursts of applause followed the slightest word in favor of socialism. Men who set elbow to elbow with the members of the church gave vent to their antagonistic feelings at the least provocation. A mob of 1,500 in the street tried to rush the building amid noisy demonstrations and was held back by the police with great difficulty.

AN HONEST POLITICIAN.

Sir Wilfrid Lawson Was an Honor to the British Commons.

"Laws should be adapted to those who have the heaviest stake in the country: for whom misgovernment spells not mortified pride or stinted luxury, but want and pain and degradation and risk to their own lives and to their children's souls." Mr. George Russell has put these noble words in the foreground of his memoir of the late Sir Wilfrid Lawson, and they give the keynote of the life portrayed therein.

Sir Wilfrid Lawson is described by one who knew him as an "absolutely honest man." His life shows it. He entered politics in 1859, and left them in 1905. Yet he was the same man all through. The ideals he fought for at Carlisle in 1859 he fought for until his death. He never faltered, he never changed. Some of his ideals have been accomplished. Others remain ideals. But there is not one which was, or is, not noble and unselfish.

He was once described as a "gloomy fanatic." Probably a more gross misdescription was never penned. He came of a sturdy Border stock. The Wyberghs of Clifton have been there since the days of the Third Edward. The Lawsons of Brayton were another ancient Border family, which had again and again represented Cumberland in Parliament. In 1806, Sir Wilfrid Lawson looked round about him for an heir, as he was childless, and he chose his nephew, Thomas Wybergh, who assumed the name of Lawson, and from him our hero was descended. Young Lawson's life was that of an ordinary country squire, save that the religious surroundings of his home were more marked. But withal there was little of stern over puritanism about the home at Brayton. "My father enjoyed a long day's hunting or shooting almost to the end of his life, and in skating and playing hockey on the ice he often tired out younger men."

And the love of open-air life and field sports passed on to the son. Many thousands have asked the question, "D'ye ken John Peel?" Young Lawson "ken'd" him, and he bought the hounds that Peel had hunted, improved the pack, and became Master of the Cumberland Foxhounds. Incidentally Sir Wilfrid settles the right reading of the old song. "With his coat so gay" is the conjectural emendation of those who cannot conceive of a huntsman without a red coat. But Lawson says, "his gray coat is no more a myth than himself, for I well remember the long, gray garment."

This, then, is the type of man who sought to enter politics in 1857. A typical English gentleman, bearing an ancient name, heir to a large inheritance; and a thorough sportsman. And, with all this, there was a sturdy Radicalism which never changed and never faltered.

The first essay for Parliament was unsuccessful, but in 1859 young Lawson stood with his uncle, Sir James Graham, of Netherby. Canningite, Whig, Peelite and Liberal, a hard-hitting politician of the old school, whose favorite aversion was Disraeli. Lawson was roused out of bed in the middle of the night by a deputation of Carlisle Liberals, and—"in my robes of repose"—he furnished his election address there and then. He was returned after a stiff contest, and took part in the fights of Lord Palmerston's last administration. Here, perhaps, we may finish off Sir Wilfrid's electoral experiences. He was turned out of Carlisle in 1865, but won the seat back in 1868 and held it until 1885, when he stood for Cockermouth and was defeated by ten votes, the Irish vote going against him. In 1886 the Irish vote went for him, and he held the seat until 1900, when khaki proved his undoing. Cumberland gave him a refuge in 1900, and he returned to Cockermouth in 1906.

When We Sleep.

The Hindus never sleep with their heads to the north, for they believe that to do so would cause their days to be shortened. There is much superstition in Hindustan as to the point of the compass towards which the head should point when in bed; to lie in the direction of the south being thought to be productive of longevity, where as the east and west, it is asserted, are calculated to bring sickness and change of scene respectively. The Japanese never sleep with their heads to the north, their reason being that the dead in their country are always buried with their heads in that direction. So particular are the Japanese in this respect that, in their sleeping rooms, a diagram of the points of the compass will usually be found pasted upon the ceiling of the room for the benefit of guests. The Russians, too, dread the northern position, as they have been taught that all evil emanates from that quarter of the heavens, and that by sleeping with their heads towards it they are in danger of disaster, illness, or sudden death. The Hungarians, Poles,

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by all dealers.

AFTER HANEY.

The Desperate Train Robber Now in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 21.— Bill Haney, train robber, gun fighter, murderer and outlaw, on whose head dead or alive, there is a price of $4,000, has been tracked a thousand miles from Canada to the Calabasas Hills, and now holds that wild settlement in terror, equiver with suppressed excitement and fair of the fugitive, who has sworn never to be taken alive.

The best trained officers of the Canadian Government are hidden in the fastness of the country, watchful every moment, in the hope of catching the desperado unawares, and local detectives and deputy sheriffs in all manners of disguises are helping in the man hunt.

Meanwhile Haney is frequently seen riding on the roads, alone, alert and unfraid, a rifle across the pommel of his saddle and revolvers at hand. Dozens of farmers who knew him years ago have met him and conversed with him, but he has told them little. He sleeps entrenched in a stone hut across a gorge. Officers would be courting death to cross his path and a man trying to ambush him in a wooded region of which he knows every foot, would probably step his unerring bullets.

Haney left Calabasas twenty years ago with his brother John and four years later was sent to the penitentiary for three years. When released the brothers fled to the United States. With skill and cunning they planned the robbery of a Canadian Pacific train last June. Dropping on to the tender near Ducks, where the engine stopped for water, they and four accomplices subdued the crew at the point of their revolvers and compelled the fireman to break open the express car. They had expected the car ot contain a valuable lot of silver bullion, but found nothing of value in it. After going through a number of the passenger coaches the bandits took to a boat on Lake Shawnap and escaped.

A week later Constable Isaac Decker of Ashcroft, British Columbia, found the two Haneys descending the Thompson river in a row-boat. Covering them with his revolver, he ordered the men to surrender. They pretended to obey, but as they stepped ashore one of them fired and Decker fell, mortally wounded. As he went down, however, the constable's rifle spoke, and John Haney was killed. Bill leaping over the prostrate body of the two men, and prostrate bodies of the two men made his escape and has since successfully dodged arrest.

EDWARD J. TOWNSEND, President.
ALEXANDER H. BEATH, Vice-President.
JAMES K. MACLENNAN, Secretary-Treasurer.
JOHN ANNIS, of Markstay, Ont.
JAMES TOWNSEND, of Mabel, Que., and
JOHN H. CLARY, of Sudbury, Ont.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent dated April 10th, A. D., 1909, and is empowered to carry on in all its branches the operations of a mining, milling, reduction and development Company.

The Company was organized more particularly to acquire and develop certain of the mining claims on Emerald Lake commonly called the Townsend-Annis gold properties.

Mr. Townsend had an undivided eleven-sixteenths interest in Mining Location W.D. 154, and Mr. Annis had three water claims adjoining and extending westward from W.D. 154. The Company has a working option on the remaining five-sixteenths of W. D. 154 from Mr. William Crawford, of Haileybury, formerly of Sudbury. The Company purchased outright the interest of Mr. Townsend and Mr. Annis.

These claims are distant about 32 miles almost due north from Warren, Ontario, and lie on the east side of Emerald Lake. In winter they are reached from Markstay by an existing road some 40 miles long, needing some small repairs in places—in summer from Temagami station on the T. and N. O. Railway, by steamer to Obabika Bay on the north-west arm of Lake Temagami, and thence a distance of ten miles, in all, by water, four short portages excepted, to Emerald Lake and W.D. 154 is reached.

On W.D. 154 the ore outcrops in the form of a deposit, in width from 200 to 500 feet, and has been traced on the strike for about 1,000 feet. The dip is nearly vertical. The contact wall on the south side is jasper and magnetite and on the north side is black slate. The gangue rock is calcite, schist and quartz, heavily mineralized with gold-bearing iron-pyrites. Considerable stripping and test pitting have been done at various points, and at each point good values in gold have been found. All blastings have disclosed free gold and pannings show many colors. The directors believe this property to be

The Largest Outcropping of High-grade Ore Known in the World To-day.

Four assays from Messrs. Handley and Parker, of Sudbury, showed respectively $3,419.61, $1,620.68, $787.62, and $162.72 per ton. Ledoux and Company of 99 John Street, New York, $26.65 (from an iron-pyrites sample). Kropp's, Germany, gave $68.00 per ton from an iron pyrites sample.

The Directors have decided to place 50,000 shares on the market at the special price of 50c per share, in blocks of not less than 50 shares each. Allotments will be made as applications, accompanied by the necessary cash, have been received for 20,000 shares. Should this number not be subscribed for by February 15th next, money will be refunded promptly. The above low price is to provide the necessary funds for the installation of the proper milling and reduction plant and for the carrying out of the necessary mining operations. See prospectus.

All have not the knowledge or the necessary capital to send out prospecting parties, but many small capitalists can afford to put up $25.00 or more to get a share in this local enterprise where they know that first, last and all the time they will get a square deal. Come and see samples. Have them assayed yourself. Investigate for yourself.

Porcupine may have plenty of gold but you don't need to go further than Emerald Lake for gold. Many mining men of Sudbury know W.D. 154. Cut out this advertisement. Watch for following ads. Get a prospectus and all information from any of the Directors, or from Editor of the Times.

ONE MONTH IN JAIL.

Edward Jobe is Punished for Assaulting Mother.

At the police court yesterday, Edward Jobe, who it was charged, assaulted his mother on Sunday, Feb. 13, was proven guilty of the offence, and was sentenced to the county jail for one month.

Mr. G. N. Gordon, the prisoner's counsel, asked for leniency on the ground that inability to secure work might have been responsible for the young man's conduct, and the spirit of the law that of making offenders better citizens, would meet with success in case the prisoner be not dealt with in a manner that would place him in the association of hardened criminals.

The evidence of the defendant's mother showed that he had struck her several times blackening her eyes and causing other bodily injuries. Her son had also used profane and abusive language in the home and she on one occasion had, with the assistance of others, taken a loaded revolver from him. She did not wish to have him about the house as he had made threats.

The C.G.E. Mutual Benefit Society Doing Well.

The semi-annual meeting of the C. G.E. Mutual Benefit Society was held on Monday night at the Y.M.C. A., and was largely attended. The president, Mr. Robert Anson, occupied the chair. It was decided to have the annual concert in the Grand Opera House in about six weeks, and preparations for the event will be started in the near future. Ten dollars was voted to the Children's Aid Society. The report of the treasurer, Mr. R. E. Harding, was very gratifying, the increase for six months being larger than for any past year. The statement was as follows:

Peterborough's Private Bill Met with Strong Opposition in Legislature

Three-Fifths Clause Advocated in the Granting of Bonuses—Bonus Giving by Cities to Court Industries was Becoming a Curse to the Province of Ontario

Toronto, Feb. 23.—Declaring that bonus giving by cities to court industries was becoming a curse to the Province, Mr. J. P. Downey, of South Wellington, strongly opposed an application by Peterborough before the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature, to aid an iron company to the tune of a $50,000 loan, and to aid a weaving company by affording a fixed assessment of $10,000.

Peterborough's general bill occupied most of the morning. Part of the committee jibed at the bonusing of two companies, and led to one or two passages-at-arms between the members.

The Purity Ware, Limited, was the first storm center. Mr. Jas. Kendry of Peterborough, opened the assault. "This is a promoters' scheme, and I can prove it," he said, "We don't know who this company is. The city solicitor won't give the names."

Mr. J. Gillespie, president of the Board of Trade of Peterborough, jumped up.

"The Ironclad Company, Ltd., of Brooklyn, N.Y., are behind it, and they want to change the Purity Ware name to the Ironclad Company of Canada. I can give the name of a Canadian and a Toronto man, who is financing it here."

"Mr. R. Gregg of Toronto, is furnishing the Canadian capital."

Mr. Downey offered strong opposition. "This bonus giving is a curse to the Province. It is bad enough in all conscience to pass one at all, but surely worse when we take liberties and say you can have it even when you don't meet requirements."

Mayor Morrow said the Peterborough council were unanimously in favor of it.

"It is my information that the company is not incorporated at all," said Mr. Downey. "This a scheme of promoters."

Mr. Downey finally demanded that the question be referred back to the people for a vote, and demanded a three-fifths majority for that vote. This amendment was lost.

As no vote had been taken on the bylaw to give the William Hamilton Company Limited a fixed assessment, it was referred back to yield a three-fifths majority of the people before being ratified.

The same happened to a bill from St. Catharines asking ratification of a bylaw granting the Canadian Crocker-Wheeler Company, Limited, a fixed assessment of $10,000 for ten years.

Likewise might be writ of a fixed assessment bill from Niagara-on-the-Lake.

Authority for the Peterborough council to appoint and pay an industrial commissioner could not be granted by the committee, who ruled that he must either be paid by the Board of Trade or by public subscription.

War Between U. S. and Japan Much Discussed, Says Gen. Creen

St. Catharines, Feb. 23.—General Greene of Buffalo, who is an eminent military authority, having been in command of the United States troops at Manila during the war with Spain, last night addressed the Canadian Club on the situation in the Orient. General Greene declared that the situation is indeed a very grave one and there may be a gigantic war as the outcome. The problem would however, be solved if Japan, he said, would accept Christianity.

The general declared that the prospect of war between Japan and the United States was a great deal more likely than official circles in the United States will admit. It was the principal topic of discussion among United States Officers in the Philippines, and Japanese military men in their own country.

"Great Britain has entered into an offensive and defensive alliance with Japan, and if Japan ever went to war with the United States she could call upon Britain to help her," said the speaker. "But every consideration would call upon Great Britain to break that treaty in such a event, and it is not conceivable to me that the United States and Great Britain should ever go to war again."

General Greene went on to say that undoubtedly this century would see some great wars, because everything seemed to point to that, probably over some question of trade.

Much Railway Work by C.P.R. in the West

Toronto, Feb. 23.—In the course of an interview with Mr. William Whyte second vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, stated that the following railway building in the West would be undertaken during the approaching summer:

The South Saskatchewan River will be crossed at Saskatoon by an immense bridge, which will require a year to build, thus bringing the line to a place known as Outlook, destined in the near future to be a great railway center. From Outlook a road will be built for ninety-three miles, running parallel with the present Saskatoon-Wetaskiwin line, to a place as yet not named. Thence it will run north-westerly for fifty-four miles to Macklin, which is about half way between Saskatoon and Wetaskiwin. These two branches will be built at once, and in conjunction with the bridge across the South Saskatchewan for greater convenience in the matter of supplies.

From Regina a line will be built to Lauder, while again another line will be built from Estevan to Weyburn, and thence westerly for twenty six miles to a point known as Forward the objective point being Lethbridge, which will mean that there will be two main lines running through Lethbridge.

With the completion of the line from Saskatoon to Outlook, and the already completed line from Outlook to Moose Jaw, the railway distance between Saskatoon and Moose Jaw will be reduced to 180 miles.

Craven is about ten miles north of Regina and is connected with the latter place by a spur line. This line will be continued due north until it meets the line to Saskatoon, and and thus afford another means of entry into that town from Regina, and other places on the main line.

The plans of the railway also provide for the double-tracking of the road from Winnipeg to Portage la Prairie, and ultimately this would be continued to Brandon. This will mean a continuous double track from Fort William to Portage la Prairie and Brandon in the near future, a distance of 562 miles.

In British Columbia Mr. Whyte announces that a branch line will be built from Fort Steele twenty-five miles northerly, meeting the main line at Golden. This is the Columbia River district.

It is understood that the work on these new lines will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible. They are practically all connecting branches, joining larger lines, and will serve to reduce the freight haulage.

(Special to The Times.)

St. Petersburg, Feb. 24.—King Ferdinand of Bulgaria will arrive here to-day on a visit to the Russian Emperor, and will be received with considerable pomp and ceremony. This is the Bulgarian ruler's first visit to any foreign court since Bulgaria renounced the suzerainty of the Turkish Sultan a year ago, and the purpose of the visit is to thank the Emperor for Russia's recognition of Bulgaria's independence.

BACK FROM THE EAST.

Christian Endeavor Leaders Honored in Winnipeg.

(Special to The Times.)

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 24.—Dr. Francis E. Clark, founder and president of the Christian Endeavor Society, and William Shaw, general secretary of the organization, who are now on their way home from the recent world's convention in India, will be entertained to-day by the Christian Endeavor unions of Winnipeg. A large number of persons are expected to attend a luncheon in their honor in Manitoba Hall. To-morrow the two officers will proceed to Manitou to attend a three days' convention of the Christian Endeavor Society of Manitoba. Elaborate preparations have been made for the Manitou convention.

Eulogy for the Grand Trunk.

In the London "Times," of February 4th, an article appears from one of their travelling correspondents descriptive of a tour through America, in which the following appears:

"By far the finest travelling I have done so far in America was over the Grand Trunk line from Montreal to Toronto. The Grand Trunk have admittedly a perfect roadbed. We ran at about fifty miles per hour on the 'International Limited,' and none of the English railways could beat it for steadiness."

This eulogy from one who is a world-wide traveller is very gratifying to Canadian railways.

PUFFINESS UNDER EYES—SWELLING FEET

For nearly a year my kidneys failed to do their work, writes William F. Plankett, a well-known dairyman residing in Britannia, "I had swollen feet so badly that at times I could scarcely walk, my skin grew yellowish, and a general puffiness under the eyes gave my face a very monatoral appearance. My strength failed, and as I am a working man, loss of time and the prospect of serious illness caused me great anxiety. I read of several cures from Dr. Hamilton's Pills and decided to get five boxes. Now I feel it my duty to testify that they are the best kidney, liver and stomach medicine on earth. While my kidneys were so badly affected after all I think it was because the liver and bowels were clogged up. Anyway in less than a month the swelling in my feet ceased—my skin lost its yellowish cast—my eyes grew clear and natural, and, considering my age is nearly sixty. I am as fit as most men. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful medicine that every man can use to advantage."

Don't be misled into using any other pill but Dr. Hamilton's. Sold in yellow boxes at 25c. per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ontario.

A great Exodus of Old Country Emigrants to Settle in Canada

London, Eng., Feb. 23.—Emigrant agents at many centers throughout the United Kingdom report an abnormal number of inquirits on the part of intending settlers in Canada, and everything points to a great exodus to the land of promise in the coming spring.

The propaganda for emigration to Canada has received a considerable filip here by the arrival of the well-known lady traveler, Miss Agnes Deans Cameron of Arctic fame, Miss Cameron, during an interview with a press representative, said that there were millions of acres of the best wheat-producing country on the continent north of Edmonton. Its great resources were until recently unknown to all save the Indians and a few disinterested trappers and traders. One hundred miles north of Edmonton the soil produced wheat in ninety days from the time of sowing, and a railway extension in that direction would open up an immense tract of country second to none for that crop. The Hudson Bay extension was only a beginning.

MAPLE LEAF PARTY.

The council of the British Women's Emigration Association have been very fortunate in securing the patronage of Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyle, and the Duke of Argyle for the Canadian Maple Leaf party, which will be held in the Imperial Institute on the 23rd inst., for the purpose of meeting the British Association and the National Union of Women Workers who visited Toronto and Winnipeg last year. There will be a great display of the scenery of the Dominion and its resources and capabilities.

Apropos of the trouble of the National Rifle Association in connection with dissatisfaction expressed by a great number of well-known shots at the proposed changes in the Bisley targets, it has been suggested that the title of the N.R.A. could bear an improvement as it is hardly broad enough to express really what the association is. Over 2,000 rifle clubs and kindred organizations are affiliated with it, and not a few of these are situated in India, Straits Settlements, Egypt, South Africa, Gold Coast, Australia, New Zealand, West Indias, Canada, and other parts of our widely scattered Empire. It is now suggested that the title of "The Imperial Rifle Association" would be a much better one, and sentiment and practice would heartily approve of the proposed nomenclature.

The Trouble in the Alberta Legislature Being Ventilated

Edmonton, Alta., Feb. 23.— Mr. Boyle, member for Sturgeon, yesterday accused the deputy attorney-general of stripping documents from the papers appertaining to Alberta and Great Waterways Railway, which were ordered to be placed on the table of the House.

"If the documents will not stand the light of day, all the more reason why we should see them," said Mr. Boyle, "I mistake the temper of the House very much if it does not insist that all papers be brought down as requested."

Attorney-General Cross said the government had nothing to hide, and all would be brought down.

Mr. Boyle said he would like to know whether the deputy Attorney-general was running the government or the premier. If the privilege of seeing papers in Mr. Cross' office was granted, why not have all the papers brought down on the table of the House.

HAVE NO OBJECTION.

"I have no objection whatever, and never had," replied Mr. Cross.

Premier Rutherford replied to the questions asked by Mr. Bennett in respect to the Government guarantee of bonds of the C.N.R., G.T.P., and Alberta and Great Waterways Railways.

Wednesday will probably see the beginning of the debate on a resolution introduced by Mr. Boyle. By such resolution the government is put on the defensive to show that the interests of the Province were sufficiently safeguarded in the contract made with the Great Waterways Railway. The government will probably be assailed on this transaction by Messrs. Boyle, Cushing, Bennett and Riley. The debate will be long, and will end in division, when the strength of the government will be known.

Hon. Duncan Marshall made his maiden speech in the House. He spoke at the second reading of the bill respecting the rights of married women to the estates of their deceased husbands. It was intended to remedy cases where an unfair proportion of an estate was left to the widows by insuring that under ordinary circumstances they get at least one half of the estate.

Young Oshawa Girl Followed Syrian to Toronto--Are Arrested

Toronto, Feb. 23.—The fascination of the foreign races for Canadian girls seems to be the reason for the latest elopement.

This time it is a Servian and the girl is fifteen years old, and comes from Oshawa, Ontario. Vera Cook is her name. Her mother keeps a boarding house since the death of her husband some years ago, and is one of the most respected women in the town. About a month ago a Servian blacksmith, named George Yokoma, who worked in a carriage shop, came to the house. As he seemed a respectable sort of chap and apparently had been in Canada long enough to learn the language well and to become Canadianized, she took him in as a boarder.

He only stayed about two weeks, then left for Toronto. In the meantime he made a decided impression on the youthful heart of Vera, who will be sixteen years old next month His slight foreign accent, his strength, and if the truth be told, his good manners, made a big hit. In Toronto he got a good job with the Brown Company in Adelaide street, and wrote her his address. She followed his last Saturday, and they lived together as man and wife at a boarding house until yesterday, when the detectives gathered them both in. He went to the police station, she to the Children's Shelter.

Vera Cook, although only fifteen, is a big girl who could easily pass as twenty. Perhaps it is her extreme youth but she does not show the slightest sign of remorse, and only smiled when asked if she did not think that she had been very foolish. After thinking it over she admitted that perhaps she had.

"I think that he is awfully nice," she said. "There was no arrangement that I should follow him down here. I know his address and came here. We lived at 20 Balmuto street. He is good-looking, and only 25 years old. I liked him, although I've only known him for a month.

"I've got three brothers. One is married and lives in Oshawa. One of the others is a little older than I am, the other is younger. My mother keeps one or two boarders all the time."

When Vera's family heard about the elopement they wired the Toronto police and they got busy. Her brother, William Cook, came from Oshawa last night, and will take her home after she has been in the Children's court. Geo. George Yokoma will be taken to Oshawa to answer a charge of abduction.

Mother Accused of Murdering Thee-Year-Old Child

(Special to The Times.)

Montreal, Feb. 23.—The coroner's jury today found Mrs. Vochik Kosmarki, a Polish woman living at Verdun, responsible for the death of her 3½ years old child, and she was arrested on a charge of murder, later pleading not guilty.

A woman residing at the Kosmerski home told how the child's mother in a paroxysm of rage because the child would not eat its meal, beat the little one with a strap and her fist until it finally went into convulsions, and died shortly after. One blow she struck the child on the chest severely hurt her own hand.

No Home Rule Bill for Ireland This Session

The Premier's Reply to a Question in the House of Commons—Radicals will See the Premier London, Feb. 23.—In the House of Commons today, in reply to a question, Premier Asquith said that the Government had no intention of introducing a Home Rule Bill for Ireland this session.

RADICALS WILL SEE PREMIER.

London, Feb. 23.—The advanced Radicals have decided to send a deputation to wait upon Premier Asquith.

The object of their visit is not stated, but it is probably to urge that more aggressive measures in reference to reforming the House of Lords should be adopted by the Government.

Three Killed and at Least 1,000 Hurt in St. Car Strke Riots

Philadelphia, Feb. 23.—This city's hospitals and homes today are sheltering at least a thousand persons who were hurt in the rioting yesterday following the trolley strike, and three lie dead in the city morgue awaiting the action of the coroner's jury. The miserable failure of the State fencibles, which is in reality a mere cadet corps, to hold the situation yesterday is regarded as necessitating the calling out of some stronger body of the State troops. The striplings of the State fencibles were simply played with by the rioters. They were stripped of their uniforms, arms and cartridges, and many of them rolled in the mud and mire of the city streets.

THREATS MADE GOODS.

This morning things are quieter. Determined action on the part of the police and the threat to call out 10,000 National Guardsmen has evidently cooled the temper of the car rioters, for no disturbance has been reported since street cars were withdrawn from the street at dark last night.

This morning the street car officials report that they have more cars running than at any time since the beginning of the strike, and the police report no trouble thus far.

NO GENERAL STRIKE.

Stories that a general strike of all the union men in Philadelphia would be called, published yesterday, caused some excitement. The announcement by the officials of the Central Labor Union that no such strike would be called at this time allayed greatly the fears of those who believed a general strike in Philadelphia would be followed by great bloodshed.

Several sympathetic strikes were called yesterday, but it is impossible to determine how many men are out, it can be said, however, that the majority of the 30,000 union men reported out yesterday were men who laid off for Washington's birthday, and that most of them returned to work today.

No tangible efforts have been made thus far to end the strike. The strikers declare the failure of the company to operate a thorough and safe service will win the fight for them. They declare the company must yield to the demands of the men.

On the other hand, the company officials declared they have sufficient men to man all their cars as soon as they are given proper police protection.

Up to date 750 cars have been attacked and partially wrecked by the rioters.

In conference with Mayor Reyburn and Sheriff Gilfain, Gov. Stuart is said to have expressed his willingness to call out the entire State militia for strike duty whenever the authirities call upon him for the troops.

The call for the troops was accordingly prepared and signed, but not delivered. It will be held in readiness to be sent to Gov. Stuart the instant it becomes necessary.

Minister Disappeared with Mission Money

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 23.— Rev. David Hicks, pastor of the Methodist church at Gesto, is missing. He has been absent for the past three or four days. He has debts that will reach $1,000. A committee of inquiry, composed of three clergymen from the Windsor district of the London Methodist conference has been appointed and will meet in Essex on Friday to investigate. One object of the committee will be to trace $210 in church funds, represent the entire givings of the little congregation for missionary purposes last year.

Mr. Hicks is not a regularly ordained preacher in the London Conference. He came from England several years ago, and was accepted on the usual four years' probation. He is completing his third year as pastor of the Gesto church. He is about 40 years old, and has a wife and six children. On Friday there will be a sale of the household furniture left by the missing pastor, and the proceeds will go to satisfy his creditors.

As pastor of the Gesto church, Hicks received $600 yearly. His disappearance has caused a furore in the little village, and also in Methodist circles in Windsor and Essex.

Gesto is a small village a short distance from Essex.

ANOTHER MAY DIE

SISTER'S CONDITION REPORTED TO BE CRITICAL.

Martha McPherson Said to Be Slowly Sinking—Robert Henderson May Have to Answer Charge of Double Murder.

Word was received by The Times last night that Miss Martha McPherson, who was brutally assaulted by Robert Henderson, may not recover. The charge of murder already registered against him, will be followed by a second charge of similar nature in case of her death.

While there is no immediate probability of death, it is said that she is not gaining in strength, but on the contrary is slowly becoming weaker. She naturally feels keenly the death of her older sister, and appears to have resigned herself to death. Everything possible is being done in the meantime for the stricken woman.

Since his arrest, however, Henderson has displayed no dangerous traits, and is one of the mildest looking young fellows imaginable. He is about five feet five inches in height, weighs about one hundred and thirty pounds, has regular and cut features, and does not look dangerous or criminal. He is quiet in speech and manner, although he makes very inconsistent and misleading statement.

MAD MULLAH TAKES WARPATH.

With Dervishes, Kills, Burns and Captures 14,000 Camels.

Aden, Arabia, Feb. 22.—Mohammed Abdullah of Somaliland, the "Mad Mullah" is again on the warpath. A big force of dervishes has raided the sultante of the Mijertins, killing and burning in all directions. The slaughter of the tribesmen was very heavy. One whole town was ruined by fire and 14,000 camels taken by the dervishes. The administration of the sultanate of the Mijertins is intrusted to the government of Italian Somaliland.

A few minutes delay in treating some cases of croup, even the length of time it takes to go for a doctor often proves dangerous. The safest way is to keep Cahmberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and at the first indication of croup give the child a dose. Pleasant to take and always cures. Sold by all dealers.

Father Killed His Bady Girl

(Special to The Times.)

Quebec, Feb. 23.—While under the influence of liquor, a barber named Arthur Baker, killed his 3-year-old daughter with an iron hammer he had aimed at his wife. He was remanded to jail today, pending the coroner's verdict.

TOO HOARSE TO SPEAK

An American Doctor Tells of the Grand Results Achieved With "Nerviline."

"I had a patient with Quinsy that I found great difficulty in curing," states Dr. Wilson. "Every time he caught cold or got chilled he suffered intensely from sore throat, huskiness, throat and chest soreness. After over three attacks of throat and chest soreness. After every attack his throat and chest seemed more sensitive. This patient lived in the country, and couldn't come to the city for treatment. I concluded that the NERVILINE best remedy would be an honest lini- CURES ment, and because of its enormous sale QUINSY and well-known merit, I advised 'Nerviline.' Morning, noon and night Nerviline was rubbed over the neck and chest, and once a day diluted with water it was used as a gargle. In a day or two my patient reported an improvement, and by continuing the treatment with Nerviline he was cured. I can recommend Nerviline for breaking up colds, for chest tight ness, throat inflammation, quinsy, tonsilitis and similar conditions."

Not a druggist or doctor who has examined the formula of Nerviline who won't tell you how good it is—why it contains the best medicaments known to science and for general family use has no equal. Editorial

SOUTH AFRICA.

It is a matter for congratulation that the general outlook for the new South African Confederation is becoming much brighter. The effects of the war are gradually disappearing. The two white races appear to be living together under more friendly circumstances than seemed to be likely a few years ago. The political leaders, whether British or Boer, show every disposition to co-operate in measures designed to advance the progress of the country and the development of its natural resources. Confederation should have results in South Africa similar to those that have followed the union of the British North American Provinces — the gradual disappearance of narrow provincial jealousies and the growth of a national spirit. One very interesting item of current gossip from Natal is the rumor that General Botha and Dr. Jameson may come together and form a coalition federal administration. Whether founded on any real basis or not, this rumor is interesting and an augury for the future in the suggestion it conveys of the disappearance of racial antipathies and a desire for British and Boer co-operation in the task of building up the new commonwealth under the British flag.

COST OF LIVING.

Professor Adam Shortt has an article in Industrial Canada on "Labor and Capital and the Cost of Living." He notes that there has been in recent years a very large increase in wages, and also a very large increase in the cost of living. It has been an era of higher prices and higher wages. The workingman has received more money, but the purchasing power of his money has declined. "In times of continuous employment it may appear of little moment whether the wage-earner receives a lower wage which buys cheaper goods, or a higher wage which buys a like amount of dear goods. In times of slack work, however, high prices for the necessaries of life become a serious matter for a wage earner without wages."

Hence, he argues, there is little real advantage to labor and capital in the blind duel between prices and wages, while non-combatants are suffering seriously and needlessly. "While wages and prices thus pursue each other in an ascending spiral, that miscellaneous body of citizens who have no direct access to the industrial and commercial wheel of fortune have stood helplessly by, anxiously watching the ascent of the cost of living." Among these victims he classes clerks, civil servants, and professional men, and those who depend upon pensions, annuities, and other fixed incomes.

But while Professor Shortt here seems to ascribe the higher cost of living to higher wages, he seems to exclude the factory worker and his wages as a cause of the increase. "Where the articles are imported, or made under conditions of manufacture on a larger scale, prices have increased but moderately or not at all." By excluding the great body of factory workers, he weakens considerably the force of the contention that high prices are due largely to high wages.

The factory workers being excluded, those remaining are the workers employed in mining, lumbering, fishing, constructing and operating railways, erecting houses and other buildings, and farming. The latter two are dealt with by Professor Shortt. House rent, he says, reflects the cost of building. He leaves out of consideration the increase in the value of land. The increased price of meat, fruit, eggs, vegetables, butter, milk, etc., he attributes largely to the scarcity and increased cost of farm labor.

We think that Professor Shortt lays too much stress upon the wages of labor, and too little upon the profits of middlemen of various kinds and the earnings of capital. It must be borne in mind that all efforts of labor organizations have been directed to enabling men to live, not in luxury, but in moderate comfort, and that the quality of our civilization depends upon the standard of living of the masses of the people. If the workmen of Canada have raised this standard, if their wages have increased at a ratio greater than the general increase in the cost of living, then the civilization Canada has been to that extent strengthened.

Will the gentlemen at Ottawa who declared that they had never known a man to be ruined by playing the races, please pay attention to the despatch from Detroit, which tells of Louis E. Kraft turning burglar to cover his losses on the Windsor track. This is the second case of the kind reported since the anti-gambling committee convened at the capital.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—50c. Sold by all dealers.

ONE MONTH IN JAIL.

Edward Jobe is Punished for Assaulting Mother.

At the police court yesterday, Edward Jobe, who it was charged, assaulted his mother on Sunday, Feb. 13, was proven guilty of the offence, and was sentenced to the county jail for one month.

Mr. G. N. Gordon, the prisoner's counsel, asked for leniency on the ground that inability to secure work might have been responsible for the young man's conduct, and the spirit of the law that of making offenders better citizens, would meet with success in case the prisoner be not dealt with in a manner that would place him in the association of hardened criminals.

The evidence of the defendant's mother showed that he had struck her several times blackening her eyes and causing other bodily injuries. Her son had also used profane and abusive language in the home and she on one occasion had, with the assistance of others, taken a loaded revolver from him. She did not wish to have him about the house as he had made threats.

Threatening feverishness with child ren is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh nor sickening. They are indeed "the stitch in time." Carried in pocket or purse. Preventics are a genuine safeguard against Cold 25c. Sold by all dealers.

DEPT. OF MILITIA AND DEFENCE OTTAWA.

SEALED TENDERS (in duplicate) for the supply of Coal and Fuel Wood required to heat the Military Buildings at Kingston, Belleville, Port Hope, Cobourg and Peterborough, Ont., for the year ending March 31, 1911, will be received up to Monday, March 7 next. Each tender is to be marked "Tender for Fuel," and addressed to the Secretary of the Militia Council, Ottawa.

RESCUES 96 FROM STEAMER.

Chilean Tugboat Saves Survivors From British Wreck.

Quellon, Chile, Feb. 22.—The Chilean tugboat Pisagua, arriving here, reports that the Chilean cruiser, Ministro Zenteno, has rescued the eighty-eight persons who had been left on the wreck of the British steamer Lima in the Huamblin passage, Strait of Magellan.

EMPEROR WILLIAM HAS COLD.

German Ruler Confined to Room and Cancels all Engagements.

Berlin, Feb. 22.—Emperor William has cancelled all audiences and visits arranged for the next few days owing to a cold. He had expected to attend a meeting of the agricultural council to-day, but sent word by the lord marshal of the court that he would be unable to do so. Inquiries at the palace brought the reply that, while his majesty had been advised to remain in his room and avoid all public engagements, he had experienced nothing more serious than a cold due to the damp and blustering weather.

ALWAYS FEARS DEATH

Czar's Life Continually In Danger—The Persian Shah's Belief.

Wherever he is, wherever he goes, the Czar of Russia is surrounded day and night by police and troops or by battleships and police patrols, says an English writer.

Nor is the precaution unnecessary. Without this strict guard his life would not be worth an hour's purchase. There is always at least one plot on foot for his assassination, and numerous attempts upon his life have been made. But so far the keen and restless watch over him has been so successful that he has never actually come face to face with violence.

It is for this reason perhaps that he has that personal fear of death from which so many rulers are conspicuously free. The German Emperor, for example, goes about continually without any very effective escort and has consequently looked the would-be assassin in the face over and over again. Whatever may be his faults, the Kaiser has no lack of personal courage.

But even his iron nerve may break down on occasion. When he came to England on the death of Queen Victoria a photographer managed to get close to his carriage window, and the loud click of the camera sounded so like the cocking of a revolver that the Kaiser for a moment changed color.

One who saw the attempt made in Paris on the life of the late Shah of Persia says: "The would-be assassin jumped upon the step of the Shah's carriage and levelled a revolver straight at the head of his victim, pulling the trigger twice, but ineffectually. The Shah himself, looking directly into the barrel of the weapon, was the only spectator of the incident who was wholly unaffected. As motionless as a graven image, the only expression upon his face was one of a slightly contemptuous amusement, and when his assailant was removed he dismissed the congratulations of the officials with an airy wave of the hand, as though the matter were too insignificant for notice."

Answering the more formal felicitations that followed later on, the Shah remarked that if his death were not ordained by fate he could not walk unscathed among the united assassins of Europe, while if it were so ordained all the soldiers in France could not save him.

Bunyan's Memorial in Abbey.

Subscriptions are being raised to placed a stained glass window in Westminster Abbey in memory of John Bunyan. The dean has placed at the disposal of the executive committee one of the largest windows in the north transept of the abbey, and designs for the window have been approved. The cost is placed at $7,000, of which only half has been raised.

John Bunyan is read by millions of people all over the world. One might almost confine the statement to Canada. There are hundreds of thousands at all events here who have derived from Bunyan's great Dream their finest lessons in literature, and all that it implies. Many of the leading writers now rank Bunyan as the greatest writer of English prose, his strong, earnest simplicity, and dramatic imagination standing practically unrivalled.

An Australian Fairy.

It is on account of her bewitching dancing that Saharet, whose wonderful performance at the London Coliseum has created such a stir, has been so termed. Saharet is of Australian birth and English parentage, and is generally conceded to be the finest acrobatic and Spanish dancer on the stage. Curiously enough, no one taught her how to dance, and all she knows of the art is the result of her own efforts. She trained herself by creating wonderful spirited movements, with the aid of a barrel-organ with an accompaniment, and when that was wanting she sang to herself a suitable tune. She has traveled all over the world, and considers that the greatest compliment ever paid to her was that of a Frenchman, who said she was exactly like the Empress Josephine in the latter's younger days. "Ah, but if I had been Josephine," said Saharet, laughingly, "Napoleon would never have left me for Marie Louise, and then—who knows?—he might not have had to go to St. Helena after all."

Pretty Bad Writing.

Rufus Choate is said to have been as bad a writer as Horace Greeley. A new house of Mr. Choate's being under construction, he had arranged to obtain designs for an ornamental chimney piece from a certain quarter. There was a long delay, but at last there came a letter from Choate which was really an intimation that he had been unable so far to obtain those designs. But the workmen at once began to construct the chimney piece, Choate's letter had been understood as a sketch of it.

Parallel with this is the legend that one of Napoleon's letters home from Poland was interpreted as a sketch

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by all dealers.

IF SICK--WHY PAY

Unless Health First Returns.

Here is what should and can be done!

Now you would not willingly pay for a thing you were not entirely satisfied with. Then why pay for sickness unless you get health? Especially knowing what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do for the sick. You may send him no money. Simply write to the sick man, Racine, Wis., Box 11, Restorative with a statement of how you feel. He will send you a sample bottle free. No money required.

Then, if you find it helps you, you will gladly pay him $1.00 for a full sized bottle. But you decide entirely from the sample. Let him prove to you by a free test what his Restorative will do for you. Or if you prefer, write first for his book, "Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Book of Advice." Both are free. Both explain fully Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Both tell you how it can help you. Both tell you how I can prove it.

Why not write me today for the sample bottle or the book, or both, as you prefer? Let me tell you how I can prove to you in your own home that my Restorative will make you well. Why not let me tell you how I can prove to you that my Restorative will make you well. Why not let me tell you how I can prove to you that my Restorative will make you well. Why not let me tell you how I can prove to you

Coasters' Narrow Escape.

Two young children, while coasting on Benson street, very nearly collided with a G.T.R. train on Tuesday evening. The boy who did the steering ran the sled against a post on the roadside, and thus saved his own life as well as the little girl who was with him. Something should be done to stop this dangerous pastime, especially on streets crossed by railways.

Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. Hazlett and Miss Dickson have returned from Clifton Springs. Mrs. Walsh came through to Peterborough, Mrs. Hazlett and Miss Dickson remaining over in Toronto for a few days.

Little Local Lines

Last night was one of the coldest of the season.

A milk can which was stolen last week during the course of an entertainment at the Rebecca Lodge, occupies valuable space at the police station but no charge will be made to the owner, if it is taken away at once.

The fire brigade had a run yesterday afternoon to the residence of W. Lanard, at the corner of High St. and Monaghan road, where a chimney was on fire. No damage was done.

HOT DEFEAT.

Peterborough Boys on Rochester Hockey Team Meet Defeat.

Three Peterborough boys are with the touring Rochester team—"Babe" Lynch, "Bob" Duncan, and "Jud" Gorman. They opened their trip in Picton last night, losing to the Junior O.H.A. team by 10 goals to 6. A despatch from Picton says:

An exhibition game of hockey was played here tonight between Picton juniors O.H.A. team and an American team called the Ehrenstein Hustlers of Rochester, N.Y. This was their first game in Canada. The play was very slow. The New York team put up a very inferior brand of hockey, the home team in the first half simply putting in the time. The Ehrensteins are making a tour of Picton, Trenton, Belleville and Port Hope. The next game is in Trenton tomorrow night. The score at half-time was 7 to 2 in favor of Picton, and the final score 10 to 6. The line-up:

FORMED A LEAGUE.

Officers of the Garrison Have Formed a League.

On February 19th a meeting of the officers of the Peterborough Garrison was held in the mess rooms of the armories, and an officers' bowling league was formed; all games to be played on Saturday nights, starting at nine o'clock, teams to consist of three men. The following schedule was adopted:

Feb. 26.—(A) No. 1, Staff 57th vs. No. 1 Dragoons.
(B) No. 1 Right Half 57th vs. Artillery.
March 5—(C) No. 2, Right half 57th vs. No. 2, Dragoons; (D) No. 2 Staff 57th vs. Left Half 57th.
March 12—(E) Winners of (A) vs. winners of (C).
(F) Winners of (B) vs. winners of (D).

The following were elected captains of teams:
No. 1, Dragoons—Major Hall.
No. 2, Dragoons—Capt. Clarry.
Artillery—Capt. Ackermans.
No. 1 Staff 57th—Major Bennett.
No. 2 Staff—Major Clegg.
No. 1 Right Half 57th—Lieut. Rackham.
No. 2 Right Half 57th— Lieut. Comstock.

AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

Service Was Well Attended—Interesting Address.

The service at St. John's church last night was well attended. Rev. R. Seymour of Toronto, was the special preacher, and delivered a very acceptable discourse on "Walking with Christ." He compared Noah's Ark with the church of today inasmuch as the latter is the spiritual home of all true Christians, and not just a casual calling place. Too many people, like the raven of the ark leave their Christian home (the church), and never return. The man or woman however, who walks with Christ, will be like the dove which returned to the ark after its flight across the water in search of a resting place returning regularly to the church as their refuge from the dangers that beset them in their relations to the world.

THE LATE MRS. CARR.

Death of a Former Peterborough Lady in New York.

The body of the late Mrs. Thomas Carr, who passed away in Brooklyn, N.Y., at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. H. Smith, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, and was removed to the residence of Mr. Andrew Davidson, Boundary road. The funeral will take place at 2.30 this afternoon to the Little Lake cemetery.

The deceased lady leaves five sisters and one brother, all of whom reside in Peterborough. The sisters are Mrs. Henry Owens, Mrs. John Maddess, Mrs. Ben. White, Mrs. Wm. Argue and Mrs. Wm. Hill, and the brother, Mr. J. S. Kingdon. She is survived by the following family:—Mrs. Lewis, Los Angeles; William, Rochester; Mrs. John King, Toronto; Mrs. A. H. Smith, Brooklyn; and Harry, Los Angeles.

A CAPTAIN OF INDOLENCE.

He Managed to Dodge Both Work and Matrimony.

By M. S. FRANK.

(Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.)

Gabe was lying upon his back, his hands clasped under his head, gazing unblinkingly at the sky. He was twenty-five years old and barefooted.

Overhead a buzzard floated upon motionless wings, and Gabe's eyes followed it as far as they could without causing his head to move.

If he had any thought that was strong enough to be called an ambition it was to be a buzzard, for a buzzard was not forced to flap its wings to fly.

Times had been going somewhat hard with him of late. For one thing he had had to think, and the prospect was that before long he might have to do.

Conner's daughter was now of age, and the understanding between the dissolute had been that some time after Mary Bet was old enough these two should marry in order to save the seven acres on one side of the stage being separated from the nine acres which joined and crept over and down the other side.

Conner was arbitrary, and Gabe's father, under the influence of Conner, would be just as despotic.

That Mary Bet was pretty—there was no denying that—and more than once Gabe's heart had thumped tremendously in her presence. In that state he had even looked about her cabin critically, it may be hopefully.

But Mary Bet did not like work herself. He had found the ax lying beside three or four uncut branches her father had dragged in and the seven or eight chickens pecking about without a sign of coop or shelter.

By that time his heart was again beating tranquilly, and he had viewed the scene with dispassionate forethought. Married to Mary Bet he would have to cut wood and perhaps make chicken coops and it might be would even have to plant a corn and potato patch.

The thought, made permanent by the persistent hints of Conner and his father, had harassed him for days past, and this morning, feeling the need for absolute, unthinking rest, he had come out to this sunny spot where he could lie in his favorite attitude, with his hands clasped under his head.

But alas for plans! As the buzzard floated slowly beyond view and the unthinking eyes following it began to grow dreamy and heavy there came a sudden rasping interruption. It was Conner admonishing his father.

"I tell ye," the strident voice was saying, "this thing's goin' on too slow. First two know somebody 'll be steppin' in, an' then where'll our two estates be? Divided. There's that Bill Tanner already comin' up to see Bet an' she 'lowin' him.

"Pshaw! He'd be for carryin' her way down to his cabin in the valley, an' likely 's not they'd be for sellin' my seven acres some day. I tell ye, Mose, ye must be stirrin' up Gabe. He's a good boy and won't never be goin' off, an' if he's got a single wicked habit I've never heerd on it.

"I'll see the preacher this very day an' have him come up in two weeks. We'll have 'em ready by that time. I'll have to get Bet some new shoes, an' ye must see about Gabe's gettin' his hair cut. It's pretty toler'ble long an' untidy for a weddin'. An' we'd better be askin' all the folks to come."

Gabe had forced himself as deep as possible into the leaves, and he lay with bated breath until the voices and footsteps had died away toward Conner's cabin.

Then he groaned and removed his hands slowly and despairingly from beneath his head. He must think and think quickly and hard or he would be lost.

Bill Tanner was peeling bark in the valley. He was a worker—not in the ordinary acceptance of the word perhaps, but from the slope point of view. Gabe went to him there.

"Hello, Bill," he began affably. "Gettin' quite a heap, ain't ye?"

Bill nodded gruffly. He had no objection to Gabe personally—only that he was welcome at the Conner cabin, and that was enough.

"Hello," he responded. "But I 'low ye'd better come some other day. I'm too busy to talk now."

"That's all right," graciously. "I don't mind seein' folks work. Comin' up tonight?"

"Where?"

"Conner's, of course," with a grin. "But there'd no need to get mad, Bill," at the look on the other's face. "I ain't here to pingree ye. I come down to sell my tater patch. What'll ye give?"

It was Bill's turn to grin.

"I've heerd 'bout that tater patch," he said. "It's two acres, an' old Conner mowed it with his mule an' rake and planted it all by himself, an' ye was to do the hoein' an' diggin'. I don't b'lieve ye've struck a lick in it yet."

"I don't b'lieve I have," acknowledged Gabe frankly. "But what'll ye give?"

"Why, I thought they was your wedd'n' taters," said Bill wonderingly. "I heard Conner say there'd be forty bushels an' that ye could sell twenty an' have twenty for a winter put by."

"Yes, I heard him say that myself," smiled Gabe. "But, see here, Bill, I ain't a-hinderin' of nobody. Not likes ye better's she does me, an' ye like her, an' the worst thing her dad's got ag'in ye is that ye'd take her away. He don't want her to leave. Now, there's ten acres that joins him on the other side, an' it can be had for $30. I heard the owner say so. Can ye raise $30?" anxiously.

"I might part of it and the rest when this bark's done."

"Well," in a relieved tone, "ye git it quick's ye can. The owner 'd talk half down and wait for the rest. He told me so. He tried to sell it to me, but I didn't want no land to work.

"But ye must hurry. The preach'er's comin' up in two weeks, an' ye want to be ready. Old Conner 'll be all right long's ye own ten acres j'inin' an' two acres of taters."

"An' ye'll give up Bet?" incredulously.

"Long's she likes ye best, of course. I ain't comin' in between nobody that way, Bill."

Bill looked at him earnestly; then his face cleared, and he extended his hand.

"Ye're the best fellow that ever was," he cried heartily, "an' I'm sorry for anything I've said or done. I'll be your friend after this. Now, what'll ye take for the taters?"

"Oh, that's all right," easily. "When ye're married and settled up there I'll let ye do the chores when I have any, so 'twon't cost ye nothin' but work."

Gabe went directly to Conner, drawing a long face.

"That Bill Tanner's too smart for me," he grumbled. "I went down there thinkin' I could make a trade, but he's got my taters an' I ain't got a thing to show."

He waited long enough for his words to have their full effect, then added:

"I b'lieve I'll go out to Mexico or Maine or somewhere that way. The only thing is it'll be right hard for Bet to go so far, but mebbe she can stand it."

"Bet go to Mexico or Maine!" almost shrieked Conner. "Why, you—you plumb idiot, Bill Tanner's worth a dozen of ye. Bet'll stay right here. Now ye go gittin' off."

"But I thought"—

"Thought nothin'!" angrily. "Git along with ye."

Gabe went with downcast head until he got beyond the cabin. Then he began to chuckle.

His chuckles grew louder and louder as he widened the distance between him and the cabin, and by the time he had gone half a mile they had developed into roars of laughter.

In his present mood, however, laughter seemed all too ineffective as an expression of his feelings, and he stood on his head, turned a handspring or two and then walked on his hands for at least a dozen feet along the rough road.

Not in years had Gabe displayed one-tenth of the energy he now expended.

He was very tired, however, when his paroxysm of joy was over, and he promptly sought a secluded nook in the woods and took a long nap.

When he awoke an hour later the first audible sound he made was a chuckle, and he continued in this merry mood until the outlines of the parental cabin were sighted.

Much of the next two weeks he spent upon his back, with his face to the sky.

But when the wedding day came he was among the guests, smiling and happy, with his hair cut in honor of the momentous occasion.

"Oh, Gabe," she whispered happily, "I shan't ever forgit what ye've done for Bill an' me. It was fine the way ye got round dad, an' so smart. I—I never s'posed ye had it in ye. Bill told me all about it, an' we won't ever forgit. Ye must come just as often as ye can an' eat with us."

5000 Facts About Canada.

The public will warmly welcome the new 1910 edition of that indispensable booklet "5,000 Facts About Canada," compiled by Frank Yeigh, whose writings and lectures on Canada are widely known. The popularity of the publication is shown by its sale of nearly 50,000 copies, not only in Canada, but through the empire, and indeed the world. The 1910 edition contains a large percentage of new matter, under such heads as—agriculture, mining, banking, trade, railways, wheat growing, education, religious, etc., while a new feature is a budget of Empire Facts. The book is a revelation of the riches and resources of the Dominion. It is published at 25 cents a copy by The Canadian Facts Publishing Co., 667 Spadina ave., Toronto, Canada, or may be had from newsdealers.

Merit Boosted and Records Smashed

For over a quarter of a century The World Almanac has been smashing records in maintaining the information of the land in a most admirable manner. Its accuracy has been vouched for by thousands—yes, millions, and it has won for itself the well deserved position among reference books which has outdistanced every competitor. Edition after edition has gone to press—the high water mark of circulation has been reached—so take warning and get a copy to-day before announcement is made "out of print." 1910 edition on all newsstands, 25c.; by mail, 35c.; west of Buffalo and Pittsburg, 30c.

SIXTY DAYS OF INSOMNIA END.

Girl Student's Black Coffee Diet for Examination Nearly Fatal.

Special to "The Record"

Des Moines, Ia., May 17.—Sleep came for the first time in two months to miss Esther Chinberg, of Oskbolt, Ia., a student at Simpson College, Thursday night. Starting 60 days ago to cram for her final examinations, Miss Chinberg began drinking black coffee and taking other steps to keep herself awake until she found she had contracted a case of insomnia that outstrips anything in the history of medical science in the Middle West.

It was not until physicians had worked over the girl for weeks that she yielded to treatment, and Thursday night slept for a short time. The following night she slept somewhat better and Saturday had a good night's rest.

Another week of the terrible strain would have cost the co-ed her mind, the doctors say.—Philadelphia Record.

DURING SLEEP

Nature Repairs the Human Engine.

The activities of the day cause more or less waste of tissues in the human engine, which is repaired at night during sleep.

The man or woman who can sleep well at night is sure of the necessary repairs, other things being right, to make each day a time of usefulness and living a real joy.

But let insomnia get hold of you and the struggle begins of trying to work with a machine out of repair. A Neb. woman's experience with coffee as a producer of insomnia is interesting. She says:

"I used to be a coffee drinker and was so nervous I could not sleep at night before about twelve o'clock, unless I would take some medicine. I was under the doctor's care for about five years and my weight got down to 82 lbs.

"The doctor said I would have to quit drinking coffee. Then my father got me to try Postum which he said had done wonders for him. I am past 43 and before I quit drinking coffee my heart would jump and flutter at times, miss a beat, then beat so fast I could hardly breathe in enough air and I would get smothered.

"My tongue would get so stiff I could not talk and I could not hold a glass to drink from. Since I have been drinking Postum, in place of coffee, I can sleep sound any time I lie down, and I feel I owe everything to Postum. I now weigh 120 lbs. and am well."

Read "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.

Outside Evidence

This news item, clipped from the Philadelphia Record, points out the powerful effect that coffee exercises upon the nerves and brain—a fact we have often cited.

Small doses of coffee "get on" the nerves in a small way, and in most cases it takes some time before the nervous system and stomach are seriously affected.

Miss Chinberg's experience is exceptional only in the amount consumed and correspondingly quick results. The caffeine in coffee gets in its work with every cup one drinks, and nature, in so far as possible, may or may not correct the harm done. You can tell by the condition of head and heart, nerves and stomach. If they are not right, try a comfortable change to

POSTUM

It is just as satisfying and pleasing as coffee when prepared right. (directions on every package,) and instead of tearing down the health, Postum will build it up. Thousands have voluntarily so testified, and you can prove it by trial.

ALEXANDER H. BRATH, Vice-President.
JAMES K. MACLENNAN, Secretary-Treasurer.
JOHN ANNIS, of Markstay, Ont.
JAMES TOWNSEND, of Mabel, Que., and
JOHN H. CLARY, of Sudbury, Ont.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent dated April 16th, A. D., 1909, and is empowered to carry on in all its branches the operations of a mining., milling, reduction and development Company.

The Company was organized more particularly to acquire and develop certain of the mining claims on Emerald Lake commonly called the Townsend-Annis gold properties.

Mr. Townsend had an undivided eleven-sixteenths interest in Mining Location W.D. 154, and Mr. Annis had three water claims adjoining and extending westward from W.D. 154. The Company has a working option on the remaining five-sixteenths of W. D. 154 from Mr. William Crawford, of Haileybury, formerly of Sudbury. The Company purchased outright the interest of Mr. Townsend and Mr. Annis.

These claims are distant about 32 miles almost due north from Warren, Ontario, and lie on the east side of Emerald Lake. In winter they are reached from Markstay by an existing road some 40 miles long, needing some small repairs in places—in summer from Temagami station on the T. and N. O. Railway, by steamer to Obabika Bay on the north-west arm of Lake Temagami, and thence a distance of ten miles, in all, by water, four short portages excepted, to Emerald Lake and W.D. 154 is reached.

On W.D. 154 the ore outcrops in the form of a deposit, in width from 300 to 500 feet, and has been traced on the strike for about 1,000 feet. The dip is nearly vertical. The contact wall on the south side is jasper and magnetite and on the north side is black slate. The gangue rock is calcite, schist and quartz, heavily mineralized with gold-bearing iron-pyrites. Considerable stripping and test pitting have been done at various points, and at each point good values in gold have been found. All blastings have disclosed free gold and pannings show many colors. The directors believe this property to be

The Largest Outcropping of High-grade Ore Known in the World To-day.

Four assays from Messrs. Handley and Parker, of Sudbury, showed respectively $2,419.61, $1,020.00, $787.00, and $162.78 per ton. Ledoux and Company of 99 John Street, New York, 606.45 (from an iron-pyrites sample). Kropp's, Germany, gave 968.00 per ton from an iron pyrites sample.

The Directors have decided to place 50,000 shares on the market at the special price of 50c per share, in blocks of not less than 50 shares each. Allotments will be made as applications, accompanied by the necessary cash, have been received for 20,000 shares. Should this number not be subscribed for by February 15th next, money will be refunded promptly. The above low price is to provide the necessary funds for the installation of the proper milling and reduction plant and for the carrying out of the necessary mining operations. See prospectus.

All have not the knowledge or the necessary capital to send out prospecting parties, but many small capitalists can afford to put up $25.00 or more to get a share in this local enterprise where they know that first, last and all the time they will get a square deal. Come and see samples. Have them assayed yourself. Investigate for yourself.

Porcupine may have plenty of gold but you don't need to go further than Emerald Lake for gold. Many mining men of Sudbury know W.D. 154. Cut out this advertisement. Watch for following ads. Get a prospectus and all information from any of the Directors, or from Editor of the Times.

ROBINSON—WILSON.

One of the prettiest of church weddings was solemnized on Wednesday afternoon at the Cambidge street Methodist church, Lindsay, at two o'clock, when Miss Mary Evelyn Wilson, daughter of Rev. J. P. Wilson, B.A., the beloved pastor of the above church, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. J. G. Robinson of Toronto, son of the late J. G. Robinson.

As the bridal party, says the Warder, entered the church, Lohengrin's wedding march was rendered in excellent manner on the pipe organ by Mr. Cecil Carl Forsythe, organist of the church. The young bride, who was led to the marriage altar by her father, was becomingly attired in a handsome gown of cream liberty satin, with panel of rose point lace wearing the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and carrying a magnificent shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white bridal roses. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Janet Wilson, who was exquisitely arrayed in pale yellow silk crepe de chene, trimmed with baby Irish lace with a beautiful hat to match, and carrying a pretty bouquet of yellow daffodils.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. R. E. Stone of Sault Ste. Marie, and the pleasing, simple and impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. W. R. P. Wilson, LL.D., of Belleville, uncle of the bride, assisted by Rev. J. P. Wilson, father of the charming young bride.

The pretty ceremony was performed in front of a magnificent bank of various kinds of plants and flowers, the choir loft, pulpit and altar, being profusely decorated with the choicest of greenhouse palms, ferns, daffodils, white lillies and plants in bloom. The white ribbons down the spacious aisles of the edifice, added to the effect. The church was decorated for the occasion by the official board of the church.

Miss Edith Flavelle rendered in superb manner the beautiful solo, "O Love Divine." She was gowned in a smart and pretty dress of pale blue satin with silver trimmings and a pale blue picture hat to match.

Besides the one hundred and fifty or more guests present at the nuptial event, including the official board of the church, a very large number of Lindsay ladies were present to witness the pleasing ceremony the galleries of the church being crowded.

Mr. W. E. Rennie of Lindsay, and Dr. Malcolm Wilson of Belleville, cousin of the bride, ushered the guests to their seats.

The bridal couple passed out of the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Mr. Cecil Carl Forsythe.

After the ceremony the bridal couple and the guests returned to the parsonage, where they were tendered many hearty congratulations, after which the guests were served a dainty collation, the house being very prettily decorated with yellow daffodils.

The luncheon over, the bride donned her traveling suit of dark green broadcloth, with hat to match, and also a beautiful set of mink furs, the gift of the bride's father. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson left on the C.P.R. train for New York and Florida, expecting to be absent four or five weeks, after which they will take up residence at 60 Wilson avenue, Parkdale, a spacious and handsome residence fitted up by the groom.

The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful pearl necklace; to the bridesmaid a pretty amethyst ring; to Miss E. Flavelle, a valuable gold bar pin set with a single amethyst; to the groomsman, a set of gold studs set with pearls.

The presents, which were numerous as well as costly, were neatly arranged on two long tables. They attested the high esteem in which the bride and groom are held.

Among the guests present were noticed:

From Belleville—Mr. and Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn, Judge Deroche, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pringle, Mr. Herbert Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holton, Rev. and Mrs. W. D. P. Wilson, Mr. Harold Wilson, Mr. Edward O'Flynn, Mr. William Johnston, Miss Hattie Pringle.

From Napanee—Mr and Mrs. F. S. Wilson, a brother of Rev. J. P. Wilson, Miss Mary Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Gibbard, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Fralick, and Mrs. J. S. Smith.

From Kingston—Mr. and Mrs. A. Rowsy.

From Toronto—Miss Wilma Rowse and Miss Catharine Rowse, Mr. Austin Lewis, Mr. J. H. Roberts.

Splendid Address by His Honor Judge Huycke Before Canadian Club

Delivered an Interesting and Instructive Address at Canadian Club's Banquet in National Hotel Last Night

The dinner given by the Canadian Club last night was a decided success. It was the second event of this kind this year held under the auspices of the club. The spacious dining room was filled to hear the splendid address given by his Honor Judge Huycke. The menu provided by Mine Host Denison, was all that could be desired, and was thoroughly enjoyed.

The chair was occupied by Mr. H. R. H. Keaser, the president of the club, who after the patriotic toasts had been disposed of, introduced the speaker of the evening.

It will be remembered that Mr. G. T. Blackstock, K.C., of Toronto, was to have been the speaker for the occasion, but family bereavement prevented his being present. Fortunately, his Honor Judge Huycke was persuaded to take his place, and it would be putting it mildly indeed to say that the remarks were listened to with attention and with the greatest interest. Judge Huycke has the faculty of appealing to the emotions of his audience in a most convincing and augumentative manner.

Judge Huycke on rising was received with applause. He began by explaining the circumstances under which he appeared before the club, and craved the indulgence of those present. His subject was "Ideas, Ideals, Jurisprudence."

A vote of thanks was moved by Dr. Cameron, and seconded by Principal Walker of the Normal School, and was presented by the president to the speaker, who thanked them for their kindness, and stated that he was delighted to have the honor to address the club. The evening broke up with singing the National Anthem.

Mounted Police Now Control Strike Situation in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Feb. 24.—Four troops of the State police, under control of Capt. Bloom, came from their stations in Pennsylvania, and were assigned for strike duty in the northeast part of Philadelphia this morning. One hundred and seventy men, mounted and armed with reivovers and riot sticks, were in the force.

Should the combined strength of the mounted State troops and the fifty-five hundred policemen prove insufficient to cope with the situation, Mayor Reyburn is authority for the statement that the State National Guard will be brought to this city and the operation of the normal number of cars insured.

The strike leaders are again threatening reprisals in the form of a general strike.

Several thousand men and boys assembled at Forty-fifth and Parkside avenue, in West Philadelphia, about 7 o'clock this morning, and renewed the attack on cars, hurling stones and bricks at the windows, and yelling and hooting at the police and crews. Harry Connelly was arrested and taken to the city hall. The excitement and noise when the cars were stoned, attracted a great crowd of people, and it was necessary to call a detail of police to disperse them. The disorders took place when the streets were full of men and boys going to work, and the cars were delayed for intervals of 15 minutes while the crews under the protection of the police, cleared away the obstructions, and allowed the cars to proceed.

Germany Looks for Good Treatment from Canadian Covernment

London, Feb. 24.—A Berlin despatch says that the minister of the interior, Dalbruck, in the Diet, says the France-Canadian convention is important to Germany inasmuch as France's advantages are applied to Austria, Switzerland, Japan and Germany. He hoped also to arrange for a most favored nation agreement but by the recent agreement Germany had so far only succeeded in securing the removal of the surtaxes hitherto levied on German wares. This, however, was more peaceful, and promises for a commercial convention had been established. German goods were still differentiated against as compared with British and French. This preferences only amounted for a majority of articles to 2½ per cent. at most.

At the Maple Leaf party at the Imperial Institute 1,000 guests were interested by the pictures of Canada shown, and descriptions of travel given, by a number of ladies.

The Board of Agriculture's order respecting the ports to Argentine cattle is momentarily expected, the argentine having given assurance that there is nor fear of disease spreading from Brazil and Paraguay.

Lindsay People were Bitten by Dogs

Lindsay, Feb. 24.—Whether the rabies have spread to this section of the country is not known. However, the mad dog scare has to a certain extent. Retta Edwards, a young girl living at Mamilla, was attacked and bitten by a dog a few days ago, and Master Garnet Williams of Lindsay, was attacked by a large black dog, and bitten, the ivories drawing blood. Both victims were hustled to a doctor, and their wounds attended to. The dogs were despatched.

Steamer on Goodwin Sands.

Dover, Feb. 24.—Five tugs and three lifeboats are making heroic efforts to reach an undentified steamship that is breaking to pieces on the Goodwin Sands, "the Straits of Dover Graveyard."

The crew of the steamer is in peril as the rough sea makes it improbable that the rescue boats will be able to reach the steamer.

TAUGHT SIR CHARLES.

Centenarian Also Remembers the Victory of the Shannon.

London, Ont., Feb. 24. — Mrs. Sarah McCully, who lives with her grandson, Ralph McCully, 153 Lorne avenue, was 100 years old yesterday, and is in splendid health, although her eyesight has failed to some extent.

Mrs. McCully was born in Halifax, N.S. She can remember when she went with her father and saw the Chesapeake towed into Halifax harbor by the Shannon, the decks of the captured vessel being covered with dead and dying men. She saw the American admiral buried opposite her home, with the British officers, and the American prisoners in chains following the gun carriage.

OVERCOME BY GAS.

Gananoque, Feb. 23.—There were very narrow escapes from death by asphyxiation here today, at the Parand Fields fell unconscious. The only other occupant of the japanning room at the time was Miss Annie Rounds. She rushed outside, gasped, "Mr. Fields," to the workmen, and lapsed into unconsciousness. The man was rescued. By noon both were restored, but they had narrow escapes.

SERIOUS KITCHEN ACCIDENT.

What Zam-Buk Saved a Lady.

Mrs. Fredk. Bryant, of 169 Railway Ave., Stratford, spent dollars trying to get well, but failed until she tried Zam-Buk. It was this way "I was in my kitchen preparing supper," she says, "when I upset some boiling water. It fell upon my foot, scalding it badly. Next day the skin came off the foot, and it was so painful I could not walk. I treated it, but instead of getting better it got worse, and finally I had to take to my bed. I was laid up for nine weeks, and in that time I tried all manner of so-called remedies. I had embrocations, dozens of salves, I think, and lotions, but the scald developed into a running sore. I was about eaten by it, when a friend advised me to try Zam-Buk, and I did so. A few applications had the effect of soothing the pain and giving me what I had not had for weeks—a little ease. I persevered with Zam-Buk drew away the poison and reduced the inflammation. In a very short time healing commenced, and rapidly continued until the sore was completely healed. I would hardly have believed that any preparation could have done for me what Zam-Buk did, and I shall never be without a supply in the house." When you have a scald, a burn, a skin sore an ulcer, or any skin trouble or injury, try Zam-Buk. Made from the purest of herbal essences, it may be regarded as nature's own healer. Eczema, cold sores, cracked and chapped hands, children's rashes, chilblains, all yield to its soothing, healing influence. It also eases the agony of piles. All druggists and stores, 50 cents box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Foolish Story About Possibility of Dropping the Naval Bill

Ottawa, Feb. 23.—The latest rumor sent out from Ottawa, to the effect that the Naval Bill will be dropped, owing to the illness of Sir Wilfried Laurier and Hon. L. P. Brodeur, is causing amusement in Ottawa.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur has been ill since before the bill was introduced, and has decided to leave on Monday next for Palm Beach, Florida, where he hopes to regain his health and strength. In view of the fact that the bill has been steadily pressed during his illness, from which it has long been known his recovery would be slow, it is hard to see why his continued illness should have anything to do with the fate of the bill. Were Sir Wilfrid Laurier in a serious state of health it might be different, but there is no foundation for the rumor that his condition is such as to cause anxiety. He is now practically recovered from a cold, accompanied by a touch of biliousness, which caused him some distress for a few days. In addition to attending to his correspondence yesterday, he was able to entertain friends at his home till midnight. As the House is doing nothing these days but listening to the weary reiteration of arguments in the naval debate, Sir Wilfrid is taking advantage of the fortunate opportunity to remain indoors and fit himself for the further serious work of the session.

It is a curious thing in connection with these rumors that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's absence from the House is always noted with alarm by the Opposition press, while nothing is said about the absence of the Opposition leader, who, like Sir Wilfrid, does not deem it necessary that he should always be in attendance when the House is on routine work.

Mr. Borden, for instance, did not attend yesterday's sitting, and in the absence of Mr. Foster as well, the Opposition was led by Dr. Sproule. As to the naval debate, there are still some thirty speeches to be delivered, after which the vote will be taken.

China's New Move Causing Much Alarm

London, Feb. 24.—The "yellow peril," feared by many English statesmen as the result of the determination of China to make her control of Thibet absolute, instead of nominal, will be made the subject of an early debate in the House of Commons.

Despite Lord Minto's refusal to interfere in Thibet, in an effort to check the operations of the thousands of troops that now hold the Thibetan capital, several members of Parliament declared today that they would insist upon the government demanding from China a full explanation of her intentions in Thibet.

20,000 CHINESE IN THIBET.

There is the strongest suspicion that China's move is the inauguration of her advance to the west. As Thibet lies immediately north of British India, the awakening of the "forbidden country" is deplored by England. English authorities believe that they already have enough enemies along the northern Indian frontier without adding Thibet to the number.

ALAS! THE POOR LAMA.

Calcutta, Feb. 24.—The Dalai Lama, or Thibetan "Pope" narrowly escaped capture by the Chinese soldiers, who pursued him after he fled from the Chinese invasion of Lhasa, according to reports received here to day.

The Dalai Lama fears that the Chinese will kill him, and it is said that he will come to this city and lay his grievances personally before Lord Minto, the Indian Viceroy, who yesterday refused a request of several Thibetan notables to interfere in Lhassa.

Calcutta, British India, Feb. 23.—Chinese troops today entered Lhasa, the capital of Tibet and the residence of Dalai Lama, the supreme head of the Lamaist hierarchy, who upon the approach of the soldiers fled with several of his ministers into India. Serious trouble has been anticipated, owing to the action of the small Chinese army which, marching from Sze-Chuen, China, subdued Eastern Tibet, levying contributions on the Lamas people and showing no respect for the monasteries. The Tibetans, resenting the desecration of their holy places, petitioned the Chinese Foreign Board praying that the Emperor of China interfere in the interests of the Buddhists. The petition was disregarded, as the Chinese propose to make the administration of the country purely Chinese. Dalai Lama appealed to Lord Minto, the Viceroy of India, but the later refused to intervene. When the Chinese troops were reported as moving from the Province of Khan ostensibly to strengthen the garrison at Lhasa, the Lama hastily quitted the capital and proceeded toward Barjiling.

Letters were Not All Brought Down

Edmonton, Alb., Feb. 24.—The members of the legislature crowded around the table of the House after adjournment yesterday to examine additional papers brought down by Premier Rutherford respecting the Government agreement with Alberta and Great Waterway Railway. The press made strenuous efforts to see the papers, but the privilege was denied by the sergeant, on authority of the premier.

The placing of the papers on the table by the premier was the first proceeding of the House. Mr. Bennett arose directly after. He said he had not been present on the previous day, when the deputy attorney general was accused of holding papers from the House. Several instances were given of where Sir Wilfrid Laurier had held that no document relating to business with any outsider with the Government was private.

"I am sorely afraid," said Mr. Bennett, "that something has happened to some of the documents. At any rate, all the correspondence is not here.

Mr. Boyle said that in view of the fact that the papers had just come down, and that they had not been seen by the members, he wished to defer the resolutions. The premier and Hon. Mr. Cross strenuously fought any postponement, but the speaker ruled that the request was in order. Friday was set for the day when the momentous debate will open.

MORE PAY FOR COUNCILLORS.

It will be pleasing news to members of township and county councils to learn that the Municipal Committee of the legislature decided to increase the daily pay of county and township councillors from a minimum of three dollars to five dollars.

The bill to place all bridges over fifty feet in length under the county will be submitted to the councils at their June session.

St. Catharines, Feb. 22.—John P. Casey was appointed industrial commissioner of St. Catharines, at a meeting of the City Council last night.

THE WEATHER.

Decidedly cold.

Joe Martin Urges That the Liberals Desert Mr. Asquith

Former Premier of British Columbia Writes to the Times Saying that Premier has Repudiated His Pledge as to the Lords

London, Feb. 24.—Writing to the Times about Asquith's pledges in his Albert Hall speech about compelling the Lords to give legislation, Joseph Martin, the Liberal M.P., and formerly premier of British Columbia, expresses the opibion that Asquith and the government have repudiated the pledge, and that every Liberal member is released from his allegiance to Asquith and his colleagues, and should now act in a way to put the Liberal party right with its supporters in the country. "For this purpose, it seems to be necessary to repudiate our present party leaders."

London, Feb. 24.—The vote that is expected today on the tariff reform amendment to the reply to the speech from the throne is being awaited with much interest. It will not necessarily indicate the strength of the government, nor the length of life it will have, but is bound to have an influence on the already complex situation.

WHAT WILL MAJORITY BE?

The Unionists have 272 members, not counting the speaker, and will likely be joined by ten O'Brienites, making a total of 282, but this figure may be reduced to 276 by the desertion of Unionist Free Traders.

The Liberals number 272, including Radicals, and with the forty Laborites, would muster 315 votes. The Redmonites will probably abstain from voting. However, there are now five vacant Liberal seats, owing to appointments, so that the most support the ministry could command would be 310, as opposed to the Opposition's 276. This would leave the ministry with a majority of thirty-four.

It must be admitted that the chances are that the majority will be even smaller.

London, Feb. 24. — Mr. Austin Chamberlain's amendment to the address, which has been the subject of discussion today, raises, as I forecasted on Monday that it would do, the fiscal question as a whole. It is so drawn on as to present Tariff Reform in all its bearings by way of alluring contrast to the present fiscal system. The Unionist speakers laid considerable emphasis on the point that the reciprocity treaties into which Canada is entering would have been unnecessary if the mother country had not been by her adherence to Free Trade, from entering into full precluded mutual preferential relations with the Dominion. Stress was also laid by them on the fact that Canada's recent fiscal victory over Germany conclusively shows the efficacy of the retaliatory tariff in force in one portion at least of the Empire.

The division on this amendment, which will be taken today, will be exceedingly interesting as it will disclose the extent of the support on which the Tariff Reformers can rely in the new House. The amendment is of so sweeping and "whole hoggish" a nature that no one can vote for it.

THE HOME RULE ISSUE.

Mr. Asquith's announcement that a Home Rule Bill will not be introduced this session though not surprising, will probably tend to increase Nationalist dissatisfaction with the Government. It is quite certain that Mr. O'Brien and Mr. Healy, at all events, denounce it throughout the distressful country, "as another instance of Liberal perfidy." Nobody expected that a Home Rule measure would pass the House of Commons this session.

An attack of the grip is often followed by a persistent cough, which to many proves a great annoyance. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been extensively used and with good success for the relief and cure of this cough. Many cases have been cured after all other remedies have failed. Sold by all dealers.

Wants Navy Question Referred to a Popular Vote

(Special to The Times.)

Quebec, Feb. 24.—In yesterday's issue L'Evenement, Conservative, publishes "A Call to the People," under the shape of a document which it asks the population of Quebec to sign, and which demands of the House of Commons, that the naval question be referred to the popular vote. The document says that:

"The inhabitants of Canada, although protesting highly of their devotion to the Crown and the British institutions, and of their firm desire of defending the integrity of the Canadian territory, consider that parliament has no right to engage Canada in a naval policy that is entirely new without having previously obtained the people's consent."

In concluding, the document asks that the people be called to pronounce themselves on the question before the naval bill is adopted.

"EVEN IN YOUTH NEVER STRONG"

Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"Even when I was young I was not robust and healthy like other girls. I suffered from headaches and had sort of bluf feelings that deprived me of the joyful spirits and pleasures other girls seemed to get. After I married I found I could not throw worries off like other women, and those dull feelings of despondency and weariness made me very unhappy. There was no cause to feel so, and my doctor said my liver was sluggish and this accounted for my poor color, my tiredness, languor and despair. The pills the doctor gave me were too purgative, made me weaker because they were too active for my constitution. Dozens of my friends recommended Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and they were so mild and healthful. Well I never used a pill that acted so quietly as Dr. Hamilton's. They were so comfortable to use I was afraid they might not help. But in a week I knew they had been actively engaged in cleaning up my system. They did the work of a tonic and blood medicine combined. I improved to a marvellous degree with Dr. Hamilton's Pills and I now maintain the most perfect kind of health by using them just once or twice a week."

It is Mrs. E. V. Erlanger, the wife of Capt. Erlanger, well known at Gloucester, who relates the above experience. She proved what you and all others, men and women, can prove—that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are best for restoring health and best for keeping the system in perfect running order. Don't be misled into using anything but Dr. Hamilton's Pills, sold in yellow boxes, 25c. All dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Big Review at the Petawawa Camp Next June

Ottawa, Feb. 24. It is understood that the arrangements for the great review of Canadian troops at Petawawa military camp, when General Sir John French visits Canada, in June, are becoming more definite.

It is expected that there will be a review of as many troops as it is possible to gather together at Petawawa, including all the city and rural corps from Toronto on the west and Quebec on the east, to be reviewed by the famous commander. The question of transportation of the troops is one of the chief problems.

LAME BACK.

Just the Sort of Thing That Proves to the World That the Best Liniment Ever Made is

NERVILINE.

When it comes to determining the real merit of a medicine, no weight of evidence is more convincing than the straightforward statement of some reliable and well-known person that has been cured. For this reason we print the verbatim statement of Juan Ef Powell, written from his home in Carleton. "I am a strong, powerful man, six feet tall, and weigh nearly two hundred. I have been accustomed all my LETTER life to lift great weight, but one day I overdid NO. it, and wrenched my back badly. Every tendon and 4769 muscle was sore. To stoop or bend was agony. I had a whole bottle of Nerviline rubbed on in one day, and by night I was well again. I know of no liniment possessing one-half the penetration and pain subduing properties of Nerviline. I urge its use strongly as an invaluable liniment and household cure for all minor ailments, such as strains, sprains, swellings, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, rheumatism, and muscular pain."

No better medicine for curing pain was ever put into a bottle than Nerviline—over one million bottles used every year—better try it yourself. 25c. of five for $1.00. At all dealers or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

CHANGING DATE OF ELECTIONS.

Stratford Beacon: The Beacon's suggestion that the date for the municipal elections in Ontario be changed to February, permitting the old council to make only such expenditures as are absolutely required after the closing of the books on the 31st December until the new council is installed, is favorably commented upon by the press of the Province. Such journals as the Goderich Signal, Guelph Herald, Barrie Saturday Morning, Hanover Post, Listowel Banner, Lindsay Warder, and the Dominion Presbyterian of Ottawa have endorsed the suggestion, the latter journal adding: "There is sense in the suggestion, and perhaps the law-makers in Toronto may find time to act on the hint given by our contemporary." Among the advantages of the change would be the cutting out of the oftentimes acrimonious discussions that take place at elections in the holiday season, when peace and good will should prevail, and the providing of a month for preparing and placing before the ratepayers of a complete financial statement upon which they could base an intelligent vote.

GEORGIAN BAY CANAL.

The St. John, N.B., Sun discusses the Georgian Bay Canal scheme from a decidedly original standpoint and one which is very much to the point.

The object aimed at in building the canal is to reduce the freight rate on western products and at the same time give increased facilities for carrying those products. Starting out with these premises, the Sun argues that it would be very much better for the Government to build a railway from the Georgian Bay to Montreal or which is the same thing, extend the Intercolonial to Georgian Bay and carry the grain by that route.

The cost of the canal will probably be $200,000,000; the cost of a railway from Montreal to Georgian Bay, 400 miles, would be $25,000,000 This would leave a balance in favor of the railway of $175,000,000. The interest on this sum at 4 per cent. would be $7,000,000. The present freight rate on grain from Georgian Bay to Montreal is about 5 cents a bushel. So that the interest on the saving would pay the freight on 140,000,000 bushels of wheat, or about double the present export. In other words the Government could build the railway and carry the whole crop free and still be better off financially than if it built the canal. Besides the railway could run all year while the canal could be used only for seven months.

The Sun makes out a pretty strong case, says The Kingston Standard. It forgets, however, that there would be the cost of transshipment at Georgian Bay if the grain came by boat to a point on Georgian Bay. It fails also to consider the fact that valuable water power could be developed along the canal. Yet the Sun's scheme is worth consideration by the Government before entering upon the gigantic project of building the Georgian Bay Canal.

THE MEAT QUESTION.

If less meat is eaten, up will go the price of leather, for the skins of dead animals are used to make hides. That opens a wide field for discussion, says The Kingston Standard. If we eat less meat there will be more cows to give milk and the price of milk, butter and cheese will come down; there will be more cows to eat hay and the price of hay will go up. But there is no limit to the possibilities that may happen if we don't eat meat. The only thing we are immediately concerned in, however, is that the price of meat shall go down.

In the mean time the Beef Trust in the United States doesn't seem to be concerning itself about the no-meat program. It has determined to cut down the supply of all the rebellious sections and put up prices. It is going to starve the non-eaters into submission—a pretty hard thing to do it seems to us. Yet that is the program the Beef Trust has laid out for itself. But the Trust has another power than the beef-eaters or non-eaters to fight and that is the Government. When the Government takes a hand in, perhaps the Trust will not be so "high and mighty" in its attitude.

AMERICAN POKER GAME.

In tariff and trade matters Canada treats the United States twice as well as the United States treats Canada. Canadian duties upon American products are far lower than American duties upon Canadian products. As a result, seven millions of Canadians buy twice as much from the Republic as ninety millions of Americans take from us. Last year we spent over $160,000,000 in the United States, and they spent $90,000,000 with us. Every man, woman and child in the Dominion sent $27 across the international boundary line, whereas each citizen of the Republic sent only $1 per head our way.

Surely such a situation should be satisfactory to them. They ought to be content with such an enormous advantage in the international trade balance. But it is clear they are not. They would like, if possible, to drive a still harder bargain—to obtain a still bigger end of the stick. The press despatches from Washington contain what seems to be a semi-official invitation to this country to show cause why the tariff wall against Canadian products should not be raised one-quarter as high again.

In recent years the Canadian press and Canadian public men have given the United States due notice that our concession-hunting trips to Washington belong wholly to the past. We got nothing out of such journeys but rebuffs, and as a consequence, we have learned to look elsewhere for markets. We have found fresh and profitable outlets for our surplus products across the seas, and especially in Great Britain. In keeping with these developments we have poured out and are pouring out tens of millions of dollars in perfecting east and west transportation routes. Unless the signs of the times are untrustworthy, we are about to secure a fifty per cent. preference for our produce in the British Isles. Moreover, it will not be many years before a great proportion of the people of the United States will depend upon our grain fields for bread. Thus Canada's position is one of such strength that we can scarcely be coerced by veiled threats from Washington that after March 31st, the maximum schedules of the Payne tariff will be enforced against us. President Taft once expressed his wish to deal fairly by Canada, and neither the French treaty nor the British preference finally will be regarded as a good and tenable reason for penalizing the Dominion. On or before April 1st Washington will withdraw its bluff and throw its cards on the tables. Meanwhile our policy is to stand pat.

CIGARETTE SET OFF DYNAMITE.

Ten Men and Boy Injured by Explosion From Spark.

Pittsburg, Feb. 22.—Ten men and a boy were injured, three of them fatally, when sparks from a cigarette ignited two five-pound cans of dynamite in an elevator descending into the Briton mine, near Dubois, early today. The passengers on the mine cage were stripped of clothing. Eight of the injured are foreigners.

Toronto Auto Show.

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 24.—One of the largest automobile shows ever held in Canada will be opened in the St. Lawrence Arena to-day under the auspices of the Ontario Motor League. The exhibition comprises the latest models of nearly all of the leading American manufacturers of motor cars. There is also an elaborate display of motor cycles and automobile accessories. The show will continue for one week.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY PERSON WHO IS THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brothers, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, solely owned and occupied by him, or his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

NOT DESIRABLE IMMIGRANTS.

Canada Does Not Want the Rif Raff From England.

The proposition which, from despatches from London, appears to be under consideration by some of the municipal authorities in Great Britain, that they should send numbers of the unemployed to Canada, will not meet with approval on this side of the Atlantic. We are ready to give a hearty welcome to immigrants of the right class, men and women who are qualified to become good citizens here and to adapt themselves to the conditions existing in the Dominion. But it is only necessary to read the reports of the Poor Law officials in London and other towns in Great Britain to realize how unsuited to these conditions is a very large proportion of the unemployed in that country. They are not merely unemployed, but unemployable, as regards a very large percentage of those who are compelled to seek relief in the workhouses and the benevolent institutions in the Old Country. To send them to Canada would neither benefit, nor be anything less than a burden and embarrassment to us. Most of these people belong to the towns and cities in England and Scotland, and from their habits are not likely to be able to adapt themselves to the conditions they would find here. Of course a certain proportion of them might "fall on their feet" in Canada and eventually succeed in this country. But the majority of the people for whom the local authorities in the cities of Great Britain have to provide food and shelter are utterly incapable of making a fresh start here.

It is certainly a very difficult problem that the British authorities have to face in this question of unemployment. It seems now to have become a chronic situation—one very different and much more serious than the occasional periods of trade depression, with the consequent reduction in the amount of available employment, that characterized the economic situation in Great Britain during the early and middle periods of the last century. Various circumstances have contributed to this change. The decrease in the quantity of land under tillage; the foreign competition in many lines of domestic industry, and the attractions of city as compared with rural life, have all had a part in bringing about a situation greatly to be deplored and a source of weakness to the community.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by all dealers.

If Sick

Don't risk even one single penny!

And I will tell you why I say this.

It is because every package of Dr. Shoop's medicine is absolutely free if it fails.

We can stand risk even one single penny.

Just think what this means to the suffering sick!

GOLD AND SILVER MONEY.

How Uncle Sam Converts Bullion into Beautiful Coin.

In a vault in the mint at Philadelphia are piles of bricks made of solid gold. Each brick is only as large as a cake of kitchen soap, but it weighs about forty pounds. In another vault the silver bullion is kept. These bricks are much larger and much heavier. Both of these metals are to be made into money for the United States. When the gold coins are to be made the precious metal is alloyed with copper and other metals to make it hard. Pure gold is so soft that it can be scratched with the finger nail, so is never used even for jewelry. After the gold has been hardened by adding the other metals to it it is made into ingots, which look like long gold wedges. They are about a foot long, as wide as a twenty dollar gold piece and two inches thick.

When the silver comes from the melting room it, too, is poured into strips or bars. The ingots of both metals are treated in the same way in the making of coins. One might think that our gold pieces and silver coins are made in molds, but a visit to the mint would show that to be untrue. The precious metals are rolled out into thin bands until they are of a certain width and thickness. These strips of gold or silver are then run under steel punches, which cut the metal into disks.

Each piece is then weighed by very exact scales, for each coin must contain so much gold or silver. After the weighing these blanks are shoveled into vats of acid, so that all the dirt may be eaten off of them. When dry the blanks are put into long tubes, through which they pass one by one between two dies. The upper die stamps the face of the coin, while the lower stamps the back. The great pressure of the two dies coming together has just force enough to make the impressions on the coins clear and distinct.

GRAY SQUIRREL'S LUCK.

How It Came About That He Secured a Mouthful of Nuts.

Gray Squirrel had a nest up in a maple tree near the kitchen door, from which he could peep down to see when Mrs. Reed, who lived in the house, put out a crisp crust of bread or a couple of nuts for his breakfast. Every morning he would watch, and kind Mrs. Reed never forgot to throw out something nice for him.

That morning, when Gray Squirrel peeped down at the house, there on the porch stood the grocery boy with a small basket of nuts. The boy knocked at the door, but no one replied, so he finally placed the basket on the sill and went away.

Now, Gray Squirrel knew that never before had Mrs. Reed put so many nuts on the porch for him, but who else could she be buying nuts for? And, besides, that was where his nuts were always put. No sooner did the boy leave the yard than down the tree scampered Gray Squirrel in a hurry. He sat right there and ate one nut, holding it between his front paws, as squirrels always do. Then, taking them one at a time in his mouth, he carried them up to his nest till his nest was filled.

There were only a few nuts left in the basket when Mrs. Reed came out to see if it were there, and how surprised she was to see that they were almost all gone! She glanced up at the tree where Gray Squirrel sat chattering his thanks and said: "Gray Squirrel, you've been a little glutton. Those nuts were not all for you."

But Gray Squirrel only chattered faster and looked straight at her with his bright eyes, as much as to say, "I thank you for leaving so many nice nuts for me."

A Coin and Card Trick.

Place on the forefinger of your left hand, held upright, a card; on the card place a fifty cent piece. You can remove this card without disturbing the coin. To do this you must flip the card forcibly with the middle finger of the left hand. The pasteboard will be propelled across the room, and the coin will remain upon the finger.

A Trick With Money.

O O O

and propose to any one to take away the middle one without touching it.

How to do it: Take the right hand place and place it upon the left; consequently the middle one has become the right hand one and is no longer in the middle.

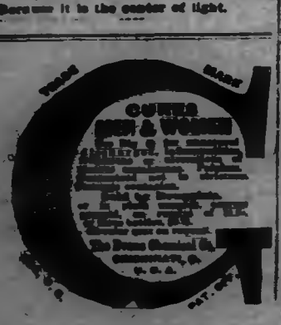
Questions and Answers.

What is born at the same time as the world, destined to live as long as the world and yet never five weeks old? The moon.

Why are clouds like a coachman? Because they hold the rains (reins).

Why should a ham be called Macduff? Because we wish her to lay on.

Why is the letter G like the sun? Because it is the center of light.



DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Marie Montessori, a lecturer in the university at Rome, is said to be the most intellectual woman in Europe.

Miss Helen Taft, the president's daughter, has the credit of being an excellent cook and of being able to make her own clothes.

Miss Anna Dreyfus of Chicago, a teacher of French, has been honored by the decoration of officer d'academie, conferred upon her by the French government.

Mrs. W. Eames Colburn, wife of the head of a Chicago banking firm, has built a modern seven room house for her thirty-five prize cats. The house is fitted up with brass beds, silk draperies and lace curtains.

Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch, president of the Equality League For Self Supporting Women, is not yet an American citizen, because she married an Englishman. She has determined, however, to be naturalized in due form, though she would prefer to have congress make her a citizen by special act, as was done in the case of Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris.

Lady Greville is one of the latest additions to England's long list of American bearers of titles. Only a year ago the new Lord Greville was a younger son, but his brother and father have died since, the brother suddenly. Lady Greville is a daughter of the late John W. Grace of New York and the widow of Hugh S. Kerr of New York, who died in 1907.

Progress and Labor.

A new system of telegraphing half tone photographs is said to be in successful operation between London and Manchester, England.

In the nineteenth century twenty feet a minute was regarded as a good standard rate of cutting for a planing machine. Today forty feet a minute may be considered the standard.

A steam dredge made in Holland for use at Nantes digs and carries off 500 cubic meters an hour. A swivel knife weighing tons and driven by a 300 horsepower machine cuts out clay as hard as iron, to be scooped up by the buckets, which hold two tons each.

In 1860 we stood at the bottom of the list of the four great manufacturing nations—namely, the United Kingdom, France, Germany and the United States. Forty-nine years later we stand at the head of the list, our manufactured product equaling that of the other great nations combined.

Sporting Notes.

The Buffalo Yacht club plans a $15,000 clubhouse.

The University of Pennsylvania is to go in for indoor track racing next fall.

Iloilo, Philippine Islands, has a ten pin league made up of eight five man team clubs.

For 85 Germans may soon be able to take airship excursions from Berlin to Potsdam.

The open American golf championship has never been won by an American born golfer, it is said.

The Yorkshire fishing board of England has distributed 6,100 yearling trout to angling clubs there.

Things Theatrical.

William Dwight Moody has written a new play, called "The Rising Generation."

Edgar L. Davenport and Aubrey Boucicault are to establish a dramatic school in Philadelphia.

Lillian Russell has scored in her new farce, "The First Night," under the direction of Joseph Brooks.

"Peter Pan" has been revived in London with Pauline Chase in the title role. It was enthusiastically received.

Maude Raymond will be with Max Rogers in "The Young Turk," which will be produced in New York shortly.

Facts From France.

Nearly 316,000 marriages took place in France last year.

Regular theatrical performances are given every year in France in huge ruined theaters built by the Romans.

Flour making in France is the most important industry in the country in amount of capital invested and value of annual output.

The French government takes 15 per cent of all the money staked at the casinos of the seaside and other health resorts on the little horses and other gambling devices. For the season of 1908 this percentage amounted to $2,000,000, the summer season naturally contributing the greater part—over $1,000,000.

Train and Track.

There are in Argentina four broad gauge railroads, three narrow gauge and two English gauge.

Electricity has supplanted gas for car lighting in nearly all state railways of Italy, Switzerland and Denmark.

It has been proved that the great railway terminals, where traffic is constant, where switch engines are almost back and forth and suburban trains are run frequently, can be operated more economically by electricity than by steam.

ROBERT HENDERSON TO APPEAR THIS MORNING.

The man who fatally assaulted Miss Margaret McPherson, will come up before County Police Magistrate Edmison this morning. As the inquest into the death of the old lady will not be resumed until Monday, it is likely that Henderson will be remanded pending the finding of the jury. From the circumstances in connection with the old lady's injury and her death, however, it seems probable that a charge of murder will be laid against the accused.

Literary Evening.

The Ladies' Literary of St. Peter's T.A.S., will hold their usual fortnightly meeting this evening, Feb. 25th. A paper will be read by Mrs. F. McGrath, and a musical program will also be given.

W.C.T.U. Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held this afternoon at three o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. This meeting will be one of unusual interest, as the delegate attending the convention of the Dominion Alliance, will give her report. A hearty invitation is extended to all temperance workers to be present.

Returned From New York.

Misses Ennis & Armstrong have returned from New York and Toronto, where they visited the wholesale millinery markets, and purchased full lines of fashionable and stylish millinery. Their parlors are situated over Payne's drug store, corner George and Simcoe streets, where they will be pleased to see their many customers and friends.

Was Sent Home.

Police Magistrate Dumble was merciful to Charles O'Conn, who came from Tweed, when he appeared before him yesterday charged with the theft of a pipe. The magistrate directed that he be kept in a cell till train time, and then sent on to Tweed.

If troubled with indigestion, constipation, no appetite or feel bilious, give Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets a trial and you will be pleased with the result. These tablets invigorate the stomach and liver and strengthen the digestion. Sold by all dealers.

A Literary Treat.

This evening Miss A. B. Warnock, ("Katharine Hale," of the Mail and Empire) will deliver a lecture in the Assembly Hall of the Normal School on "Canadian Literature." Of this lecture most favorable comments have been made by different magazines and papers. There should be a large audience.

Minister is Agreeable.

The following members of the Board of Education: Messrs. R. Fair, W. H. Hill, D. W. Dumble, W. J. Miller, T. H. Adams and Dr. Morrison, were a deputation to Toronto, to wait on Hon. Dr. Pyne, the minister of education, with a view of getting his approval of the arrangement made by which the pupils of the Collegiate will have use of the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium instead of the board having a new one constructed for the present. The minister thought the request quite reasonable in view of the heavy recent expenditures in connection with the Collegiate. He acquiesced, however, on the understanding that the eventual construction of a gymnasium for the Collegiate would be kept in view by the Board of Education.

Little Local Lines

The Board of Works is slated to meet this evening.

The Salvation Army Band drove to Bridgenorth last night in connection with a concert at the Methodist church there. There was a large attendance at the concert.

OBITUARY.

Miss Elizabeth Gow.

After a lengthy illness, Miss Elizabeth Gow passed away at her late residence, 43 Water street on Wednesday evening in her 70th year. The deceased had made many close friends by her lovable disposition, and her demise will be sincerely regretted. Two sisters, Mrs. George Brown of Vancouver, and Miss Gow of this city, survive. She was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian church. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to Little Lake cemetery. Service will be held at the house at two o'clock, and Rev. R. Pogue will officiate.

SHE QUIT.

But It Was a Hard Pull.

It is hard to believe that coffee will put a person in such a condition as it did an Ohio woman. She tells her own story:

"I did not believe coffee caused my trouble, and frequently said I liked it so well I would not, and could not quit drinking it, but I was a miserable sufferer from heart trouble and nervous prostration for four years.

"I was scarcely able to be around, had no energy and did not care for anything. Was emaciated and had a constant pain around my heart until I thought I could not endure it. For months I never went to bed expecting to get up in the morning. I felt as though I was liable to die any time.

"Frequently I had nervous chills and the least excitement would drive sleep away, and any little noise would upset me terribly. I was gradually getting worse until finally one time it came over me and I asked myself what's the use of being sick all the time and buying medicine so that I could indulge myself in coffee?

"So I thought I would see if I could quit drinking coffee and get some Postum to help me quit. I made it strictly according to directions and I want to tell you, that change was the greatest step in my life. It was easy to quit coffee because I had the Postum which I now like better than the old coffee.

"One by one the old troubles left, until now I am in splendid health, nerves steady, heart all right and the pain all gone. Never have any more nervous chills, don't take any medicine, can do all my housework and have done a great deal beside."

Early Iron Works.

India's Salt Tax.

Representing an average annual payment of 2½ pence per head, a tax on salt is one of the sources of England's revenue in India.

Ram Bux, British Leafer.

A Hindoo baker's assistant in Bombay, on setting up in business for himself, bethought him of catering for the English community as well as for the native one. With this end in view he had the following notification painted over his doorway: "Ram Bux solicits respectful patronage. He is a first class British leafer."

Houses in France.

It has been estimated that there are fewer than a hundred wooden dwelling houses throughout all France. Stone and plaster are the usual materials.

A Month Without a Full Moon.

The month of February, 1866, was the most remarkable month in the world's history. January had two full moons, and so had March, but February had none. This had not occurred since the creation of the world, and, according to some astronomers, the same thing may not occur again for a period of 2,500,000,000 years.

A Waterloo Relic.

Among the curios of Windsor castle is a chair made out of the trunk of the famous elm by which Wellington stood at the battle of Waterloo.

Irish Moss.

The seaweed known as Irish moss is used to some extent as a food by the peasantry along the coasts; also as a jelly for invalids and as a stiffening for calico in the printing process.

Grapes and Peaches.

The grape has more sugar in it than any other fruit, nearly fifteen parts in a hundred being sugar. The peach has least, only 1½ per cent.

There are only eight poisonous snakes in America, and the proportion of poisonous snakes everywhere, except in Australia, is one in four. In Australia, however, the proportion is reversed, and three-fourths of the snakes found in that country are poisonous.

Convict Gardeners.

Instead of being put to ordinary jail tasks, long sentence prisoners at Hobart, Tasmania, are employed in the local botanical gardens.

A Plague of Sand.

Sand is the curse of Portuguese East Africa. It blocks the rivers and harbors and stretches in a vast sea toward the interior, effectually cutting off the coast towns from the highlands. Besides, it makes the problem of transportation the bugbear of the planter.

The Word "Mile."

DEPT. OF MILITIA AND DEFENCE OTTAWA.

SEALED TENDERS (in duplicate) for the supply of Coal and Fuel Wood required to heat the Military Buildings at Kingston, Belleville, Fort Hope, Cobourg and Peterborough, Ont., for the year ending March 31, 1911, will be received up to Monday, March 7 next. Each tender is to be marked "Tender for Fuel," and addressed to the Secretary of the Militia Council, Ottawa.

Printed forms of tender containing full particulars may be obtained from the Secretary of the Militia Council, Ottawa, or at the office of the District Officer Commanding, Kingston, who will furnish all information required.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque, on a Canadian chartered Bank, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Militia and Defence, for five per cent. of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party making the tender decline to sign a contract when called upon to do so, if the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

EUGENE FISCET, Colonel.

ALEXANDER H. BEATH, Vice-President.
JAMES K. MACLENNAN, Secretary-Treasurer.
JOHN ANNIS, of Markstay, Ont.
JAMES TOWNSEND, of Mabel, Que., and
JOHN H. CLARY, of Sudbury, Ont.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent dated April 16th, A. D., 1909, and is empowered to carry on in all its branches the operations of a mining., milling, reduction and development Company.

The Company was organized more particularly to acquire and develop certain of the mining claims on Emerald Lake commonly called the Townsend-Annis gold properties.

Mr. Townsend had an undivided eleven-sixteenths interest in Mining Location W.D. 154, and Mr. Annis had three water claims adjoining and extending westward from W.D. 154. The Company has a working option on the remaining five-sixteenths of W. D. 154 from Mr. William Crawford, of Haileybury, formerly of Sudbury. The Company purchased outright the interest of Mr. Townsend and Mr. Annis.

These claims are distant about 32 miles almost due north from Warren, Ontario, and lie on the east side of Emerald Lake. In winter they are reached from Markstay by an existing road some 40 miles long, needing some small repairs in places—in summer from Temagami station on the T. and N. O. Railway, by steamer to Obabika Bay on the north-west arm of Lake Temagami, and thence a distance of ten miles, in all, by water, four short portages excepted, to Emerald Lake and W.D. 154 is reached.

On W.D. 154 the ore outcrops in the form of a deposit, in width from 300 to 500 feet, and has been traced on the strike for about 1,000 feet. The dip is nearly vertical. The contact wall on the south side is jasper and magnetite and on the north side is black slate. The gangue rock is calcite, schist and quartz, heavily mineralized with gold-bearing iron-pyrites. Considerable stripping and test pitting have been done at various points, and at each point good values in gold have been found. All blastings have disclosed free gold and pannings show many colors. The directors believe this property to be

The Largest Outcropping of High-grade Ore Known in the World To-day.

Four assays from Messrs. Handley and Parker, of Sudbury, showed respectively $2,419.01, $1,620.68, $787.68, and $162.72 per ton. Ledoux and Company of 99 John Street, New York, $26.45 (from an iron-pyrites sample). Kropp's, Germany, gave $68.00 per ton from an iron pyrites sample.

The Directors have decided to place 50,000 shares on the market at the special price of 50c per share, in blocks of not less than 50 shares each. Allotments will be made as applications, accompanied by the necessary cash, have been received for 20,000 shares. Should this number not be subscribed for by February 15th next, money will be refunded promptly. The above low price is to provide the necessary funds for the installation of the proper milling and reduction plant and for the carrying out of the necessary mining operations. See prospectus.

All have not the knowledge or the necessary capital to send out prospecting parties, but many small capitalists can afford to put up $25.00 or more to get a share in this local enterprise where they know that first, last and all the time they will get a square deal. Come and see samples. Have them assayed yourself. Investigate for yourself.

Porcupine may have plenty of gold but you don't need to go further than Emerald Lake for gold. Many mining men of Sudbury know W.D. 154. Cut out this advertisement. Watch for following ads. Get a prospectus and all information from any of the Directors, or from Editor of the Times.

What Tariff Reform Has Developed in Canada---American Influx

Lloyd-George Assails Austen Chamberlain and Causes Even Mr. Asquith, Weary-Looking these Days, to Smile

London, Feb. 23.—The fact that there was a free trade majority on the first fiscal debate of the last Parliament of 376, and last night a majority of thirty-one, has rendered Mr. Balfour's declaration that tariff reform is making progress somewhat unnecessary. The continuation of the debate on Austen Chamberlain's amendment to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne was vigorous. An exciting hush fell on the members when the question was put, and "aye" and "no" came with equal volume from either side of the House. The members rapidly streamed back from the lobbies to hear the figures, which were received with loud cheers and counter-cheers.

BALFOUR ON UNEMPLOYMENT.

Mr. Balfour spoke finely, as he rose from the rear of the Unionists benches. His voice had a note of triumph in it. He gripped the House, Unionists and Liberals alike, with his first few sentences. The tall, thin silver-haired figure carried a confidence and fascination that seemed irresistable. Mr. Balfour took unemployment as his text, pleading that it was impossible to survey all the aspects of the question in one speech The colonial aspect alone might occupy the House for hours, but he pointed out that if a preference duty on wheat brought more colonial land under the plow, and resulted in increased railway accommodation in Canada, it might well be, if the price of corn was not diminished, yet the rise with the growing demands of the world might otherwise produce would be prevented.

LLOYD GEORGE STIRS THINGS.

From the moment Lloyd-George stood up the temperature began to rise. A crisis was approaching. The members filled the seats rapidly, to be present for the final dramatic scene. The chancellor attacked Austen Chamberlain almost ferociously; he scoffed at his arguments, and flung taunts at the tariff reform members in general. Rapidly he lashed the Liberals and Labor members into excited applause.

CHEERS DELIGHTED ASQUITH.

Premier Asquith, seated by his side, was flushed, smiling and happy in the sound of those united cheers, so sadly lacking for days past.

Mr. Bonar Law, who concluded the debate, thought the fiscal history of Canada by far more interesting for Britain than any other. Having surveyed it, he asked, after thirty years what had happened? Americans were pouring across the border to enjoy the benefit of the great natural prosperity which tariff reform had developed in the Dominion.

Little Chance of a General Strike in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Feb. 25.—No disturbances have occurred here today to mark the seventh day of the street car strike. More cars are being run, and the determined attitude of the police authorities to suppress rioting with an iron hand has prevented further attacks upon the non-union strike-breakers.

The probability of a general strike of the 160,000 union men in Philadelphia in sympathy with the street car men grows more remote every day, and there is not thought to be much chance that such action will be taken especially at the present time. The street car men themselves oppose the huge sympathetic strike.

THEY PUT IT OFF.

At a meeting of the representatives of the Central Labor Union, the allied building trades and other unions held last evening, action on the sympathetic strike was postponed until next Sunday when there will be held a great mass meeting of all labor leaders in Philadelphia whether affiliated with the Central bodies or not, to determine finally whether the 160,000 union men and women shall respond to a general order. It was decided that if a general strike should be called no terms would be made with the street car company until it had resumed the sale of six tickets for a quarter. The union men believe that this will be a popular move, and gain sympathy for them.

As soon as the strike leaders were notified of this action they sent a set of resolutions, signed by President Peter Driscoll and Secretary H. B. Barron of the street car men's union, to the Central Labor Union, and the Building Trades Council, declaring that the carmen had the strike situation well in hand, and did not believe a general strike would be necessary.

The officials of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company announced today their success in running cars last night, that the night service would be continued from now on, and will gradually increase their services to the normal.

THE LATE MRS. MAXWELL.

Esteemed Resident Passes Away at Good Old Age.

Yesterday morning the death occurred at her residence, 298 Brock street, of Mrs. Mary A. Maxwell, widow of the late Wm. J. Maxwell, who predeceased her five years ago. The deceased, who was in her 86th year, has been in feeble health for several years, but was only taken seriously ill on Tuesday.

The late Mrs. Maxwell was a Presbyterian in religion and a member of St. Andrew's church. She will be remembered as making the magnificent gift of $5,000 a short time ago, which enabled the Presbyterian church to erect a mission in Honan, China, to be known as the "Mary Maxwell Home."

The deceased had no children and her nearest relatives are her first cousins, Mrs. W. J. Meharry of Victoria avenue, and Misses Mary and Eliza Meharry of Cavan.

The funeral will take place Monday afternoon at two o'clock from the late residence to the Little Lake cemetery. Rev. J. G. Potter, pastor of St. Andrew's, will be the officiating clergyman.

In Memory of the Late Pope.

(Special to The Times.)

London, Feb. 26.—The Roman Catholic Church throughout the world will unite Wednesday in celebrating the centenary of the birth of the late Pope Leo XIII. Especially notable will be the commemoration in Rome, in which the Pope, the cardinals and many eminent prelates of the church from all parts of the world will participate.

A Liberal Rally at the Grand Opera House Last Night

The French Canadians are as Loyal to the British Flag as Their English Compatriots—A Unity of Interests will Build Up a Great Nation

The Liberal party held a rally in the opera house last night, when a fair audience was present. A large percentage of ladies graced the proceedings with their presence.

Mr. J. J. Hartley occupied the chair and introduced the speakers in a graceful manner. The speakers were supported by Mr. Dan O'Connell and Mr. F. D. Kerr, both well-known and influential members of the Liberal party. The addresses were characteristic of a desire to vindicate French-Canadian politicians of any suspicion of disloyalty to the British Empire, which was uncalled for so far as West Peterborough is concerned.

HON. J. R. STRATTON

Took the precedence, and was enthusiastically received. In speaking of the rapid strides Canada is making, commercially and nationally, he ventured to say that the census of 1910, would show for Canada a population of very nearly eight millions. In reviewing the phenomenal progress of Canada. Mr Stratton laid considerable stress upon the influence the Maritime Provinces have exercised in the Dominion's national development, and eulogized in eloquent terms the patriotic sentiments of our French-Canadian members of the House of Commons. Referring to the establishment of the nucleus for a navy for protective purposes, the honorable gentleman urged that if we are going to have a navy that navy should be built upon our own shores. Canada does not believe in giving $20,000,000 or $25,-000,000 to Great Britain for naval purposes, but contends that Canada should spend that money in her own country for the development and protection of Canada generally. He was of the opinion, with the Liberal party, that a Canadian fleet could be built within our own borders, and that so long as it was at the call of the Mother Country in emergency, we should be contributing a fair quota to Empire purposes.

DR. BELAND

Liberal M.P., of Beauce, Quebec, was the next speaker, and received a very cordial reception. He said the public questions of the day are very few; they are indeed confined to the naval question. This question must be approached by all citizens as Canadians and British subjects. But we have in this country a peculiar situation. The prime minister is a Frenchman, and always has been. He has been charged many times with disloyalty, and today, on this naval question, he is charged by Mr. Foster with disloyalty to England, and by Mr. Monk with disloyalty to Quebec. The Conservative party has two wings. From one the government is attacked for not doing enough, while the French Conservatives attack us for doing too much. The French element of Parliament has been charged with disloyalty, but the speaker contended in eloquent terms that since the moment the treaty of Paris was signed the French Canadians have been nothing but loyal to the British King. (Here the orchestra played the "Red, White and Blue," amidst intense enthusiasm.) The late Sir John Macdonald declared that Queen Victoria had no truer or more loyal patriots in Canada than citizens of French origin and Catholic creed. (Applause.)

Turning to the naval measure, at the cost of merely $15,000,000 or $20,000,000, he contended that the proposition was nothing. It would, at a smaller expenditure, provide Canada with a protective measure that could in emergency be used by the Mother Country. The creation of the proposed navy is within our means. We can do it without borrowing any money; it would impart in to every soul the consciousness of self-confidence and it would boom the steel industry and demonstrate our loyalty to the Mother Country. Every man, Liberal and Conservative alike, has upheld this principle of autonomy. In conclusion he referred to the Liberal term of office as a wonderful and glorious regime that will be recorded in history with pride and redound to the universal credit of the country. In the way of dessert to a recherche bill of fare, the gifted speaker here launched into a five minutes' address in French for, as he said, the benefit of the bright and talented scholars of the Naval school. His French utterances were evidently understood by some four or five of the audience, who did their best to demonstrate their appreciation in a fitting manner. But he spoke in pure French which is of an unknown quantity in this country

E. N. McDONALD,

M.P. of Pictou, N.S., was here introduced by the chairman. In his opening remarks he referred to Mr. J. R. Stratton, West Peterborough's representative, as a tower of strength in his constituency's interests. He also spoke in glowing terms of the natural ability of West Peterborough's late representative Mr. R. R. Hall, and regretted that undeniable business at Ottawa prevented him from attending this meeting. He then turned to the development of Canada, not in colonial lines only, but on national lines. Our duty first is to Canada, and next to Canada as part of the Empire. He deplored the fact that in some measure French Canadians are characterized in Upper Canada as disloyal, and contended that in order to build up a great nation in Canada such dividing lines as those of ancestry must be forgotten. We must remember only the country in which we were born, and in which our children have to live, and be Canadians first, last and always. (Cheers.) The distinguished visitor next eulogised the Liberal's transportation schemes such as the Trent Valley Canal and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway project, both now being consummated, and felt a source of extreme satisfaction in the fact that no scandal whatever had arisen in connection with either of these freight carrying highways. Turning to the naval scheme, he claimed it was the intention to develop a maritime spirit in Canada, supported last year by all members of Parliament—French, English, Scotch, Irish and Canadian alike. Of late, however, the Opposition while not actually opposing the Government's naval scheme, had stipulated in addition that Canada should contribute two Dreadnoughts to the British navy. In unqualified support of the Government's naval proposition, the speaker contended that the British authorities had expressed their fullest endorsation of Canada's program. Canada is in the forefront of any industrial enterprise and why not begin to build ships now. Our policy is Canada for the Canadians, and the inauguration of a great naval industry is in keeping with our twentieth century progress. He heartily endorsed the Government's policy which would assure to Canada war ships built in the Dominion and flying the British flag at their peak. (Prolonged applause.)

In conclusion of a spirited address Mr. McDonald contended that under Liberal rule, Canadians will shine resplended as a united people, composing the greatest arm of the United British Empire. (Renewed applause.)

MR. DAN O'CONNELL.

Was entrusted with the duty of proposing a vote of thanks to the visiting politicians, and he rose to the occasion in his customary eloquent manner. In fact, if the truth be said, Mr. O'Connell was the most gifted speaker of the evening. He also spoke on national lines, and contended that French Canadians were nothing but loyal to the British flag.

The customary cheers were given for the several speakers and the meeting closed with "God Save the King."

Raft Worth $100,000 Found After 35 Years

Port Colborne, Ont., Feb. 25.—Thirty-five years ago on a dark night a tug was battling with the heavy seas of Lake Erie. In tow she had an immense raft of oak timber for Port Colborne, being brought from the Upper Lakes.

The heavy seas parted the craft, which was only fastened together by pins. The one part was brought safely to shore, but the other disappeared, as if it had been swallowed up. This proved a heavy loss to the owners. No amount of searching could find the timber. Now, after many years, it appears it has been found.

The immense raft has been located near Gull Island. Several farmers going out on the lake to fish found it about one mile from shore from the ice. They immediately came to port and broke the news.

The timber is all squared oak, which is very valuable. Experts here say it is worth one hundred thousand dollars. It will be staked, located, and as soon as the ice breaks up brought to Port Colborne. The find is creating much excitement here.

The timber at the time it was lost was valued at fifty thousand dollars. Prices have doubled since that time. The many years in the water has not damaged it to any extent.

It is said that the timber belongs to the estate of the late Dalton McCarthy.

Condor-Charlie May be Dropped from the British Naval Service

London, Feb. 25.—In response to an intimation that Admiral Lord Charles Beresford is determined to continue his attacks in Parliament on the Liberal party's navy policy, an "inspired hint" appeared today in the Liberal press that a repetition in the House of Commons of the charges that he made in his ante-election speeches "may not be without effect on Lord Charles Beresford's future career."

It is pointed out that Beresford's utterances during the campaign almost overstepped the line seperating what is permissible from that which no officer on the active list can be allowed to make. His threat to reveal facts which should have been known to him only in his official position as commander-in-chief, have been the subject of much discussion in service circles.

From the moment he was relieved, on account of the insubordinate manner in which he resisted the wishes of the admiralty, of the command of the Channel fleet, it is complained that he has fought the administration in a manner wholly incompatible with his retention of office under it.

There is high authority for the statement that not only is his relegation to the retired list contemplated, though he has yet some four years to serve actively, but that there is an increasing sentiment in favor of actually dropping him from the service altogether without a pension, and in disgrace.

Are you frequently hoarse? Do you have that annoying tickling in your throat? Does your cough annoy you at night, and do you raise mucus in the morning? If so, take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you will be pleased. Sold by all dealers.

Domestics in North-West get $500 a Year?

London, Feb. 25.—The Canadian Press Association learns that Joe Martin had some trouble in getting his question about Earl Grey's Calgary speech before the Commons. The clerk of the House first refused to put it among the list of questions, remarking: "We have nothing to do with the governor-general, you must see the speaker of the House," Mr. Martin replied: "Why should I see the speaker, I have brought the question to your notice in the usual way." The clerk in a sharp tone, replied: "Oh, very well, I will see the speaker."

Obed Smith is busy endeavoring to trace the authority for the statement made in the Evening News that well-to-do farmers in the far west of Canada pay domestic servants a wage of 100 pounds a year, and other equally misleading statements made in the same article.

A Salvation Army party of 200, an advance party of 10,000 for the season, sailed today.

It is stated that a meeting of the Atlantic Shipping Conference will be held in a few days in the United States when final arrangements will be decided upon for the unification of freight charges east bound from different ports along the whole east coast of Canada and the United States.

TO CURE TUBERCULOSIS.

German Physician Claims to Have Made Discovery.

(Special to The Times.)

New York, Feb. 26.—Dr. Robert Schneider, of Berlin, the discoverer of a new cure for tuberculosis, who soon will demonstrate his method in Chicago, arrived here to-day. He was a passenger on the steamship Umbria, which was buffeted by storms throughout its voyage and was three days late.

Dr. Schneider employs a combination of sulphuric acid, charcoal and eucalyptus, which is burned in a lamp placed in the sleeping room of the patient. The progress of the disease is arrested by the fumes of the drugs, although the doctor says it is impossible to restore a lung that has been wasted away.

Canada Will Not Beg Any Favors from United States

Americans, While Protesting They Have Nothing to Lose, But Have Warm Regard for Canada, will Make Advances

Washington, D.C., Feb. 25.—There is not much likelihood that there will be a tariff war between the United States and Canada. There seems to be small probability that President Taft will declare the maximum tariff against Canada.

Of course there are points of difference between the two countries. The United States feels that it is being discriminated against by Canada, since it does not get exactly the same treatment as Canada is now according France and the several other smaller nations who, by the recent treaty, are automatically given the benefit of the "most favored nation" tariff rates. But there is such a sentiment on this side of the boundary in favor of the best of feeling between the two nations, that it is likely that the administration at Washington would do much to maintain the present good relations.

This does not mean that the United States will accept the present Canadian tariff without a protest. In fact, there are several points on which it will be necessary to consult Nor is it to be assumed either that the American Republic wishes to continue on good relations with Canada for merely sentimental reasons. That is not so although in the end a tariff war would take away from Canadian export totals a greater proportion than from American export totals. Still, Canada could, for instance, embarrass American paper interests by placing a Dominion tax on the export of pulpwood. But Canada wishes to continue on the best of relations. So, apparently, do the Americans, and it remains only for the two nations to consult. This consultation will, no doubt, take place long before March 31st, when President Taft must make his proclamation as to whether Canada shall pay the maximum duties.

U.S. TO MAKE ADVANCES.

This consultation is the heart of the whole matter, not so much as to the tariff items which may or may not be discussed there, nor for the issues that may be raised, but purely from the standpoint of which nation is to make the overture. Basing conclusions on observations in Ottawa and conversations held with Americans who are familiar with the situation in New York and Washington, is led to believe that Canada will not make the first advance, but that the United States will, either by sending over a commission or one or two tariff experts to consult with the department in Ottawa. Such an advance would no doubt be received cordially by the Canadian Government.

NO MORE BEGGING.

The situation is not devoid of human interest, even of historical significance in Canada's case. Canada has sent many informal diplomatic expeditions to the United States capital, and it was not always felt that these were given replies which self-conscious as we are inclined to be, Canada felt was due to her. These expeditions have come into national disfavor in Canada; they are even referred to now as "begging expeditions," and of these Canada has determined to make an end. The consequence is the stand pat attitude of the Liberal Government.

ed once more the spirit of the Canadian people, and to have resolved, "We shall not again be the first to ask; we shall wait for the United States to come to us. We don't want a tariff war. We like Americans, and, to be frank, we need their trade, but we are of age. Our prise and our nationhood demand our dignified, yet courteous and reasonable reserve."

OPPOSITION'S WARNING.

It has not been an easy position. The Opposition held up its hands and warned the Government that in making the French treaty it might incur the displeasure of the United States. Sir Wilfrid's ministers, however, replied that it was due to the nation to make its foreign policy without undue reference to the United States, and now that, as Sir Wilfrid probably expected, the present situation has arisen, Canada is preparing bravely to face out the issue, with the determination of a youth making his first important decision, who knows that too much dignity and reserve might lead to a bad blunder, but that enough, as is apparently to be shown by the Laurier Government will bring him through the situation with credit.

STILL PATRONIZE US.

A Canadian must smile just a little at our excellent cousins. After all, they are naive, in some ways. The best of these fellows, these, our "friendly enemies," intimate that if they do go to Canada, if they do recognize Canada's attitude and respect it, it is out of the general magnanimity of much prosperity, as one would consent to obey the whim of one's youngest sister, who might for the moment be "playing house," and ordering one about in the back yard. there is more talk here of sentiment towards Canada than of the position of American industries. They quite believe that Canada has all to lose and the Americans practically nothing in the event of a tariff war.

TAFT'S PREDICAMENT.

One member of the United States Tariff Board said: "Thus far we have not been able to find a way out. Unless something occurs to put the case in a different light it seems to me as we would be obliged to enforce the maximum tariff against Canada. If it could be left to the president, the secretary of the treasury, or any other individual to exercise his discretion in the matter, of course, nothing drastic would be done, but the new law requires the president to issue a proclamation granting the minimum to foreign countries upon proof submitted that they give the United States their lowest tariff rates. As Canada has made an agreement with France that gives French products a preference over those entering from the United States, the president cannot issue that proclamation in favor of Canada.

"Nearly all the big nations of the world have now come into the minimum list by the presidential proclamation. The only ones of importance now out in the cold are Canada, France and Austria. We are hopeful of settling troubles with Austria in a few days and do not think the disagreement with France will last long. The most serious case ain the books at present is that of Canada. The state department now has the the fate of the tariff in its hands, and we are hoping that his diplomacy will avert the threatened war."

Rash Yankee Utterances Cause Alarm in Japan

(Special to The Times.)

Tokio, Feb. 25.—Special despatches to the newspapers from the United States report a recrudescence of the anti-Japanese movement at San Francisco.

To-day all of the local papers featured the speech of Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the United States treasury, at Morristown, N.J., on Tuesday last, in which he is reported as having said that war between the United States and Japan was inevitable. The speech has caused a most gloomy impression among Japanese and foreigners alike.

The specials quote Major General Franklin Bell as having said that war between the two countries was likely to break out at any moment. The press and the public are unable to understand the reasons for these violent utterances.

Editorially the papers repudiate the suggestion that Japan is seeking the control of the Pacific, and declare that American competition will be welcomed.

Foreign Minister Komura, speaking in the Diet to-day on the land ownership bill, said that the government desired the passage of the measure because it was in accordance with the usage of civilized nations in which foreigners were permitted to own land without restriction. He said that a change in the Japanese laws was necessary as Japan was about to make new treaties.

The proposed law permits the ownership of land in this country by such foreigners only as come from a country which extends similar privileges to Japanese residents.

A Sufferer of Twenty Years Comes Forward With a Real Cure.

"I can't remember any time during the past 20 years when my head spoke would come before my eyes, and it seemed as if all the blood in my body wanted to rush to the head." Thus opens the letter of Mrs. Enoch S. Spry, of Putnam, P.O., and continuing gw interesting statement she says; "Work or exertion made my heart beat terrible, and going up stairs caused such shortness of breath that it fairly frightened me. My doctor told me that it was poisons in the blood and if that was the cause Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest blood renewer on earth. I tell you how I feel today and you can understand what a great cure Dr. Hamilton's Pills have made. I feel strong enough now to work like a man, as for going upstairs on the run, it doesn't bother me at all. I eat and sleep as any well person ought, and as for dizziness which used to frighten me so much it has entirely disappeared. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful woman's medicine. They helped me in other ways too, and I know every woman that uses them will have comfort and good health." TOO HOARSE TO SPEAK

"I had a patient with Quinsy that I found great difficulty in curing," states Dr. Wilson. "Every time he caught cold or got chilled he suffered intensely from sore throat, hoarseness, throat and chest soreness. After over throat and chest soreness. After every attack his throat and chest seemed more sensitive. This patient lived in the country, and couldn't come to the city for treatment. I concluded that the best remedy would be an honest liniment, and because of its enormous sale and well-known merit, I advised 'Nerviline.' Morning, noon and night Nerviline was rubbed over the neck and chest, and once a day diluted with water it was used as a gargle. In a day or two my patient reported an improvement, and by continuing the treatment with Nerviline he was cured. I can recommend Nerviline for breaking up colds, for chest tightness, throat inflammation, quinsy, bronchitis and similar conditions."

NERVILINE CURES QUINSY

Not a druggist or doctor who has examined the formula of Nerviline who won't tell you how good it is—why it contains the best medicaments known to science and for general family use has no equal.

OVERCROWDED PROFESSIONS.

An American writer attributes much of the dishonesty, fraud and chicane in litigation to the overcrowding of the legal profession, and there is no gainsaying the assertion.

Do not the high-minded lawyers themselves complain of the ambulance chasers, the shysters, the incompetents and the venal instigators of baseless actions? The struggle for business breeds dishonesty and laxity, not only in law but in medicine and the other "liberal" professions.

Recent figures, it is said, indicate a slight decline in the number of medical students. The stiffer examinations now required, the length of the course, the standards prescribed by the Medical Council, for would-be practitioners account for this decline. But there is room for further improvement. Even now there are, we believe, too many "diploma mills" in the country, medical and legal.

The friends of the young will warn them against entering already sadly overcrowded professions and courting disappointment and failure. The best advice to young men is to take up farming as a real profession—to study it scientifically in the excellent agricultural colleges and schools of the country, to make it a life work.

In intelligent and modern farming there is independence, there is health, there is opportunity. The old isolation of country life is rapidly becoming a memory, thanks to rural delivery, to telephones, newspapers, trolleys, automobiles.

"Go West, young men," is a good gospel to-day, though even in the East new methods and new ideas make farming reasonably profitable. The country needs more producers, and there is solid prosperity in the ground for additional millions. "Back to the soil!"

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A New York man 85 years of age has refused to enter a home for old people because his mother-in-law, aged 115, is an inmate of the institution. We declare without fear of successful contradiction, that this is carrying prejudice against the mother-in-law too far.

Miss Delia Torrey, President Taft's good old aunt, says she is sure "Will" would, if he thought all the women of America desired to have woman suffrage, do what he could to help them get it. "Will" will probably be glad to let the matter go at that if the women are willing.

PASTOR IS LOCATED.

Says He Had to Work Too Hard in Gesto Charge.

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 24.—Rev. David Hicks, former pastor of the Methodist church at Gesto, whose affairs are being investigated by a committee of three preachers from Windsor district, is now located in Corunna, Mich., a small village in the north-west part of the State, where he is installed as pastor of the local Methodist church. He claim his departure was made from Gesto in the regular way. He admits he left some debts unpaid, but they will not amount to $1,000. His reason for leaving Gesto, he says, was the amount of work he had to look after Senators Fight a Duel.

Paris, Feb. 24.—Senators Millies-Lacroix and Lintilhac fought a duel with swords in the Parc Des Princes this morning. At the first encounter Millies-Lacroix neatly parried a lunge by Lintilhac, and ran the latter through the fore ter through the forearm. Lintilhac wished to continue, but the seconds stopped the combat. The adversaries were reconciled before leaving the field.

GERMANS BUY OUR WHEAT—WE THEIR MANUFACTURERS.

If England Will Not Adopt Preference We Must Look After Our Own Interests.

Dr. G. Sterling Ryerson gave an address before the Empire Club at Toronto Thursday on "The New Germany." Speaking of the great expansion of Germany industrially and commercially, he said the country could not possibly raise sufficient food stuff to feed the overwhelming and rapidly increasing population. We were raising more wheat and cattle than we could use, and obviously an approchement with Germany would give us an enlarged market for these products. The abolition of the surtax would give us a greatly increased trade with Germany. He had not the least doubt but that within a few weeks German commercial travelers would cover this country and with their usual thoroughness, persuasiveness and adaptability build up a considerable trade. Whether this would operate to the advantage of preferential trade with England was another matter. Still if the English would not adopt preferential trade, we must look after our own interests.

As to the indirect influence upon Canada, we must, if we would have peace, and if we would maintain our position as an essential factor in the British Empire, we must prepare for war. It seemed sufficiently obvious that Great Britain would continue to compete successfully with Germany in maintaining the two standard power at sea. England now has forty-five million people and Germany sixty-three. Germany produced seven children to three born in England. English naval expenditured must reach the breaking point some day. Therefore, it was incumbent upon us to do our share of imperial defence, both on land and sea, and assume those responsibilities which we, who claim to be a nation within the empire, should rightly bear.

$100,000 FOR SAVING A LIFE.

Large Sum as a Reward for Saving Life.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 24.—The sum of $100,000 has been willed to John S. Andrews of Sault Ste. Marie. Before coming to Canada Andrews was a porter on the London & Southwestern Railway. He saved an aged woman from falling from the platform to the track in front of an approaching train. The matter was forgotten by Andrews, who has been working in a lumber camp near the Soo during the winter, until a notification reached him that he was heir to a fortune of $100,000. He is now on his way to England.

CHRONIC CATARRH NOSE AND THROAT

"At the Advice of Friends I Tried Peruna and the Results Have Been Highly Satisfactory."—So Writes Mr. Pilon.

MR. RAOUL PILON, 116 Rue Notre Dame, Lachine, P. Q., Can., writes: "I write you a few words to express to you my satisfaction at being cured. I was afflicted with catarrh of the throat and nose and suffered much. I was greatly discouraged. I had a bad breath and a bad taste in my mouth in the morning.

"I took treatment for some time without obtaining relief. At the advice of friends I tried the Peruna and the results have been highly satisfactory. At the end of four months I was completely cured."

Neglected catarrh becomes chronic. Having developed into the chronic stage, a longer and more persistent treatment will be required to cure it than if the disease were treated at the onset.

However, Peruna generally brings relief, whether the catarrh is acute or chronic. If you are wise you will keep Peruna on hand and take a few doses at the first appearance of a cold or cough, and thus perhaps save yourself both suffering and expense.

Peruna is recognized the world over as a standard remedy for catarrh. A multitude of people have been benefited by it.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY PERSON WHO IS THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, solely owned and occupied by him, or his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

SHOT BY NEGRO.

Desperate Struggle in Smoking Car —Would-be Murderer Escapes.

New York, Feb. 25.—Harrison Higbee and Leslie Lord, two young Yale graduates, and socially prominent in North Jersey, were wantonly shot down, and probably fatally wounded today, by an infuriated negro in the smoking car of a Jersey Central train, in which they were riding to their homes in Newark.

Accompanying Higbee and Lord were Gale Young of New York, and his cousin, Roger Young of Newark, both Princeton graduates. Soon after the train left Jersey City, the negro desperado, who was accompanied by another man of his race and a mulatto woman, accused the four young college men of making remarks about women. Lord was about to reply, but Higbee told him to keep quiet.

"Don't you tell me to keep quiet," yelled the negro as he leaped to his feet and drew a revolver. "I'll quiet you," and he opened fire on the four young men. The first bullet went through Lord's stomach and he dropped to the floor. The second plowed into Higbee's chest, and then Gale and Roger Young leaped for the negro. But he continued shooting, the shots causing a panic in the car, and passengers stampeded for the door, or hid under seats.

Gale Young went down under a blow on the head, but Roger held on to the man, who had emptied his pistol, and who was so powerful that he dragged Roger Young with him to the platform. Young held on, however, and when the negro leaped from the train, while it was making twenty miles an hour, Roger Young went with him. In striking the embankment, Young's grip on the negro was broken, and the desperado disappeared in the darkness. His companions also leaped from the train, and got away.

When the train was stopped, the wounded men were taken to a hospital in Jersey City, where it is said they would probably die. Roger Young was found back on the track a half mile, badly stunned, but not seriously hurt.

THE GERMAN TREATY.

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—The trade war between Canada and Germany which has been on since Canada gave Great Britain a preference in 1897 and which led Canada to impose a surtax of 33 1-3 per cent. against German goods in 1908 will come to a definite end Tuesday, when the provisional trade agreement recently concluded by Canada and Germany will come into effect. The new agreement is a far-teaching one and is expected to lead to a great extension of trade between the two countries.

Early Iron Works.

India's Salt Tax.

Representing an average annual payment of 2½ pence per head, a tax on salt is one of the sources of England's revenue in India.

Rare Bug, British Loafer.

A Hindoo baker's assistant in Bombay, on setting up in business for himself, bethought him of catering for the English community as well as for the native one. With this end in view he had the following notification painted over his doorway: "Ram Bux solicits respectful patronage. He is a first class [illegible] loafer."

Houses in France.

It has been estimated that there are fewer than a hundred wooden dwelling houses throughout all France. Stone and plaster are the usual materials.

A Month Without a Full Moon.

The month of February, 1866, was the most remarkable month in the world's history. January had two full moons, and so had March, but February had none. This had not occurred since the creation of the world, and, according to some astronomers, the same thing may not occur again for a period of 2,500,000,000 years.

A Waterloo Relic.

Among the curios of Windsor castle is a chair made out of the trunk of the famous elm, by which Wellington stood at the battle of Waterloo.

Irish Moss.

The seaweed known as Irish moss is used to some extent as a food by the peasantry along the coasts; also as a jelly for invalids and as a stiffening for calico in the printing process.

Grapes and Peaches.

The grape has more sugar in it than any other fruit, nearly fifteen parts in a hundred being sugar. The peach has least, only 1½ per cent.

Turkish Methods.

In Turkey nothing can be done without a bribe, but with a bribe, if it be only big enough, anything can be done, except, perhaps, the publication of correct news in a Turkish paper.

Wings of a Gnat.

The wings of a gnat vibrate at the rate of 15,000 times a second, this observation having been recorded through the use of an ingenious musical instrument.

An Old Time Winter.

It was so cold in New York part of the winter of 1779 that residents in the vicinity were compelled to cut down the tall trees that stood at what is now the head of Wall street to make kindling wood.

A Queer Cure.

At Loch Carron, Scotland, a certain cure for erysipelas is to cut off half of the ear of a cat and let the blood from either half drop on the inflamed parts.

Poisonous Snakes.

There are only eight poisonous snakes in America, and the proportion of poisonous snakes everywhere, except in Australia, is one in four. In Australia, however, the proportion is reversed, and three-fourths of the snakes found in that country are poisonous.

Convict Gardeners.

Instead of being put to ordinary jail tasks, long sentence prisoners at Hobart, Tasmania, are employed in the local botanical gardens.

A Plague of Sand.

Sand is the curse of Portuguese East Africa. It blocks the rivers and harbors and stretches in a vast sea toward the interior, effectually cutting off the coast towns from the highlands. Besides, it makes the problem of transportation the bugbear of the planter.

The Word "Mile."

The word "mile" is derived from the Latin "mille," a thousand. A thousand paces of a marching soldier made the old Roman mile.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by all dealers.

Get Well First

And I mean just exactly that. I am the one physician who says to the sick well, out of my own pocket, pay for your cure if it fails to bring you help. And for 20 years Dr. Shoop's medicines have been used and recommended in every city and hamlet in America. They are positively endorsed in every community—and everywhere. Then why pay the sick, and so many times for other unwarranted and unreliable medicines? Thousands upon thousands have in the past successfully used Dr. Shoop's Restorative. When the Stomach nerves, or the Heart or Kidney nerves fail, those sick ones know how quickly Dr. Shoop's Restorative will bring them back to health again. But best of all, they positively take no money-risk whatever. They know that when Dr. Shoop's Restorative fails, Dr. Shoop will gladly pay the druggist for that test. And the test will be day treatment is hereby granted. Just write me first for an order.

This will save delay and disappointment.

All druggists sell Dr. Shoop's Restorative and Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy, but all are not the special to give the 30 day test. So drop me a line—for I have appointed an honest and responsible druggist in almost every community to whom any one may go for my medicines in the event that I shall decide, which book you below will surely open up new and helpful views to those who are not well. Restorative are perfectly free to consult me just as you would your home physician. My advice and the book before or after—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will close up some curious ailment I have helped through my private correspondence advice upon thousands of cases. My book of worth your simple letter, while you have it. Write me to-day, for tomorrow never comes. Dr. Shoop, Box 13, Racine, Wis.

RUSSIA AND BULGARIA.

Importance of the Meeting of the Emperors.

Vienna, Feb. 26.—A slight revival of interest in the Near Eastern question has been occasioned this week by the visit of Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria to Czar Nicholas of Russia. Political rumors are always rife when potentates travel, though, as a matter of fact, but little importance should be attached to their visits, for history shows that international relations are never seriously affected by these official courtesies.

Of all the sovereigns of Europe the journeyings of the Bulgarian ruler certainly should attract the least attention, for he is nearly always "on the go." Though comparatively young in years—to-day, by the bye, is his forty-ninth birthday—Ferdinand has probably traveled more extensively than any other European ruler. Some thirty years ago he visited the United States and later made a voyage of exploration into the unknown regions of South America. During the first few years that followed his election as Prince of Bulgaria his frequent journeys to the capitals of Europe involved such expense and kept him away from Sofia so much that for a time his popularity among his own people suffered.

It is but natural that on his present tour of the courts of Europe, the first he has made since Bulgaria succeeded in throwing off the suzerainty of the Porte, Ferdinand should elect to make the Russia court his first objective point. Russia, acting through motives not wholly unselfish was the first of the powers to recognize Ferdinand as a full-fledged and independent sovereign. Ferdinand aroused the resentment of Austria-Hungary by violating solemn promises which he had made to the Vienna government in connection with the conclusion of a treaty of commerce, and also offended the religious sentiment of the greater part of Europe by causing his eldest boy, Prince Boris, to be converted from Catholicism to the Russian Church.

5000 Facts About Canada.

The public will warmly welcome the new 1910 edition of that indispensable booklet, "5,000 Facts About Canada," compiled by Frank Yeigh, whose writings and lectures on Canada are widely known. The popularity of the publication is shown by its sale of nearly 50,000 copies, not only in Canada, but through the empire, and indeed the world. The 1910 edition contains a large percentage of new matter, under such heads as—agriculture, mining, banking, trade, railways, wheat growing, education, religious, etc., while a new feature is a budget of Empire Facts. The The book is a revelation of the riches and resources of the Dominion. It is published at 25 cents a copy by The Canadian Facts Publishing Co., 567 Spadina ave., Toronto, Canada, or may be had from newsdealers.

"Sunkist" Orange Special

An Entire Trainload of Oranges Coming on Special Express Schedule for Special "Sunkist" Orange Sale

Week Beginning February 28, 1910

Your dealer—every dealer—will be supplied with fresh picked "Sunkist" oranges.

Here is fruit that is fresh as that eaten by your California friends, for it comes to you as fast as this special express freight train can bring it. It has the right of way wherever possible. The California Fruit Growers' Exchange can allow "Sunkist" oranges to fully mature on the tree because they get them to you so quickly after picking.

Picked By Gloved Hands

Picked by experts wearing gloves to keep the deep tinted skin intact — thus insuring perfect oranges. "Sunkist" oranges are tree-ripened — observe the deep tinted skin — that's Nature's guarantee for the matured lusciousness within. There are no other oranges like these. Place them on your table at every meal. Your family will appreciate "Sunkist" oranges as they do no other food.

Physicians recommend oranges for their food value to brain and nerve cells.

Be Sure You Get "Sunkist" Oranges

In order that you get the choicest of the 5,000 groves in which "Sunkist" oranges are grown, be sure the oranges you buy are wrapped in tissue paper upon which is printed the "Sunkist" label. Oranges without this wrapper are not "Sunkist" oranges. Insist upon getting "Sunkist" oranges only—then you are insured of the finest fruit it is possible to grow.

"Sunkist" Lemons

are rich in strong lemon juices. They are thin-skinned, firm, tree-ripened and hand-picked. They answer every purpose better than any other lemon in the world. That's because they are carefully cultivated by most expert hands.

FREE—ORANGE SPOONS

Save Wrappers of "Sunkist" Oranges and Lemons

Send 12 wrappers and 6 two-cent stamps for a handsome Rogers' full standard plate orange spoon. In a short time you can easily have a full table set. They are worthy of a place at every table. Your dealer is prepared for this Great Orange Sale. He will have a full supply of "Sunkist" oranges for you—for every customer.

Tax on Dogs.

Mr. Bowyer has a bill before the Legislature, that should be passed. It is to amend the Act concerning the protection of sheep and to impose a tax on dogs. The country is beginning to overrun with dogs and they are a pest and a nuisance. The introduction of rabies among them, which has taken place west of Toronto, will at least have some benefit, if it helps to reduce the numbers. At present the act imposes a tax of $1 on dogs and $2 on bitches, and in the townships where a certain number of ratepayers petition the council, the tax may be omitted. Mr. Bowyer proposes to cut out this power of remission and make it a regular annual tax, the rate being $1, where only one dog is kept, $2 on each dog where more than one, and $5 on each bitch. The assessors are directed to take a record, and it is obligatory upon every ratepayer to give a written statement of what dogs he has.

Two Millions of Oranges.

More than 16,000 boxes of oranges will be sold in this district during the Special Orange Sale advertised by the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. If these boxes of organes were placed end to end they would measure five miles. It requires forty cars to make up a train load. There are four hundred boxes in each car, and the boxes will average 160 oranges each. Upwards of two million oranges will be transported on this special train, and if orders from the trade indicate anything this immense quantity will be disposed of during the week. 5,000 orchards have been stripped of their choicest fruit, wrapped in Sunkist wrappers, placed in these great refrigerator cars, and are running under schedule time, just as passenger trains are run, that there may be no delay and that every dealer may be supplied.

Little Local Lines

A case of cruelty to animals is booked to come before County Police Magistrate Edmison this morning.

Peterborough has the most expensive school system in the Province, costing $66,757 to $93,000 for municipal purposes, a proportion of 71 per cent., Ottawa is 45 p.c., Toronto 47, Hamilton 34, Belleville 29 p.c. The Times considers it is time to call a halt, and get thinking. Mr. Crane for the School Board points out that the figures given are misleading, as Peterborough's cost per pupil is $21.19, while Ottawa is $23.29, and other places still higher.

If you would have a sale yet certain Cough Remedy in the house, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupefying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung-healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

BOTH LEGS BROKEN.

Norman Payne of Dummer, Meets with Painful Accident.

Warsaw, Feb. 26.—Norman Payne, son of Mr. Nathan Payne of Dummer, was the victim of a most painful accident yesterday, by which he sustained a fracture of both limbs below the knee. With his brother he was engaged in felling trees near his home, when one tree in falling lodged in the branches of another. It was necessary to secure a team of horses for the purpose of dislodging the tree, and while engaged in the work the tree suddenly loosened and fell upon the unfortunate young man. When he was picked up it was found that both legs were fractured between the knee and ankle. The right limb was badly splintered, while there was a compound fracture of the left. He was one hour and a half in the woods before he could be removed to his home, where Dr. Munro of Warsaw, attended to his injuries. The accident is a serious one, but Mr. Payne is resting as easily today as could be expected under the circumstances. His home is three miles from this village.

A MANVER'S GIRL.

Lottie McCullough, Who Attempted Murder at Souris, Came from Manvers.

It appears that Lottie McCullough who, as noted in Monday's issue of The Times, attempted to murder Fred Carroll by shooting in Souris, Man., is a former resident of Lotus, Manvers township.

In a letter which was found in the house where she had been staying, it stated that she intended to kill Carroll and then herself. She said he had seduced her under promise of marriage, and that she had been sent by him to a private hospital maintained by the Roman Catholic Church in Winnipeg, where her baby had been born, and that afterwards he had refused to marry her. The baby had died shortly afterwards, and her love had turned to hatred, which increased with his decline to carry out his vows. Thereupon she decided to kill him.

NEW CONCRETE BRIDGE.

To Be Placed Over Nogey's Creek by County.

Bobcaygeon Independent: A meeting of the joint committee from the county councils of Peterborough and Victoria took place on Monday when the following gentlemen were present: Chas. Cohen, Robt. Shaw, M. Young and Dep.-Reeve of Smith, and Engineer Belcher for Peterboro. Warden Tiers, G. C. Byng, Chas. Cornell, Engineer Smith, and Superintendent Kennedy, for Victoria. It was decided to renew Little Bob bridge with a concrete, steel and concrete floor, structure built on the level. A width of fourteen feet was spoken of, but no bridges are now made narrower than 16 feet and on a bridge of this character, and permanency, it is a question whether 16 feet would not ensure greater public convenience and safety.

The Peterborough delegation inspected Nogey's Creek bridge, and it was decided to replace that with a concrete, steel and concrete floor, the structure to be 16 feet wide. The approaches will be straightened and filled in, and the job made a permanent and creditable one.

VOL. XXXIII NO. 45 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY FEBRUARY 28 1910 PRICE TWO CENTS

That the year 1910 will be a banner one from a real estate point of view is the consensus of opinion of leading Peterborough real estate men.

One prominent agent spoke in glowing terms of the prospects for the coming season.

"I have received many enquiries concerning property in the south end of the city in the vicinity of the C. G.E.," he remarked to a Times reporter. "If one half of the people who approach me purchase lots the south end will be a hive of industry for the builder before long, as all the prospective buyers are contemplating building. Many of these enquirers are working men, of fair means who have accummulated some hard cash and are now putting it into a home for themselves."

"Many enquirers have been seeking lots in Ashburnham, a few of these we will admit are of a speculative nature. One or two have been waiting the outcome of the Purity Ware proposition and have been securing options on property in the vicinity of where the proposed factory was to have been erected."

In the west end a number of residential houses will be erected. This section of the city is fast becoming "the residential part."

"The only drawback is the lack of our city fathers to secure new industries, and," said the agent, "if they would only get their hooks out and land one or two instead of discussing the appointment of an industrial commissioner, while other cities are stepping in and taking these industries from right under their nose, and without a commissioner at that, things would certainly hum in the real estate line and in every other line."

Timid, Winsome Girl of Eighteen is on Trial for Her Life

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Estelle Stout, just 18, is on trial in Chicago, charged with the murder of Henry Hornberger, a crayon portrait solicitor. The hatred of the murdered man's widow brought the girl to trial.

Estelle was but 17 when she shot Hornberger. She killed him defending the life of her invalid sister, as she believed.

Just before Christmas, 1908, Hornberger called at the Stout home, were the two orphaned girls lived together. He brought with him the enlarged photograph of a third, a dead sister.

For some reason the girls would not accept the enlargement, and Hornberger, it is charged, crashed the frame, glass and all, upon the floor, and cowed Estelle's invalid sister by the throat. The younger girl was beside herself with fury. She ran for a revolver. Estelle says she thought the man was killing her sister. She fired Hornberger ran from the house to the sidewalk, and fell dead.

A coroner's jury heard the evidence and exonerated Miss Stout, but Hornberger's widow, a handsome woman, pressed a case before the grand jury and succeeded in getting the girl indicted for murder.

The girl's winsomeness and frailty her terror of the court, and the heavy effort it is for her to control herself enough to answer questions on the witness stand, have exalted the sympathy of the Chicago public. She still maintains she shot Hornberger to save her sister's life.

The woman who hates her— Mrs. Hornberger—says Estelle's tears in court are sham, that they are only shed for effect.

'She laughed at my grief before the coroner, when she thought she was safe," said Mrs. Hornberger.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier leaves for Hot Springs

(Special to The Times.)

Montreal, Feb. 27.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has decided to give up the House of Commons for a month or so and seek the benefits of a warmer climate than is to be found on Parliament Hill. The prime minister will leave Montreal Sunday evening for Hot Springs, Ark. The time of his sojourn there will depend upon the state of his health. A private car will be placed at the disposition of Sir Wilfrid by the C.P.R.

Saturday's Market.

Saturday's market was fairly well attended. The following were the ruling prices: Butter 25 to 26c., eggs 28 to 30c., chickens $1 to $1.25 per pair. A few turkeys brought from $1.50 to $2.50 each.

Lakefield Cadet Corps.

A Cadet Corps has been formed at the Grove School, Lakefield, notice of which is given in last week's militia orders from Ottawa. The corps will consist of one company, and will be attached to military district No. 3. John W. F. Light has been appointed captain, and Joseph Crombie and John C. Newburn, lieutenants.

GET POWER.

The Supply Comes From Food.

If we get power from food, why not strive to get all the power we can. That is only possible by the use of skilfully selected food that exactly fits the requirements of the body.

Poor fuel makes a poor fire and a poor fire is not a good steam producer.

"From not knowing how to select the right food to fit my needs, I suffered grievously for a long time from stomach troubles," writes a lady from a little town in Missouri.

"It seemed as if I would never be able to find out the sort of food that was best for me. Hardly anything that I could eat would stay on my stomach. Every attempt gave me heart-burn and filled my stomach with gas. I got thinner and thinner until I literally became a living skeleton and in time was compelled to keep to my bed.

"A few months ago I was persuaded to try Grape-Nuts Food, and it had such good effect from the very beginning that I have kept up its use ever since. I was surprised at the ease with which I digested it. It proved to be just what I needed.

"All my unpleasant symptoms, the heart-burn, the inflated feeling which gave me so much pain disappeared. My weight gradually increased from 96 to 116 lbs., my figure rounded out my strength came back, and I am now able to do my house work and more. Grape-Nuts did it."

Name given for the little book, "The Road to Wellville," "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Much Snow and Ice.

A little more of this soft weather followed by rain would have a serious result as the snow and ice on our main thoroughfares is considered to be exceedingly heavy this winter and far above the average. When the soft weather does set in, and should it come suddenly it will require considerable hard work and precaution by the city street cleaning department to prevent our main streets from becoming a minature river.

St. John's Church Notes.

There will be no meeting of the King's Daughters this week.

Rev. E. W. Holdsworth will be the special preacher at Wednesday evening's service.

Next Sunday Rev. Dr. Lloyd, vice-provost, of Trinity College, Toronto, will preach at the evening service and probably in the morning also.

SPRINGVILLE.

Mr. Wm. Petty, one of the best known citizens of Springville, is leaving the village and is going to the Ottonabee side of the river to take up farming near Hale's Bridge.

Mr. J. F. Pullyblank, the Springville blacksmith and machinist, is leaving Springville to go to Allandale near Keene. This leaves a splendid opening for a good blacksmith in Springville, and the residents would like to hear from such a man.

Refused Assistance.

In the published proceedings of the Brock township council, Mr. Ayers of Peterborough, appeared before the council asking for some assistance for an unfortunate sick man who had been working in his camp near Blackwater. The whole bill amounted to $187. Mr. Ayers engaged this man in Peterborough, and after working three weeks he was taken sick with typhoid fever, and being without money or friends Mr. Ayers took care of him. The reeve was unable to grant any assistance claiming that the man was not a resident of Brock and had been brought in by a resident of Peterborough, who should look after the welfare of his men. Mr. Ayers said that he had arranged to take him to Peterborough and put him in the hospital there, but the doctor would not allow him to be moved.

THE WEATHER.

Mild with sleet or rain.

"Was Unbusinesslike" Says Justice Magee in Summing Up Libel Case

Result of Foster-Macdonald Libel Action Waited for with Great Interest Throughout Canada—Counsel for the Plaintiff Charges Judge with Unfairness

His lordship instructed the jury that remarks concerning such matters were not always libelous. People were entitled to freedom of speech and to comment freely on matters of public interest. There was likely to be little purity in politics if that were not so. The royal commission report was undergoing a wide discussion. It was a matter of importance and a matter which the public had a right to discuss, and make fair and proper comment thereon. There was the added fact that Mr. Macdonald had been challenged by Mr. Foster in strong language to discuss that very subject. Having accused Mr. Macdonald of being a liar, he could not expect to be handled with kid gloves. A man so charged was entitled to defend himself, so long as he kept malice in the background.

(Special to The Times.)

Toronto, Feb. 26.—The Foster-Macdonald libel action which has occupied the attention of Justice Magee and ajury for a week, and in which many distinguished men have taken part, either as principals, witnesses or counsel, went to the jury at 3.40 Saturday afternoon. Justice Magee's summary was on the whole rather in favor of the defendant, Mr. Macdonald. At the conclusion of the judge's summing up, which lasted from 10 a.m. to 3.40 p.m., Mr. Hellmuth raised objections to several interpretations of the evidence as given by his lordship.

CHARGED JUDGE WITH BEING UNFAIR.

"Finally, I make the general charge that your lordship's summing up was unfair to the plaintiff. You pointed out everything against him, and where you pointed out anything in his favor, you followed up with something which tended to destroy its effect."—I. F. Hellmuth, K.C.

SHERIFF SERVES SUMMONSES.

On Uxbridge People Who are to Testify in MacLaughlin Trial.

Uxbridge, Feb. 27.—Sheriff Paxton of Whitby, was in town last week serving summonses on those who will be required to give evidence at the trial of Archibald MacLaughlin, who is charged with murder of his wife and two sons. The trial will be held on Monday, May 9th, in Whitby.

HOTEL AT NEWMARKET.

Local Option Hotel Will Be Built at Cost of $40,000.

Newmarket, Feb. 28.—A company has been formed to build a "local option" hotel at Newmarket, which will take out one of the special licenses as a result of the town passing local option. The directors are Dr. J. H. Wesley, J. A. Cody, Aubrey Davis, P. W. Parson and W. H. Eves, all of Newmarket.

NEXT MEETING HERE.

District Library Board to Meet in Peterborough.

Acting on the uthority of the Department of Education, a meeting was held in Lindsay on Friday of the Midland District Library Board, with a view to the better mutual exchange of ideas, and with a view also to finding out how the department of Education a meeting the smaller libraries.

Addresses were delivered by Mr. Geo. Locke, the chief-librarian of the city of Toronto, by Library Inspector Nursey of Toronto, and Mr. J. H. Burnham of Peterborough. The delegate from the local board was Mr. James English. Mr. Burnham having been asked to attend by the Ontario Library Association. The Nominating Committee, consisting of Mr. Jacobi of Oshawa, Mr. Conyage of Oakwood, and Mr. Burnham (chairman) of Peterborough, considered the next place of meeting. Peterborough was chosen. Dr. Vrooman, the very efficient president of the Lindsay Board, was made first president, and Dr. Burnham of the Peterborough Board, vice-president, and Mr. Jacobi of Oshawa, secretary. Mr. James English was appointed to represent Peterborough on the Executive Committee. There are 411 public libraries in Ontario, and 40 in what the department has named the Lindsay district.

The day was a busy and profitable one, the subjects being practically dealt with and followed by general discussion. The small village libraries are doing great work.

The meeting next February in Peterborough's new library will attract probably 75 delegates from this district. It is proposed to have a public meeting in the evening, at which addresses will be delivered bearing on a subject which is capable of much improvement. Free public libraries have been well described as the poor man's university. To neglect them or to suffer them to go astray is an injury to the great mass of the people that cannot otherwise be repaired.

Medicines that aid nature are always most successful. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It loosens the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Sold by all dealers.

SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE.

For the Defence in the Dr. Fritch Murder Trial.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 25.— There was a dramatic moment in the Recorder's Court yesterday during the trial of Dr. Fritch, the former Drumbo, Ontario doctor, for the murder of Mabel Millman, when, in an effort to prevent his pretty young wife from going on the stand and testifying for the defence, Frank Knott a young man of 24, sprang at Attorney Frank T. Lodge, and struck him a heavy blow on the chest.

Mrs. Knott told a story which, if believed, would completely exonerate Dr. Fritch of the offence with which he is charged. She swore that she was in the physician's office the entire afternoon of the day Mabel Millman died, and that the girl had not been in the place at all. Her entire narrative was most positive and created a sensation.

Later, Knott himself had a private talk with Judge Phelan, and repudiated his wife's story in toto. He said he would swear she was not in Dr. Fritch's office at all on the fatal Friday and capped the climax by informing the prosecuting attorney that Mrs. Knox had endeavored to indnce him to go on the stand and testify to facts which would establish a perfect alibi for the doctor.

Upon hearing this story, the judge immediately adjourned court until today, and in the meantime he will decide what course to pursue.

Knott says his wife, who is but 21 years old, has become infatuated with Dr. Fritch, and visited him at his office before the Millman case was ever heard of.

The Rights of Canada Life Policy Holders

Toronto, Feb. 27.—Two developments were made on Saturday in the action by W. Laidlaw, K.C., to al. v. Canada Life Assurance Company by the filing of an amended statement of claim, and the announcement that George Kappele, K.C., had been appointed by Hon. J. J. Foy, attorney-general of Ontario, to represent the Province with respect to the constitutional question.

The plaintiff sets forth that the minister of justice, at Ottawa, and the attorney-general of Ontario have been duly notified that the plaintiff and the policyholders associated with him in the action are applying for a trial at bar, that is by a court composed of three judges, of the question of the constitutionality of the insurance law now before parliament, also the act of 1909 and preceding legislation affecting the rights of policyholders in their contracts made in accordance with the Dominion charter granted to the defendants.

ENTITLED TO SHARE PROFITS.

The plaintiffs claims that under the charter the policyholders were entitled to share in a division of 90 per cent. of the profits, and that the shareholders were limited to 10 per cent.

The statement claims the increasing of the paid up capital fund $125,000 in 1900 to $1,000,000 was "a device to take from the policyholders for the benefit of the shareholders.

The amended statement after detailing the acts complained of by the company, including the "promotion of the act of 1909," charged that they "constitute and are willful violations, and breaches of the obligations of the company to the policyholders on the participating scale, and constitute and are repudiations of the life policy contracts, and the plaintiff is entitled to rescind, and he elects to rescind, the said life insurance policies, and to claim the right to receive back the premiums which have been paid in respect thereof and interest."

CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTION.

The constitutional question is whether jurisdiction over insurance contracts made in Ontario are subject not to changes by the Dominion Parliament such as would affect the rights of the parties to the contracts.

Message to Canada from United States Lost for Ten Days

Washington, D.C., Feb. 26.—Some place between Washington and Ottawa there is a diplomatic message—lost. Whether it has been snowed-in in the Adirondacks or whether it has been lost among a few thousand less distinguished missives, nobody knows. In fact, nobody really knows that it is lost. The conclusion is based on the fact that the American Government has been in waiting ten days for an answer to its message, while on the other hand the Government in Ottawa has similarly been waiting some move on the part of the Americans.

At all events, a second message was placed in the hands of the British Embassy yesterday, repeating the one which the British embassy is said to have mailed to Canada ten days ago.

HAD TRUNKS READY.

The message, couched, of course in the most elegant diplomatic language, was a request by the United States Government to know whether it should send its tariff experts to negotiate with Canada direct or through the British Foreign Office. Your correspondent was told today, unofficially, that two men, who are among those who will advise the president's course in the matter, were ready when the first enquiry was sent, to go to Ottawa. They had their trunks packed, pending an answer. Since no reply, however has been received these gentlemen remained at home.

NEW MESSAGE YESTERDAY.

With the sending of the second message yesterday it is fully expected the American Government will receive a reply, and that the negotiations, which have been thus delayed, will go on.

Verdict was Against Foster

(Special to The Times.)

Toronto, Feb. 27.—After a long and tedious deliberation by the jury in the Foster-Macdonald libel case which has been in progress in this city all of the past week, a verdict was returned last night in favor of Mr. Macdonald, Mr. Foster having to pay the entire costs of the case.

Ontario Men Whole Show in Most Sensational Split in Alberta Government

In this legislative controversy there is no fight between the north and the south. No section of the country is inclined to have the road stopped and every section of the country is desirous of having the road constructed, and both north and south are equally desirous of having the road constructed upon a businesslike basis. To give over $7,000,000 to a company to build a road which will cost little more than half of that amount is something which will be opposed with equal vigor by both north and south. There is nothing sectional in the question.

There is not so very great difference of opinion about constructing a road, but there is the greatest dissatisfaction in the outrageous manner in which it is being constructed. The question is not whether or not there should be a road to the far north, but whether a government which makes an agreement the like of which has never been seen in this country, with a company about whom no person knows anything, is a safe government to carry to completion an enterprise of that kind or to conduct the ordinary business of this Province.—Calgary Albertan.

A STARTLING UPHEAVAL.

The threatened disruption of the Government of Alberta through the resignation of the Hon. W. H. Cushing, minister of public works, is one of the most startling political developments in the recent political history of the country. If it does not assume the magnitude of the Pacific scandal it is because of the provincial nature of the undertaking and not because it lacks the elements of interest which caused the upheaval which swept the federal administration from power more than a quarter of a century ago.

The upheaval in the Alberta administration appeals with a special interest to the people of Ontario, for nearly every man affected is a native of this Province or former resident. Most of the young men inspired with the enthusiasm of the west are backed by an academic training of the seats of learning in the east. These men are setting out to build up a new province of enormous natural resources.

Political Revolution Astir---Roosevelt Only Can Save His Party

(Special to The Times.)

New York, Feb. 26.—John Temple Graves, Washington correspondent of the New York American, wires: Nothing in the heavens above or in the waters under the earth can save the Republican party now, except it be Theodore Roosevelt!

This is the consensus of opinion among that limited number of American statesmen who are willing to talk, and even this impression, absolutely unanimous and evidently sincere, is imparted in confidence and under the strict injunction that no names are to be used.

This is the period in our country's history when every man is afraid of his shadow or of his votes.

After all, the great game at Washington is politics rather than the business of the country.

SOMTHING MUST BE DONE.

Interest in economic measures is in eclipse. The federal corporation law is practically abandoned. The publicity of corporation returns excites only a languid interest. Nobody appears to be especially excited over the interstate commerce measures which will probably pass with a debilitating amendment. The conservation measure seems assured, and notwithstanding Bailey's really great speech in opposition, the postal savings bank may receive a tranquil majority in the senate.

But from turret to foundation stone this capitol of our country is alive and astir to the presidential politics of 1912, and the center of national interests is for a time transferred from Washington to an indefinite point in Egypt where the correspondents of the world's newspapers are to meet a bronzed and bearded hunter, carrying the pelts of a thousand wild animals in his train.

If any man doubts that there is a political revolution astir in this country, he has only to stand here stories that are afloat in the winds and burning the wires of the country.

Tuesday night, in the president's home town, Cincinnati, the Stanwix Republican Club, in a great banquet applauded the president's name for one minute and Theodore Roosevelts name for seven minutes. Nicholas Longworth was present.

The Cleveland Plain-Dealer of Tuesday, contained a merciless and scathing arraignment of the Taft administration as a failure.

The Chicago Tribune, in a poll of over 2000 editors between the Alleghenies and the Mississippi, shows about 1200 for Roosevelt for president, and the rest divided between Taft and Harmon and Bryon and Pinchot in the order named.

The correspondents of five American newspapers are hieing to Egypt now. A score of others will follow.

Nearly every Republican in the sixty-first congress is exhausting his political influence in the endeavor to be put on the committee to welcome a distinguished American on his return to New York.

Refuse to Abolish the Lords---Decisive Vote on the Peers

London, Feb. 27.—Semi-official authority is given for the report that a majority of the cabinet ministers are of the opinion that the country is opposed to a single chamber government, so they will continue to stand for a combination of the limitation of the veto and the reform of the Lords on elective lines.

The Westminister Gazette thinks a decisive vote will be taken on the first resolution against the peers.

Later Mr. Asquith immediately before the cabinet meeting, visited the King, and had a half hour interview. Great importance is attached to these visits. It is believed Mr. Asquith placed before his majesty the reasons for the modification of the ministerial program, which are to simplify the crisis.

The rumor is renewed that these include a proposal for submitting the single question of the Lord's veto to a popular direct vote, upon the result whereof legislation would follow immediately after the spring recess.

It is probable the Radicals, Nationalists and Laborites almost to a man would be opposed to a continuation of the House of Lords on the elective plan. Men like Sir Charles Dilke have stated that the Upper Chamber so constituted, would have more influence, if not more authority than ever.

London, Feb. 28.—The report of a concession to the extreme Radicals and Irishmen is renewed. Another cabinet meeting will be held today.

A heavily underlined "whip" has been issued to the Ministerialists for Monday, when also the Irishmen will meet to consider the attitude on the Government's motion for the full time of the House.

PUFFINESS UNDER EYES— SWELLING FEET.

These Symptoms are Among the Surest Indications of Real Kidney Disease.

For nearly a year my kidneys failed to do their work, writes William F. Plaskett, a well-known dairyman residing in Britannia, "I had swollen feet so badly that at times I could scarcely walk, my skin grew yellowish, and a general puffiness under the eyes gave my face a very unnatural appearance. My strength failed, and as I am a working man, loss of time and the prospect of serious illness caused me great anxiety. I read of several cures from Dr. Hamilton's Pills and decided to get five boxes. Now I feel it my duty to testify that they are the best kidney, liver and stomach medicine on earth. While my kidneys were so badly affected after all I think it was because the liver and bowels were clogged up. Anyway in less than a month the swelling in my feet ceased—my skin lost its yellowish cast—my eyes grew clear and natural, and, considering my age is nearly sixty, I am as fit as most men. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful medicine that every man can use to advantage."

Don't be misled into using any other pill but Dr. Hamilton's. Sold in yellow boxes at 25c. per box, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ontario.

Invaluable to Every Farmer

The Wonderful Power in Curing Sick Cattle and Colicky Horses Makes "Nerviline" Worth its Weight in Gold.

The stockman or farmer that doesn't know of the thousand and one uses of Nerviline around the stable, has a great deal to learn. "Why, I wouldn't think of locking my stable door at night without knowing I had a supply of 'Nerviline' on hand. I always get a dozen bottles at a time from my druggist.

NERVILINE CURES COLICKY HORSES

"To cure colic, indigestion and bad stomach in a horse or cow there is no remedy on earth the same class as 'Nerviline.' Last summer I had a $250 horse that got the worms and I would have lost him if I hadn't been able to give him Nerviline. I poured a full bottle of Nerviline in a pint of water down his throat and saved his life. I know of neighbors who have saved many heads of valuable stock, stricken with colic, just by using Nerviline. It is equally good as a rub-on liniment, and I know from my experience that for man or beast, internally or externally, 'Nerviline' is worth a dollar a drop."

James E. Mc Cullough,
Stock Breeder, etc.

You will not regret using Nerviline—but see you get it and not some thing else. 25c. per bottle, or five for $1.00, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.

The steady progress temperance reform has been making in Ontario for the past thirty-five years, is shown by the steady reduction year by year in the number of places where liquor may be legally sold.

1880	4,949
1885	3,979
1890	3,569
1895	3,151
1900	2,950
1905	2,836
1909	2,325
1910 (estimated)	2,320

Thus for every three drinking places in 1875 there is, in round numbers but one at present.

As regards municipalities the situation in Ontario now is:

Total number of municipalities	612
Total under license	407
Under Prohibition	205

Thus temperance progress in Ontario has been a sure and steady growth of many years, and there is indication that this growth is as sure for the future, as figures show it to have been constant in the past.

THE BUDGET AND THE LORDS.

Mr. Asquith and his associates have made their choice, in spite of warnings and ultimata. The Irish Nationalists and the Laborites are keenly disappointed, and they may carry out their threat and defeat the Government in the first division. But Asquith's explanation of his course in the Commons, as well as the so-called King's speech, would seem to indicate that the cabinet really had no alternative from the viewpoint of political etiquette and correctness of procedure.

The budget is to be taken up first, because no government, in the cabinet's view, can, for partisan purposes, prolong a fiscal crisis and assume the responsibility for confusion and demoralization in revenue and administration. Furthermore, the budget question is now simplicity itself, since the lords are now prepared to accept the measure they held up in the last Parliament, without the least obstruction or delay. On the other hand, the question of limiting the veto of the upper house is one that bristles with constitutional and political difficulties; it spells a hard fight, resistance by the lords and another election. For, as has been made plain, the crown has not promised, and will not promise, to overcome the lords by "swamping" the present tory majority.

But the Nationalists and the Laborites, who charge that Asquith misled them during the campaign—though doubtless unintentionally—by indulging in tall talk about "guarantees" from the king, hold that to proceed with the budget and subordinate, even for the briefest period, the issue of the lords' veto is to play into the hands of the hereditary chamber and the special interests represented by it.

Settle the question of revenue and taxation, they say, and the lords will feel that they are masters of the situation. They will take plenty of time and reform themselves at leisure, treating with contempt any commons proposal seriously restricting their usurped rights. The inevitable election will be postponed, to the advantage of the tories, and the great democracy will be mocked and outraged. Since another fight is unavoidable, let it come at the first possible moment, let the lords be given no chance to fortify themselves, and let the blame for the financial chaos be laid at their door.

Asquith, as we have said, has made his choice, and it remains to be seen whether a compromise can be effected between his followers and the independent parties whose votes he needs even to passed the suspended budget. If no understanding is reached, no truce arranged, this parliament will prove a "stillborn one" and dissolution will be enforced before Easter. But what party has any reason to expect gain from an immediate election thus brought about? What reason is there to suppose that the country would speak with a more certain voice?

ANTI-CANADIANS.

A charge that the Premier of Canada is disloyal always conveys the inference that he is disloyal because of his race. The Belleville Intelligencer blurts this out, but it differs from others only in frankness. It states plainly what they imply.

From a charge that the premier is disloyal because he is a French-Canadian, it is only a short step to a charge that all Quebec is disloyal for the same reason. Dr. Edwards when challenged upon this point in the House of Commons the other day, agreed that the mass of French Canadians were loyal, but said that the seeds of dissension were being sowed by the Liberal party. The opposite is true. The chief opponent of participation in naval defence is Mr. Monk, the Quebec leader of the Conservative party. Answering Mr. Monk, Mr. Lemieux made a speech of so strongly imperial a character that it would have been applauded at the Dreadnought meeting in Toronto La Presse and La Patrie, the most powerful journals in Quebec, are doing their utmost to reconcile Quebec sentiment with that of the rest of Canada. All this work of unification is being done by Liberals.

Dr. Edwards finds that there is a certain coldness in Quebec on Imperial questions. Suppose that is true. Are two millions of people to be scolded, bullied, and clubbed into ardent Imperial sentiments? The acceptance or rejection of Imperial views is a purely voluntary matter. French Canadians are bound like the rest of us, to obey the laws and pay the taxes, but no one can indicate to them how they shall think, or how they shall vote. It is a case, not for compulsion, but for persuasion. Persuasion is the method of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, of Mr. Lemieux, and other leading Quebec Liberals. They tell the people of Quebec that their interests are identical with those of the people of Great Britain. This is an Imperial policy which begins by unifying Canada.

To attack French-Canadians as disloyal is to run the risk of dividing the Dominion of Canada upon racial lines. A country so divided would be a source, not of strength, but of weakness and danger to the Empire. Hitherto British statesmen have had no anxieties in regard to this part of the world. Canada has been peaceful, united, prosperous. She has for many years undertaken her own defence on land; she is now undertaking the same duty on sea. It is of the highest importance that our action in this respect shall be the action of a united Canada. It is a strange way of serving the Empire to represent that Canada is not united but divided, that the head of the government and of the Liberal party is a rebel, and that the whole Province of Quebec lies at least under suspicion of disaffection. An enemy of the Empire would chuckle over the success of such tactics.

The strength of the Empire depends upon the strength of its parts. Imperialism cannot be advanced in Canada upon anti'Canadian lines. Canadians of all races and religions must work together, in a spirit of confidence and good will, and of pride in the great country which it is their privilege to develop. The confidence of the people of Canada cannot be won by an anti-Canadian policy.—Toronto Star.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product of any kind enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this same Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY PERSON WHO IS THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, solely owned and occupied by him, or his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

Sporting Notes.

The Buffalo Yacht club plans a $15,000 clubhouse.

The University of Pennsylvania is to go in for indoor track racing next fall.

Iloilo, Philippine Islands, has a ten-pin league made up of eight five man team clubs.

For $5 Germans may soon be able to take airship excursions from Berlin to Potsdam.

The open American golf championship has never been won by an American born golfer, it is said.

The Yorkshire fishing board of England has distributed 6,100 yearling trout to angling clubs there.

Things Theatrical.

William Dwight Moody has written a new play, called "The Rising Generation."

Edgar L. Davenport and Aubrey Boucicault are to establish a dramatic school in Philadelphia.

Lillian Russell has scored in her new farce, "The First Night," under the direction of Joseph Brooks.

"Peter Pan" has been revived in London with Pauline Chase in the title role. It was enthusiastically received.

Maude Raymond will be with Max Rogers in "The Young Turk," which will be produced in New York shortly.

Facts From France.

Nearly 316,000 marriages took place in France last year.

Regular theatrical performances are given every year in France in huge ruined theaters built by the Romans.

Flour making in France is the most important industry in the country in amount of capital invested and value of annual output.

The French government takes 15 per cent of all the money staked at the casinos of the seaside and other health resorts on the little horses and other gambling devices. For the season of 1909-9 this percentage amounted to $943,393, the summer season naturally contributing the greater part—over $400,000.

Train and Track.

There are in Argentina four broad gauge railroads, three narrow gauge and two English gauge.

Electricity has supplanted gas for car lighting in nearly all state railways of Italy, Switzerland and Denmark.

It has been proved that the great railway terminals, where traffic is constant, where switch engines are shunted back and forth and suburban trains are run frequently, can be operated more economically by electricity than by steam.

A Queer Cure.

At Loch Carron, Scotland, a certain cure for erysipelas is to cut off half of the ear of a cat and let the blood from either half drop on the inflamed parts.

Poisonous Snakes.

There are only eight poisonous snakes in America, and the proportion of poisonous snakes everywhere, except in Australia, is one in four. In Australia, however, the proportion is reversed, and three-fourths of the snakes found in that country are poisonous.

Convict Gardeners.

Instead of being put to ordinary jail tasks, long sentence prisoners at Hobart, Tasmania, are employed in the local botanical gardens.

A Plague of Sand.

Sand is the curse of Portuguese East Africa. It blocks the rivers and harbors and stretches in a vast sea toward the interior, effectually cutting off the coast towns from the highlands. Besides, it makes the problem of transportation the bugbear of the planter.

The Word "Mile."

The word "mile" is derived from the Latin "mille," a thousand. A thousand paces of a marching soldier made the old Roman mile.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Sheop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Sheop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Sheop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by all dealers.

Tell Some Sick One
It Is Free If It Fails.

Will you do an act of Humanity?
Will you tell some sick friend of this my remarkable offer?

Tell him or her, that you have learned of a medicine so certain that its maker dare say to the sick, "It is absolutely and unconditionally free if it fails."

And you, no doubt, already know of Dr. Sheop's Restorative and its popularity.

For 30 years it has been the standard remedy for Stomach, Kidney and Heart ailments every where in America.

When the "inside" or controlling nerves of these vital organs begin to fail, it is Dr. Sheop's Restorative that has quickly vitalized, and strengthened, and brought these nerves and organs back to health again.

I do not dose the Stomach, nor stimulate the heart or Kidneys for they soon weaken. Dr. Sheop's Restorative goes at once to the cause of these ailments—the failing, inherited, inside or controlling nerves. And herein lies the key [illegible]

When these nerves are again made well and strong, then that is the certain end of all sick sickness.

Some is in a great satisfaction then, I am the only physician able to say to the suffering sick, "Take my prescription for full 30 days, and if it fails to help you, the entire expense is mine—not yours."

Then why should the sick take any chance on any other medicine, when maker dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer?

I also have a Free Sample Remedy—and that remedy is covered by the same identical "No help, no pay" protective plan.

Besides, you are free to consult me just as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours [illegible]

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my [illegible] personal advice plan. My best effort is always worth your simple request.

So let me send you an order at once. Take the first step to your sick friend.

A postal will bring the opportunity.

I will have an honest and trustworthy druggist to whom you can conveniently go for the [illegible] day I [illegible]

Eat first, ask me for the order, for all druggists are entrusted to give the 25 day test.

So write ME NOW and have all delays. Remember that tomorrow never comes. Address Dr. Sheop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

TO CURE TUBERCULOSIS.

German Physician Claims to Have Made Discovery.

New York, Feb. 26.—Dr. Robert Schneider, of Berlin, the discoverer of a new cure for tuberculosis, who soon will demonstrate his method in Chicago, arrived here to-day. He was a passenger on the steamship Umbria, which was buffeted by storms throughout its voyage and was three days late.

Dr. Schneider employs a combination of sulphuric acid, charcoal and eucalyptus, which is burned in a lamp placed in the sleeping room of the patient. The progress of the disease is arrested by the fumes of the drugs, although the doctor says it is impossible to restore a lung that has been wasted away.

Threatening feverishness with children is quickly and safely calmed by Preventics. These little Candy Cold Cure Tablets should always be at hand—for promptness is all-important. Preventics contain no quinine, nothing harsh nor sickening. They are indeed "the stitch in time." Carried in pocket or purse. Preventics are a genuine safeguard against Cold 25c. Sold by all dealers.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for restoration of, and additional story to Military Stores Building, Ottawa, Ont.," will be received at this office until 5.00 p.m., on Monday, March 7, 1910, for the work mentioned.

Plans, specification and form of contracts can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, with their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
NAPOLEON TESSIER,
Secretary.

CUPBOARDS OF TODAY.

More Compact Though Not as Artistic as Old Fashioned Style.

The cupboards of today are unlike the artistic old fashioned creations, inasmuch as they are liberally provided for, and consequently are more compact in construction. The idea now seems to be to intrude all sorts of odd niches into all our apartments rather than limit cupboard space to one capacious jog in one certain room. It is really a good idea, too, for odd nooks filled with china, pottery or books are always pleasing additions to a room, no matter how attractive it may already be. The arrangement of spaces to encase these cupboards is now as carefully thought out as the equipment of the house itself, and present day architects are beginning to realise the importance of carefully planning these nooks in the most artistic manner possible.

A model frequently employed for use in the dining room and sometimes in the living room as well is the old time buffet above described, but decreased in size to accommodate the less commodious dimensions of twentieth century rooms. It is generally entirely glassed in rather than partly, as were the original receptacles, sometimes with broad panes, but generally with the diamond shaped lights, to carry out further the old time idea. If the room where it is ensconced, says the Boston Cooking School Magazine, is colonial in character it is sure to prove charming, and the bits of grandmother's beloved china that have stood the test of years will look familiar behind the primly leaded panes.

Spaces beside the fireplace present excellent opportunities for the arrangement of built in cupboards, wherein may be stored books or china, and it is a matter of small difficulty to have them recessed and fitted with shelves. Whether or not they should be inclosed with doors is a matter of personal taste. In either case they are sure to fill in a bare spot most acceptably. Sometimes the same cupboard can extend into two rooms on opposite sides of the partition, a set of shelves being arranged on either side and used for different purposes. The Adams cupboard seen in the illustration is a delightful example of old fashioned effects that are much sought after today.

HOUSEHOLD TALKS.

"If I am out of furniture polish," said a woman who owns some beautiful old oak pieces, "all I do to my chairs, tables and chests is to dust them thoroughly, wash them when washing is needed with vinegar and water and rub them well with a few drops of paraffin oil on a cloth and finally with a clean cloth. This treatment polishes them just enough and keeps the grain showing beautifully."

"For a long time," said a young housekeeper, "our clothes kept coming up from the laundry looking not quite clean and with dun colored stains on them here and there. I reasoned with the laundress, but it didn't do any good, so I decided to investigate the laundry. And what do you think I found? Simply that Annie hadn't cleaned the tubs properly. You know, we haven't the modern porcelain tubs. We have the slate tubs which are still found in so many houses and eke these out with portable wooden tubs. When I found that the laundress in her hurry generally put these tubs away dripping and slimy with soapsuds I didn't wonder at the stains on our clothes. I always inspect the laundry the day after wash day now."

"Do you inspect the kitchen saucepans?" asked the physician of the mother whose child was ailing. "In more cases than you would imagine illness is caused by lack of care of kitchen utensils. The maid, ignorant or overworked or careless, doesn't take time to go into the corners and crevices of pots and pans, which, by the way, are made with far too many corners. The Chinese are wiser. Many of their cooking utensils are round, with no places where fragments of food can catch and decay and breed microbes. I advise you to take a look at the kitchen implements frequently. Inspect the dishcloths, too, and, above all, see that the refrigerator is sweet and clean."

If you would have a safe yet certain Cough Remedy in the house, buy Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly reliable—any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other sickening ingredients are used. The soothing leaves of a harmless, long-used mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is surely a most certain and trustworthy prescription. Sold by all dealers.

THE PRINCESS SLIP.

One Piece Undergarments Not Novel, but Very Useful.

One piece combination undergarments may not be novel, but they are of especial value at the present moment, when the slender effect is the goal after which every woman is striving, for any extra material beneath the carefully fitted gown is likely to mold the otherwise perfect effect. Many women have been inclined to regard the princess slip or foundation dress as somewhat of a needless extravagance, but the exigencies of prevailing fashion have made them readjust their ideas on this subject.

The woman, therefore, who wishes to obtain the best results in her dressing will find this garment of no small importance and a matter of much convenience that, once worn, she will not be able to do without it. The contour of this princess slip is to avoid the fullness and gathers which occur at the waist when a separate skirt and chemise are worn and to clothe the hips without any unnecessary material. The bottom of the skirt may be full, but the top must be gored out until the garment fits perfectly.

The model pictured here is carefully shaped to the figure by seams both back and front, and the opening, which comes at the back, must be fastened with snaps, hooks or buttons. If the latter method is adopted, be careful to have small buttons and buttonholes. It is unnecessary to have large buttons, which only make the garment look clumsy.

The combination slip may be developed in one of the lightweight silks or taffetas, lace edging serving as trimming on the waist. The skirt is constructed so that the flounce is detachable, a point which increases the utility of the garment, as a change of flounces is easily possible.

If the flounce is made of the foundation material, seven and three-quarter yards of twenty-seven inch width will be needed. If silk is not desired, lawn or nainsook will give very dainty results.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

If you want white hands do not depend too much on cream and lotions. Redness of the hands, like redness of the nose, is often caused by poor circulation.

Delicate women who fear catching cold from having the hair shampooed in winter should buy a good tonic, which dissolves the dust and dandruff that are bound to accumulate without great care. Ask your hairdresser for a cleansing lotion for the scalp that can be rubbed in every few nights and will keep the head free from dust and dandruff and the hair soft and brilliant.

Women who are compelled to do a good deal of housework and whose fingers are constantly in water should try the plan of washing their hands in the ordinary way with soap and water and while wet of rubbing dry salt well over the cuticle. This will remove all grime and stains and will keep the hands smooth and white. A slice of lemon is invaluable for preserving the fine texture of the skin and should be rubbed over the hands while washing.

Light hair is apt to grow darker with age, and anything that would entirely prevent this would be so drying as to be injurious. There is a shampoo mixture, however, that will do no harm and may aid you. It is made of raw egg, a teaspoonful of powdered borax, half a teaspoonful of violet ammonia and a quarter of a teaspoonful of subcarbonate of potash. Beat well together and then stir into a quart of warm water. Wet the scalp and hair thoroughly, massaging at the same time. Use no soap.

Dyeing Tan Shoes.

Every one does not know that tan shoes can be dyed black. The cost is small, and the result is that the shoe will serve through the winter.

Dog Sentenced to Death.

Police Magistrate Dumble did not don the black cap at the police court on Saturday when he ordered that a vicious dog, which bit people in Ashburnham, be shot. A resident of that locality complained that the animal had used his teeth on him and there was evidence to show he had attacked others. The defendant in the case denied ownership and stated that the dog had been in the habit of making its home about his place. It is understood that the dog was despatched.

ALEXANDER H. HEATH, Vice-President.
JAMES K. MACLENNAN, Secretary-Treasurer.
JOHN ANNIS, of Markstay, Ont.
JAMES TOWNSEND, of Mabel, Que., and
JOHN H. CLARY, of Sudbury, Ont.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent dated April 16th, A. D., 1909, and is empowered to carry on in all its branches the operations of a mining, milling, reduction and development Company.

The Company was organized more particularly to acquire and develop certain of the mining claims on Emerald Lake commonly called the Townsend-Annis gold properties.

Mr. Townsend had an undivided eleven-sixteenths interest in Mining Location W.D. 154, and Mr. Annis had three water claims adjoining and extending westward from W.D. 154. The Company has a working option on the remaining five-sixteenths of W. D. 154 from Mr. William Crawford, of Haileybury, formerly of Sudbury. The Company purchased outright the interest of Mr. Townsend and Mr. Annis.

These claims are distant about 32 miles almost due north from Warren, Ontario, and lie on the east side of Emerald Lake. In winter they are reached from Markstay by an existing road some 40 miles long, needing some small repairs in places—in summer from Temagami station on the T. and N. O. Railway, by steamer to Obabika Bay on the north-west arm of Lake Temagami, and thence a distance of ten miles, in all, by water, four short portages excepted, to Emerald Lake and W.D. 154 is reached.

On W.D. 154 the ore outcrops in the form of a deposit, in width from 300 to 500 feet, and has been traced on the strike for about 1,000 feet. The dip is nearly vertical. The contact wall on the south side is jasper and magnetite and on the north side is black slate. The gangue rock is calcite, schist and quartz, heavily mineralized with gold-bearing iron-pyrites. Considerable stripping and test pitting have been done at various points, and at each point good values in gold have been found. All blastings have disclosed free gold and pannings show many colors. The directors believe this property to be

The Largest Outcropping of High-grade Ore Known in the world To-day.

Four assays from Messrs. Handley and Parker, of Sudbury, showed respectively $2,419.61, $1,620.68, $787.62, and $162.72 per ton. Ledoux and Company of 99 John Street, New York, $26.45 (from an iron-pyrites sample). Kropp's, Germany, gave $68.00 per ton from an iron pyrites sample.

The Directors have decided to place 50,000 shares on the market at the special price of 50c per share, in blocks of not less than 50 shares each. Allotments will be made as applications, accompanied by the necessary cash, have been received for 30,000 shares. Should this number not be subscribed for by February 15th next, money will be refunded promptly. The above low price is to provide the necessary funds for the installation of the proper milling and reduction plant and for the carrying out of the necessary mining operations. See prospectus.

All have not the knowledge or the necessary capital to send out prospecting parties, but many small capitalists can afford to put up $25.00 or more to get a share in this local enterprise where they know that first, last and all the time they will get a square deal. Come and see samples. Have them assayed yourself. Investigate for yourself.

Porcupine may have plenty of gold but you don't need to go further than Emerald Lake for gold. Many mining men of Sudbury know W.D. 154. Cut out this advertisement. Watch for following ads. Get a prospectus and all information from any of the Directors, or from Editor of the Times.

Canadian Forestry Making Great Progress

The Banquet Last Night an Enjoyable Function Chief Ranger Stewart Gives an Eloquent Address

The 31st annual banquet of Court Peterborough Canadian Order of Foresters was held in the society's spacious hall last night. Over a hundred guests were present, including visitors from Zion, Bridgenorth, Mount Pleasant and other adjoining districts. The proceedings were graced by the presence of Mayor Morrow, and Mr. J. A. Stewart, high chief ranger. The good things for the inner man were served by Mr. Thos. Hooper in his customary acceptable manner. Mr. Wm. Kemp, chief ranger of the lodge, made a very capable chairman. The function, as a whole, was one which reflects considerable credit on the society in general, and especially the committee in charge of the banquet, of which Mr. Wm. Kemp was chairman, and Mr. Wm. Whitcroft secretary. To say the least, a very happy evening was spent, the program consisting of addresses, agreeably interspersed with vocal and instrumental selections.

THE ADDRESSES.

The chairman, Chief Ranger Kemp was the first speaker, and in fitting terms heartily welcomed, on behalf of his lodge, Mayor Morrow and the society's high chief ranger.

MAYOR MORROW.

Expressed his pleasure in joining with the brethren present in giving a hearty reception to their high chief ranger. His worship not being a Forester, could not speak on the aims and objects of the society, but in graceful terms he acknowledged the honor conferred upon him by the lodge inviting his presence on so auspicious an occasion as that of last night.

J. A. STEWART, H.C.R.

Is not only a capable executive of whom Canadian Foresters may well feel proud, but he is also an orator of no mean order of merit. His utterances last night stamped him as a born leader of men, and a Canadian first last and always. His eloquent address teemed with instruction and valuable information on Forestry and national sentiments that elicited round after round of enthusiastic applause. He said that since he had the privilege of speaking in Peterborough eight or nine years ago Canadian Forestry had made such substantial progress as to encourage every individual member and engender the utmost confidence in the order's future. It was in this city in 1895 that Canadian Forestry was placed on a sound basis, and its present rate and scheme of assessment adopted. Canadian Forestry is today without doubt in the forefront of all the fraternal associations doing business in Canada. This order was instituted almost at the beginning of the scheme for fraternal insurance. Our was organized because of the exhorbitant rates charged for life insurance by the straight life companies. Our object is to give life insurance at what it costs to carry it. The speaker here contended that this order's rates are not too low for a safe conduction of business and felt pardonable pride in the fact that there is not an insurance company or a fraternal society in Canada that can point to so low a death rate as that experienced by Canadian Forestry during the thirty-one years of its existence.

In evidence of the substantial progress made by the Canadian Order of Foresters, Mr. Stewart gave figures showing that in 1909 there were paid out $463,979.66 on 459 death claims as against $396,000 on 391 claims in 1908. There were added to this fund in 1909 $273,367.75, which left the death claims fund at over the three million mark. In 1909 this order paid out in sick and funeral benefits $144,321—$10,000 in excess of 1908. Last year there were added to this fund $27,907, making a total of $170,773 on hand, December 31st, for sick and funeral benefits. The total membership in 1909 was 73,985, a net increase for one year of 3226 members. In conclusion the speaker was very optimistic as to the future of Canadian Forestry, which he characterized as being enseparably bound up with the future and phenomenal development of Canada which is universally admitted to be assured.

Over a Hundred Buried by an Avalanche in Town of Mace

Little Town in Idaho was Buried Over Fifty Feet Deep—May be Two Construction Cars in It with Fifty More Victims—Rear Heard Miles Away

(Special to The Times.)

Wallace, Idaho, Feb. 28.—Hundreds of men are today digging frantically to recover the victims of the avalanche which last night buried many houses at Mace, a small hamlet five miles up the canyon from here. Latest estimates place the dead at 150.

Mace is a small town whose lines of straggling cottages are built at the bottom of a high mountain. The lines of the Northern Pacific and Oregon Railway and Navigation Co. run through the place. The big slide came about 11.30 last night, while everybody was asleep. A large mass of snow and ice on top of the mountain became dislodged and started to slide. It gained momentum, and was added to as it swept downward with a terrific roar which could be heard in this city, five miles distant.

Caught like rats in a trap, the residents of the stricken village had no chance and many were crushed in the debris of their homes.

At least twenty-five families, a total of seventy-five individuals were caught in the slide, and inaddition, there were fifty men in the construction cars that were buried.

Mrs. H. A. Pascoe, wife of the superintendent of the Standard mine, and her son Edgar and daughter Inez are missing, and are supposed to be dead. Edgar Kittrell and wife, with their two babes, Dick Moyel, and Mrs. Laid are also among the missing.

The roar of the descending avalanche gave the alarm here, and within a very short time telephonic communication was established with Mace. So soon as the extent of the slide was known a relief train with every available man was hurried to the scene.

BURIED FIFTY FEET DEEP.

According to the reports many of the houses are buried to a depth of fifty feet, and it will probably be a week before the complete list of victims can be obtained. The snow is piled high.

In order to aid the work of rescue every hardware store proprietor here sent all the shovels he had to the special train, and the construction shops of the railway were also relieved of everything that could be used in digging away the slide.

LONG STRAGGLING TOWN.

The little mining town of Mace lies between mountain sides, a straggling line of cottages in the creek bottoms, bisected by the railway lines. Its one industry is mining, and its big mine is the Standard. With scarce a dividing line perceptible the towns of Black Bear, Gem, Mace and Burke, form a long string of houses for six miles.

Mace has a population of 100, all, with the exception of a few storekeepers and school teachers, in the employ of the mine.

BODIES RECOVERED.

Following is a partial list of the dead, whose bodies have been recovered:

Edgar Kittrell, a miner, and his wife, and two babies.
Nick Moyel.
Mrs. Lain.
Mrs. Feanell.
Edgar Pascoe, son of the Standard mine superintendent.
Inez Pascoe, daughter of the superintendent.
H. A. Pascoe and wife are missing and are supposed to be dead.
Fifteen houses have been swept away according to latest information.

At the Mace boarding house the snow is 30 feet deep and all of the flat from the boarding house to the end of the town towards Burke is buried beneath the slide.

Never since Burke, another little canyon mining camp, was almost wiped out by a landslide on February 1, 1890, has a Coeur A d'lene town been so sorely stricken as was Mace yesterday. As on that occasion the canyon was filled 1,000 feet across by a grinding mass of trees, earth, and boulders fifty to seventy feet deep packed almost as solid as ice.

WERE WARNED YESTERDAY.

Warning was yesterday given to residents of the canyon towns that conditions similar to those prevailing before the famous Burke slide prevailed, but nobody seemed to take any heed.

Thursday night a snow and land slide snuffed out the lives of three prospectors and a woman at a very small town on the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound railroad near the mountain line. All were in the cabin at dinner when the snow descended.

During the winter of 1888 the snow piled high in the canyons, and never since has such a heavy fall been recorded as this year.

Tariff War Probable Between Canada and the United States

U. S. Want Canada's Intermediate Tariff—That Would Mean a Lopping Off $800-000 a Year in Duties

Washington, D.C., Feb. 28.—A conference between the Government of the United States and the Government of Canada will take place at Ottawa either late this week or early in the following week. The American representatives will probably request the application of the intermediate tariff to at least a portion of the imports from the U.S., which would mean a lopping of about $800,000 a year on customs duties.

The State Department received late Sunday afternoon a communication from the British Embassy, saying that representatives of the United States would be cordially welcomed in the Dominion's capital to talk over the tariff situation. It appears now that the whole delay was due to the fact that when the United States asked the British Embassy whether it could consult outright with our government at Ottawa, or through the British foreign office, Mr. Mitchell Innes, charge d'affaires, in the absence of Ambassador Bryce in the Bahamas, forwarded the communication to the London foreign office. Whether the elapsing of ten days before the acknowledgment of the communication was due to the proceedings in the foreign office, or whether it was due to the fact that the communication was mailed to London, is not known. At all events the foreign office finally advised the embassy here that it would be quite proper for the Americans to negotiate with our government direct.

BRYCE CLEARS IT UP.

Mr. Bryce gave this information, couched in the most elegant of diplomatic terms, to the State Department today. Canada would, he intimated, receive the American representatives cordially, and the Washington embassy would do all in its power to assist. Thus, after the American government enquired twice, has the situation been cleared up. Ned Lewis of Goderich, will be sure to make a point out of this next year, when he springs his Canadian diplomatic representative at Washington bill again.

The two men who will go to Ottawa are Mr. Henry C. Emery, of the Tariff Board of the United States, and Mr. Charles M. Pepper, of the Bureau of Trade Relations. They are both young men, both experts, and both men of broad views and strong liking for Canada. The Tariff Board and the Bureau of Trade Relations are the two bodies of men who will make the report on which the President of the United States will base his actions towards Canada. The other members of the Tariff Board are Mr. J. B. Reynolds, and Mr. Alvin Sanders. The chiefs of the Bureau of Trade Relations are Mr. Pepper, Mr. Mark Davis, and and Mr. H. Ball Osborne. Your representative has been allowed the privilege of interviewing these gentlemen, but while they have done everything to furnish him with information, they were, of course, not in a position to make any statements for publication.

A meeting of the State Department is being held today when the details of the trip will be fixed. The department has been waiting for developments in the French relations, bit now that these are under way, since the French Minister, M. J. J. Jusserand, opened the subject on Friday, negotiations with Canada will be in order.

The two representaives of the American Government will, it is understood, have power merely to lay before the Canadian Government the concessions which the Americans would like to secure in return for their minimum tariff. They will go to Canada armed with details of the trade relations between the two countries. It is understood, however, that the State Department wishes them to considered, first and last, that it is desirable that the best of relations should continue to exist between the two countries. Of course this may, and probably is, nothing more than the usual frame of mind in which men on such a mission would be sent out. It may be more diplomatic usage, but from what your correspondent has been able to glean, everything possible will be done to bring matters to a happy conclusion.

Will Exclude the Lords from Domain of Finance

London, Feb. 28.—In the Commons today Premier Asquith, in moving a resolution for the full time of the House for the Government, said he made his demand under the stress of necessity. During the present week the House must pass all stages of the bills for borrowing and the supplementary estimates for the expiring financial year. Next week the army votes would be taken, and then the navy votes. The consolidated funds bills would be taken up the week commencing March 21st. On reassembling after Easter the government would present the proposals regarding the House of Lords in the form of resolutions. These resolutions would affirm the necessity for excluding the Lords altogether from the domain of finance. In order to avoid waste of time, and bring the main issue to trial at the earliest moment, the resolutions would be submitted to the Lords. The resolutions would also restrict the Lord's veto in legislation. To secure this they would take all such methods within the limit of the constitution as seemed proper and adequate, and upon its successful accomplishment they staked not only their fortune but their existence as a party. The speaker ruled Sir J. H. Dalziel's amendment out of order.

Premier Asquith subsequently explained that the constitutional changes proposed were without prejudice, and he contemplated in a subsequent year the substitution of the elective instead of the hereditary basis in the Second Chamber.

The Libel Verdict will be Appealed

Toronto, Feb. 28.—"There will certainly be an appeal, you may be sure about that. It should go to the Division Court first, under the rules, but by agreement between the parties or by consent of the court the appeal is almost certain to go direct to the Court of Appeal for Ontario," said Mr. Cattanach, of the legal firm of Hellmuth, Cattanach and Merredith, in speaking of the verdict in the Foster-Macdonald libel action this morning.

"The appeal will be based on the improper reception of evidence during the trial—evidence that was immaterial in the case; also on the judge's charge to the jury; and also on the argument that no judgment could be entered in favor of the defendant on the verdict as brought in by the jury. They say that Mr. Foster acted in good faith as manager of the Union Trust Company, and yet they say that Mr. Macdonald was justified in using the words complained of, which is inconsistent.

"Mr. J. F. Hellmuth is in Ottawa today on a Supreme Court case and while there he will confer with Mr. Foster on the matter of the appeal."

Two Killed in a Wreck on the I.C.R.

Truro, N.S., Feb. 28.—James Davidson, an Intercolonial brakeman was instantly killed, and Fireman Melsaac is missing as the result of the wreck of a special train at Hill's Siding, near Folley, early this morning.

The train left here at two o'clock, made up of twenty freight cars, bound north.

Fifteen of the cars rolled down an embankment about 75 feet high.

Davidson's lifeless body was found in the wreckage, and Melsaac's is thought to be among it also.

Driver Norman McLeod was also badly injured.

Special trains were despatched from Truro, Springhill, and Moncton to repair the badly torn track, and remove the wreckage.

FOR CANADIAN WEST.

Train Load of Illinois Farmers Go West.

Bloomington, Ill., March 1.—A solid forty-car train load of farmers and their families with their stock and household goods, will leave this county to-morrow, bound for the Canadian West. The low price of land is the attraction.

The Canadian General gets Another Big Contract

$47,636 Worth of Equipment for Power and Water Commission at London Will be Built in Peterborough—Engineer Sifton Hands in His Resignation as Result.

(Special to The Times.)

London, Ont., Feb. 28.—Tenders for the equipment, totalling $47,636, were awarded to the Canadian General Electric Company by the Power and Water Commission this morning. During the discussion a sensation was caused by the resignation of Engineer Edgar Sifton, who opposed letting the contract to the Canadian General Electric Company, was not as disinterested as he might be in tenders for hydro-electric equipment. Sifton's reply was the announcement of his resignation.

"To take effect when?" asked Mayor Beattie.

"Today's pay day," said Sifton, and gathering up his papers, left the room.

90,000 Men Will Strike in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Feb. 28.—Representatives from the Central Labor Union and from scores of union organizations in Philadelphia not affiliated with the central are today preparing the demands they will make Thursday upon the City Councils for arbitration of the street car strike.

In the event of the council's refusing to act, the union men have settled upon March 5th as the day for calling a general strike of union men in this city. They declare that at least 90,000 men will answer the call, practically tieing up business of all kinds.

Sunday and Sunday night were marked by scores of riots, which in two or three instances assumed serious proportions. It is estimated today that at least 75 persons were treated at the hospitals for wounds inflicted by flying bricks and policemen's clubs. Two persons were killed by a wild car and several were injured as a direct result of the strike while two other persons were fatally wounded, one boy being shot by a policeman and another having his neck broken by a flying brick. Dynamite torpedoes were used in two instances, on each occasion smashing the windows in the vicinity. The riots spread to sections which had hitherto been peaceful, and the police had their hands full all day.

Representatives of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company today denounced this action of the union men as a pure and simple bluff and declared they had no fear of a general strike. The union men are, however, firm in their determination to go out if necessary to aid the street car men.

Henderson Caused Death of Margaret McPherson

Verdict Reached in McPherson Case After the Jury Had Deliberated the Doctors at Norwood Yesterday Afternoon for Ten Minutes—Evidence of Was Heard.

(Special to The Times.)

Norwood, Feb. 28.—That the late Margaret McPherson came to her death from the blow of an ax in the hands of the prisoner, one Henderson, whom we believe to be in custody in the county jail at Peterborough.

The above verdict was reached by the coroner's jury this afternoon, who were engaged in making enquiries into the cause of death of the late Miss McPherson, after less than ten minutes' deliberation. The evidence consisted of the testimony of the physicians, who performed the post mortem, Drs. McClelland and Holdcroft, and of Constable Bennett, of Havelock.

THE LATE GEORGE JOHNSTON.

Demise of One of Lakefield's Best Known Citizens.

In the death of Mr. George Johnston, Lakefield loses one of its best and most highly esteemed citizens. The deceased was 82 years of age, his father and mother being among the first pioneers of Smith. He was married fifty-seven years ago to Elizabeth Fairbairn, who survives him.

There were nine children, of whom eight are living, one son having died in childhood. The sons are, Robert and Andrew, in the West; George, of Smith; and Roland of Lakefield; and the daughters, Mrs. Hugh Fife, Otonabee; Mrs. W. A. Boyce, Selwyn; Mrs. James Sanderson, Davidson, Sask., who is at present visiting here, and Mrs. N. A. Hunter of Peterborough.

The funeral took place on Saturday, and was largely attended, the pall bearers being, Mr. Charles Fairbairn, Toronto; Andrew, John, Alexander Fairbairn, Smith, brothers-in-law of the deceased, and Mr. James Moore, and L. Steele, Lakefield.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription— Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—those weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway don't drug the organ. Treat the cause of sickness in the only sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

CHILD FATALLY SCALDED.

Deplorable Accident at Campbellford to Peterborough Child.

Campbellford, Feb. 26.—Mary Magdalene, the infant daughter of Mr. John Doris, London street, Peterborough, died here this evening as the result of an unusual and distressing accident. Last night at supper, the little girl, who was a year and seven months' old, seized a teapot containing scalding hot tea, and, before she could be stopped, pulled the utensil over, spilling the contents over her body, with the result that she was so badly burned about the stomach that her death occurred tonight despite medical attendance.

She was the youngest daughter of Mr. Doris, and was being brought by her grandmother here. Two other children survive. The funeral will take place in Peterborough on Monday afternoon at three o'clock, from the residence of Mr. Doris, London street, to St. Peter's cemetery.

THE CASE ENLARGED.

A Man on Indian List Pleads Not Guilty.

At the police court yesterday a man who is on the forbidden list at the hotels and liquor stores, pleaded guilty to having been drunk on Saturday night. He denied being on the "Indian list," and the case was enlarged until today.

Inspector Stewart said that the accused left town before the papers were served, but on his return his brother-in-law gave them to him.

Grands Forks, N. D., March 1. —A special election is in progress here to day to decide upon the adoption or rejection of the commission plan of goverament. Should the proposal be accepted Grand Forks will be the dfourth city of North Dakota to adopt the plan. The cities already governed by commissions are Minot, Bismark, and Mandan.

THE COST OF LIVING

A TORONTO MAN AIRS HIS VIEWS IN TIMES.

Believes That People Should Turn to the Farm—Farmers Do Not Get Square Deal—Burden of Good Roads Maintenance Should be Under Care of Permanent Commission.

To The Editor of The Times.

Dear Sir,—Now that every newspaper is full of expressions re. the cost of living, and the reason for and solution of the evil, it seems an opportune time to give publicity to a few facts that are plain, and ideas that have occurred to the writer.

The tendency for all things is to move along the lines of least resistance; and so with the farmer; since the city has become more attractive for his boys than his home, in ways that are many, the native sons of the soil are never migrating to the cities.

This will continue and labor for the farmer will be scarce and prices for produce will mount even higher until the country home is made more attractive, both for the native sons and the emigrant who has labor to sell.

Experience has taught the writer that man raised on the farm is by far the most reliable and if we are to get results from the fields it is to this class that we must pin our hopes. Therefore, the thing to be desired is—keep the young men on the farms. But how are we to do it?

To-day the farmer is the most painstaking and hardest worker in the whole army of men. Why if he were paid for the brain-work and over-time of hard toil he would receive a greater salary than any city worker. But what does he get? Often and often bitter disappointment and a life of care and economy must be exercised to eke out a bare existence.

To my mind the farmer has never had a fair chance with rest of humanity and still in spite of this the sons of the soil have mounted to the highest positions in the land. To attain these exalted positions the farm has had to be deserted and left far behind. But it was on the farm where true economy and the worth of things were learned; lessons which usually stay with those men through life because the teacher was stern necessity.

If it were not that some or many poor are feeling the pinch of poverty through the high price of food, it would seem ridiculous to kick because the farmer happens to get a few cents more for his eggs or butter than of yore, when we hesitate not to pay any old price to see a show that happens to come to town.

The real difference is that in the former case the money stops in the country and returns to the spender again, but in the latter goes into the pockets in most instances of some stock or show concern that has no home or even country.

It is not that our farmer gets so much above what he did years ago when it is compared with the extra expense he is put to in the production, but it is the middle men who are getting the benefit. Under the present condition of affairs the farmer is practically at the mercy of the merchant and the middle man and this condition has been brought about by the disgraceful state of the highways. At the seasons the farmer wishes to market his crops the roads are in such a condition that he cannot come to town with a load and he, therefore, must sell to a dealer who uses the railway and who sets the price to the consumer. Here, at least, are two profits tacked onto the price the farmer originally got for his produce. Besides this system is not satisfactory. People who buy would be better pleased if they knew where the stuff came from and how

NERVOUSLY DEPRESSED.

A Case of Rapid Cure.

"Only for a few weeks did I experience the misery of duodenal indigestion," explains Miss Puckhard, the well-known school teacher of Burtonville, "but it taught me the need of conserving one's nervous strength. I am a teacher, and at the close of the school year imposes a great strain upon those teaching advanced work. The trouble first manifested itself by occasional diarrhoeas, especially if new vegetables were used, then heart burn and feelings of depression followed two or three hours after meals. At first my physician said he feared structural changes in duodenum, liver and pancreas. Happily a box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which I had to use in one of the many severe attacks of constipation, which occasionally developed, proved this view was incorrect. But it shows how bad I was. Well, Dr. Hamilton's Pills caused natural evacuations and permitted the inflamated condition, causing all the trouble to subside. Perseverance finally removed the cause which I am sure was in the liver and lower bowel, and by school opening in September I was actually well enough to work effectively."

See if your symptoms are like those above described—if so, Dr. Hamilton's Pills will cure. Price 25c per box, at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

A Big Celebration.

The ex-members of the Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto, who are residing in Peterborough and district, will be pleased to learn that they are requested to join in with their old regiment in celebrating their fiftieth anniversary, which will begin on Saturday, June 18th, and will last for several days. If the "old boys" of the regiment residing in this vicinity will communicate with Mr. Carruthers of the Dominion Express Co., Hunter street, he will be pleased to supply all information.

PRESENTED WITH LOCKETS.

The Strathcona Hockey Club were informally banquetted at Hooper's parlors last night when the management presented each of the players with a handsome gold locket suitably engraved. The presentation was made by the secretary of the club, Mr. Fred Craig, in a graceful manner.

PUBLISH MY LETTER THE WORLD OVER.

The Words of Harold P. Bushy, Who Was Permanently Cured of Chronic Lumbago by "Nerviline."

"Three years ago I discovered that a man subject to lumbago might just as well be dead as alive." These words open the sincere, straightforward letter of H. P. Bushy, a well-known man in the plumbing and tinsmithing business in Portland.

"One attack came after another, and lumbago got to be a chronic thing with me. I could scarcely get in a day's work before that killing, cruel pain would attack my back. I used a gallon of liniments; not one of them seemed penetrating enough to get at the core of the pain. I read in the Montreal Witness about Nerviline, and got five bottles. It is a wonderful medicine—I could feel its soothing painrelieving action every time it was der control with Nerviline. I built applied. When I got the disease unup my strength and fortified my blood by taking Ferrozone at meals. This treatment cured me permanently, and I urge everyone to give up the thick, white, oily liniments they are using, and try an up-to-date, penetrating pain destroyer like Nerviline.

TARIFF REFORM.

The vote of the British House of Commons was a vote of Great Britain and of the small portion of Ireland which returns Unionist instead of Nationalist members. The tariff reformers believe that they can win over the whole of Ireland to protection; and they are now saying some very pleasant things about the people whom they used to charge with disloyalty. They hope to lure them away from Home Rule by promises of better markets for bacon and butter. Mr. J. Ellis Barker's article in the Nineteenth Century shows the Hibernian hope which is now springing in the Unionist breast.

The vote for Mr. Chamberlain's motion is a vote for domestic protection and especially for agricultural protection. Its strongest support comes from the agricultural districts of England. Against it are Scotland, Wales and the North of England, the seat of the most important British industries—cotton, woolens, iron, steel, shipbuilding and mining. The protectionists hope to win these over, and in this they may have a measure of success. But their chief hope lies in the food taxes, which appeal to the British farmer, and which they hope will appeal to the Irish farmer.

Preferential trade with the colonies figures in Mr. Austen Chamberlain's resolution, of course. It sounds well, and it gives a sort of Imperial hue to a policy which is purely domestic. But the colonies need not base any large hopes on a policy which begins by taxing colonial produce now admitted free. Some body must pay the tax. Free traders say that it will be paid by the British consumer, and that the price of his food will be increased. Protectionists say it will be paid by the producer, and if this true, it applies to the Canadian and the Australian as well as the foreigner. True, three cents a bushel is not a great deal. But three cents a bushel which will be the protection of the English farmer against the colonist, will also be the measure of the preference to be given to the colonial, as against the foreigner.

On the whole, it is likely that Canada will neither gain nor lose much if protection eventually gains a victory in Great Britain. If the English and Irish farmer are encouraged to produce more food, it must follow that the imports of food will be diminished; in other words, that the market for our products will be less. If the preferences is effective, we shall have a larger share of a smaller market. The rejoisings of Canadian protectionists are, therefore of a singularly altruistic kind. Whether their rejoicings are justified only time will show. But nothing is more certain than that if protection is revived in Great Britain, it will be for some domestic reasons, not for reasons which appeal to the Imperial imagination.

AMERICAN POKER GAME.

In tariff and trade matters Canada treats the United States twice well as the United States treats Canada. Canadian duties upon American products are far lower than American duties upon Canadian products. As a result, seven millions of Canadians buy twice as much from the Republic as ninety millions of Americans take from us. Last year we spent over $190,000,000 in the United States, and they spent $90,000,000 with us. Every man, woman and child in the Dominion sent $27 across the international boundary line, whereas each citizen of the Republic sent only $1 per head our way.

Surely such a situation should be satisfactory to them. They ought to be content with such an enormous advantage in the international trade balance. But it is clear they are not. They would like, if possible, to drive a still harder bargain—to obtain a still bigger end of the stick. The press despatches from Washington contain what seems to be a semi-official invitation to this country to show cause why the tariff wall against Canadian products should not be raised one-quarter as high again.

In recent years the Canadian press and Canadian public men have given the United States due notice that our concession-hunting trips to Washington belong wholly to the past. We got nothing out of such journeys but rebuffs, and as a consequence, we have learned to look elsewhere for markets. We have found fresh and profitable outlets for our surplus products across the seas, and especially in Great Britain. In keeping with these developments we have poured out and are pouring out tens of millions of dollars in perfecting east and west transportation routes. Unless the signs of the times are untrustworthy, we are about to secure a fifty per cent. preference for our produce in the British Isles. Moreover, it will not be many years before a great proportion of the people of the United States will depend upon our grain fields for bread. Thus Canada's position is one of such strength that we can scarcely be coerced by veiled threats from Washington that after March 31st, the maximum schedules of the Payne tariff will be enforced against us. President Taft once expressed his wish to deal fairly by Canada, and neither the French treaty nor the British preference finally will be regarded as a good and tenable reason for penalizing the Dominion. On or before April 1st Washington will withdraw its bluff and throw its cards on the tables. Meanwhile our policy is to stand pat.

OVERCROWDED PROFESSIONS.

An American writer attributes much of the dishonesty, fraud and chicane in litigation to the overcrowding of the legal profession, and there is no gainsaying the assertion.

Do not the high-minded lawyers themselves complain of the ambulance chasers, the shysters, the incompetents and the venal instigators of baseless actions? The struggle for business breeds dishonesty and laxity, not only in law but in medicine and the other "liberal" professions.

Recent figures, it is said, indicate a slight decline in the number of medical students. The stiffer examinations now required, the length of the course, the standards prescribed by the Medical Council, for would-be practitioners account for this decline. But there is room for further improvement. Even now there are, we believe, too many "diploma mills" in the country, medical and legal.

The friends of the young will warn them against entering already sadly overcrowded professions and courting disappointment and failure. The best advice to young men is to take up farming as a real profession—to study it scientifically in the excellent agricultural colleges and schools of the country, to make it a life work.

In intelligent and modern farming there is independence, there is health, there is opportunity. The old isolation of country life is rapidly becoming a memory, thanks to rural delivery, to telephones, newspapers, trolleys, automobiles.

"Go West, young men," is a good gospel to-day, though even in the East new methods and new ideas make farming reasonably profitable. The country needs more producers, and there is solid prosperity in the ground for additional millions. "Back to the soil!"

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The cause of milk pollution is not hard to find if there are many instances such as a South Essex dairyman describes. In search of cows to increase his herd, he had occasion to visit the premises of a man who contributes a share of Windsor's milk supply. Not only, he says, was the proprietor milking on a floor on which lay the accumulations of week which lay the accumulations of weeks reaching his ankles, but the hide of the animal he milked was thickly plastered with the same disgusting filth, in which she had made her bed apparently for many days.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product of any kind enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this famous Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY PERSON WHO IS THE sole head of a family, or any male over 16 years old, may homestead land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, solely owned and occupied by him, or his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

WAR TALK STIRS JAPAN.

American Cables Put J. Franklin Bell and Leslie M. Shaw in Hostile Mood.

Tokio, Feb. 28.—Special dispatches to the newspapers from the United States report a recrudescence of the Anti-Japanese movement at San Francisco. To-day all of the local papers featured the speech of Leslie Mr. Shaw, former Secretary of the Treasury, in which he is reported as having said that war between the United States and Japan was inevitable. The speech has made a most gloomy impression among Japanese and foreigners alike.

The specials quote Major General J. Franklin Bell as having said that war between the two countries was likely to break out at any moment. The press and public are unable to understand the reasons for these violent utterances.

The Asahi Shimbun and the Jiji Shimpo print long specials from San Francisco quoting Mr. Shaw's speech at Morristown, N. J., on Tuesday last. Commenting on this speech, the papers remark the coincidence in the receipt of these dispatches at a time when preparations are being made here and at Yokohama for a reception to the 700 Americans aboard the steamer Cleveland, which is due at Yokohama to-morrow. Editorially the papers repudiate the suggestion that Japan is seeking to control the Pacific.

Foreign Minister Komura, speaking in the diet to-day on the land-ownership bill, said that the government desires the passage of the measure because it was in accordance with the usage of civilized nations, in which foreigners were permitted to own land without restriction. He said that a change in the Japanese laws was necessary, as Japan was about to make new treaties.

The proposed law permits the ownership of land in this country by such foreigners only as come from a country which extends similar privileges to Japanese residents. It is understood that Americans will be given the right of ownership in this country.

Washington, Feb. 24th—Major General Bell, chief of staff, was shown the dispatch from Tokio quoting him on the authority of certain special correspondents to the effect that war between America and Japan was likely to break out at any moment. In the presence of Secretary of War Dickinson, who gave his approval to the statement, General Bell declared emphatically that he had never anywhere made any such declaration, and that there was absolutely no justification for it.

San Francisco, Feb. 28.—While there has been nothing in the nature of a renewed anti-Japanese movement in this city or state, the special dispatches from San Francisco mentioned as having been received in Tokio are believed to have been inspired by a resolution adopted by the labor council advising all unions "not to unionize or permit their members to work in houses where oriental labor is employed."

Have you a pain—of any kind, anywhere? Stop just a minute and think! It matters not whether it be womanly pains, head pains, or any kind of a pain, one of Dr. Shoop's little Pink Pain Tablets will surely stop it in 20 minutes. Formula plainly printed on the 25c. box. Sold by all dealers.

Changes in Assessment Act.

Although it is announced that in the Revised Assessment Act there is to be no change in the direction of imposing a larger share of the burden of taxation on land, as compared with buildings and improvements, many think the government ought to be willing to permit municipalities with the consent of the electors, to tax improvement values at a lower rate than land values. An objection sometimes urged against this is that it would result in municipalities competing against each other by the removal of taxes on improvements, but if experience showed this to be as wise a policy as its advocates assert, its adoption would soon become so general as to make it probable that the Assessment Act would be changed so as to make it universal throughout the Province.

CANADA AND GERMANY.

Canada Looks for Increased Trade With Fatherland.

Ottawa, Ont., March 1.—A large increase in the volume of trade between Canada and Germany is expected to result from the provision trade agreement recently concluded between the two countries, and which went into operation to-day. For more than a decade the commerce between Canada and Germany has been seriously handicapped by a trade war which began when Canada gave Great Britain a preference in 1897 and which led Canada to impose a surtax of 33 1-3 per cent. against German goods in 1903. Under the provisions of the new agreement Canada suspends the surtax on German products entering the Dominion, and in return Germany grants Canada her conventional or minimum tariff rates on twenty-five articles in the German tariff. The principal articles of Canadian produce which are now to have the benefit of the German minimum tariff are wheat and other grains, fruits, timber, horses, horned cattled, sheep, meat, wood and other pulp, and leather and footwear.

Smuggling Chinamen

Windsor, Feb. 28.—(Special.)—The smuggling of Chinamen from Canada to the United States, which for some time past has been known to United States immigration officials as being a profitable business for certain young men in Windsor, came to light in such a manner to-day, in a judgment summons court case, as to implicate a number of merchants in the city.

Information as to how the Chinese smuggling game is conducted was given by George Letour, testifying under oath, and in his own behalf in a judgment brought against him by D. D. Douillard, a Windsor butcher. Letour was sued by Drouillard for recovery of a $20 loan. Letour declared he borrowed the money from Drouillard, giving the latter to understand that he wanted it to help pay the expenses of smuggling a load of Chinamen into the States. Letour said that the mutual understanding was that if the "load" went through as planned, Drouillard was to receive $40 for the $20 advanced.

Letour says he ought not to pay back the loan, as the vigilance of the U. S. officials spoiled his plan.

Letour also said that this plan had been worked by him with the help of other merchants. In case of failure he got nothing for his charges, and those who advanced money lost out in investment as a result. Drouillard denies all knowledge of the scheme.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. A few days' test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

PORCUPINE.
SALE OF LOTS IN TOWNSITE.

Sealed tenders will be received by the undersigned up to Wednesday, 16th March, 1910, at one o'clock, p.m., for the purchase of all the lots in the town plot of Porcupine, situated in the south half of lot nine, in the fourth concession of the township of Whitney, at the eastern end of Porcupine Lake, as shown by plan of survey by Mr. E. D. Bolton, O.L.S.

Tenderers are asked to state how much they are prepared to pay for each lot and must accompany their tenders with a marked cheque in favor of the Provincial Treasurer, for half the amount which shall be applied as the first instalment. Successful tenderers will be required to pay the balance within two months.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Tenders to be marked "Tenders for lots in town plot of Porcupine," and to be addressed to the Honorable the Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines.

Plans of townsite may be had on application to the Department and to the office of the Mining Recorder at the following places: Porcupine, Haileybury, Cobalt, Sudbury, Elk Lake, Gowganda, Sault Ste. Marie, Parry Sound.

Tell Some Sick One

It Is Free If It Fails.

Will you do an act of Humanity?
Will you tell some sick friend of this remarkable offer?
Tell him or her, that you have learned of a remedy in Dr. Shoop's Restorative that is making them well right at home.
And you, no doubt, already know of Dr. Shoop's Restorative and its popularity.
For 20 years it has been the standard remedy for Stomach, Kidney and Heart ailments everywhere in America.
When the "inside" or controlling nerves of some vital organ begin to fail, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has quickly vitalized, and restored, and brought those nerves and organs back to healthy action.
I do not believe that Stomach, nor other ailments, Heart or Kidneys—for that is all wrong.
Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes direct to the cause of these ailments—the failing, inactive, feeble or controlling nerves. And herein lies the keynote to my success.
When those nerves are again made well and strong, then that is the certain end of all such ailments.
To me it is a great satisfaction that I can say to any physician able to try it on a sick patient: Take my prescription for full 30 days, and if it fails to help you, the entire expense is mine—not yours.
Then why should the sick take any chance on any other medicine, when mine does not touch it just as I do by this remarkable offer?
I also have a Rheumatic Remedy—and find many cases of rheumatism yield to it. Also my Restorative is spoken of by the same standard. No help, no pay! protective plan.
Besides, you are free to consult me just as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.
Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescriptions or personal advice plan. My best effort is surely worth your simple request.
So let me send you an order on mine. Take the message to some sick friend.
A postal will bring the opportunity.
I will have an honest and trustworthy drug clerk to whom you can conveniently go for the 30 day test.

GOING TO CHINA.

Misters Leave Happy Home in Windsor.

Windsor, Feb. 28.—(Special.)—Leaving many friends and a happy home, Miss Annie Sedgwick, aged 26, and her sister, Miss Maude, aged 23, of this city, start for Kaii Fung, China, on Monday evening. They are being sent as missionaries by the Canadian Church of England.

The elder sister is a graduate of the Deaconess and Missionary Training House, and is giving up a splendid position as deaconess of All Saints' Church, Toronto, which she has held since her ordination in May, 1908. The younger sister is a graduate of the Toronto Normal School and for the past year has been a teacher in the Cameron avenue Public school, Windsor.

Her duties in China will be the teaching of the English language and religion, while her sister will undertake evangelistic work.

The girls will sail on the Empress of China, March 9, and expect to arrive at their destination about April 6, after journeying nearly 10,000 miles.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for restoration of, and additional story to Military Stores Building, Ottawa, Ont.," will be received at this office until 5.00 p.m., on Monday, March 7, 1910, for the work mentioned.

Plans, specification and form of contracts can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, with their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
NAPOLEON TESSIER,
Secretary.

THE GOLDEN ROSE MINING COMPANY, Ltd

(NO PERSONAL LIABILITY.)

Incorporated Under the Ontario Companies' Act

Authorized Capital $500,000

Divided into 500,000 Shares Par Value $1.00 Each

Treasury Stock -- 200,000 Shares

EDWARD J. TOWNSEND, President.
ALEXANDER H. HEATH, Vice-President.
JAMES K. MACLENNAN, Secretary-Treasurer.
JOHN ANNIS, of Markstay, Ont.
JAMES TOWNSEND, of Mabel, Que., and
JOHN H. CLARY, of Sudbury, Ont.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent dated April 16th, A. D., 1910, and is empowered to carry on in all its branches the operations of a mining., milling, reduction and development Company.

The Company was organized more particularly to acquire and develop certain of the mining claims on Emerald Lake commonly called the Townsend-Annis gold properties.

Mr. Townsend had an undivided eleven-sixteenths interest in Mining Location W.D. 154, and Mr. Annis had three water claims adjoining and extending westward from W.D. 154. The Company has a working option on the remaining five-sixteenths of W. D. 154 from Mr. William Crawford, of Haileybury, formerly of Sudbury. The Company purchased outright the interest of Mr. Townsend and Mr. Annis.

These claims are distant about 32 miles almost due north from Warren, Ontario, and lie on the east side of Emerald Lake. In winter they are reached from Markstay by an existing road some 40 miles long, needing some small repairs in places—in summer from Temagami station on the T. and N. O. Railway, by steamer to Obabika Bay on the north-west arm of Lake Temagami, and thence a distance of ten miles, in all, by water, four short portages excepted, to Emerald Lake and W.D. 154 is reached.

On W.D. 154 the ore outcrops in the form of a deposit, in width from 300 to 500 feet, and has been traced on the strike for about 1,000 feet. The dip is nearly vertical. The contact wall on the south side is jasper and magnetite and on the north side is black slate. The gangue rock is calcite, schist and quartz, heavily mineralized with gold-bearing iron-pyrites. Considerable stripping and test pitting have been done at various points, and at each point good values in gold have been found. All blastings have disclosed free gold and pannings show many colors. The directors believe this property to be

The Largest Outcropping of High-grade Ore Known in the world To-day.

Four assays from Messrs. Handley and Parker, of Sudbury, showed respectively $2,419.61, $1,020.68, $787.63, and $162.72 per ton. Ledoux and Company of 99 John Street, New York, $26.45 (from an iron-pyrites sample). Kropp's, Germany, gave $68.00 per ton from an iron pyrites sample.

The Directors have decided to place 50,000 shares on the market at the special price of 50c per share, in blocks of not less than 50 shares each. Allotments will be made as applications, accompanied by the necessary cash, have been received for 20,000 shares. Should this number not be subscribed for by February 15th next, money will be refunded promptly. The above low price is to provide the necessary funds for the installation of the proper milling and reduction plant and for the carrying out of the necessary mining operations. See prospectus.

All have not the knowledge or the necessary capital to send out prospecting parties, but many small capitalists can afford to put up $25.00 or more to get a share in this local enterprise where they know that first, last and all the time they will get a square deal. Come and see samples. Have them assayed yourself. Investigate for yourself.

Porcupine may have plenty of gold but you don't need to go further than Emerald Lake for gold. Many mining men of Sudbury know W.D. 154. Cut out this advertisement. Watch for following ads. Get a prospectus and all information from any of the Directors, or from Editor of the Times.

The Cost of Living

long it had been handed about before coming to them.

If someone is to get the extra price that city folks are kicking about, why should it not go where it belongs—to the farmer who worked for and produced the necessary things we must have? Has he not a right to the full of what he has earned and produced? The farmer has been the slave for the rest of the world and when it comes to giving him a fair deal we all put up a royal kick. Until the mass of the people learn that it is to the interest of all to give the farmer facilities for trading direct with the townspeople, by giving him decent highways upon which to come to town, high prices will continue and the profit will not go into the pocket of the farmer either; and until the people as a whole demand that adequate highways shall be constructed and maintained throughout the country, so long will the young farmer desert his home for the more attractive life in the city and so long will there be neglected farms and high prices.

When a city's streets get vile and dangerous, who raises the row, is it the patient worker? No, it is the business man and the man of pleasure. The former says: "My business suffers from bad streets," and the man of pleasure says: "The streets are positively dangerous."

Who loves the country more than the city man, yet he cannot live there because he cannot conveniently get about. There are no good roads so he also is forced to live where life is easy—in the city, and consequently, there being only farmers and workers in the country, we have no champion to take up the burden of highways.

The essential thing necessary to turn the faces of the people back to the soil and make farming and country life a pleasure, is good highways. It will work wonders in Old Ontario, which for productive wealth is the gem of America!

The burden of good road maintenance should not fall wholly on the farmer, but on the community at large, and the main trunk roads should be under the care of a permanent commission.

Thanking you for this space in your valuable paper, I am,

Yours truly,

High School Teachers Want Bigger Salaries

At Least Peterborough Board of Education Cannot Secure a Junior Science Teacher with the Present Salary Schedule

The Board of Education met in regular session last night. There were present; Chairman Dr. Burnham, and Trustees Dr. Morrison, W. H. Hill, John Crane, D. W. Dumble, Col. Miller, B. F. Ackerman and H. Adams.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The attendance of the schools and Collegiate Institute were submitted and approved of.

W. G. McKee wrote thanking the board for his appointment as janitor of the Collegiate Institute, and said he would take up his duties with Mr. Hart on the first of March

A number of accounts were referred to the Finance Committee for certification thereto.

COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS

Mr. W. H. Hill submitted the following:

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

Gentlemen,—Your Committee on Appointments beg leave to report as follows:

Owing to the resignation of Mr. John Hart, janitor of the Collegiate Institute, to take effect 1st March, it was necessary for your committee to secure the services of a competent man to fill the position. After careful consideration your committee recommend that Mr. W. G. McKee be appointed, duties to start March 1st, and salary to be according to schedule. Mr. McKee comes highly recommended and your committee are satisfied that he will fill the position to the entire satisfaction of the board.

As instructed your committee advertised for a teacher for the Collegiate Institute staff to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Hofferd, which takes effect 1st April. In response to the advertisement your committee received but five applications, and only one of these applicants has a university degree, and he would not be a suitable teacher for the position.

Your committee are of the opinion that to secure a teacher who is sufficiently well qualified to fill this position, and one who would be approved by the high school inspector, it will be necessary to increase the salary schedule applicable to this department, and would recommend that the board give the matter immediate consideration. Unless immediate action is taken the professional status of our school shall be impaired, and your committee believe that the ratepayers will not favor the lowering of the present high standard.

Mr. W. H. Hill, in support of clause 2 in above report, referring to the necessity for raising the salary schedule applicable to the teaching of junior science, English and Latin, a department in the Collegiate Institute being vacated by Mr. Hofford, referred again to the impossibility of securing a teacher at the salary allotted for this work. Mr. Hoffard is a good man and he is leaving a position worth to him but $1200 a year for one at $1500. Mr. Hill thought that if the minimum of $1100 applying to this position for the first year was raised to $1200, perhaps a suitable gentleman teacher might be secured; otherwise he feared the office would go begging.

Dr. Morrison urged that it would be wise for the board to endeavor to see its way clear not to raise the salary schedule at present. If a lady teacher could be secured at the minimum figure of $1100 the board would certainly be justified in doing so. There are two lady teachers on the Collegiate Institute staff now doing good work, and he contended that the staff would not be weakened by the engagement of a third.

Principal H. R. H. Kenner offered that the board would experience the greatest difficulty in getting a lady teacher to fill the position. There are few ladies taking up the science course, and he was afraid advertising for such would meet with no response.

Mr. Dumble enquired if it were not high time the high school authorities got together and took action on the present situation. It is pretty generally agreed throughout the Province that the salaries necessary to secure good high school teachers are higher than the ratepayers can stand United action on the part of collegiate institute boards might secure from the government bigger financial support.

Dr. Morrison moved, seconded by Mr. John Crane,—That this report be referred back to the committee for further consideration, and discussion with the principal, and that they take action as soon as possible Carried.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORT.

Mr. D. W. Dumble submitted the following:

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

Gentlemen,—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend the payment of the following accounts:

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The report was adopted as read.

NIGHT SCHOOL.

Referring to the proposed scheme for introducing night school classes for technical education in the Collegiate Institute, Mr. D. W. Dumble reported that the whole question is under discussion by the Provincial government, who propose ascertaining the methods adopted in Europe for this class of instruction. The minister of education contended that there are not enough men in the Province capable of teaching technical subjects. Until the government take action the board cannot to advantage take any initative in the matter. Such classes will necessarily entail upon the board additional expense, and the government's endorsation of the project will probably be supported by financial assistance.

BENEFIT CONCERT.

Successful Entertainment by the Salvation Army.

The benefit consert at the Salvation Army Temple last night was largely attended, and the program was a most interesting one. It was as follows:

Opening song, "Living Waters."
March, "The Pentre," band.
Vocal solo, "Soldiers in the Army" Bandsman Moyns.
Song, "Good News," Songsters.
Recitation, "The Two Paths," Bandsman F. Grey.
Selection, "The Rock," band.
United Song, "Men of Harlech," band and songsters.
March, introducing vocal solo, "Fighting On," Bandsman Brown.
Song, "The Storm," songsters.
Hymn, "German Chorale," band.
March, "The Trumpeter," band.
Cornet solo, "Oh How He Loves," Bandmaster Peryer.
Doxology.

These tablets change weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, gloominess in joyousness. Their action is so gentle one don't realize they have taken a purgative. Sold by all dealers.

THE PHILOMATHEAN SOCIETY.

Interesting Program Provided by the Society.

On Monday evening the regular meeting of the Philomathean Society of the Collegiate Institute took place, when a splendid program was presented, as follows:

Piano Solo—Miss Daisy Conroy.
Recitation—Miss Verna Merrill.
Violin Solo—Mr. Vincent McCabe.
Oratorical Contest—The first four forms were the contestants. Representatives.—
1A—Miss Lettie Shearer.
1B—Miss Maud Rountree.
1C—Miss Kathleen O'Brien.
1D—Mr. Lester Pearson.

The judges of the contest were as follows:—Mr. Hodgson, Mr. Stubbs, and Mr. Merritt.

The judges found it somewhat hard to come to a decision as each representative dealt with his or her subject in a very capable manner. They finally decided, however, to give Mr. Lester Pearson the first prize, and Miss O'Brien the second.

This very interesting number was followed by a recitation by Miss Margaret Edwards. This recitation was exceedingly well given and greatly applauded.

The next number was an instrumental duet by Miss Grace Naylor and Miss Hazel Gillespie.

The program was criticized by Mr. Ferguson. This was Mr. Ferguson's first opportunity of addressing the students along this line, and he mastered the situation in a very capable manner.

After the criticism the meeting was brought to a close in the usual way by singing the National Anthem.

Death of Mr. John Strain.

On Monday evening there passed away in Ashburnham a well known and highly respected citizen, in the person of Mr. John Strain. The late Mr. Strain was born in Ireland, and was 57 years of age. He followed the occupation of miller, and for 26 years was employed in the flour mill of W. H. Meldrum. For two years prior to his illness he was employed at the Central Milling Company. Surving him are his widow, and the following members of his family Mrs. Albert Harris, Jamestown, N.Y.; Mrs. Arthur Whaley, Port Hope; Mrs. Wm. Roberts, Bethune street, city; Mrs. S. B. Armstrong, Newcastle, P.O.; Mrs. Chas. Sabin and Mrs. Clyde Weir, Cleveland, Ohio. Miss Ada C. Strain and Mr. Arthur Weart, a stepson, at home. The sisters are Mrs. Wm. Damp, Mrs. John Cousins, Mrs. Geo Howard of Toronto; and a brother, William Strain, who resides in Toronto.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the late residence to St. Luke's church, and thence to Little Lake cemetery, where interment will take place.

Y.W.C.A. NOTES.

Mr. A. Mowat's class will meet this evening at 7.45.

Last week, "Youth and Art," was studied. This evening another of Robert Browning's shorter poems "Fra Lippo Lippi," will be taken up We hope that this class will be even larger than last week. New members will be made welcome.

Dr. Malcolm McCullough will meet with his Home Nursing Class tomorrow evening. Miss Nicholls' class will also meet Thursday evening.

Bible class tea at 6.30 Friday, followed by the study of the Sunday school lesson.

"We are only little ones, but we know Zam-Buk eased our pain and cured our sores. Perhaps it would cure you, too, if you tried it?"

Isn't this sound advice from "babes and sucklings?" Take it! The speakers are the children of Mrs. L. Webster, of Seymour St., Montreal, and the mother adds weight to their appeal. She says: "My little girl contracted scalp disease at school. Bad gatherings formed all over her head, and not only caused the child acute pain but made her very ill. The sores discharged, and occurring on the scalp we feared she would lose all her hair. She was in a pitiable plight when we tried Zam-Buk, but a few days' treatment with the balm gave her ease. Then the sores began to heal, and we continued the Zam-Buk treatment. In a short time she was quite healed.

"My little boy sustained a serious scald on the neck. It set up a bad sore, and quite a few things we tried failed to heal it or give him ease. Once more we turned to Zam-Buk, and we were not disappointed. It acted like charm in drawing away the and soon healed the wound.

Zam-Buk is "something different" in the way of balms. It contains powerful healing herbal essences, which, as soon as applied to skin diseases, kill the germs and end the painful smarting. Other ointments claimed there to stimulate the cells that new healthy tissue is speedily formed. Eczema, itch, ulcers, cold sores, chapped, festering sores, blood poisoning, chronic wounds, abscesses, and ulcers, are healed and cured in this way. Use it for all cuts, bruises, and injuries and diseases. It is also of great service for piles. All druggists and stores at 50 cents box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

The School Trustees will Have One Good Square Meal Next Week

Our Domestic Science Scholars to Entertain the School Board and Nine Others at Lunch Next Week

At the Board of Education meeting last night Inspector Mowat reported that the girls of Miss Steinhoff's domestic science classes are very anxious that the nine school trustees and nine other citizens should have at least one good square meal next week. With this end in view the Public school scholars and lower form pupils of the Collegiate Institute, will with their own hands prepare and serve lunch for 12.15 sharp on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week—6 guests to sit down each day (18 in all). The School Board to name the other nine citizens to make up the quota of 18. This cordial invitation was enthusiastically accepted by the board, and on motion of Mr. W. H. Hill, seconded by Mr. John Crane, Chairman Dr. Burnham was authorized to name the board's companion guests. It is safe to say that the lunch served by the young folk will be a recherche one, and we would hint to the board's genial chairman that the press seldom gets a good square meal these days of exhorbitant prices.

Apart from the novelty of setting down to a meal prepared in our schools by the little ones, the occasion will be an object lesson on the practical value of domestic science as a department of Peterborough's Public school training.

Inspector Mowat Reports on Domestic Science and Manual Training

Mr. A. Mowat, inspector of Public schools, submitted to the Board of Education last night the following reports, which were considered to be very encouraging;—

DOMESTIC SCIENCE REPORT.

The Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:—

Gentlemen,—The study of household science was introduced into the city schools in February 1908, at the same time as the work in manual training was begun.

The same schools and classes were represented in both branches of the study. While the boys are receiving instruction in manual training the girls are engaged in the practical work of household science.

On account of the training being limited at present to one lesson a week during the two years of the course, the work has so far been centered mainly upon the study of foods, cookery, table setting and serving. The course of study has been so mapped out, however, as to make it a real help to each pupil, no matter in what circumstances she may hereafter be placed.

Should the board find it possible to extend the course, then the scope of study can be widened to include sanitation, house furnishing, house cleaning, clothing, home culture and kindred branches.

The instructor, Miss Steinhoff, has not narrowed the course to cooking, but has made it a study of the home The home activities have been related to those of the school, and the teaching of the mother in the home has been supplemented, not supplanted.

The vast noticeable benefit that the pupils are deriving from the study of household science are:—

1.—Habits of neatness and orderliness.

2—Efficiency and self-reliance in the work of their hands.

3—A deeper interest in the home surroundings.

4—A greater regard for household service.

5—Economy.

All the classes show deep interest and enthusiasm in the work. This is due to the excellent instruction they are receiving.

The equipment is one of the best in the Province, and the greatest possible care is being exercised in keeping everthing in order.

It is to be hoped that in the near future all of the Public schools in both the junior and senior fourth classes may have the opportunity of pursuing this branch of study.

MANUAL TRAINING REPORT.

The inspector also submitted the following report:

Gentlemen,—Manual training was introduced into the Public schools in February 1909, and in the year that has elapsed a very fair start has been made in the work, the results of which are beginning to show.

The work has been confined to the boys of the senior fourth classes of the Central, South Central, Queen Alexander and Ashburnham schools, and those of form I. of the Collegiate Institute.

This limits the course to two years with but one lesson a week of one and a half to two hours in length, for each student.

On this account nothing has yet been attempted beyond mechanical drawing and wood work. Should the course in time be extended to four years, as is the case in many cities, then metal and machinery shop work could be added with but little expense to the board.

The present equipment has proved quite satisfactory, and but few repairs or additions will be necessary for this year.

The attitude of the boys towards the work is one of enthusiasm. Their work shows thought and care, and considerable care is being developed. The students are deriving both pleasure and profit from the work, and as they give expression to their ideas in their work, it must react beneficially upon all their school studies.

In the junior classes of the Public schools a start is being made in paper and cardboard construction in accordance with the regulations of the Educational Department. This is designed as a foundation for the more advanced work of the manual training classes.

The success that has attended the introduction of the manual training course into the schools of the city, is due almost entirely to the instructor, Mr. Scarrow, who has been untiring in his efforts to make this work of real educative value.

The boys are engaged in making useful articles for the schools, such as cupboards and science equipments.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. A few days' test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

Does All This Signify Preparation for War?

Dallas, Texas, March 1.—Germany is serving notices on all her available citizens in the United States to report for physical examination to decide if they are still fit for military duty. Whether this is an indication or not of preparation for war with Great Britain, the authorities will not say. No similar order has been issued before. Two hundred Germans in Dallas and Fort Worth, who have not served the required time in the Germany army, have been ordered to report to the German ambassador. If they can pass the physical examination transportation to the Fatherland is to be supplied them. This development is full of significance.

Tuesday May See Division on Navy

(Special to The Times.)

Ottawa, March 1.—The present expectation is that the division on the second reading of the Naval bill will take place on Tuesday next.

There are still a large number of speakers to be heard, but an effort will be made to have a division on that day.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy never disappoints those who use it for obstinate coughs, colds and irrations of the throat and lungs. It stands unrivalled as a remedy for all throat and lung diseases. Sold by all dealers.

Many Changes Proposed in Fish and Game Laws of the Province

An Important Suggestion Made by Hon. Dr. Reaume that Each Man be Limited to One Deer Instead of Two

Toronto, March 1.—"I think the farmer in these new districts should be able to shoot a deer in season, so as to have fresh meat," said Mr. W. A. Preston, of Rainy River, in the Fish and Game Committee, which met this morning after a rest of two years.

Hon. Dr. Reaume was elected chairman. The committee at once proceeded to discuss muskrats, and Mr. Hoyle's bill to lengthen the open season. Mr. Aubin said the result of the longer season would be the extermination of the muskrat, and Drf Anderson supplemented this by saying that muskrats too young would be destroyed. The fact that muskrat skins had advanced 300 per cent. during the past year or so was brought to the attention of the committee, and the upshot of all is that muskrats have as great a chance as ever. In other words the open season remains as before.

Hon. Dr. Reaume proposed to shorten the season for grouse, pheasants, prairie fowl, partridges and woodcocks.

The open season last three months now. He wanted to shorten it to one month, from October 15 to November 15. The committee agreed. Then he proposed that the duck season begin on September 15 instead of September 1, and that the Province be divided into two zones, the season to open later in the southern zone.

The committee favored the idea of making the season for hares close December 15, instead of December 31, and for swan and geese to close on April 15, instead of April 30. The committee was also highly favorable to Dr. Reaume's suggestion that the season for quail be the last two weeks of November.

"I've sworn off shooting quail," said Mr. Eiber. "They're the best friends the farmer had."

"It's better to shoot a few, so as to scatter them," said Dr. Reaume. "They get into bevies and fight and kill themselves."

The committee favored Dr. Reaume's suggestion that the close season for beaver and otter, which has been in force nine years, be continued.

They favored the idea that there be a close season for mink—an advantage hitherto enjoyed by Mr. Mink. Skins of these little animals were becoming valuable, it was pointed out. The suggestion was that the season be from December 1st to May 1st.

An important suggestion by Dr. Reaume, and one that provoked much discussion, was that each man be limited to one deer, instead of two. Everybody favored the idea, and Mr. Reed said most of the hunters favored the idea—to keep down the slaughter of deer.

Wolves were harder on the deer than hunters, Mr. W. A. Preston (Rainy River) pointed out. When a crust formed in the spring it left the deer defenceless, and even now the institution of a wolf bounty was being discussed in his county.

Dr. Reaume would prohibit lumber jacks taking guns into camp. A. A. McNally came to their defence, saying that they keep the law as well as anybody. "This would be a hardship on these men," he said.

W. A. Preston said the worst offenders were men in railway construction camps, and Dr. Reaume made a note of this.

The committee favored the prohibition of American trappers, and declared for the necessity for a license for them.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

The Canadian Poultry Farm Stock Company.

We call the attention of the investing public to the advertisement of the above company in this issue of The Times. The company is well officered and is entering a field of activity which promises the best of results. There are many similar companies operating in various parts of the United States, with great success.

Mr. C. J. Bell, the manager of the company will be pleased to furnish further information to any who care to invest. There are only a limited number of shares on the market, so that it will be a case of "first come first served." The office of the company is situated at Room 53, Royal Trust Building, Montreal.

Rabies Develops in a Ten-Year-Old Boy---Condition Hopeless

Hamilton, March 1.—John Taylor, the ten-year-old son of Joseph Taylor of Dundas, was brought to the City Hospital today suffering from what is thought to be an advanced case of rabies. The lad was bitten by a pet dog six weeks ago. A week ago he showed symptoms of rabies, and yesterday his condition was so serious, that he had to be locked in a room. It is thought his case is beyond cure at the Pasteur Institute. The hospital authorities are doing everything possible to save his life. At one o'clock today the lad was screaming violently and had to be placed under guard.

Have you a weak throat? If so, you cannot be too careful. You cannot begin treatment too soon. Each cold makes you more liable to another, and the last is always the harder to cure. If you will take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy at the outset you will be saved much trouble. Sold by all dealers.

Old Man Brutally Murdered in His Bedroom at Parry Sound

Parry Sound, March 1.—Montgomery's Hotel in the east ward, commonly known as Parry Harbor, was the scene of a tragedy last night which appears to have been a brutal cold-blooded murder. The victim was Michael J. Davis of Loring, Ont., a man of about 70 years of age and for 30 years a settler in the Parry Sound district. He was married and had a family. His alleged assailant is a stranger here, having only arrived in town yesterday. He gives his name as Young, and states that he is a steam driller, from Atlantic City, N.J. Young has the appearance of a shiftless suspicious character.

The circumstances of the case are—Davis had come to town a few days ago for the purpose of making a loss on his house near Loring, which was recently burned down. He with was staying at the Montgomery House, and went to bed last night about 11 o'clock. Young, who had been prowling about the premises and was watched by the hotel clerk, came downstairs about 11.30 o'clock. He went to the lavatory to wash his hands, and it was noticed that there was blood on the towel which he had used. He then went rapidly out by the front door. The suspicions of the clerk and others were aroused, and a quick investigation upstairs revealed the fact that Davis had been beaten on the head with a pint screw capped flask.

Davis was lying in his bed quite dead. Two men immediately started off in pursuit of Young, whom they succeeded in capturing at Pearce's Corners, a short way down the street It is said his clothes are bloodstained. He was at once handed over to the authorites. When he was searched he only had a few cents in his possession. An inquest will be opened this afternoon which will probably be adjourned till tomorrow for the result of the post mortem.

JUST ESCAPED JAUNDICE.

Shows How Important it is to Keep Liver and Kidneys Active.

When you read of the growing yellowness of the skin extending to the whites of the eyeballs, as described by Mr. J. P. Nostrand, a well-known grocer in Manchester, you will realize that jaundice is nothing to be sniffed at. "Despite the best medical skill my face grew more yellow every day. It is no fun," he writes, to be given a lemon and find its hue reflecting itself upon every part of the body. My physician informed me that a catarrhal condition had resulted in a plugging of the bile ducts and the absorption of the bile into the blood. I had some knowledge of the remarkable, stimulating and healing qualities of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and started in using them. At first I felt better, had more appetite, and entire freedom from headaches. Then came an easier feeling in the region of my stomach and I saw an almost imperceptible fading away of the yellow tinge in my skin. I persevered, used Dr. Hamilton's Pills for twelve weeks. My reward was cure—today I am healthy, happy and well."

Nothing ever discovered has such an influence on liver diseases as Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Refuse any substitute. Price 25c per box, all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Head Office and Farm—MONTREAL, QUE.

The object of this Company is to operate a Poultry Stock Farm and to supply eggs, fowls, etc., etc., to the Montreal market. At the present time there is no such business being carried on in this part of the country, although in Western Canada and the United States many similar farms are being conducted with great success, and each and every one shows a handsome profit on the capital invested. By being the first to operate such a business in this part of Canada, where the output could be sold many times over, and with competent men to manage the farm, the success of the business is assured.

It is hoped to have the farm in operation about the first of April, and we will gradually increase so as to meet the demand of the trade. The shareholders will have first option upon the output, which it is intended to deliver daily.

It is worthy of note that the freight charges paid to the different railway companies for transporting eggs, poultry, etc., into Montreal amount to thousands of dollars per year, said eggs, poultry, etc., being shipped from all parts of Ontario and Quebec, together with shipments from other provinces, all to be consumed in the City of Montreal, and in nearly every case these shipments are controlled by the Wholesale Produce Merchants, and re-sold to Retail Dealers, then sold by the latter to the consumers; therefore, it is easily perceived that in this way four profits must be divided from the price the farmer sells at to the price the consumer pays for the above-mentioned articles.

At the present moment fresh eggs are very scarce; so-called fresh eggs are being sold to the consumer at from 30 cents to 63 cents per dozen. We do not expect to be able to overcome this great problem, but we do expect to be in a position to furnish the Shareholders in this Company and other Retail Dealers with fresh eggs daily. Taking into consideration the number of eggs that are consumed in Montreal every day, the placing of the output is a foregone conclusion.

In P. E. I. the average profit per hen for eggs a year is $2.00; in York Co., Ont., $2.75; in New Jersey, $6.00. It is expected that the average profit in Montreal will be $3.00.

It is understood we are to start this business in the right way. In the first place, only first-class fowl, such as hens, turkeys, geese, ducks, etc., will be purchased, and by purchasing a farm within the suburbs we will in a few years save the entire price paid for same by the saving of the enormous freight charges on eggs, etc., from an outside point.

HOME WORK FOR PUPILS.

At a recent meeting the Board of Education of Toronto decided that the practice of giving home work to pupils should be prohibited, and in other municipalities similar action is under consideration. The subject has also been given much space in the press, and the almost unanimous verdict of the newspapers of the Province has been that home worth either should be abandoned entirely, or limited to the cases of backward pupils who are old enough or strong enough physically to make it safe for them to devote an hour or so in the evening to their studies. The views of some newspapers are here given.

The Guelph Herald says: "The Board of Education dealt resolutely with the vexed question of home work at its meeting last night, and the action taken is in line with advanced sentiment. It is now becoming more admitted than ever that it is more important to produce strong robust young men and women, even if they are a little longer in graduating, that it is to allow a school system to so dominate their lives that they often become physical wrecks about the same time as they are recognized as mental prodigies. It does not by any means follow that abolition of home work will ensure this, but it may reasonably be accepted as a move with that end in view, and as a protest against the "cramming" system, which it is contended with reason forces children forward at a pace far beyond the endurance of the average child. By the time the boy or girl has spent in school the three hours from 9 a.m. to 12, and the two and a half hours from 1.30 to 4 o'clock, he or she has apparently good grounds for an appeal to reason against being forced to take up any further studies in that day. To compel them to spend one, two or three hours in the evening, poring over problems under an indifferent lamp or gaslight, is naturally conducive toward sending them to bed with muddled and weary brains, there to have their rest broken and their sleep disturbed by dreams in which they are again trying to accomplish the task which the teachers expect solved by morning. As most parents know, this experience is by no means rare, and few there are who will defend its continuance."

The Brantford Courier says that "where the principal of a Public school does not believe in the practice, and has a school board in agreement with him, the giving of home work should be discontinued, and an effort made to show that satisfactory results can be secured without it—as good results from the teacher's standpoint, and better results in the opinion of a medical examiner. The matter should be put to the test. We have always been opposed to the giving of home work to pupils. Even in our school days we were opposed to it, and would like to see the practice brought to trial, convicted of evil, and banished from the country."

The matter has been tested in other places, including Stratford, and The Herald of the city has yet to hear of home work being restored. In Guelph a wise solution of the problem has been devised. Up to the fourth book, where the pupil has reached a more mature age, home studies are not to be imposed. If, however, a pupil is so backward that both teacher and parents are apprised of the importance of urging the child forward by some home work in the particular branches in which deficiency is most apparent, then it can be given out, but neither in that case nor elsewhere throughout the schools of Guelph is the time to be consumed in home study to exceed the space of one hour."

On this method the Chatham News says: "The decision of the Guelph Board of Education to eliminate home study almost entirely from the lower classes of the Public schools is an indication that the public is being aroused to the real nature of this great evil. It is a step which boards of education and Public school boards in other places might follow with a great deal of advantage to the students under their care."

And the Caledonia Cachem makes this comment in its last issue: "The Board of Education of Toronto has announced the abolition of home work in the Public schools. We believe this to be a step in the right direction. Keep the children at work during school hours, train them while school is "in" to concentration of mind, then leave them the evenings for play and physical development and such tasks as may be required of them about the home. Such a system should result not only in better health and brighter minds for the children, but as a solution of the problem of discipline during schools hours."

FUR PROTECTION PROBLEM.

The Globe, in referring to a bill introduced by Mr. W. H. Hoyle, says that the high price of prime mink, ranging from six to seven dollars, and the absence of a close season is rapidly leading to the extermination of the few remaining along the Trent Valley and other waters in Central Ontario. As the skins taken in summer are worth a dollar or more, the absence of a close season leads to the illegal trapping of muskrats and other fur-bearing animals. The muskrats although protected till December, suffer still more when the season for marten and fisher opens. The protection of otter is also frequently disregarded. Fur dealers say there are many immature muskrat skins offered for sale, and, of course, the law will not keep them out of traps set for other animals."

Mr. Hoyle has a bill before the Legislature to restore mink to the protected class and extend the close season for all fur-bearing animals to December 1st. Any objection to the protection of mink will be on the grounds that they are destructive in poultry yards. Although there is some foundation for this complaint, the loss through extermination would certainly be greater. The commercial value of mink skins and the attendant evils of a continuous open season justify the proposed measure of protection, but the date of the open season for the varied climate of Ontario will be hard to determine. Mr. Hoyle's bill also provides for the establishing of closed areas by order in council. This is a change rendered advisable by conditions developing in many parts of the Province. When the fur-bearing animals, game, or fish of any area are threatened with extermination or depletion and prompt action is necessary to prevent irreparable injury the necessary legal machinery should be available.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" relies for.

It is safe to say that no product of any kind enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this famous Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY PERSON WHO IS THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, solely owned and occupied by him, or his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

ARTHUR H. SYDERE,
Clerk of the Legislative Assembly.
Toronto, 10th January, 1910.

OUR NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

Everyone Speaks in Highest Terms of Duke of Connaught.

In the London Chronicle there is an article declaring that popular imagination in Canada has been greatly struck by the proposal that the Duke of Connaught should succeed Earl Grey as governor-general, and that Canadian approval is almost unanimous. The Chronicle is a thoroughly trustworthy journal, but seems to have before its eyes a picture such as Canadians do not see. The subject to which it refers has not been much discussed in Canada. Of course everyone who did discuss it spoke in the highest terms of the Duke of Connaught. Nothing else could be expected.

It is somewhat too easy for an individual having access to two or three newspapers and a cable, to create an erroneous impression of a widespread and even clamorous public opinion. An enthusiastic person makes a suggestion to an editor, who either shares his enthusiasm, or is good-natured, or is in need of a subject; and sees no objection to the proposal. The article appears. Possibly through some process which need not be described as telepathy, similar articles appear in two or three other papers. The enthusiast cuts them out and cables the substance of them to Great Britain. The British reader does not see the thing as it is. He sees, not one man talking to an editor and holding him with his glittering eye, but an excited populace, pleading, exhorting, entreating, clamoring for a royal governor-general, or a preference of three cents a bushel on wheat. The British reader then asks himself and others if the voice of our colonies shall be unheeded, or their arms stretched out in vain. Never. His opinion is cabled back to Canada, and thus we derive the impression of an excited populace on the other side of the Atlantic.

The subject has its serious side, for upon some matter of great importance, colonial opinion might be misrepresented. Upon one occasion an effort was made to place Canada in the position of opposing the granting of self-government in the South African colonies. It is a difficult task to guage public opinion, and those who profess to understand it should be rigorously cross-examined.

BRITAIN'S TRADE.

Britain's Fiscal Policy is the Ideal Cobden Sought.

Liberal writers in Canada although approving the Fielding protective tariff and the protection bounties, regard free trade in Britain with enthusiasm and the memory of Cobden with reverence. A curious impression exists in the camp to the effect that modern Britain's fiscal policy is the ideal that Cobden sought. But the facts scarcely warrant that idea. Cobden believed that, if Britain showed the world the way, other nations would soon abolish their protective duties, and universal free trade would be the result.

No one will quarrel with the economic axiom that universal free trade would be desirable. No individual finds pleasure in paying thirty-three per cent. on every foreign invoice. The various States of the American Union are better off than they would be if Massachusetts levied duties on goods from New York, or if Alabama penalized Connecticut manufacturers by customs dues. If the nations of the earth could dwell together in fiscal unity, all would be well.

But suppose that Ohio had the power and the inclination to erect a tariff wall against its neighbors. Suppose that all the other States save Pennsylvania followed that example. What would be the position of Pennsylvania. The products of Pittsburg and South Bethlem would be unable to compete either at home or elsewhere against those of protected Cleveland and Chicago. The industrial fabric of Pennsylvania would be rent to ribbons, unemployment would be common, and, although living might be cheaper than in the protected States, the average man would get only a precarious livelihood.

Britain alone of all the nations, has practically no customs duties. Production in Britain halts, foreign merchandise floods the country, unemployment is a great and growing evil, and, though living is cheap, wages are low. One-sided free trade such as the United Kingdom suffers is leagues short of the Cobden ideal. Nor is it in the least degree likely that, if Cobden could return to the scenes of the former labors, he would cling to the fiscal policy of which the Lloyd-George budget is the legitimate and logical outcome.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed, "Tender for restoration of, and additional story to Military Stores Building, Ottawa, Ont.," will be received at this office until 5.00 p.m., on Monday, March 7, 1910, for the work mentioned.

Plans, specification and form of contracts can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, with their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
NAPOLEON TESSIER,
Secretary.

PORCUPINE.
SALE OF LOTS IN TOWNSITE.

Sealed tenders will be received by the undersigned up to Wednesday, 16th March, 1910, at one o'clock p.m., for the purchase of all the lots in the town plot of Porcupine, situated in the south half of lot nine, in the fourth concession of the township of Whitney, at the eastern end of Porcupine Lake, as shown by plan of survey by Mr. E. D. Bolton, O.L.S.

Tenderers are asked to state how much they are prepared to pay for each lot and must accompany their tenders with a marked cheque in favor of the Provincial Treasurer, for half the amount which shall be applied as the first instalment. Successful tenderers will be required to pay the balance within two months.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Tenders to be marked "Tenders for lots in town plot of Porcupine," and to be addressed to the Honorable the Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines.

Plans of townsite may be had on application to the Department and to the office of the Mining Recorder at the following places: Porcupine, Haileybury, Cobalt, Sudbury, Elk Lake, Gowganda, Sault Ste. Marie, Parry Sound.

EDWARD J. TOWNSEND, President.
ALEXANDER H. BEATH, Vice-President.
JAMES K. MACLENNAN, Secretary-Treasurer.
JOHN ANNIS, of Markstay, Ont.
JAMES TOWNSEND, of Mabel, Que., and
JOHN H. CLARY, of Sudbury, Ont.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent dated April 16th, A. D., 1910, and is empowered to carry on in all its branches the operations of a mining, milling, reduction and development Company.

The Company was organized more particularly to acquire and develop certain of the mining claims on Emerald Lake commonly called the Townsend-Annis gold properties.

Mr. Townsend had an undivided eleven-sixteenths interest in Mining Location W.D. 154, and Mr. Annis had three water claims adjoining and extending westward from W.D. 154. The Company has a working option on the remaining five-sixteenths of W. D. 154 from Mr. William Crawford, of Haileybury, formerly of Sudbury. The Company purchased outright the interest of Mr. Townsend and Mr. Annis.

These claims are distant about 30 miles almost due north from Warren, Ontario, and lie on the east side of Emerald Lake. In winter they are reached from Markstay by an existing road some 40 miles long, needing some small repairs in places—in summer from Temagami station on the T. and N. O. Railway, by steamer to Obabika Bay on the north-west arm of Lake Temagami, and thence a distance of ten miles, in all, by water, four short portages excepted, to Emerald Lake and W.D. 154 is reached.

On W.D. 154 the ore outcrops in the form of a deposit, in width from 300 to 500 feet, and has been traced on the strike for about 1,000 feet. The dip is nearly vertical. The contact wall on the south side is jasper and magnetite and on the north side is black slate. The gangue rock is calcite, schist and quartz, heavily mineralized with gold-bearing iron-pyrites. Considerable stripping and test pitting have been done at various points, and at each point good values in gold have been found. All blastings have disclosed free gold and pannings show many colors. The directors believe this property to be

The Largest Outcropping of High-grade Ore Known in the world To-day.

Four assays from Messrs. Handley and Parker, of Sudbury, showed respectively $2,412.61, $1,620.68, $787.68, and $162.72 per ton. Ledoux and Company of 99 John Street, New York, $36.45 (from an iron-pyrites sample). Kropp's, Germany, gave $66.00 per ton from an iron pyrites sample.

The Directors have decided to place 50,000 shares on the market at the special price of 50c per share, in blocks of not less than 50 shares each. Allotments will be made as applications, accompanied by the necessary cash, have been received for 30,000 shares. Should this number not be subscribed for by February 15th next, money will be refunded promptly. The above low price is to provide the necessary funds for the installation of the proper milling and reduction plant and for the carrying out of the necessary mining operations. See prospectus.

All have not the knowledge or the necessary capital to send out prospecting parties, but many small capitalists can afford to put up $25.00 or more to get a share in this local enterprise where they know that first, last and all the time they will get a square deal. Come and see samples. Have them assayed yourself. Investigate for yourself.

Porcupine may have plenty of gold but you don't need to go further than Emerald Lake for gold. Many mining men of Sudbury know W.D. 154. Cut out this advertisement. Watch for following ads. Get a prospectus and all information from any of the Directors, or from Editor of the Times.

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Monday afternoon at St. Luke's Rectory by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, the contracting parties being Mr. Trevor Burgess, and Miss Matilda M. Williams of Lindsay. They were unattended.

On Wednesday afternoon last a very pretty wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Moore, Keene, when Miss Bessie Vivian and Mr. William H. Cameron, were united in marriage. The bride, who was unattended, entered the room on the arm of her affiance to the strains of the wedding march played by one of her girl friends, Miss Bella Miller. The bride was dressed in a taupe cloth gown made princess, and trimmed with silk and embroidered chiffon. Rev. D. D. McDonald performed the ceremony, after which the guests to the number of fifty, partook of a charming wedding dejeuner. The gifts to the bride were numerous and costly, attesting to the popularity of the bride and groom. The groom's favors were to the bride a costly monogram brooch, and to the groomsist a beautiful gold neck pin. The happy couple left for their home in Asphodel.

The home of Miss Ellen Nelson, Keene, was the scene of a very interesting event, when her niece, Miss Jessie Nelson, was united in marriage to Mr. Walter Hope. The bride looked charming as she entered on the arm of her brother, Mr. Andrew Nelson, to the sweet strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Edna Taylor. The bride was elegantly attired in a princess gown of satin cloth, and the bridesmaid, Miss Alice Speirs, was in grey crepe de chine. Both bride and bridesmaid carried beautiful bouquets of white and pink carnations. Rev. Mr. Johnston, pastor of the Methodist church, tied the nuptial knot, after which the guests, to the number of thirty-five sat down to a dainty wedding breakfast. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and costly presents. The happy couple left for their home in Otonabee.

At the last meeting of the Quarterly Board of the Cobourg Methodist Church, Rev. Dr. Shorey was invited to remain a fourth year as pastor. During his three years' residence here, Dr. Shorey has become very popular, not only with his own congregation, but with the townspeople generally. Rev. Dr. Shorey was formerly pastor of the George street church.

Canada May Lose What the French Treaty Gave It

France Yields to Pressure from U. S. and Agrees, Provided Other Points Can be Cleared Up, to Give Same Rates to U.S. Agricultural Implements

Washington, D.C., March 2.—What might have been a great tariff advantage for Canada, what might have brought thousands of dollars more capital into Canada, and in short, what might have given to Canada the trade of the American in farm implements in France, collapsed today.

Your correspondent learned that the negotiations between the Washington government and France have so far progressed so favorably that it is certain if any agreement whatever is reached between the two nations that France will allow American agricultural implements through her customs at the minimum rate, that is, upon the same basis as Canadian implements.

If this be true, and the statement is made on high authority, the eager eyes of the implement manufacturers of Canada may just as well stop their bungling, and their shrewd business heads may as well quit calculating all the profits they could make—because they can't; the Americans will get the same tariff in France, on agricultural implements, anyway, as Canada. This is, of course, provided the Americans are able to conclude a treaty with France.

FRENCH TREATY LOOMS BIG.

The part which France and the Franco-Canadian treaty plays in the tariff relations of Canada and the United States is more than most people imagine. Down here there were rumors for a long time that Canada and France were planning to combine against the American tariff. This of course, has been denied by Ottawa, and while it would be interesting from a merely human point of view to see Canada steal American trade in Canada still the effects of tariff wars with the Americans would not perhaps be any better for the two countries than it would be for the Americans. If it so happened that the Americans were unable to come to an amicable tariff arrangement with both France and Canada, the situation would certainly have its disadvantages for the Americans.

Canadian implement men, under the French minimum tariff, could undersell the Americans, coming in under a maximum tariff, by $3.86 on a mower, $4.62 on a reaper, $8.20 on a binder, and $1.93 on a hay rack. Many of the American firms would undoubtedly be forced to invest in Canada, and on the whole, Canada might have reaped where she had not sowed and garnered, etc.

FORMAL TALK NEXT WEEK.

However, Canada and France, unfortunately for the Massey-Harris people and others such, are not playing a game on the United States. The State department here today made the formal announcement of its representatives to Ottawa. In addition to the names already mentioned by your correspondent, the name of Mr. Foster, the American consul general at Ottawa, has been added. He will be the spokesman of the American representation. Mr. Charles M Pepper of the Bureau of Trade Relations, and Professor H. C. Emery will leave for Ottawa tonight, and will probably hold informal discussions with the Canadian representatives before the end of the week. The formal proceedings will be opened in the following week.

When Mr. Pepper and Mr. Emery arrive in Ottawa it is safe to say that they will do everything in their power to persuade our government that the advantages of their minimum tariff and the disadvantages of their maximum warrant the giving of the intermediate tariff to the States. Writing of this matter not long ago, Hon. J. Ball Osborne, Chief of the Bureau of Trade Relations, said in part: "Inasmuch as the United States cannot hope to obtain the benefit of the preferential tariff, all our interests centers on the possibilities of the intermediate tariff.

WANT INTERMEDIATE TARIFF

It is certain that this is still the position of the States. Not only does the Washington Government wish to have the same rates as the French on the same articles, but it will try to get the intermediate rates on such other things as typewriters, ornament printing presses, agricultural machinery, stoves, wagons, and carriages, and bicycles.

These are some of the things that the French treaty allows into Canada at intermediate tariff rates from 2½ per cent. to 5 per cent. lower than the rate under which the same American goods enter Canada:

Canned meats, florists' stock and trees, canned corn, canned fruit, all kinds of nuts, canned fish, confectionery, photographs, paintings, drawings, toilet preparations, ink dishes cement, glass, glassware, clocks and watches and their movements, locomotives and motor cars, automobiles and motor vehicles, manufacturers of iron, steel and wood house and office furniture, dress goods, cotton threads, handkerchiefs and corsets, velvetenes and plush fabrics, musical instruments and talking machines, leathers, boots and shoes, trunks and valises, caps, gloves and brushes. Wines, books, drugs and medicines, laces and embroideries, silks and ribbons are given a special duty.

It will be seen from this on what points the Americans will be handicapped unless Ottawa cedes to them our intermediate tariff.

AFFECTS BRITISH PREFERENC

Already our British preference rates are rendered less effective by the Franco-Canadian treaty. It will now be from 2½ per cent. to 5 per cent. easier for the French to commete with the English in our country. But if the Americans, too, are to be given the intermediate rates, the effect will be much greater. This will not please Col. Denison.

It was really because the old British preference rates were not effective in steering our trade to the Motherland that our tariff was revised in 1907. Before that we gave England a flat rate rebate of 33 1-3 per cent. on all duties. Now we have mostly fixed duties most of them higher, but some lower than 33 1-3 per cent. Now, however, with freerer competition from Germany and France, and with the probability of more from the south of us, the British goods in Canada will need either to do some tall hustling or else get Col. Denison and Mr. Fielding to revise the tariff once more.

WON'T GIVE MUCH.

Ottawa, March 2.—While the report that the United States will get the same advantage in regard to agricultural implements from France as has been accorded to Canada under the terms of the Franco-Canadian treaty will not be altogether pleasing to manufacturers and the government, it is a matter over which this government has no control. Should the United States secure from France some of the advantages which Canada has under her recent treaty with that country, it would, while undoubtedly affecting the value of the treaty to the Dominion, tend to remove the claim on the part of the United States that our arrangement with France constitutes a discrimination against that country.

What Canada will, or will not do in the way of concessions is a question to which no one can give an answer until the approaching conferences with members of the tariff board of the United States are over. Beyond intimating to the United States that Canada considers that her present trade arrangements do not constitute a discrimination against that country, it is not believed that any action has been taken in the direction of asserting Canada's policy. That will depend entirely upon the suggestions which may come from our neighbors.

MUSTN'T HURT PREFERENCE.

The feeling prevails that Canada cannot be expected to give anything very big in the way of concessions, and certainly not such concessions as would injure the value of the preference to Britain. In view of the large balance of trade in favor of the United States, it is considered that the representatives will find it difficult matter to make a case of undue discrimination against the Dominion.

Avalanche Swept Sixty to Death 150 Feet Down Mountain

Avalanche That Carried Two Trains Down Dizzy Height was More Fatal than First Reported—Slide was a Full Mile Wide—Rescuers in Great Danger

Everett, Wash., March 2.—It is feared that fifty lives were lost in the avalanche that carried two Great Northern trains into a canyon near Wellington yesterday. The cars fell 150 feet and were buried by debris.

Superintendent O'Neill of the Great Northern, who is directing relief work in the mountains, telegraphs that sixty lives were lost.

Seattle, Washington, March 2.—Twenty-three are known to be dead, and twenty-five are still missing, following the sweeping far into the depths below the entrance to the Cascade tunnel of two trains of the Great Northern Railway by an avalanche of snow. The big relief parties that were sent out from Wellington, the nearest point to the disaster, worked all night, and are struggling with the snow today; spurred to frantic efforts by moans and cries from underneath the debris, indicating that at least some of the victims are still alive.

The work of rescue is most dangerous. The snow on the mountain sides above is melting, and occasionally large quanties become dislodged, and give away with a boom that can be heard for miles and sends terror to the dauntless workers striving to dig through the mass of snow, rock, trees, and timbers and get to where the men, women and children are entombed.

Among the known dead whose bodies have been identified are:

A. L. Blackburn, trainmaster, Everett, Wash.

A. C. Lingcoy, secretary to Division Superintendent O'Neill, Everett, Wash.

Walter Lewis, Everett, Wash.

UNDERTAKERS USE SNOWSHOE

Several undertakers with coffins have been sent to the scene from Everett. They will make the trip by train as far as possible, and then will go the balance of the way by sleds and snowshoes. The bodies of the dead are to be embalmed, and brought out on sleds, as it will be many days before the entire wreckage can be cleared.

The survivors of the disaster are now at Scenic, where they will remain until provisions for taking cars of them can be made. The two trains that were overwhelmed were a transcontinental mail train, which carried no passengers, and the Seattle express.

AN ENJOYABLE EVENT.

Banquet and Concert in George St. Church Last Night.

Votes on Commission Plan.

(Special to The Times.)

Hiawatha, Kas., March 3.—Whether or not Hiawatha shall adopt the commission plan of government will be determined by the special election held here to-day. Last year a proposal to adopt the plan was defeated but by a very small vote, and it is believed the chances for its adoption are much better now. Many of the leading cities of Kansas are now governed under the commission plan, among them Kansas City, Topeka, Leavenworth, Wichita, Colleyville, Emporia and Independence.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

The Canadian Poultry Farm Stock Company.

We call the attention of the investing public to the advertisement of the above company in this issue of The Times. The company is well officered and is entering a field of activity which promises the best of results. There are many similar companies operating in various parts of the United States, with great success.

Mr. C. J. Bell, the manager of the company will be pleased to furnish further information to any who care to invest. There are only a limited number of shares on the market, so that it will be a case of "first come first served." The office of the company is situated at Room 53, Royal Trust Building, Montreal.

Asks the Ontario Covernment to Build Two Dreadnoughts

Toronto, March 2.—The Citizens' Defence League wants to have the naval question introduced into the Ontario Legislature. A deputation including Magistrate King-ford, Hon. A. B. Morine, Father Minehan, and Col. G. T. Denison, waited on Sir James Whitney this afternoon, and asked that he present to the House a resolution in favor of adding at least two more Dreadnoughts to the Dominion Government's naval proposals. Sir James promised to lay the matter before the cabinet.

RESOLUTION OF LEAGUE.

The resolutiain as the league plans it reads as follows: "It is of vital importance to Canada and the Empire that two or more battleships of the Dreadnought type should be added to the present naval proposals of the Dominion Government; that these vessels should first be provided in commencing the formation of fleet units, and that this provision should be made immediately."

The speakers were Magistrate Kingsford, Hon. A. B. Morin, and Rev. Father Minehan, and they pointed out that even an abstract resolution by the Province would be valuable. They asked that the above resolution be introduced into the House, and spoke at considerable length on Imperial questions.

Sir James deplored the fact that party politics entered into everything, and promised to lay the matter before the cabinet.

Farmer was Terribly Bitten by Mad Dog

London, Ont., March 2.—Elgin Hayes, a butcher living at Dorchester, ten miles east of here, sustained such terrible injuries yesterday by being bitten by a mad dog that it is feared that he will not live to reach the Pasteur Institute in New York.

Hayes was out for the first time in weeks, having broken his leg, and was sifting ashes in the back yard, when the dog rushed in and, jumping at him, fastened its teeth in his shoulder.

Hayes was knocked down, and the animal bit viciously at him, tearing the skin from his shoulders and all down his arms to his hands. His fingers were fearfully mangled by the teeth of the dog.

The dog finally ran away, and Hayes was found by his relatives some time after, very weak from loss of blood. He is now on his way to New York.

Mining Men Meet in Toronto.

Toronto, March 3.—The United States and Great Britain, as well as nearly all sections of the Dominion, are represented at the annual convention of the Canadian Mining Institute, which is now in session in this city. Dr. W. G. Miller, the retiring president, is presiding over the sessions, which will continue until Saturday.

Editors of Western Canada.

Winnipeg, Man., March 3.—There will be a good attendance at the opening here to-day of the annual convention of the Western Canada Press Association. The editors and publishers will spend two days in the discussion of various questions of common interest and will conclude their gathering to-morrow night with a big banquet at the Royal Alexandria Hotel.

CURED OF ACHING WEARINESS.

Had Gooty Pain, Flushings, Palpitations and General Feeling of Depression.

Mr. C. J. Stonewall, who for years has been a most respected citizen of Pemberton, writes interestingly and convincingly of a very serious sickness, extending over almost two years. Through the marvellous curative power of Dr. Hamilton's Pills he made rapid and permanent recovery.

"It was a puzzle to my doctor, because the symptoms seemed almost as numerous as the days of the month. But one thread ran through them all, and that was utter weariness, morning, noon and night. I felt flat—pain changed from one part of the body to another—seemed at one time rheumatic, at others it affected the extremities like gout. Little exertion, such as going upstairs, caused breathlessness and palpitation, and at times I had vague numb feelings and pricklings. After Dr. Hamilton's Pills cured me, my doctor saw it wasn't the nervous system, but bowel and kidney disorders. I believe that there is no pill on earth that can compare with Dr. Hamilton's and in diseases that have their cause in thin or white blood, cure is inevitable with Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

Dundas Boy Dead Suffered Terribly

Hamilton, March 2.—Little John Taylor, the fourteen-year-old Dundas boy, who was bitten by his pet bull dog five weeks ago, and who contracted hydrophobia, died after terrible suffering at 10.30 last night. His death is one of the very few—some say the first—that have taken place in Canada from rabies.

The first symptoms of trouble appeared on Sunday, five weeks after the boy was bitten on the lip, when he complained of a pain in the chest. It was thought he had a cold, and certainly there was no suspicion then that he had hydrophobia. The doctor was called in and gave him some medicine for the cold. Next day he became very restless and could not sleep. He was offered water, but, while he showed no fear, he could not swallow it, and any attempt to do so brought on a fit. Changes of the air in the room through the opening of doors or windows had a similar effect, and, seeing these well-defined symptoms of hydrophobia, his removal to the hospital was ordered. He continued to grow worse, and if a breath of air was allowed into the room where he lay he became almost maniacal. He was again offered water, but the attempt to swallow it again, brought on a violent fit.

BEGGED FOR RELIEF.

He held his reason until about 6 o'clock, when he became delirious. Though enormous doses of morphia were administered, they were ineffective, and he passed from one spasm into another. In these he threw his body about, and would have thrown himself out of bed had he not been restrained. After these violent spasms he passed into a state of coma or paralysis, and apparently suffered terribly, as he begged to be put out of his misery.

The little fellow finally passed into a comatose state and died. During the evening his paroxysms were so severe that he had to be restrained by means of a sheet.

The viscid matter that invariably gathers in the mouth was evident during the day, and in spitting this out and clearing his throat the poor little fellow made those noises which gave rise to reports that he barked like a dog. Dr. Langrill stated that this noise was caused by the dryness of his throat.

Dr. Hodgetts says it is the first case he knows of in Ontario, but Dr. Bertram claims that there was a similar case in Dundas some years ago.

DOG CATCHER BITTEN.

While trying to catch a stray cur on Bay street yesterday afternoon, Jimmy Lindsay, official dog catcher, was badly torn by the brute, and was taken to the city hospital for treatment. He had several times before been bitten by dogs which he had caught, but never was so seriously injured as he was by this one. He had caught the dog and placed it in his wagon, but before he could close the door it got out, and he caught it by the legs. It turned on him and bit him about the wrist and leg, and when he reached the City Hall, he was bespattered with blood.

THE WEATHER.

Fair and mild.

Four Million Dollars to be Spent in Entwistle

Britishers Buy Alberta Lands—Pay to St. Paul Speculators $1,100,000 for Property Along Pembina River

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 16.—E. H. Morphy, of Morphy, Ewing and Bradford, on behalf of clients in England, today purchased from Burchard, of St. Paul, 10,000 acres of coal lands in Alberta, lying along the Pembina River. Mr. Burchard and his associates bought these coal lands about two years ago on speculation. The English purchasers are to pay $1,100,000 for the property. This property adjoins the town of Entwistle, and it is the intention of purchasers to spend $4,000,000 on development.

Entwistle.

Why not go West and be surprised? Now is your chance to buy lots and make money. Mr. S. J. Thomas, of the Pembina Townsite, is now in town. If you are interested call and see him at the Oriental Hotel, or A. Brown, Real Estate, Water St., or 'phone but be sure to call.

Government Makes Arrangements for Treating Rabies Cases

Toronto, March 2.—Beginning tomorrow, Pasteur inoculation for rabies cases will be done in Toronto at the General Hospital at a cost of $25.

Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, has returned from New York, bringing the news that Toronto is sufficiently near New York to allow of the transportation of the delicate serum. The bill of $25 must be paid in advance by the individual to be treated, or by the municipality sending him in. A further charge of $1 per day will be made by the hospital where additional hospital treatment is required.

While these arrangements involve only a small cost to the Province, the saving to the public will be considerable. Already fifty people have gone to New York from Western Ontario at a cost there of from $250 to $300 for the treatment, not including travelling expenses.

Board of Works Met Last Night---The London St. Sewer was Blocked

The committee of the Board of Works met last night and transacted considerable business. The first matter taken up was sewerage blockage on London street.

Toward the end of February trouble occurred in connection with the sewer on London street between Water and George. The connection between a terrace belonging to Mr. S. Edwards and the main sewer would not work. Mr. Edwards called T. D. MacGregor to remedy matters, and he was of the opinion after making an examination that the main sewer was blocked. Street Commissioner Evans was notified, and a number of the city's men were put to work to find out if the sewer was stopped. It was found not to run freely. In blowing out the connection between the house and the street the water backed up into one of the houses in the terrace attached to the same connection and considerable damage was done. Mr. Edwards waited on the Board of Works last night in reference to the matter and asked the city to bear part of the damage, maintaining that the blocking of the main sewer was the cause of the whole trouble. It was an unusual case and it was discussed at considerable length. Mr. Edwards stated that in addition to the damage done he had lost a good tenant as a result of the trouble.

On motion of Ald. Duffus and Ald. Gillespie the city solicitor and city engineer were instructed to go into the matter.

The question of building a curb on Beason street was up again. It has been petitioned for by Mr. Kidd and Dr. Pentland. The city engineer reported that it would cost $207.40 for a plain curb and $362 for a curb and gutter.

It was decided to take no action for the present.

The engineer reported on the cost of protecting a number of high crossings. The estimate was $201.40, and it was decided to go ahead with the work.

A request from N. T. Laplante for a sewer connection with the outfall sewer outside the city limits was referred to the chairman and engineer to report back to the committee.

W. T. Carruthers was given $6.15 for work done in connection with a sewer connection.

No action was taken in connection with a water fountain to run all the year round on Hunter street east.

It was decided to build such stands for the fire engine along the river as the Fire, Water & Light Committee may designate, the cost to be borne by that committee.

Those present were: Ald. Hicks, chairman; Mayor Morrow, Aldermen Duffus, Metheral, Phelan and Gillespie.

GIRLS WITH BAD COMPLEXIONS.

The skin should really be so soft and transparent that the blood in the vessels beneath can impart to it the pale, rosy tint which is the ideal "bloom of health." Often, however, the skin becomes coarse and rough, and its cells filled with various impurities, which should be thrown off. This results in those "muddy" sallow complexions, spots, blackheads, etc.

Girls who are troubled in this way will find Zam-Buk a perfect skin food. Smear it over the spots lightly the eruptions, the sallow patches, at night, and notice how quickly your appearance improves. As the rich, refined, herbal essences sink deep into the tissue the hard, scurfy-like patches are removed. The cuticle is softened. The cells beneath are stimulated to healthy operation. The pores resume their work properly, and a good complexion results. Isn't this better than attempting the impossible task of improving your complexion from the outside.

Quaker City Sees Itself in the Throes of a Great Struggle

Philadelphia, March 2.—Unless the officials of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company can be forced to recede from their persistent refusal to arbitrate with their striking employes by Saturday, Philadelphia will be in the throes of one of the most serious labor disturbances ever known in the history of a big American city. Every union man in Philadelphia it is believed, will respond to the call for the general sympathetic strike if matters are allowed to go that far. Present indications are that it will take some hitherto unthought-of expedient to force the street car company to agree to arbitration.

HAVE VOTED TO GO OUT.

The matter has gone too far for either side to recede. While Philadelphia is not a strong union city, there are at least 100,000 well-organized union men here who, it is believed, stand ready to obey the order to go out Saturday. Various locals which have already voted to go out, according to reports furnished at union headquarters, have a membership of 77,350 men. Although the State police have been withdrawn and the State fencibles have been relieved from strike duty, no trouble was reported last night, but the officials are inclined to believe this is but a calm before the storm, and are still swearing in special policemen. It is reported that at least 2,000 men have become special policemen within the past two days.

THEY STILL HAVE HOPE.

The merchants, ministers, professional men, and laymen who have joined in a demand that the Street Car Company agree to arbitration, have not given up hope, despite the absolute refusal of the company to agree. The last hope is the council, which, at its Thursday meeting, will be asked to force the company to yield.

Among the larger unions that have already agreed to go out Saturday are the carpenters and builders, numbering 5,000; bricklayers, 2,100; moulders, 2,000; musicians, 2,200; brewery workers, 2,000; cigar makers, 2,300; hatters, 1,800; railroad trainmen, 1,900; carpet makers, $1,900; plasters, 300; United Hebrew trades, 6,000; and grocery clerks, 1,000.

BOYCOTT ORIENTALS.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 24.—The special despatches from San Francisco, mentioned as having been received in Tokio, are believed to have been inspired by a resolution adopted by the labor council advising all unions "not to unionize or permit their members to work in houses where Oriental labor is employed."

The adoption of the resolution followed a discussion on a proposal to boycott saloons where Chinese and Japanese help is employed.

Cold on the Chest

Had Suffered for Weeks—Used Fourteen Different Remedies Without Effect.

CURED QUICKLY BY NERVILINE.

CURED CONSTIPATION QUICKLY.

Tells of a Remedy That is Safe for Young and Old, for All Stomach and Bowel Troubles.

Writing from his home in Barcelona, Mr. Frederick G. Mayer states: "I think no one ever suffered as severely from constipation as I did for nearly six months. So many serious symptoms were developing as a consequence of this evil condition of the system, that I realized I must find a remedy. The strong pills of various kinds I tried seemed after their first effects were over to make me far worse and I did not know which way to turn for relief. I saw Dr. Hamilton's Pills advertised, and the first box used, satisfied me I found a true remedy. Instead of griping by undue activity, Dr. Hamilton's Pills acted as naturally as if physic had not been taken. I never had to increase the dose, and, indeed, within a month I reduced it and when the system finally acted of its own accord as a result of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, I took a dose twice a week only, just to make sure the old condition would not come back.

No other remedy cures constipation and biliousness so easily or safely as Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are an ideal family remedy for all diseases of the stomach, liver and bowels. Sold in 25c. boxes, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

A LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN.

According to a telegram from Regina the question of local option is to be submitted to the electors in two hundred towns and municipalities in Saskatchewan next December. In passing it may be remarked how rapidly that province must have developed in a few years when it has already such a number of municipal corporations as is mentioned. It is said that a very active campaign will be carried on from now until December, both the advocates and opponents of the principle of local option intending to make every effort to win the fight. The struggle will be followed in British Columbia with no little interest, the result of the plebiscite held in this Province last November having shown that the people here are tolerably evenly divided on the question, although we are inclined to think that on a direct vote to authorize legislation on the subject, a larger number of ballots would be cast against such a course than was the case on the question submitted in November. But there is undoubtedly a growing sentiment in favor of temperance throughout Canada.

LIFE'S TROUBLES.

When a man begins to carry his troubles to bed with him, and ponder over them instead of going to sleep, then look out for squalls. Such is the dictum of Dr. Woods Hutchison, one of the leading health authorities in the United States. Worry, he claims, is a disease, whose symptoms are as definite, whose course is as fatal, and whose cure is as simple, as many others of the better known and more plainly charted ills to which flesh is heir.

Life, according to Dr. Hutchison's analysis, as summarized by the Ottawa Journal, is nine parts happiness and content to one of gloom and misery. When the proportions of worry assume charge of more than one-tenth of a man's time, it is says this authority, a plain sign of a physiological condition that, in time, will become extremely serious.

And men have to strive to obtain and retain this nine-tenths of contentment. Discussing this aspect Dr. Hutchison says:

"It is really appalling when we come to consider it broadly—the narrowness, the monotony, the everlasting repition of average workaday life; and the prospect of performing the same petty duties day after day, month after month, year after year, with nothing to end it short of the great sleep. Variety is not merely the spice of life, but its salt, the very essence of its continuance. Intelligent recreation, interests outside of the daily grind, changes of scene—these are not merely luxuries, they are necessaries of life."

GOLD AND SILVER MONEY.

How Uncle Sam Converts Bullion into Beautiful Coin.

In a vault in the mint at Philadelphia are piles of bricks made of solid gold. Each brick is only as large as a cake of kitchen soap, but it weighs about forty pounds. In another vault are silver bullion to kept. These bricks are much larger and much heavier. Both of these metals are to be made into money for the United States. When the gold coins are to be made the precious metal is alloyed with copper and other metals to make it hard. Pure gold is so soft that it can be scratched with the finger nail, so is never used even for jewelry. After the gold has been hardened by adding the other metals to it it is made into ingots, which look like long gold wedges. They are about a foot long, as wide as a twenty dollar gold piece and two inches thick.

When the silver comes from the melting room it, too, is poured into strips or bars. The ingots of both metals are treated in the same way in the making of coins. One might think that our gold pieces and silver coins are made in molds, but a visit to the mint would show that to be untrue. The precious metals are rolled out into thin bands until they are of a certain width and thickness. These strips of gold or silver are then run under steel punches, which cut the metal into disks.

Each piece is then weighed by very exact scales, for each coin must contain so much gold or silver. After the weighing these blanks are shoveled into vats of acid, so that all the dirt may be eaten off of them. When dry the blanks are put into long tubes, through which they pass one by one between two dies. The upper die stamps the face of the coin, while the other stamps the back. The great pressure of the two dies coming together has just force enough to make the impressions on the coins clear and distinct.

GRAY SQUIRREL'S LUCK.

How It Came About That He Secured a Nestful of Nuts.

Gray Squirrel had a nest up in a maple tree near the kitchen door, from which he could peep down to see when Mrs. Reed, who lived in the house, put out a crisp crust of bread or a couple of nuts for his breakfast. Every morning he would watch, and kind Mrs. Reed never forget to throw out something nice for him.

That morning, when Gray Squirrel peeped down at the house, there on the porch stood the grocery boy with a small basket of nuts. The boy knocked at the door, but no one replied, so he finally placed the basket on the sill and went away.

Now, Gray Squirrel knew that never before had Mrs. Reed put so many nuts on the porch for him, but who else could she be buying nuts for? And, besides, that was where his nuts were always put. No sooner did the boy leave the yard than down the tree scampered Gray Squirrel in a hurry. He sat right there and ate one nut, holding it between his front paws, as squirrels always do. Then, taking them one at a time in his mouth, he carried them up to his nest till his nest was filled.

There were only a few nuts left in the basket when Mrs. Reed came out to see if it were there, and how surprised she was to see that they were almost all gone! She glanced up at the tree where Gray Squirrel sat chattering his thanks and said: "Gray Squirrel, you've been a little pilferer. Those nuts were not all for you."

But Gray Squirrel only chattered faster and looked straight at her with his bright eyes, as much as to say, "I thank you for leaving so many nice nuts for me."

A Coin and Card Trick.

Place on the forefinger of your left hand, held upright, a card; on the card place a fifty cent piece. You can remove this card without disturbing the coin. To do this you must flip the card forcibly with the middle finger of the left hand. The pasteboard will be propelled across the room, and the coin will remain upon the finger.

A Trick With Money.

Place, for example, on a table three pieces of money in this manner:

O O O

and propose to any one to take away the middle one without touching it.

How to do it: Take the right hand piece and place it upon the left; consequently the middle one has become the right hand one and is no longer in the middle.

Questions and Answers.

What is born at the same time as the world, destined to live as long as the world and yet never five weeks old? The moon.

Why are clouds like a courtesan? Because they hold the rains (reins).

Why should a hen be called Macduff? Because we wish her to lay on.

Why is the letter G like the sun? Because it is the center of light.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

One of the astronomers thinks Halley's comet and the strange comet that has recently been visible may collide, thus furnishing a spectacle such as men have never seen. In case the collision occurs it will happen somewhere near the First of July, and we may, therefore, regard it as a display of celestial fireworks in honor of the birthday of our Dominion.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

The only former mistresses of the White House living are Mrs. Grover Cleveland and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt.

Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, has opened elaborate headquarters in the Arlington hotel in Washington.

Victoria Daniels, a nineteen-year-old Chicago girl, is the champion holly wreath maker of that city. She made 322 holly wreaths in one day of ten hours, exceeding by sixteen the record of 330 made by Emma Vogel a year ago.

Miss Helen Taft, daughter of the president, is a pretty girl, with blue eyes and fair hair. She is a fearless horsewoman, a tireless rider and the winner of a scholarship which, she is proud to think, would enable her to continue her studies if she were to be thrown upon her own resources.

Miss Alice Paul, the American girl who was sentenced to an English prison for taking part in the recent suffragette outbreaks, comes of an old Quaker family of Moorestown, N. J. She took honors at Swarthmore college, later had a postgraduate course at the University of Pennsylvania and then went to England, where she was studying when she became interested in the equal franchise question.

Things Theatrical.

Vera Michelena is to appear in "The Flirting Princess."

Frederick Lewis is to rejoin the Southern-Marlowe company.

Nance O'Neil has made a big personal success in "The Lily."

Frank Daniels is playing an indefinite engagement at Daly's in New York in "The Belle of Brittany."

Dick Lee, to prove his versatility, undertook lately to play a different character in each of the four acts of "A Little Brother of the Rich" in New York.

Miss Mary Moore, the leading lady of Sir Charles Wyndham, who is accompanying him on his American tour, is also a partner with him in his London theater.

The place of George Arliss in "Septimus" has been taken by Claus Bogel, who was the star's understudy. Mr. Bogel played the role of the French soldier in the story.

Recent Inventions.

To a Philadelphian has been granted a patent on a machine to pass tobacco leaves in bundles under X rays to kill the small insects which infest them.

A patent has been granted on an electric rat trap which resembles a rather flat bell. When a rat climbs up on it to reach the bait it completes a fatal circuit.

A piano stool that will accommodate but one person under ordinary circumstances, but which contains leaves which can be spread to hold two to play duets, has been invented by a Chicagoan.

By inventing a hairpin the prongs of which normally are close together, but which may be sprung open to insert, a Pennsylvania woman has designed a device more secure than pins of the usual form.

Sporting Notes.

The Boston Americans are after new grounds for 1912.

Cornell has won eastern cross country runs ten times in eleven years.

Alfred Shrubb has won ninety-five out of 101 races since coming to this country nearly three years ago.

James A. Murphy of New York has bought his old love, Star Pointer, 1:59¼, and the first two minute pacer is certain of a good home as long as he lives.

Dan Patch, 1:55¼, has covered more than 70,000 miles since going into the exhibition business. What has been announced as his final appearance in public took place last Thanksgiving day at Los Angeles, where he scored over Minor Heir in 2:15¼.

Three Kings.

The German emperor is very popular with officers of the imperial army. His nickname among the German soldiers is Herr Lehmann.

King Edward was recently awarded four first prizes for his exhibits at the Smithfield cattle show. His majesty is a tenant farmer, not a landlord, and pays a large sum every year in rent and taxes for his holdings.

King Gustave of Sweden tried to find out the facts concerning the recent great strike in his country, but without complete success. Now he disguises himself and works among artisans of various sorts unknown that he may have knowledge of actual conditions at first hand. Recently he carried sacks of coal as a stevedore for several hours.

Short Stories.

There are over 7,000 beekeepers in this country, and product of their hives last year was enough to fill a train of cars over 400 miles long.

According to the Indian Spectator, a curious marriage is reported from Kathiawar, India, where a man of seventy has married a girl of nine.

Italy will commemorate this year the fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of its kingdom by an international exposition at Turin from April till October.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product of any kind enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this famous Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY PERSON WHO IS THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, solely owned and occupied by him, or his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

TEACHERS AND SALARIES.

Government Has Done Good Service for Country.

In forcing a marked advance in public school teachers' salaries all over the Province the Ontario Government has earned the gratitude of a hitherto badly unpaid body of hard-working public servants. By the same means the administration has rendered the entire country a genuine service. The proper education of the youth of the land, constitutes a primary feature of an effective policy of national conservation, for the wise use of what has been termed a country's "human capital" is essential to continued development and progress. It is hoped that the shortage of teachers soon will be made good. Particularly is it worthy of mention that for the first time in forty years there is a gain in the percentage of male teachers. School boards will do well to heed the ministers' advice. They must still further advance salaries if they wish to prevent the best men and women being drawn off to the schools of the Canadian West and to highly lucrative commercial positions. Fortunately, the opportunity to exert a wide influence for good amongst the boys and girls of a community, and through them upon the future destinies of the nation, appeals with much force to many conscientious men and women, and helps largely to retain them in their chosen calling even against material temptations from outside.

ANTI-GAMBLING.

Mr. Raney Sets Forth Some Interesting Facts.

Mr. Raney, counsel for the anti-gambling bill at Ottawa, sets forth some rather interesting facts in his summary of the case against the race tracks. Not the least of these is his calculation that the Hamilton Jockey Club has been earning more than 1,700 per cent. on its investment, and that the Woodbine has had profits of nearly seven hundred per cent., while every hundred dollar share in the latter enterprise now represents assets of $3,390.

An alarming feature of the situation is that betting on Canadian tracks is increasing yearly, to say nothing of the betting on results from outside tracks which follow the formation of the habit. Mr. Raney calculates that over twenty-two million dollars was bet last year in connection with six tracks in Canada. What the total would be if augmented by Canadian bets on American races is beyond conjecture. This money was staked, in many cases, by men and boys who could illafford to lose it. Sometimes it was other people's money. This is how Mr. Raney puts it:

I just give one illustration from the evidence given to the committee by Sergeant Lyon, of the Central Prison, Toronto, that of the young bookkeeper, a mere boy of twenty years old, sergeant of the 48th Highlanders, Toronto, who went to the Woodbine last spring, never before having bet upon a horse race. He had $107 of the regiment's money. He was brought into the presence of legalized temptation, in the shape of the licensed bookmaker, lost his head, backed the horses with the regiment's money, and lost it, and is now serving a two-years' term in the Central Prison. I saw him there a few days ago in prison clothes, and a likelier young man it would be hard to find from Halifax to Vancouver. Leaving aside the moral and sentimental aspect of the case, and resting the case on a purely economic basis, this thought occurred to me: How many such young men in Canada prepared to pay annually as the price of the cast-offs of the Woodbine for breeding purposes.

That much of the money thus wagered and lost goes into the pockets of disreputable race track followers who flock into the Dominion from the United States, will hardly be denied by thise conversant with the situation.

GERMANS BUY OUR WHEAT—WE THEIR MANUFACTURES.

If England Will Not Adopt Preference We Must Look After Our Own Interests.

Dr. G. Sterling Ryerson gave an address before the Empire Club at Toronto Thursday on "The New Germany." Speaking of the great expansion of Germany industrially and commercially, he said the country could not possibly raise sufficient food stuff to feed the overwhelming and rapidly increasing population. We were raising more wheat and cattle than we could use, and obviously an approchement with Germany would give us an enlarged market for these products. The abolition of the surtax would give us a greatly increased trade with Germany. He had not the least doubt but that within a few weeks German commercial travelers would cover this country and with their usual thoroughness, persuasiveness and adaptability build up a considerable trade. Whether this would operate to the advantage of preferential trade with England was another matter. Still if the English would not adopt preferential trade, we must look after our own interests.

As to the indirect influence upon Canada, we must, if we would have peace, and if we would maintain our position as an essential factor in the British Empire, we must prepare for war. It seemed sufficiently obvious that Great Britain would continue to compete successfully with Germany in maintaining the two standard power at sea. England now has forty-five million people and Germany sixty-three. Germany produced seven children to three born in England. English naval expenditures must reach the breaking point some day. Therefore, it was incumbent upon us to do our share of imperial defence, both on land and sea, and assume those responsibilities which we, who claim to be a nation within the empire, should rightly bear.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hart Honored.

On the eve of their departure for the Northwest, Mr. and Mrs. John Hart, Bethune street, were presented with an address on Tuesday evening, by the members of his class in the George street church, accompanied by a beautiful brooch to Mrs. Hart, and gold watch and chain to Mr. Hart. The address contained expressions of regret at their departure from Peterborough, and good wishes for their future welfare.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. A few days' test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

OBITUARY.

Alexander Law.

The death occurred on Tuesday last of Alexander McKenzie Law, at his residence, 566 Aylmer street. The deceased was 71 years of age, and was born in Warsaw. To the sorrowing widow and members of the family left to mourn his loss, much sympathy is extended.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock from the family residence to Little Lake cemetery.

Ex-Chief Joseph Irons.

Ex-chief Joseph Irons, one of the most respected members of the Chemong reserve, passed away to his eternal rest in his 65th year on 23rd February. He enjoyed good health until 12 months ago when he took ill, and since suffered much pain, but with patience, until death relieved him of his torture. The ex-chief was a man of quiet and gentle disposition and with earnest spirit was always very much interested in the welfare of his community, where he was leader. He was for 21 years in the capacity of chiefship, and during these years he untiringly devoted himself to the advancement of his people whom he loved. He acted as their adviser and example, and was held in esteem by his people, who feel the deprivation very keenly. He is survived by his wife and six children; Stephen, Wesley, John, Mrs. David Toyler, Laura, all of Chemong and Mrs. John George of Rama, also a sister in Lanse, Mich.

The Canadian Poultry Farm Stock Co. Ltd.

(Charter Applied For).

CAPITAL $40,000 00

Divided into 4000 shares at $10.00 each, same being Common Stock.

Head Office and Farm—MONTREAL, QUE.

Incorporators: C. J. BELL, Manager. LOUIS P. RENE, A. W. SAGER

Room 53, Royal Trust Building.

The object of this Company is to operate a Poultry Stock Farm and to supply eggs, fowls, etc., etc., to the Montreal market. At the present time there is no such business being carried on in this part of the country, although in Western Canada and the United States many similar farms are being conducted with great success, and each and every one shows a handsome profit on the capital invested. By being the first to operate such a business in this part of Canada, where the output could be sold many times over, and with competent men to manage the farm, the success of the business is assured.

It is hoped to have the farm inoperation about the first of April, and we will gradually increase so as to meet the demand of the trade. The shareholders will have first option upon the output, which it is intended to deliver daily.

It is worthy of note that the freight charges paid to the different railway companies for transporting eggs, poultry, etc., into Montreal amount to thousands of dollars per year, said eggs, poultry, etc., being shipped from all parts of Ontario and Quebec, together with shipments from other provinces, all to be consumed in the City of Montreal, and in nearly every case these shipments are controlled by the Wholesale Produce Merchants, and re-sold to Retail Dealers, then sold by the latter to the consumers; therefore, it is easily perceived that in this way four profits must be divided from the price the farmer sells at to the price the consumer pays for the above-mentioned articles.

At the present moment fresh eggs are very scarce; so-called fresh eggs are being sold to the consumer at from 30 cents to 63 cents per dozen. We do not expect to be able to overcome this great problem, but we do expect to be in a position to furnish the Shareholders in this Company and other Retail Dealers with fresh eggs daily. Taking into consideration the number of eggs that are consumed in Montreal every day, the placing of the output is a foregone conclusion.

In P. E. I. the average profit per hen for eggs a year is $2.00; in York Co., Ont., $2.75; in New Jersey, $6.00. It is expected that the average profit in Montreal will be $3.00.

It is understood we are to start this business in the right way. In the first place, only first-class fowl, such as hens, turkeys, geese, ducks, etc., will be purchased, and by purchasing a farm within the suburbs we will in a few years save the entire price paid for same by the saving of the enormous freight charges on eggs, etc., from an outside point.

ESTIMATE OF EXPENDITURES.

THE GOLDEN ROSE MINING COMPANY, Ltd

(NO PERSONAL LIABILITY.)

Incorporated Under the Ontario Companies' Act

Authorized Capital $500,000

Divided into 500,000 Shares Par Value $1.00 Each

Treasury Stock -- 200,000 Shares

EDWARD J. TOWNSEND, President.
ALEXANDER H. BEATH, Vice-President.
JAMES K. MACLENNAN, Secretary-Treasurer.
JOHN ANNIS, of Markstay, Ont.
JAMES TOWNSEND, of Mabel, Que., and
JOHN H. CLARY, of Sudbury, Ont.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent dated April 16th, A. D., 1910, and is empowered to carry on in all its branches the operations of a mining, milling, reduction and development Company.

The Company was organized more particularly to acquire and develop certain of the mining claims on Emerald Lake commonly called the Townsend-Annis gold properties.

Mr. Townsend had an undivided eleven-sixteenths interest in Mining Location W.D. 154, and Mr. Annis had three water claims adjoining and extending westward from W.D. 154. The Company has a working option on the remaining five-sixteenths of W. D. 154 from Mr. William Crawford, of Haileybery, formerly of Sudbury. The Company purchased outright the interest of Mr. Townsend and Mr. Annis.

These claims are distant about 30 miles almost due north from Warren, Ontario, and lie on the east side of Emerald Lake. In winter they are reached from Markstay by an existing road some 40 miles long, needing some small repairs in places—in summer from Temagami station on the T. and N. O. Railway, by steamer to Obabika Bay on the north-west arm of Lake Temagami, and thence a distance of ten miles, in all, by water, four short portages excepted, to Emerald Lake and W.D. 154 is reached.

On W.D. 154 the ore outcrops in the form of a deposit, in width from 300 to 500 feet, and has been traced on the strike for about 1,000 feet. The dip is nearly vertical. The contact wall on the south side is jasper and magnetite and on the north side is black slate. The gangue rock is calcite, schist and quartz, heavily mineralized with gold-bearing iron-pyrites. Considerable stripping and test pitting have been done at various points, and at each point good values in gold have been found. All blastings have disclosed free gold and pannings show many colors. The directors believe this property to be

The Largest Outcropping of High-grade Ore Known in the world To-day.

Four assays from Messrs. Handley and Parker, of Sudbury, showed respectively $2,419.61, $1,920.68, $787.69, and $162.72 per ton. Ledoux and Company of 99 John Street, New York, $36.45 (from an iron-pyrites sample). Kropp's, Germany, gave $60.00 per ton from an iron pyrites sample.

The Directors have decided to place 50,000 shares on the market at the special price of 50c per share, in blocks of not less than 50 shares each. Allotments will be made as applications, accompanied by the necessary cash, have been received for 30,000 shares. Should this number not be subscribed for by February 15th next, money will be refunded promptly. The above low price is to provide the necessary funds for the installation of the proper milling and reduction plant and for the carrying out of the necessary mining operations. See prospectus.

All have not the knowledge or the necessary capital to send out prospecting parties, but many small capitalists can afford to put up $25.00 or more to get a share in this local enterprise where they know that first, last and all the time they will get a square deal. Come and see samples. Have them assayed yourself. Investigate for yourself.

Porcupine may have plenty of gold but you don't need to go further than Emerald Lake for gold. Many mining men of Sudbury know W.D. 154. Cut out this advertisement. Watch for following ads. Get a prospectus and all information from any of the Directors, or from Editor of the Times.

Rockefeller Prepares to Distribute Wealth for the General Good

To Give More Than Andrew Carnegie—Made 20 Millions in a Year

Washington, D.C., March 3.—Steps were taken yesterday to incorporate the Rockefeller Foundation in the District of Columbia. The bill for this purpose was introduced by Senator Gallinger and was referred to the committee on judiciary.

The scope of the foundation is very broad, although embraced in a very short section of the bill. This section reads:

"That the object of the said corporation shall be to promote the well-being and to advance the civilization of the peoples of the United States, its territories and possessions, and of foreign lands, in the acquisition and dissemination of knowledge in the prevention and relief of suffering, and in the promotion of any and all elements of human progress."

How much Mr. Rockefeller has left is even harder to guess than how much he has given away. In 1907, Frederick T. Gates, one of Rockefeller's agents in charity, said: "Mr. Rockefeller himself has authorized the statement that his fortune cannot exceed $200,000,000, and that in his most prosperous year his income was not above 20,000,000. His holdings of Standard Oil stock are not above 20 per cent. of the total issue outstanding."

On the other hand the late H. H. Rogers is quoted as having said in 1908: "I know for a fact that Mr. Rockefeller's income will exceed $60,000,000 next year."

The late Senator Hoar of Massachusetts, estimated the Rockefeller fortune at $1,000,000,000.

BEGAN TO GIVE EARLY.

"When I was fourteen or fifteen years old," says Mr. Rockefeller, "I did all I could to help a little parish pay off a debt of about $2,000 on a church to which I belonged. It was one of the keenest pleasures of my life. It was there I acquired the taste for giving and for influencing others to give.

Mr. Rockefeller's givings since then include:

Tramp Tells About the Davis Murder

Parry Sound, March 3.—Chief Constable Forder arrived here at 12.30 from Sudbury, having in charge Jas. Donaldson, arrested on the charge of complicity in the murder of Michael J. Davidson, late of Loring. Donaldson is a young man, apparently little over 20, who has become a tramp and wanderer, but appears an intelligent young man, with nothing to indicate a vicious disposition. He has been advised not to talk until called to give evidence tonight at the adjourned inquest.

Donaldson says he met Young, who is now under arrest for the murder of M. J. Davis, in Lockport, N.Y., some time ago, and they started out together on the tramp, walking some times, and stealing rides on freight train as opportunity offered; that they beat their way from Toronto to Rose Point on the G.T.R., and walked into Parry Sound about noon on Monday. During the afternoon they fell into company with Davis, who was drinking, and he treated them out of his bottle. In the evening both he and Young were in Davis' room, and between 10 and 11 o'clock at night he and Young went out for a walk, returning to the hotel. During the afternoon they inquired for work in town, but found nothing to do. Donaldson saw his brother whom he had not seen for a long time. After being out in the night, and as they returned to the hotel, Young said he would run up to the old man Davis' room for five minutes, and on his return they would take another walk. Donaldson waited nearly an hour for Young to come down, and when he did not do so spoke to the night porter and they went to Davis room together, but found it in darkness and the door locked on the inside. They went down to get a key and see if it was the right room, and a minute or so later Young walked down the stairs to the back of the house, and some one said "There is the man you are asking for." The porter insisted on going back to Davis room and Donaldson went with him and found the door unlocked and slightly opened. In this he is corroborated by the porter.

Finding Davis dead, they both hurried downstairs and Donaldson, being told that Young had just gone out, said: "That is the man that was with Davis," and called on those around to catch him. He had no knowledge of the crime until he and the night porter found Davis dead, nor was there a plot between him and Young to rob Davis. He had no money, and did not want to be mixed up in the affair, and so he started for Sudbury, intending to go West. However, he saw a broken rail, averted a train wreck, and was arrested.

MUZZLE THE CATS.

A resident on Water street complained to The Times last night that the residents were much annoyed by cats congregating on their front lawns and settling their troubles. A couple of the local doctors have received the "cat call," and have sallied forth with broom in hand at 2 and 3 a.m., to beat off the noisy intruders. Why not send a petition to the council to have the cats tightly muzzled or exterminated?

Try Leaving Coffee Alone

One day and drink a steaming hot cup of Postum just before going to bed.

As a relief from insomnia it is a surprise of the most pleasing kind.

"There's a Reason" for

POSTUM

A DOCTOR'S SLEEP.

Found He Had to Leave off Coffee.

Many persons do not realize that a bad stomach will cause insomnia.

Coffee drinking, being such an ancient and respectable form of dissipation, few realize that the drug—caffeine—contained in the coffee and tea, is one of the principal causes of dyspepsia and nervous troubles.

Without their usual portion of coffee, the coffee topers are nervous, irritable and fretful. That's the way with a whiskey drinker. He has got to have his dram "to settle his nerves"—habit.

To leave off coffee is an easy matter if you want to try it, because Postum—well boiled according to directions—gives a gentle but natural support to the nerves and does not contain any drug—nothing but food.

Physicians know this to be true, as one from Ga. writes:

"I have cured myself of a long standing case of Nervous Dyspepsia by leaving off coffee and using Postum," says the doctor.

"I also enjoy refreshing sleep, to which I had been an utter stranger for 20 years.

"In treating Dyspepsia in its various types, I find little trouble when I can induce patients to quit coffee and adopt Postum."

The doctor is right and "there's a reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.

PRINCE HENRY IS OFFENDED.

Emperor William's Brother Meets With Marked Coolness in London.

London, March 3.—Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of Emperor William is said to be deeply offended by the coolness of his reception here and by the lack of any attention to him by representative men or bodies. Contrast is drawn by those supposed to know his feelings between the indifference here to himself and the cordiality of Berlin's welcome to King Edward's brother.

When Prince Henry expressed a wish to attend the opening session of the house of commons no arrangement was made for him. It was left for a policeman to escort him into the lobby. The newspapers practically ignored his visit—the jingo journals because they resent anything that suggests friendly relations with Germany and Liberal papers because their energies and interest were absorbed in the political crisis. Even Princess Henry felt the icy atmosphere that enshrouded her distinguished husband.

The visit of the couple was intended by Emperor William as a demonstration of good will. It made not the slightest impression on public sentiment.

RHEUMATISM CURED.

Zam-Buk Rubbed Well In Is a Sure Remedy.

As soon as you feel any deep-seated pain in the joints, back, wrists, or elsewhere, place a liberal supply of Zam-Buk on the fingers or on the palm of the hand, and rub it well in. The penetrating power of this "embrocation balm" is exceedingly great and, once having reached the seat of the pain, it removes it speedily. It also ends the stiffness, which is so unpleasant.

Frequent rubbings of the afflicted parts with Zam-Buk will not only drive out all pain, reduce swelling, etc., but will strengthen the skin and tissues, and enable them to resist cold and damp.

Mrs. Francis Wyatt, of 25 Guy avenue, Montreal, says: "I have found Zam-Buk most soothing and valuable in a very bad case of rheumatism, and also for stiffness of joints and muscles. I suffered long and acutely with rheumatism, and tried one liniment after another in vain. I also took medicines internally, but it remained for Zam-Buk to effect a cure. I began applying this balm whenever I felt the aches and pains of rheumatism coming on, or felt the stiffness. The result was truly wonderful. Zam-Buk seemed to penetrate to the very seat of the pains, driving them out completely, and I am now quite cured."

This case, and scores of similar cases reported to us, is proof that Zam-Buk's penetrating and healing power is very great. In addition to its use as an embrocation, it is a sure cure for skin diseases, such as eczema, ringworm, ulcers, blood-poisoning, scalp sores, etc., and is the finest known "first aid." For piles, it is a specific. Gives certain ease. All druggists and stores, at 50 cents box, or post free from Zam Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Henderson Formally Committed for Murder

Robert Henderson was taken to Norwood yesterday morning to appear before Magistrate Edmison for a preliminary hearing in the county police court on the charge of murdering Margaret McPherson of Asphodel. The prisoner was formally committed to stand trial before the Court of Assizes on a charge of murder.

The Death List Now Numbers Eighty-Four

Snow was Died Red and Dismembered Limbs were Scattered About—The Heroism of Survivors

Everett, Wash., March 3.—It is almost certain now that the death toll in the avalanche that carried away two Great Northern trains and several electric locomotives will total 82.

Few believe that any of the 67 listed as missing will be found alive, for it is now more than 48 hours since they were buried beneath the tons of snow and ice and twisted wreckage that swept over the ledge of the high line and dropped in a heap to the bottom of the canyon, 200 feet below.

The rescuers themselves are in a perilous position, for the danger from snow slides is not over. Warm winds accompanied by frequent showers are working havoc with the loose snow, which is 18 feet in the level, and frequently avalanches are seen shooting down the steep slopes.

Rumors current last night that one of these avalanches has buried the relief parties cannot be confirmed. No news of such a disaster has been received at Skykomish, the nearest telegraph office to Scenic, and the Great Northern division office here has received no word of it.

Men who made the trip to Scenic last night and who talked with the survivors awaiting the relief trains there, bring back remarkable tales of the heroism displayed by the survivors who were so fortunate as to escape from the avalanche without serious inury.

H. Purcell and Ira Clary, two conductors, who extricated themselves uninjured from the mass of snow and wreckage, worked several hours endeavoring to release the less fortunate victims. When the two men crawled out of the snow they were barefooted, but by some chance they found Purcell's boots and socks. Clary put on the socks and Purcell wore the boots, and together they dug in the snow searching for the injured.

FELL INTO CAULDRON.

A fireman was held fast near one of the wrecked locomotives. The steam from the engine had melted out a big cavern beneath the snow. While trying to release the imprisoned fireman Purcell fell into this cauldron. He nearly lost his life, but Clary succeeded in pulling him out.

Mrs. Shelton, wife of the night telegraph operator at Wellington, and Mrs. "Bob" Miles, wife of an engineer, were aroused by the noise of the avalanche and worked diligently caring for the wounded until the doctors and nurses came on the first relief train.

HALF NAKED AND BLEEDING.

W. K. Bailey, who keeps the hotel at Wellington, was besieged by a score of half naked, bleeding men, who asked for clothing to wear so that they might go back in the cold and join in the rescue work.

Dr. Cox, a Great Northern physician, who returned from Wellington last night with three of the survivors, Soy Forsyth, R. M. Lavelle, and Fireman S. A. Bates, brought the first direct news of the disaster.

Sixteen of the injured were taken to Wellington and are now in a temporary hospital.

One survivor described the sensation as similar to that felt when on a storm-tossed ship at sea.

A storm was raging and the lightning flashed incessantly at the time of the catastrophe. The men who succeeded in extricating themselves from the wreck entrused on relief work by the electrical flashes.

The exact number of dead will not be known for weeks, not until the snow, which is over 40 feet deep in the canon had melted. Workmen digging in the snow and wreckage report the finding of dismembered bodies, several arms and hands. Frequently the first intimation that they are digging near a body comes when they uncover a large patch of blood-red snow.

Undertakers' supplies and more men were sent upon a relief train early today. The bodies will be embalmed and kept at Hellingtoa until the railroad line is open, as it is impracticable to bring them on sledges.

CANADIANS AMONG THE DEAD.

Among the dead are:
Frances Starrett and Lillian Starrett, children, of Chemainus, B.C.
A. Beles, Moberley, Ont.
H. D. Chantrell, Vancouver, B.C.
R. G. Thompson, Vancouver, B.C.

A BOLD THEFT.

A daring robbery was committed on Wednesday evening; when gold watches and lockets to the value of $300, was stolen from a sample room of the Oriental Hotel. The theft which, according to the story told the police, was a most daring one. The traveler of the firm had his goods on display after showing them to a local dealer, locked the door and went out. Returning not long afterwards he noticed that several of the trays had disappeared, and the suspicions that were aroused by finding the door unlocked when he returned, were substantiated when he examined the display. No clue could be obtained of the party who carried off the goods. The police are investigating the affair, however, and developments are expected.

Divided Up $300,000 on the Sale of Bonds

Edmonton, March 3.—The Alberta Government is hanging in the balance and the vote on the Great Waterways Railway question, which it is expected tonight, it is believed will result in the overthrow of the government. The excitement is running high.

R. B. Bennett at the close of a five hours' speech at midnight, charged that W. R. Clarke, president of the company, had split up $300,000 with his colleagues on the sale of the bonds, and that he (Bennett) had been approached by financial interests seeking to influence his vote. He also states that Attorney-General Cross had demanded $12,000 for a campaign fund from the Automatic Telephone Co., as the price of a contract for the automatic system in Calgary.

Hon. W. H. Cushing substantiated this charge. Cushing said that the company had neither money nor financial standing. Duncan Marshall will speak today, winding up the debate.

Edmonton, March 3.—Hon. Mr. Cushing, ex-minister of public works gave the government a severe overhauling yesterday on opening the debate.

He said whatever doubts he had had with regard to resigning, had been dispelled by the discussion.

Mr. Cushing added that he had never seen a copy of the Alberta and Great Waterways specifications until after the cabinet had passed them. He was sure that not a dozen members would say the recent contract was a good one.

Mr. Cushing concluded in the following words:

"The attorney-general read me out of the Liberal party. I have been a Liberal all my life, even when the attorney-general was in knickerbockers. I have been accused of making a bluff, but am ready to put up a guarantee of half a million that I can build the road at the figures I stated, $12,000 a mile."

Premier Rutherford, in replying, reviewed the situation on the lines of the speech delivered several days ago, introducing little new argument. He said he courted criticism of the bill. The government had a first-class engineer who would see that the specifications were lived up to.

Extension of C.P.R. in British Columbia

It is learned that the Canadian Pacific Railway intend to make a strong bid for any traffic that there may be between Vancouver and the Kootenays via the rich Similkameen and Okanagan districts, and with this end in view will build a line this spring over the Hope Mountains and thus be in a position to compete with the Great Northern Railway. Surveys have been completed by both companies across the mountains, and it would appear that the Canadian road has been able to secure a lower gradient across the summit than its American rival. It is understood that a maximum gradient of 2-2 per cent. going west has been secured, which is lower than anything as yet secured by the engineers of the Great Northern. Mr. W. L. Bassett of the C.P.R. completed the survey a week ago. Two years will see the completion of a direct C.P.R. line between Hope and the Kootenays. At or below Hope, a bridge will be built across the Fraser. The C.P.R. route from Hope, a point in Fraser River Valley is across the mountains to Coquehalla summit, thence down to Coldwater River, a distance of thirteen miles, then over a low divide to Otter Creek and on into the fertile Similkameen district. From Penticton the line will cross a summit, and proceeding via the west fork of Kettle River, reach the C.P.R. branch line now in operation as far west as Midway.

A few minutes' delay in treating some cases of croup, even the length of time it takes to go for a doctor often proves dangerous. The safest way is to keep Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and at the first indication of croup give the child a dose. Pleasant to take and always cures. For sale by all dealers.

To Teach Ice Cream Making.

(Special to The Times.)

Columbus, O., March 4.—The making of ice cream has been recognized as a fine art by the Ohio State University, which announces that, beginning next Monday, a two weeks' course in ice cream making will be given in its agricultural school.

Will the Maximum Tariff be Applied?

United States Delegation Met the Premier and Mr. Fielding—What will be the Outcome?

Ottawa, March 3.—The delegation consisting of Dr. Henry C. Emery, of the United States Tariff Board, and Mr. Charles M. Pepper of the Bureau of Trade Relations, appointed along with Consul General Foster by the United States Government to inquire into trade relations with Canada, arrived from Washington at noon today and were met at the depot by Hon. J. G. Foster, and made an informal call on Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance. This afternoon they will meet Sir Wilfrid Laurier. During their stay, which will last till the beginning of next week anyway, they will have a number of conferences particularly with Mr. Fielding and the higher officers of the Finance and Customs Departments.

The visit of the American delegation is induced by the fact that at the end of this month, President Taft will have to decide whether Canada is entitled to the benefits of the minimum clauses of the Payne tariff or whether by reason of "undue" discrimination against the United States, it cannot qualify for that favor. Upon the investigations to be made and the report submitted by Messrs. Emery and Pepper, the decision of Mr. Taft will doubtless be based. As previously stated the position of Canada is that there is no undue discrimination by reason of the French treaty or other conventional arrangements.

It is to be hoped to establish this conclusively to the satisfaction of the Americans.

MISSION IS FRIENDLY ONE.

"Our mission is more of a friendly visit than anything else," stated Dr. Emery to a newspaper man. "We have come over to make general inquiries into the trade relations between the two countries with particular reference to the fact that the application of the maximum and minimum tariff against Canada must be decided during the month."

"Is inquiry your main object or do you as well seek tariff concessions?" was asked.

"Principally the former," answered Dr. Emery, who added that he could not go into any details naturally, at least not until conferring with the government. "Our visit is primarily a friendly one," he added.

"A much better understanding can be reached by a personal interchange than by communications," stated Hon. J. G. Foster, who is a party to the negotiations. "I have every reason to believe that the conclusion will be satisfactory." The consul-general did not care to be more explicit.

The most noteworthy feature is the fact that this is the first United States tariff mission to Canada. Previously Canadian representatives went to Washington.

Budget will Now Follow the Veto

London, March 3.—In the House of Commons today Premier Asquith said he intended to ask the House to pass the budget immediately after the resolutions dealing with the Lords were dealt with. If the government were not in a position to secure that proposal as to the Lords should pass into law, they would not continue in office.

As it is a foregone conclusion that the Lords will reject the resolution as regards the Upper House, the promise of the passage of the budget is generally construed as meaningless, except that it will act as a club on the Lords. The resignation of the government without the passage of the budget would greatly increase the financial chaos.

VERDICT OF MANSLAUGHTER IN FRITCH CASE

(Special to The Times.)

Detroit, March 3.—Dr. George A. Fritch, formerly of Drumbo, Ont., was today found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death last summer of Maybelle Millman of Ann Arbor, whose dismembered body was found in Ecorse Creek.

DYSPEPSIA CURED.

Was Weak, Now Strong.

"For nearly three years," writes Mrs. Ferris Joye of Sarnia, "I suffered the untold misery of dyspepsia. I was brought up in the United States and attribute the weakened condition of my stomach to hasty eating and excessive ice water at meals. The morbid condition of my stomach affected my liver, and also affected my system in other ways. I suffered distress after eating burning sensations after the food passed from the stomach. My appetite would vary for days, having little, then it would seem as if I could not eat enough. Tonics and bitters failed and very severe constipation led me to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Can you imagine the joy after repeated failures to find a remedy that actually will cure. They are a wonderful pill in their action upon the stomach, liver and kidneys, and their mild action makes them all the more suited to people that are sick. I am well because of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and I owe you a debt of gratitude for them."

Don't fail to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills—for general family use no medicine compares with them. Sold in yellow boxes, 25c, all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE LIQUOR LICENSE SYSTEM.

Present Legislature May Change the License Law.

A matter of importance to hotelkeepers and others which is likely to receive the attention of the Ontario Legislature is the problem which confronts the Government in the administration of the present license system. It is believed that the Provincial Secretary is prepared, on the approval of the local members, to proceed with the much discussed proposal to centralize the licensing authority in Ontario. Two plans are believed to be in contemplation, one to establish one central and independent Board of License Commissioners, to assume charge of the entire license system for the Province; the second to proceed by experimental stages by establishing one such board to handle the license situation in the whole of Northern Ontario.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is not a common every day cough mixture. It is a meritorious cough remedy for all the troublesome and dangerous complications resulting from cold in the head, throat, chest or lungs. Sold by all dealers.

Fine and mild.

THE NEW BREAD LAW.

Proposed Uniform Loaf Will Be a Good Thing.

The proposal, as suggested by the Ontario Legislature, to regulate the size of the bread loaf, so as to make it uniform, is a move in the right direction. In conversation with a leading baker yesterday, The Times was assured that it would be favorably regarded by bakers generally. The bill provides for the reduction of a loaf from 1½ to 1¼ pounds, and as the bakers will maintain the price at five cents a loaf, it means that the consumer suffers. The maximum penalty for selling or manufacturing adulterated bread or neglecting to comply with the provisions of the Act has been reduced to $5.

The new bill will also invest the inspector of the city with the right to at any time enter any bakeshop and weigh bread. The bill also provides that a person making or offering for sale bread of short weight shall not be liable to the penalties prescribed unless at least ten loaves are found in the bakeshop at the same time when weighed together are below the weight required by the Act. The Act shall, if passed, come into force on July 1.

LAME BACK.

Just the Sort of Thing That Proves to the World That the Best Liniment Ever Made is

NERVILINE.

When it comes to determining the real merit of a medicine, no weight of evidence is more convincing than the straightforward statement of some reliable and well-known person that has been cured. For this reason we print the verbatim statement of Juan FX Powell, written from his home in Carleton. "I am a strong, powerful man, six feet tall, and weigh nearly two hundred. I have been accustomed all my LETTER life to lift great weight, but one day I overdid NO. it, and wrenched my back badly. Every tendon and 4769 muscle was sore. To stoop or bend was agony. I had a whole bottle of Nerviline rubbed on in one day, and by night I was well again. I know of no liniment possessing one-half the penetration and pain subduing properties of Nerviline. I urge its use strongly as an invaluable liniment and household cure for all minor ailments, such as strains, sprains, swellings, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, rheumatism, and muscular pain."

No better medicine for curing pain was ever put into a bottle than Nerviline—over one million bottles used every year—better try it yourself. 25c. of five for $1.00. At all dealers or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

LABOR EXCHANGES.

The inauguration this month of a system of labor exchanges by the British Government will be watched with interest. The system has been started on a considerable scale and if found to work satisfactorily it is the intention to increase its scope and operations. The object of such a system is to equalize the supply of labor to the amount of available employment; to take the workman from a district where he can find no opportunity of employment, to another where such employment is available, but where there is not a sufficient supply of men. In Germany a similar scheme is stated to have been successful, and to have yielded advantages to employer and employee. There is not the same need of such a scheme in Canada as is found in the United Kingdom, but it is an undertaking that has certain features which may be studied with advantage by those who are solicitous for the welfare of the masses in our country and who realize that the industrial approximate more closely than at present to that found in some of the older countries in the world.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Fielding has now definitely announced that the iron and steel duunced that the iron and steel bounties will not be renewed, and when he states that the steel and iron twins have taken fourteen million dollars' worth of prepared food from the government bottle since 1896, we more than ever agree that the youngsters should be weaned. They will still have their "comfort" in the shape of a protective duty.

One of the astronomers thinks Halley's comet and the strange comet that has recently been visible may collide, thus furnishing a spectacle such as men have never seen. In case the collision occurs it will happen somewhere near the First of July, and we may, therefore, regard it as a display of celestial fireworks in honor of the birthday of our Dominion.

IT FLASHED FOR THROCMORTON.

And Revealed the Secret of His Sweetheart's Murder.

By BUSHROD C. WASHINGTON.

"Gentlemen, have you agreed upon a verdict?" asked the clerk of twelve solemn faced men in the jury box.

"We have," responded the foreman, handing a folded paper to the clerk, who read aloud the indorsement on the back. "We, the jury, find the prisoner guilty of murder in the first degree, as charged in the indictment."

"William Throcmorton," said Judge Smithson, with judicial sternness, "after a fair trial, defended by able counsel, you stand convicted of the cruel and deliberate murder of Olive Graham.

"It has been shown that the young woman had promised to become your wife. Her parents, confiding in your honorable intentions, had recognized you as her accepted lover, and the door of their home was open to you.

"While the motive in your crime is not apparent, the facts which fasten it upon you are linked into a chain of circumstances strong and incontrovertible.

"You stood with Olive Graham on the porch of her home; an instant later her cry for mercy was heard by her parents above the storm then raging. Hastening to her assistance, they found her murdered body on the slope of the hill a rod from the door.

"You were taken soon after, as it were, red handed, the bloody knife with which the deed was done having been found upon your person.

"You have pleaded 'not guilty,' but have not disproved a single fact the state alleged against you.

"The penalty of your crime as by statute fixed is death. Have you anything to say why the sentence should not be pronounced?"

Throcmorton was a pink of physical manhood, well knit, erect, with a character as straight as his form. He held a medal from "the management" and was the wearer of a watch, the gift of grateful passengers when he was taken from the wreck of his engine. "Throc," as they called him, was more than liked. He was loved by the grimy roadmen.

When the last word fell from Judge Smithson the character of the man and the stubborn facts of the case stood in solemn contrast. In such a contest character must lose.

The eyes of Throcmorton shone straight into the eyes of the judge. There was nothing of the bravado in his manner, neither tremor nor sign of weakening.

"If it please your honor," responded the prisoner, rising as he spoke, "it will shock you and all present when I say I mourn for Olive Graham and am innocent. But what is it worth to say it in the face of the evidence? Glad I sat with the jury I must have come to their verdict. I am ready, your honor, for the sentence."

Moved by some sudden impulse, the judge turned to the sheriff and said in a faltering voice: "Remove the prisoner and return him for sentence to the bar of this court. The day and hour the court will later indicate."

* * * * * * *

Old Graham was a pensioned track inspector, who loved the thunder of trains and scream of whistles.

He had built his house thirty feet from the roadbed. Just back of it and extending down to the track was an abrupt twenty foot cliff of shale, the perpendicular face of which was smooth. It was in front of it that they found the body of Olive.

No. 49, just run out of the roundhouse, had backed up and coupled to the St. Louis express. It was Tom Doyle's pet engine.

Doyle was looking from the cab window for the signal to start. As an engineer he was a good second to Throcmorton. He was Throc's next friend and was to have been best man at his wedding.

He believed Throcmorton was innocent because he couldn't believe otherwise. But there were the facts, and when he thought of them there was a lump in his throat.

Ted Elsie, Doyle's fireman, had just raised the grate when a squad of the boys came by.

"What's the news?" asked Ted.

"Throc's guilty an' got to swing," came back from the crowd.

"Fifty juries couldn't make me believe Throc killed Ollie Graham," said Doyle, emphasizing with his fist on the window sill.

The day had been sweltering, clouds had gathered, and the night was black.

It was down grade, and Tom Doyle, with hand on throttle valve and eye on the rails, was ready to slack at the curve.

The storm had burst, and just as the engine struck the curve a flash of lightning and the focus of the headlight met full on the face of the cliff. The sight Tom Doyle saw made him yell and grip the lever.

A SCOTTISH LEGEND.

The Story of the Knight With the White Feather.

TWO COURAGEOUS WARRIORS.

Heroic Alexander Hume and His Still More Heroic Fellow Soldier and Protector—The Sad Sequel to the Battle That Was Lost.

The heraldic arms of the Scotch town of Selkirk show a woman seated on a tomb, on which is also placed the Scottish lion. The legend told about the arms is this: King James IV. of Scotland, who was about to invade England, needed recruits for his enterprise. The town clerk of Selkirk, William Brydone, tried his best to aid his king by persuading his fellow countrymen to enlist in the royal cause. So earnest was he that he is said to have moved over a hundred lusty Scots to join his standard. Among these was one of the name of Alexander Hume. This man was a shoemaker of the town of Selkirk. He was strong, stalwart, bold and an excellent workman. Brydone was very glad to welcome him, as he reckoned him quite the best man of the hundred, and his comrades, who were also brave men and true, choosed him as he appeared among them, such confidence had they in his wisdom, prudence, valor and strength.

Hume's wife, Margaret, was a fine young woman and very fond and proud of her brave, strong husband. Now, Margaret did not at all like this proposed invasion of England. She felt that it would mean great trouble to the Scotch people, who would certainly be vanquished by their strong enemy, and the thought came to her that her own brave husband might perhaps lose his life in the struggle. She therefore used all her best efforts to keep him at home. She pleaded in vain. Alexander was firm. At last she held up to his face their little five-months-old daughter and asked who would look after the child if he should die and who would keep her from misery and misfortune.

Hume loved his wife and child, and these appeals brought the tears to his eyes, but they did not break down his resolution, which he had girt about him as armor. Nothing could move him to become untrue to his king and country.

Finding that no entreaties could move him, Margaret at last gave way to anger and told him that his eager desire to be thought the bravest man of Selkirk would not supply the child he was bound to work for with a bite of bread. She said even more than this. Her tones grew higher, and one word led to another, as you know it will, until the couple parted in anger, he to the field of battle and she to remain at home.

Alexander had not gone far before it flashed across the mind of his wife that perhaps she might never see him alive again. Unable to control herself, she flung the child into its crib and rushed out of the house. She must see her husband again and get from him one parting glance or word of reconciliation. She hurried through the town, she sought everywhere for him, but he was nowhere to be seen. He had gone off with his comrades. The poor wife wept bitterly. Her grief was deep.

Hume and his fellows were soon engaged in battle. He displayed the greatest bravery. Wherever he went numbers of the enemy fell. In every direction upon the field of battle he was seen. His companions kept well up to him, and in particular one man who had lately joined the party. This man fought with a courage equal to that of Hume himself, keeping continually beside him and defending him in many perils. Once when an Englishman from behind drew very near to the Scot this soldier struck the cowardly fellow to the earth just as he was inserting his spear between the clasps of Hume's armor. Hume called to the brave fellow and demanded his name, even in the midst of the fight, but the stranger said that that was no matter.

This generous soldier wore a leather jacket and an iron helmet, in which there was placed a small white feather. Wherever Hume fought on the battlefield there might be seen beside him the iron helmet and the white feather.

At last the battle ended in defeat for the Scotch, who scattered in all directions. Hume, who, with other soldiers, was obliged to lie concealed in the forests for some time, took the first opportunity of inquiring after his faithful attendant. But all his inquiries were without avail. He could not trace him. Nothing could be learn of him but that he had disappeared when the fight was over.

Alexander Hume hurried to his cottage. He was anxious to see again his beloved wife and bestow upon her the kiss of reconciliation. When he reached it he listened at the door, and his heart beat fast. He had kind words to say to her from whom he had parted in anger, and his deep wounds needed dressing. He lifted the latch and walked in. All was still. No wife came to meet him; no child's cry met his ear. On looking round the room he saw seated in an armchair the knight who had fought so bravely beside him in the battle, wearing the same leather jacket, iron helmet and white feather. That person was Margaret Hume. She was dead and clasped in her dead arms the little child.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" relies you.

It is safe to say that no product of any kind enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this famous Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in markets where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY PERSON WHO IS THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, solely owned and occupied by him, or his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

GREAT BUSINESS ACTIVITY ALL THROUGH THE WEST.

Great Plans Laid for Summer Work in Building—Railroads Will do

Winnipeg, March 3.—With the approach of spring, business affairs in the West are taking on renewed activity. There has been little falling off in this respect throughout the winter because the weather has been so generally mild. February was more severe than the preceding months but there is a good snowfall as a result of the bad weather last month brought with it, and everything looks exceedingly promising for a seasonable spring and good crop conditions.

A YEAR OF BIG PLANS.

The winter season has been particularly busy in the making of plans for the summer's work, and side by side with the completion of last year's work, plans and projects for season of 1910 have been made and whipped into shape. Locally, these plans include the erection of some twelve milliom dollars' worth of new buildings in Winnipeg. Plans for eight or nine millions of this have been in the architects' hands for months and they are being increased as the time for active operations in the building line approaches, so that it seems only reasonable to expect one of the heaviest construction years the city has ever had and this goes very near to a record for any city when it is remembered that almost thirteen millions were put in new structures in Winnipeg in 1906. This high mark will be approached very closely by the figures of 1910, and even may be passed; is, in fact, almost certain to be.

GREAT INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY.

There is very great industrial activity in Winnipeg all along the line. The city is fast becoming a manufacturing city of importance, and the next few months will undoubtedly bring out some important developments. Winnipeg is better adapted for making goods to be sold in the West than any other Canadian city. It has by far the best railway facilities for the gathering of raw material and for the distribution of finished products. The trade of the West naturally tends to Winnipeg and it is likely to be some years before this supremacy is threatened by another western center, if this ever happens. This fact is so well established and recognized by the business world that there is a very great interest in Winnipeg as a city of great commercial and trade opportunities. Thousands of inquiries along this line are received by business man of Winnipeg, and the Industrial Bureau of this city, each year. An especially busy period of enquiry concerning manufacturing openings is on now, and letters are pouring in steadily asking for information prior to taking the proposition up in a personal way. Chiefly—as is natural—these inquiries tend to the establishment of new factories for making farm machinery, automobiles and motor boats, boots and shoes, clothing, building material of various sorts, and other lines that are in sharp and increasing demand throughout the West. Factories that are already in operation here find themselves with unlimited demand and must increase their producing capacity very often to keep pace with this demand. From the character of the firms that are taking great interest in Winnipeg as a place for setting up a factory, it is certain that 1910 will see some important industrial developments here, the more so from the fact that the great city power plant will begin to furnish power to customers some time within the year, barring accidents.

A NEGLECTED ART.

Men Talk Much About Wonderful Organization of Modern Business.

Men talk much about the wonderful organization of modern business. They exclaim over the simplification of complex problems, they marvel at the perfection of our industrial machinery. Yet, after all, is it not true that business training in these days is merely a long course in the art of selling goods? People do not learn how to buy. They have no time. Life's important task is to sell. Clerks are supposed to be cheerful and well-dressed. Travelers must cultivate what personal magnetism they may possess. Managers must be urbane. They must reek of respectability so that, perchance, they may make an impression upon prospective customers. Books are printed giving ninety-seven rules in "How to Approach a customer." Not only is the business man supposed to be able to sell goods to a man who wants them He must sell to the man who does not want them. The measure of his success is fixed by his ability in this direction. The aim of his life must be to persuade the recalcitrant, to grumpy, to cheer the sad—and to sell goods.

But the buyer has no aid. The only weapon of defence he possesses is mentioned by Solomon. "It is noug mentioned by Solomon, "It is nought, it is nought, saith the buyer, but when he is gone his way, then he boasteth." The buyer in America at least has no training. He does not know how to conserve his resources. At the butcher shop he is extravagant. At the grocer he leans hard on the opinion of the salesman. He purchases real estate without seeing it, and mining stock without investigation. He buys wheat for July delivery without knowing the supply in store. Day after day, week after week, the buyer loses money that he might have saved if his training either at home or in business had not been so one-sided.

If it is impossible for the average American to buy even a meal with intelligence, how can it be expected that he should purchase beautiful things wisely. He furnishes his house in a fearful and wonderful way. His "den" is a crimson nightmare, his parlor is a bilious green. Spindle-legged chairs imitating the styles endorsed by Louis XIV. or some other improper person, cumber his rooms. On the walls are found a collection of pictures—some of which may be genuine, and some of which, perhaps may be artistic. But in his buying of furnishings and pictures he has depended upon the dealers. No basic principle of art upon which he can form ideas and ideals have been instilled into his mind either by education or experience. If he would buy pictures intelligently he must cultivate his taste by study, for buying is just as vital an art as selling.

Investigation has shown that the high cost of living is due to the fact that there are not enough farmers in this country. This is the penalty the public is compelled to pay for permitting the boys from the farms to enter the cities and become leaders there.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription— Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

Lost His Milk.

The mild weather has caused the roads leading into the city to become almost impassable to travel upon, the snow banks being very high and dangerous in some places. A milk waggon on its way to town with a load of milk yesterday had the misfortune to upset and spill all the milk. There was not three gallons saved out of about fifty.

Arrested as Vags.

A young woman and Harold McDonald were arrested Wednesday night, while returning to the latter's home. They appeared before Magistrate Dumble yesterday morning on a charge of vagrancy. In the meantime they were allowed to go on their promise to appear. Rev. Canon Davidson appeared on behalf of the young woman. He is endeavoring to secure her a home.

Has No Home.

A young lad of 16 years, appeared before Police Magistrate Dumble at the police court yesterday. He is an English boy and has been in this country for the past two years. He came to the police station seeking shelter. He had been with an Otonabee farmer, and complained of ill-treatment while there. His worship remanded him for a week, and in the meantime an endeavor will be made to get him a place with someone going to the West. Any person desiring to secure a good, industrious boy would do well to communicate with Chief Roseel.

(Charter Applied For).

CAPITAL $40.000.00

Divided into 4000 shares at $10,00 each, same being Common Stock.

Head Office and Farm—MONTREAL, QUE.

Incorporators: C. J. BELL, Manager. LOUIS P. RENE, A. W. SAGER

Room 53, Royal Trust Building.

The object of this Company is to operate a Poultry Stock Farm and to supply eggs, fowls, etc., etc., to the Montreal market. At the present time there is no such business being carried on in this part of the country, although in Western Canada and the United States many similar farms are being conducted with great success, and each and every one shows a handsome profit on the capital invested. By being the first to operate such a business in this part of Canada, where the output could be sold many times over, and with competent men to manage the farm, the success of the business is assured.

It is hoped to have the farm inoperation about the first of April, and we will gradually increase so as to meet the demand of the trade. The shareholders will have first option upon the output, which it is intended to deliver daily.

It is worthy of note that the freight charges paid to the different railway companies for transporting eggs, poultry, etc., into Montreal amount to thousands of dollars per year, said eggs, poultry, etc., being shipped from all parts of Ontario and Quebec, together with shipments from other provinces, all to be consumed in the City of Montreal, and in nearly every case these shipments are controlled by the Wholesale Produce Merchants, and re-sold to Retail Dealers, then sold by the latter to the consumers; therefore, it is easily perceived that in this way four profits must be divided from the price the farmer sells at to the price the consumer pays for the above mentioned articles.

At the present moment fresh eggs are very scarce; so-called fresh eggs are being sold to the consumer at from 30 cents to 63 cents per dozen. We do not expect to be able to overcome this great problem, but we do expect to be in a position to furnish the Shareholders in this Company and other Retail Dealers with fresh eggs daily. Taking into consideration the number of eggs that are consumed in Montreal every day, the placing of the output is a foregone conclusion.

In P. E. I. the average profit per hen for eggs a year is $2.00; in York Co., Ont., $2.75; in New Jersey, $6.00. It is expected that the average profit in Montreal will be $3.00.

It is understood we are to start this business in the right way. In the first place, only first-class fowl, such as hens, turkeys, geese, ducks, etc., will be purchased, and by purchasing a farm within the suburbs we will in a few years save the entire price paid for same by the saving of the enormous freight charges on eggs, etc., from an outside point.

Treasury Stock -- 200,000 Shares

EDWARD J. TOWNSEND, President.
ALEXANDER H. BEATH, Vice-President.
JAMES K. MACLENNAN, Secretary-Treasurer.
JOHN ANNIS, of Markstay, Ont.
JAMES TOWNSEND, of Mabel, Que., and
JOHN H. CLARY, of Sudbury, Ont.

This Company was incorporated by Letters Patent dated April 16th, A. D., 1909, and is empowered to carry on in all its branches the operations of a mining, milling, reduction and development Company.

The Company was organized more particularly to acquire and develop certain of the mining claims on Emerald Lake commonly called the Townsend-Annis gold properties.

Mr. Townsend had an undivided eleven-sixteenths interest in Mining Location W.D. 154, and Mr. Annis had three water claims adjoining and extending westward from W.D. 154. The Company has a working option on the remaining five-sixteenths of W. D. 154 from Mr. William Crawford, of Haileybury, formerly of Sudbury. The Company purchased outright the interest of Mr. Townsend and Mr. Annis.

These claims are distant about 32 miles almost due north from Warren, Ontario, and 16 on the east side of Emerald Lake. In winter they are reached from Markstay by an existing road some 40 miles long, needing some small repairs in places—in summer from Temagami station on the T. and N. O. Railway, by steamer to Obabika Bay on the north-west arm of Lake Temagami, and thence a distance of ten miles, in all, by water, four short portages excepted, to Emerald Lake and W.D. 154 is reached.

On W.D. 154 the ore outcrops in the form of a deposit, in width from 300 to 500 feet, and has been traced on the strike for about 1,000 feet. The dip is nearly vertical. The contact wall on the south side is jasper and magnetite and on the north side is black slate. The gangue rock is calcite, schist and quartz, heavily mineralized with gold-bearing iron-pyrites. Considerable stripping and test pitting have been done at various points, and at each point good values in gold have been found. All blastings have disclosed free gold and pannings show many colors. The directors believe this property to be

The Largest Outcropping of High-grade Ore Known in the world To-day.

Four assays from Messrs. Handley and Parker, of Sudbury, showed respectively $2,419.01, $1,920.00, $767.20, and $162.72 per ton. Ledoux and Company of 99 John Street, New York, $36.45 (from an iron-pyrites sample). Kropp's, Germany, gave $68.00 per ton from an iron pyrites sample.

The Directors have decided to place 50,000 shares on the market at the special price of 50c per share, in blocks of not less than 50 shares each. Allotments will be made as applications, accompanied by the necessary cash, have been received for 20,000 shares. Should this number not be subscribed for by February 15th next, money will be refunded promptly. The above low price is to provide the necessary funds for the installation of the proper milling and reduction plant and for the carrying out of the necessary mining operations. See prospectus.

All have not the knowledge or the necessary capital to send out prospecting parties, but many small capitalists can afford to put up $25.00 or more to get a share in this local enterprise where they know that first, last and all the time they will get a square deal. Come and see samples. Have them assayed yourself. Investigate for yourself.

Porcupine may have plenty of gold but you don't need to go further than Emerald Lake for gold. Many mining men of Sudbury know W.D. 154. Cut out this advertisement. Watch for following ads. Get a prospectus and all information from any of the Directors, or from Editor of the Times.

Baltimore, March 2.—A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. T. Anderson's, Baltimore, last Wednesday, when her eldest daughter Mabel, was married to Mr. Henry Bright of Kinmount, by the Rev. Mr. Ward of Baltimore. Miss Georgenia Hatherly of Cavan, was bridesmaid, and Mr. T. Anderson, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

The bride, who wore a dress of white Swiss lawn, with veil to match, and carrying a bouquet of white carnations entered the drawing room at 12 o'clock, and was married under a beautiful arch of evergreens decorated with white ribbons. The bridesmaid wore a blue silk deline trimmed with sequin over taffetta, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold bracelet set with emeralds and diamonds, to the bridesmaid a gold brooch set with emeralds and diamonds to the groomsman a handsome set of cuff links. After the ceremony all sat down to dinner. Many handsome presents were received by Mr. and Mrs. Bright. The happy couple left on the 2.46 train for Peterborough, Lindsay, and northern points. On their return they will reside in Cobourg.

Who wouldn't give 25 cents to stop a pain 20 times? Just one little "Pink Pain Tablet"—Dr. Shoop's—will stop any pain in 20 minutes, sure! Read the formula on the box. Doctors say it can't be bettered. Checks womanly pains, head pains, any pain. 20 tablets 25c. Sold by all dealers.

Price of Tea Will Advance.

An increase of 5c. per lb. in the retail price of standard brands of teas in packets, will soon be announced, it is stated. The cause is the increased wholesale price. At present the retail handlers are paying two to three cents per pound more for certain brands of teas selling at retail at from 30 to 60c. per lb. It is expected that a general increase will soon be made, and the prices will be so changed on the packages. Tea market prices are now very high. "There will be no increase in the price of bulk teas," said a local dealer to The Times, in discussing the matter. "But the packet men can't sell so low as the bulk men. They were once able to sell for 25c., and get a margin, but it now costs about as much to put up a 25-cent package as it does a 50-cent package, and the margin has been wiped out. Thus you will soon have to pay 30c for a 25c tea."

Second Annual Banquet.

MacGregor & Reid entertained their staff to a well-served supper at Coleman's Wednesday evening. Mr. MacGregor, as host, thanked his men for the very fine carving set presented to him by his staff. He appreciated the manner in which they all tried to look after his interests, especially after the recent fire. A very enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

OBITUARY.

Thomas Pascoe.

After lingering five years with paralysis, Thos. Pascoe passed away on Wednesday night at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Alfred McCall, 405 Bolivar street. The deceased had patiently borne his affliction for years and as the result of his vitiated health and strength his death was not unexpected. The late Mr. Pascoe was born in East Whitby 73 years ago, and over 50 years ago was married and is survived by his wife. The family moved to Peterborough twenty years ago and have resided in the city throughout that time. Besides being survived by his wife, there are three daughters and one son, as follows; Mrs. Frank Green of Maelia, Sask.; Mrs. Jos. Holmes of Haliburton; Mrs. Alf. McCall of this city, and Louis Pascoe of Owensboro, Ky. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the residence of Mr. McCall, 405 Bolivar street, to the Little Lake cemetery. The services at the house will be commenced at two o'clock.

Mr. Pascoe is also survived by his sister, Mrs. Samuel Cole of Bowmanville, and Mr. Louis Pascoe of Oakwood, near Lindsay.

The funeral will take place from the residence of his son, Mr. Wm. Henry White, Glenfaba Farm, Communication Road, to Ray's cemetery Lakefield, this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Wm. H. White.

The death occurred at Nicholl's Hospital yesterday morning of Wm. H. White, after an illness of about a week's duration. The late Mr. White was 86 years of age and was born in England. He lived near Lakefield for a number of years. To the sorrowing family left to mourn his loss much sympathy is extended.

Mrs. Benjamin Brooks.

Word has been received in the city of the death of Mrs. Benjamin Brooks in Hamilton. The remains arrived here on the C.P.R. local last evening, and the funeral will take place from Bellegham's undertaking rooms to the Little Lake Cemetery on Saturday at 2 o'clock.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Little Local Lines

It pays to read the advertisements in The Times.

The sidewalks in the city are becoming fairly well cleaned. There are still spots in the city which could stand cleaning.

On Tuesday last R. R. Palmer of Corbyville, was brought up by Inspector John Stokes on a charge of selling liquor in local option territory. He was fined $150 and costs of $22 and he cashed up.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Otonabee Navigation Company will take place this afternoon.

Fined Twenty-five Dollars.

An employe of the liquor store who supplied liquor to a blacklisted person on Saturday last, was fined twenty-five dollars, by Magistrate Dumble, at the police court yesterday morning. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared on behalf of the defendant. The evidence in the case was heard on Tuesday and his worship reserved judgment until yesterday. The magistrate stated that the defendant knew that the black-listed man was on the "list," but did not know him by sight. He should have taken steps to find out, the magistrate thought, especially when he called the second time.

The fine is payable within the next ten days.

Thirteen Canadians In the Avalanche-Wrecked Train

Mrs. Starrett, of Victoria, B.C., Twice Escapes Avalanches that Bereaved Her—Mourns for Three Children and Parents

Toronto, March 4.—The number of Canadians who were on the ill-fated Spokane Limited, which was carried 200 feet down a canyon near Wellington, Washington Territory, by a tremendous snow slide, is not definitely known, but the names of thirteen are available. Nearly every through train from Seattle and Everett carries a number of British Columbia people and other Canadians using the Great Northern to return to the east. Among those on the shattered train whose names are given, are the following:

Mrs. William Starrett, Chemainus, or Victoria, B.C.
Frances Starrett, daughter of Mrs. W. Starrett.
Lillian Starrett, daughter of Mrs. W. Starrett.
Raymond Starrett, son of Mrs. W. Starrett.
Raymond Starrett, son of Mrs. W. Starrett.
H. D. Chantrell, Vancouver, B.C.
R. C. Thompson, Vancouver, B.C.
Alexf Chisholm, Rossland, B.C.
John Mackie, Mojie, B.C.
Mr. W. May, Chemainus, B.C.
Mrs. W. May, Chemainus, B.C.
A. Boles, Moberley, Ont., (Dead).
G. Heron, Vancouver, B.C.
I. Fisher, Rossland, B.C.

It cannot be positively stated whether any of these escaped, except Mrs. William Starrett, and Mrs Will May. A score of persons were rescued, most of them more or less injured, but their names have not been wired. Nor are the names of the thirty identified dead sent in the despatches. Mrs. Starrett, whose husband was an engineer on the Great Northern, and was killed by a slide exactly a year ago near the scene of the disaster, is represented as sitting dry-eyed in grief waiting for word about her three children and her parents who were also on the train. She escaped when her husband met death, so that she escaped two avalanches, both of which bereaved her of loved ones. A message was received this afternoon saying that Raymond Starrett and Mrs. May had escaped. There is practically no hope for the scores of persons still covered up, and the death list will probably reach 115.

The wife of a Toronto comercial traveler 'phoned the Star this morning and expressed the fear that her husband was in the wreck. It was also thought possible that Thomas Armstrong of Toronto, was in the disaster, but he was a brakeman on the Northern Pacific, the rival road.

The Coroner's Jury Charge Lewis Young with Wilful Murder

Parry Sound, March 4.—A verdict of Wilful murder was found against Lewis Young or Peterson of Atlantic City at the inquest last night on the body of M. J. Davis, the old farmer who was killed in his bed at the Montgomery House.

James Donaldson, the young tramp, who blew into town on Monday in company with Lewis Young, owed his arrest as an accomplice to the fact that before the deed was committed he and Young were with Davis during the afternoon and evening. He was in Davis' room for a time, and after the capture of Young, in which he assisted, he was warned by the police not to leave town as he was an important witness, but he lit out early Tuesday morning, going south instead of heading for the West, as he said he intended.

SAVED TORONTO TRAIN.

Donaldson's own story of how he averted a bad wreck on the C.P.R. is to the effect that he struck south, not wanting to be mixed up in the murder trial, going toward Toronto. When about fourteen miles from here he found a rail was out of the track and he determined to wait and warn any train of the danger, and after a long wait in the cold he sighed the way freight from Toronto to Sudbury and flagged and stopped the train before it reached the break in the track. The conductor and crew of the train, he says, were very thankful to him for averting the wreck, and as a reward he was taken on board the train and taken to Sudbury, where the conductor wired the particulars to the superintendent at North Bay, with a strong recommendation that Donaldson be given a job on the line. It was while waiting at Sudbury station for a wire from North Bay in answer to the recommendation that he was arrested. Donaldson is by no means the typical tramp. He is a tall young chap, and seems to be, of the better class of Weary Willies."

HIS STORY IN BOX.

Donaldson testified he was 23 years of age, a laborer, and his home was at Barrie, Ont., where his mother lives. He met his partner, who introduced himself as Peterson, about the 21st of February at Lockport, N.Y. They came to Canada, together, beating their way in empty freight cars and walking between rides. At Barrie Donaldson stayed with his mother four days and Peterson, or Young as he now called himself, worked in a bolt factory. They beat their way to Otter Lake station, walking into Parry Sound about 3 p.m. Monday, went to Montgomery House and saw Davis and a person called Jim in the sitting room and joined in the conversation. Davis talking freely, but was apparently sober. Davis went out to the shed and Peterson (Young) said to witness: "That old gent looks good for some change." Peterson followed Davis outside and talked to the old man, who took him to his room and gave him something to eat, also a quarter of a dollar, and told him to come back later and he would see what he could do for him.

WENT TO VICTIM'S ROOM.

Witness and Peterson went out and tried to board a C.P.R. train to go to Shawanaga to a lumber camp, but there were no empty cars, and so they went back to the hotel, remaining there until about 10.30 p.m. then went to the Montgomery House Young or Peterson, said he wanted to see the old man Davis and would return in a few minutes, and gave witness 15 cents to buy cigarets for him. Donaldson went out to buy the cigarets and a plug of tobacco for himself, but found the stores closed.

He went back to the hotel, and sat about half an hour with a man named Trodin, waiting for Young to come down, as they agreed to board a train for Shawanaga during the night. He went to the washroom and saw the night porter, Trodin and witness went to Davis' room and found it dark and the door locked. Night porter Dixon and he went up again, and the door was still locked and the light out. They knocked and tried the door, but got no answer. He went to get the key and see if they had the right number of the room. They saw the register, and as they were going back, Trodin said: "There is the man you are looking for; he just came downstairs and has gone to the wash room." He and Dixon went up to Davis' room and found the door open as they touched it. They turned on the light and saw Davis lying in his blood on the bed. They hurried downstairs again, and Trodin said the man had left the house and was running down the street. Witness and the others followed him and captured him. Witness said: "You are the man that killed the old man in his room," Young said: "What in —— is the matter with you?"

Young had no money when he struck Parry Sound. Of the 25 cents given to him by Davis he spent 20 cents. He sold a coat to an Italian for 40 cents and spent 25 cents for liquor, and gave him (Donaldson) 15 cents for cigarets. That left him with just 5 cents before he went to Davis' room. Prisoner had told him he had been traveling with a Buffalo Bill show, and once had been in trouble for cutting a negro in the neck, but his father hid him in the canvas wagon. Witness had left town because he did not want to be mixed up in the matter. He started for Muskoka on foot, to look for work, had found a broken rail 14 miles south of here, remained until a train came, flagged it and was taken to Sudbury.

Donaldson gave his evidence in a straightforward and apparently truthful manner, not seeking to keep back anything.

CAUSE OF DEATH.

The evidence of Drs. Tandy and Limbert, who made the post-mortem examination, was to the effect that they found Davis well nutured, organs normal, had found two wounds on the head, but no fracture of the skull and no injury to the brain. The cause of death was shock from the effect of the blow or blows on the the head.

THE TICKET IDENTIFIED.

Colin Macdonnell, conductor on the C. N. O. Ry., gave evidence of selling two tickets on Feb. 24th from Wallbridge to Parry Sound. An old gentleman answering the description of M. J. Davis had bought a return ticket to Parry Sound, and he identified the ticket found on the prisoner (Young) as the ticket sold to the old man. Shown deceased's fur cap, he said the old man wore a cap like that.

Evidence was also given that the regular road of travel between Loring and Parry Sound was by road to Wallbridge station and by rail to Parry Sound.

Constable Forder said that the prisoner, after being warned that what he said might be used in evidence against him, at first said he had no recollection of what took place in Davis' room, but afterward admitted that he hit the old man with a bottle, but said he did not know what he had done it for.

THE WEATHER.

Fine and mild.

Philadelphia Car Men Want Board of Arbitration

(Special to The Times.)

Philadelphia, March 4.—At a meeting of the city council of Philadelphia last night, it was decided to leave the strike to the courts. "It is not only the city's duty, nor yours nor mine," said the mayor, "to interfere between the Philadelphia Rapod Transit Co. and its employes. The courts of law are available for the redress of any real grievance which either may have against the other.

Rutherford Government was Endorsed on Railway Question by 23 to 15

Edmonton, March 4.—By a vote of 23 to 15, the Rutherford Government, after a long drawn-out debate was sustained yesterday in the division of the House on the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway agreement.

Mr. Wool's amendment to Mr. Riley's motion for censure of the government, was the first vote taken, and resulted as follows:

Yeas—Rutherford, Cross, Marshall, Buchanan, Lessard, Walker, Telford, Campbell, McKenny, Simpson, Olin Gunn, McPherson, Cornwall, Cote, Boudreau, Puffer, Woolf, Shaw, McKenzie, Shaw, Stauffer, Bromley, Moore, O'Brien.

Nays—Cushing, Boyle, McDougall, Roberts, Smith, Stewart, Warneck, McLean, Hoden, Riley, Michener, Hoadley, Bennett, Glendenning, Dr. Campbell.

The questions thrown at the government were either not answered or given a non-commital reply.

The amendment authorized the government to accept the changes in the agreement offered by President Clark to Premier Rutherford.

Among the untertain members who switched to the side of the insurgents at the last were: Holden, Vermillion, Campbell, Ponoka, and McDougall (Edmonton).

CHALLENGED ONE VOTE.

Mr. Bennett challenged the vote of J. K. Cornwall (Peace River) on the ground that he was a member of the Alberta and Great Waterways Company. Cornwall denied the charge, and his vote counted. The challenge was recognized and referred to the Committee on Elections and Privileges.

Yesterday afternoon Attorney-General Cross read an affidavit from one Hopkins, denying that he had stated that Cross had authorized the sale of automatic 'phones on condition of paying $12,000 to a campaign fund. He offered to authorize the prosecution of Hopkins for perjury if the charges were sworn to, and would give prosecution to Mr. Bennett. The opposition leader stated that he merely repeated the statement made to the minister of public works. He accepted the commission to prosecute.

Duncan Marshall followed, devoting himself to Bennett, claiming the minister had been attacked unfairly, that if the road would be of a high standard, and would cost more than the guarantee.

BOYLE'S ASSERTIONS.

Mr. Boyle, the insurgent leader, spoke for five hours, and made a vigorous defence of his motives, and admitting he had desired the solicitorship of the Great Waterways, said it was in competition with the attorney-general's firm, who were now solicitors for the G.T.R. and C.N.R.

He criticised the agreement, and tried to prove that the bond issue was not one which it was in the interest of the Province to endorse. He asserted that the road, according to the specifications, would be constructed of the poorest material, and he challenged the government that the mutilation of the files of the attorney-general, was the result of a prearranged plot and because there was something to hide.

LABOR GAINS A POINT.

Immediately after the declaration of the House, O'Brien (Socialist) introduced a motion on behalf of the labor party that the government endeavor to secure certain requirement in the contract in respect to hours of work, board of laborers, and general treatment. This resolution was carried without opposition after a most amusing speech by the Socialist. He was called to order and made to retract his reference to the lieutenant-governor as a "scab." Reference to honorable members of the legislature as "fellows," was also objectionable. Hon. Duncan Marshall opened the debate at the beginning of the afternoon session, but his address was a failure as far as answering the questions put to the government were concerned.

China to have an Army of Thirty Million Men

(Special to The Times.)

Berlin, March 5.—A trained Chinese army of 30,000,000 soldiers, constituting a "yellow menace" to the white civilization of the world, is the alarming view that Prof. Theodore Schlemann takes of China's military future.

Prof. Schlemann declared to-day that China is preparing to introduce compulsory military service, based on the German conscription model.

Seven Men Rushed to Pasteur Home

New York, March 4.—Sir Edward Tennant, Bart., brother-in-law of the Right Hon. Herbert Asquith, the British premier, George Wyndham, and the late Sir Henry M. Stanley, arrived in New York yesterday by the Royal Mail Steam Packet Tagus. He will sail for England by the Lusitania next Wednesday.

"What do you think of the recent elections in England, and the present position of the government?" he was asked.

"Well, you see, I was defeated at Salisbury," replied Sir Edward with a smile, "but I am confident that the government will be defeated, and that there will be another general election before next July. Then the Unionists will go in with a whoop on tariff reform."

Naval Speeches Have Already Cost $100,000

Ottawa, March 4.— Mr. Donnelly (South Bruce) suggested yesterday afternoon, in resuming the naval debate, that a hot air chamber might be established in the Commons, where members might express their pent-up feelings. He figured out that the seventy-one hours of solid oratory on the naval question cost the country nearly one hundred thousand dollars, and there are three days more of it to come until a division is reached on Tuesday. His criticism directed against the inordinate length of speeches and wearisome repetition of arguments was well founded. Sir Frederick Borden delivered the longest Liberal speech, three hours and forty-five minutes. Hon. George E. Foster spoke for three hours and ten minutes. Of forty-six speeches only twelve were less than an hour, and eight of the twelve came within fifteen minutes of being the full hour.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. A few days' test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

The Dog Nuisance.

A prominent citizen said to The Times the other day that if the street loafers and surplus dogs were removed, Peterborough would be a pretty decent place to live in. It is a fact regarding the former that bodies of men frequently congregate on the street corners, where they stand, particularly when the day is fine. As for the dogs, we quite agree that there appears to be twice too many useless curs allowed to run on the streets. Something should be done to put a stop to the evils complained of.

OTONABEE NAVIGATION CO.

Annual Meeting and Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the Otonabee Navigation Company, took place yesterday afternoon, at the office of Mr. R. F. McWilliams, solicitor of the company. The following officers were elected for the year:

W. H. Robertson, President.
J. E. Henderson, Vice President.
Robert Pinchin, Manager.
Capt. W. H. White, Marine Superintendent.
Capt. George D. Frewer, Director.

The above officers constitute the Board of Directors for the year.

The company has secured the services of Mr. R. Pinchin of Toronto, as manager, and are preparing for a big season's business for the coming season. Mr. Pinchin entered on his duties yesterday.

COMET MAY CAUSE UPRISING.

Officials Seek to Prepare Minds of Chinese for Phenomenon.

(Special to The Times)

Washington, March 4. —According to reports received here by missionary societies, Chinese officials and missionaries are preparing against the unhealarded appearance of Halley's comet to the ignorant and superstitious millions in the celestial empire. Reports from the Christian Literature Society of China show that organization is distributing thousands of posters, containing descriptions and pictires of the comet. A member of the society writes that when he informed Chinese officials in interior provinces of the approach of the comet, they manifested the keenest interest mingled with apprehension for the possible effect it might have on the masses.

Posters that have recently been distributed contain the statement that the foreign powers are preparing to divide China and that an attacking force of French, numbering 60,000, is almost ready to begin hostilities. If Halley's comet should appear unannounced the missionaries and officials think uprisings will follow immediately.

BLOOMERS AND EXERCISE.

Miss Lash of Chicago, Tells Girls How to Live.

(Special to The Times.)

St. Louis, March 4.—Miss Bertha Beatrice Lash, physical director of Chicago, delivered an address this afternoon to shop girls of a local department store on "Physical Education for Women," in which she urged the advantages of the systematic training afforded in the gymnasiums of the Young Women's Christian associations throughout the country.

Miss Lash is an advocate of the "perfect mind, perfect body" theory. She said that no girl who works behind the counter in a department realizes the joy there is in living until she dons bloomers and exercises in a gymnasium. She declares that as woman has become actively engaged in almost every field of activity she is entitled to the best physical development in order to "make good at her work."

ANGER AT PARROT COSTS $30.

Gustave Allen Fails to Win Sympathy in Stern Justice Court.

Chicago, March 4.—"It's all right to have a crayon portrait of the first husband in the parlor and hearing how he didn't get sore when the coffee got cold at breakfast, but that bird——"

Gustave Allen sighed a despairing sigh and paid the $30 and costs fine imposed by Judge Newcomer at Des plaines street yesterday. He was arrested at the instigation of his wife after he had attempted to kill her pet parrot.

It seems the parrot, quite a talkative bird, was fond of articulating "George," the first husband's name. The bird had been a present of the former spouse. Gustave heard "George" before he went to work and after he came home. Tuesday night he didn't come home on time. When he did his condition testified to the cause of his delay. The subject of the parrot and its per monosyllable was on his mind. He entered the parlor of the Allen home at 1955 Warren avenue. The parrot was there.

"Oh, you, George!" squawked the fowl.

Gustave grabbed a razon. The bird screeched. The police were called.

SLUGGISH LIVER RUINED BUSINESS MAN'S HEALTH.

"My life for years has been of sedentary character," writes T. B. Tichfield, head of a well-known firm in Buckingham. "Nine hours every day I spent at office work and took exercise only on Sunday. I disregarded the symptoms of ill health which were all too apparent to my family. I grew thin, then pale, and before long I was jaundiced—eyes skin were yellow, my strength and nerve energy were lowered, and I was quite unfitted for business. In the morning a lightness in the head, particularly when I bent over, made me very worried about my health. Most of the laxative medicines I found weakening, and knowing that I had to be at my business every day I neglected myself rather than risk further weakness. Of course I grew worse, but by a happy chance I began to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I was forcibly struck by the fact that they neither caused griping nor nausea, and it seemed increditable that pills could tone, cleanse and regulate the system without causing any unpleasant after effects. Dr. Hamilton's Pills acted with me just as gently as nature—they gave new life to my liver, strengthened my stomach, and won me back to perfect good health. My skin is clear, dizziness has disappeared and my appetite, strength, spirits are perfect."

Refuse anything offered you instead of Dr. Hamilton's Pills which are sure to cure. Sold in 25c. boxes, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ontario.

Canada is Likely to Concede Much to United States

It is Up to the Dominion Members to Demonstrate that This Country Trade Relations is Not Discriminating

Ottawa, March 4.—Messrs. Emery and Pepper, the American tariff envoys, were in conference with Hon. J. G. Foster at the United States consulate this morning and afterwards saw Hon. Mr. Fielding and Sir Richard Cartwright. At least a couple of days will be occupied in making the inquiries which is the subject of their mission and upon which will be reached the decision of the president as to whether the general or maximum tariff will be applied against Canada.

It is pretty generally understood here that the mission is not confined to inquiry as to whether or not Canada unduly discriminates against the United States. Something more will be asked or strongly hinted at, and briefly stated it is said to be that the United States should receive treatment similar to that which is accorded the most favored nations as an incidental to the French treaty.

The fact that it has been deemed necessary to send a deputation of inquiry here at all is interpreted as presupposing the existence of some discrimination. If that assumption did not obtain it would hardly be necessary for them to come at all. It will be for the Canadian members to demonstrate that this country's trade relations, particularly by virtue of the French treaty, is not discriminating in its effect.

The government claims that such is not involved, but that rather the arrangement is wholly reciprocal.

Political circles here are not at all agitated over the matter. The United States delegates appear to be actuated by the most friendly relations and there is no reason to anticipate tariff hostilities. If they should develop the United States will be the aggressor. While the government is inclined to be reasonable the prevailing idea is that not very extensive concessions will be made.

There is already a very marked disparity between the tariffs of the two countries, that of the United States being about double Canada's. To extend to them our intermediate tariff on the commodities mentioned in the French treaty would probably be going further than the government at present is prepared to do. The idea of a tariff war is generally discouraged. There is nothing to justify the belief that it is impending, but if it should develop, Canada would not be the only country to be injuriously affected.

Decided to Leave the Strike to the Courts

Philadelphia, March 4.—The Board of Directors of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company met this morning to consider the offer of the striking car men made last night, that they join in petitioning the Court of Common Pleas for the appointment of a board of arbitrators to adjust the differences existing between the men and the company. Labor men say the acquiesence of the company in the proposed arbitration will mean the calling off of the general strike ordered to go into effect at midnight tonight and the return of the striking trolley men to their cars.

The offer of the car men was made through their attorney, J. Burrwood Daly, in a letter addressed to President Kruger of the Rapid Transit Company, following the declaration of Mayor Reyburn that an Act of Assembly provided a means of arbitration. The letter calls for a reply by noon today. In offering the arbitration proposition, the letter says:

"We are animated in this suggestion, first, because the statute represents an expression of the will of the people as to the manner in which said differences should be settled.

"Second, by a desire to amicably and justly settle the differences existing between us, and,

"Third, by a desire for an immediate and permanent restoration of normal business conditions, which seem to be in danger of being further disturbed by reason of the differences existing between us."

Although President Kruger stated to a committee of business men that the company will obey the law he has refused to comment on the subject of Attorney Daly's letter.

There was little change in the street car service early today. If the street car company put more in operation than yesterday it was not noticeable.

Looks for Another British Election to take Place in June

London, Ont., March 4. — Donald Campbell of Cold stream, and seven of his neighbors, who helped him try to manage a mad horse on his farm today are en route to the Pasteur Institute in New York, where they will be treated.

The animal was bitten by a mad dog some days ago, and died in horrible agony today. Campbell and his neighbors tried to attend to it, and received many scratches and bruises, and were covered with the froth from its mouth. They were ordered at once to Toronto, but owing to the hospital there not being equipped yet, will be hurried to New York.

Four dogs have been shot and many others are quarantined.

A SPLENDID INVESTMENT.

National Mining and Tunnel Company Place Block of its Stock for Sale in Canada.

We call the special attention of Canadian investors to the advertisement of the above company in this issue of The Times. We believe this is an opportunity to secure an interest in one of the best mining propositions to be found anywhere. The company is under the control and management of gentlemen of known probity and honor as well as business experience.

The company owns 12 mines (not mining prospects) but MINES. These mines already produced over $2,000,000 to the water level, where further operations were prevented by the flood waters. The company not only have 12 productive mines, but also 30 valuable mining claims, adjoining or near the mines.

The company will be pleased to furnish prospectuses and ful information to intending investors. All communications addressed to Mr. C. L. T. Fisher, President of the company, Lynchburg, Va., will receive prompt attention.

DECIDED TO MARRY.

Young Couple Who Were Arrested by Police.

Harold McDonald and Lily Weaver, who were arrested on George street on Wednesday evening and were allowed to go next morning, their case being enlarged until Monday morning, were united in marriage last evening at the home of Staff-Captain Walton. Chief Ruzzel stated that he would ask permission of the Magistrate to have the charges of vagrancy against them withdrawn.

PETERBOROUGH MAN DROWNED.

Maurice O'Brien Loses His Life at Tekoe, B.C.

A despatch was received in Peterborough to the effect that a man by the name of Maurice O'Brien, formerly of Peterborough, had been drowned at Tekoe, B.C., There are two Maurice O'Briens living in the West, both having at one time lived in this city. It is not known which one is dead but it is thought that it is the person who left Peterborsome thirty years ago. His parents then lived in Ashburnham, but they have long since been dead. It was learned to-day that he had a brother living in Toronto, and it is thought some relatives of his are residing in Douro.

The message was sent by F. H. Moher of Tekoe, B.C., to Mr. J. C. Sullivan, East City.

An attack of the grip is often followed by a persistent cough, which to many proves a great annoyance. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been extensively used and with good success for the relief and cure of this cough. Many cases have been cured after all other remedies have failed. Sold by all dealers.

TOUR OF INSPECTION.

Supt. Whittenburger, of the Grand Trunk Ry., and Mr. Nickson, head of the operating department of the Board of Railway Commissioners, are making an inspection of the level crossings along the system, concerning which the board recently issued an order providing for trains passing over them at reduced speed. The company is endeavoring to have the order rescinded.

"SICK MAN'S FRIEND."

That's the Name Given by Thousands to the Old Family Standby, "Nerviline."

No better known or more popular family remedy has ever been compounded than "Nerviline." During the past half century its success has been phenomenal—due to the fact that it always cures.

"No one could get me to go to bed at night unless I was sure we had Nerviline in the house," writes Mrs. R. R. Weightman, of Bolton P.O. "Six years ago my husband was taken badly with rheumatism, which affected his right arm and shoulder. It was so sore and stiff as to be almost helpless for four years. I read of the cure of James E. Everett, and felt sure that when Nerviline cured a case like his, it would cure my husband. I got a dollar's worth of Nerviline, five bottles, in Buffalo, and am pleased to write you that the fourth bottle cured. We have since used Nerviline for Lumbago, Neuralgia, Colds, Chest Tightness and other minor ailments in the family, and found 'Nerviline' to be the 'Sick Man's Friend.'

SATURDAY, MARCH 5. 1910.

THE DESIRE TO BE AMUSED.

The offerings of theaters and music halls in the old land have been described recently by Henry Arthur Jones as "legs and tomfoolery." This concise, if somewhat crude, way of putting it sums up in three words a condition which is not confined to the British Isles. On this continent, also, theatergoers welcome buffoonery where they reject the serious drama, readers of books are demanding fiction and rejecting fact, while poetry is giving place to nonsense verse. Even in the lunch room the diner passes over that which is plain and substantial in order to gobble a cream puff and a soda.

These things are not true of everyone, but they seem to be true of an increasing number. Men and women, apart from their hours of employment, seek mental relaxation rather than mental stimulus. They say that they are too tired to think: they desire amusements that require no effort in order to be enjoyed. Many conditions contribute to this result. The emphasis now laid upon what might be called the more practical branches of education may be in part responsible. In the desire for a pupil-product to "do things" the importance of education as a taste cultivator has been somewhat overlooked. Dollarship has perhaps replaced scholarship as the aim of school training.

However that may be, there is something very natural in the modern craving for amusement, an out-of-doors hunger so intense that we pause to wonder whether it is not the result of a certain form of starvation during business hours. Foreigners see in New Yorkers a type of men and women whom Manhattan has fashioned in its own grim process set until their very faces have acquired a common evidence of their rush through life; their souls centered in their commercial affairs. It may be that all large centers— and the large centers predominate more and more—are destroyers of mental poise. It has occurred to some that they drive mankind too fast during his working hours that he hungers only for mental rest when playtime comes. Cries for business speed may be the cause of modern mental dyspepsia. Perhaps we bolt our business as our meals, too fast. At any rate, citizens want verses that is not serious, and the theatrical magnates want plays that are what Henry Arthur Jones says they are. We may be altogether mistaken, but sometimes it occurs to us that if we stopped to enjoy the humors of the real life about us during the day, we might lose some of our craving for the artificial humors of the footlights and the ice-cream novel.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured.

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. A CAPTAIN OF INDOLENCE.

He Managed to Dodge Both Work and Matrimony.

By H. S. FRANK.

(Copyrighted, 1909, by American Press Association.)

Gabe was lying upon his back, his hands clasped under his head, gazing contemplatingly at the sky. He was twenty-five years old and barefooted.

Overhead a buzzard floated upon motionless wings, and Gabe's eyes followed it as far as they could without causing his head to move.

If he had any thought that was strong enough to be called an ambition it was to be a buzzard, for a buzzard was not forced to flap its wings to fly.

Times had been going somewhat hard with him of late. For one thing he had had to think, and the prospect was that before long he might have to do.

Cooner's daughter was now of age, and the understanding between the families had been that some time after Mary Bet was old enough these two should marry in order to save the seven acres on one side of the slope being separated from the nine acres which joined and crept over and down the other side.

Cooner was arbitrary, and Gabe's father, under the influence of Cooner, would be just as despotic.

Then Mary Bet was pretty—there was no denying that—and more than once Gabe's heart had thumped tremorously in her presence. In that state he had even looked about her cabin critically, it may be hopefully.

But Mary Bet did not like work herself. He had found the ax lying beside three or four uncut branches her father had dragged in and the seven or eight chickens pecking about without a sign of coop or shelter.

By that time his heart was again beating tranquilly, and he had viewed the scene with dispassionate forethought. Married to Mary Bet he would have to cut wood and perhaps make chicken coops and it might be would even have to plant a corn and potato patch.

The thought, made permanent by the persistent hints of Cooner and his father, had harassed him for days past, and this morning, feeling the need for absolute, unthinking rest, he had come out to this sunny spot where he could lie in his favorite attitude, with his hands clasped under his head.

But alas for plans! As the buzzard floated slowly beyond view and the unthinking eyes following it began to grow dreamy and heavy there came a sudden rasping interruption. It was Cooner admonishing his father.

"I tell ye," the strident voice was saying, "this thing's goin' on too slow. Fust we know somebody 'll be steppin' in, an' then where'll our two estates be? Divided. There's that Bill Tanner already comin' up to see Bet an' she 'lowin' him.

"Pshaw! He'd be for carryin' her way down to his cabin in the valley, an' likely 'a not they'd be for sellin' my seven acres some day. I tell ye, Mose, ye must be stirrin' up Gabe. He's a good boy and won't never be goin' off, an' if he's got a single wicked habit I've never heerd on it.

"I'll see the preacher this very day an' have him come up in two weeks. We'll have 'em ready by that time. We have to get Bet some new shoes, an' ye must see about Gabe's gettin' his hair cut. It's pretty toler'ble long an' untidy for a weddin'. An' we'd better be askin' all the folks to come."

Gabe had forced himself as deep as possible into the leaves, and he lay with bated breath until the voices and footsteps had died away toward Cooner's cabin.

Then he groaned and removed his hands slowly and despairingly from beneath his head. He must think and think quickly and hard or he would be lost.

Bill Tanner was peeling bark in the valley. He was a worker—not in the ordinary acceptance of the word, perhaps, but from the slope point of view. Gabe went to him there.

"Hello, Bill," he began affably. "Gettin' quite a heap, ain't ye?"

Bill nodded grufily. He had no objection to Gabe personally—only that he was welcome at the Cooner cabin, and that was enough.

"Hello," he responded. "But I 'low ye'd better come some other day. I'm too busy to talk now."

"That's all right," graciously. "I don't mind seein' folks work. Comin' up tonight?"

"Where?"

"Cooner's, of course," with a grin. "But there's no need to get mad, Bill," at the look on the other's face. "I ain't here to plague ye. I come down to sell my tater patch. What'll ye give?"

It was Bill's turn to grin.

"I've heerd 'bout that tater patch," he said. "It's two acres, an' old Cooner plowed it with his mule an' your dad planted it all up himself, an' ye was to do the hoein' an' diggin'. I don't b'lieve ye've struck a tick in it yet."

"I don't b'lieve I have," acknowledged Gabe frankly. "But what'll ye give?"

"Why, I thought they was your wedding 'taters," said Bill wonderingly. "I heerd Cooner say there'd be forty bushels an' that ye could sell twenty an' have twenty for a winter pot by."

"Yes, I heerd him say that myself," smiled Gabe. "But, see here, Bill, I ain't a-hinderin' of nobody. Bet likes ye better'n she does me, an' ye like her, an' the wust thing her dad's got ag'in ye is that ye'd take her away. He don't want her to leave. Now, there's ten acres that joins him on the other side, an' it can be had for $20. I heerd the owner say so. Can ye raise $20?" anxiously.

"I might part of it and the rest when this bark's done."

"Well," in a relieved tone, "ye git it quick's ye can. The owner'd talk half down and wait for the rest. He told me so. He tried to sell it to me but I didn't want no land to work.

"But ye must hurry. The preacher's comin' up in two weeks, an' ye want to be ready. Old Cooner 'll be all right long's ye own ten acres j'inin' an' two acres of taters."

"An' ye'll give up Bet?" incredulously. "Long's she likes ye best, of course, I ain't comin' in between nobody that way, Bill."

Bill looked at him earnestly; then his face cleared, and he extended his hand.

"Ye're the best fellow that ever was," he cried heartily. "an' I'm sorry for anything I've said or done. I'll be your friend after this. Now, what'll ye take for the taters?"

"Oh, that's all right," easily. "When ye're married and settled up there I'll let ye do the chores when I have any, so 'twon't cost ye nothin' but work."

Gabe went directly to Cooner, drawing a long face.

"That Bill Tanner's too smart for me," he grumbled. "I went down there thinkin' I could make a trade, but he's got my taters an' I ain't got a thing to show."

He waited long enough for his words to have their full effect, then added:

"I b'lieve I'll go out to Mexico or Maine or somewhere that way. The only thing is it'll be right hard for Bet to go so far, but mebbe she can stand it."

"Bet go to Mexico or Maine!" almost shrieked Cooner. "Why, you—you plumb idiot, Bill Tanner's worth a dozen of ye. Bet 'll stay right here. Now ye be gittin' off."

"But I thought"—

"Thought nothin'!" angrily. "Git along with ye."

Gabe went with downcast head until he got beyond the cabin. Then he began to chuckle.

His chuckles grew louder and louder as he widened the distance between him and the cabin, and by the time he had gone half a mile they had developed into roars of laughter.

In his present mood, however, laughter seemed all too ineffective as an expression of his feelings, and he stood on his head, turned a handspring or two and then walked on his hands for at least a dozen feet along the rough road.

Not in years had Gabe displayed one-tenth of the energy he now expended.

He was very tired, however, when his paroxysm of joy was over, and he promptly sought a secluded nook in the woods and took a long nap.

When he awoke an hour later the first audible sound he made was a chuckle, and he continued in this merry mood until the outlines of the parental cabin were sighted.

Much of the next two weeks he spent upon his back, with his face to the sky.

But when the wedding day came he was among the guests, smiling and happy, with his hair cut in honor of the momentous occasion.

Mary Bet drew him aside at the first opportunity, her eyes moist with grateful tears.

"Oh, Gabe," she whispered happily, "I shan't ever forget what ye've done for Bill an' me. It was fine the way ye got round dad, an' so smart. I—I never s'posed ye had it in ye. Bill told me all about it, an' we won't ever forgit. Ye must come just as often as ye can an' eat with us."

A Queer Cure.

At Loch Carron, Scotland, a certain cure for erysipelas is to cut off half of the ear of a cat and let the blood from either half drop on the inflamed parts.

Poisonous Snakes.

There are only eight poisonous snakes in America, and the proportion of poisonous snakes everywhere, except in Australia, is one in four. In Australia, however, the proportion is reversed, and three-fourths of the snakes found in that country are poisonous.

Convict Gardeners.

Instead of being put to ordinary jail tasks, long sentence prisoners at Hobart, Tasmania, are employed in the local botanical gardens.

Nothing in the way of a Cough is quite so annoying as a tickling, teasing, wheezing, bronchial Cough. The quickest relief comes perhaps from a prescription known to Druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And besides, it is so thoroughly harmless that mothers give it with perfect safety even to the youngest babes. The tender leaves of a simple mountain shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its remarkable curative effect. A few days' test will tell. Sold by all dealers.

CHRONIC CATARRH RELIEVED BY PE-RU-NA.

MRS. F. CARR.

MRS. F. CARR, Vineland, Ont. Can., writes:

"For several years I was afflicted with catarrh, which made life a burden. The coughing and hacking which accompanied the disease was terrible.

"The complaint finally extended to the stomach and I was in a wretched condition.

"I tried different remedies and the best professional treatment all in vain.

"Finally, as a last resort, I tried Peruna upon the recommendation of my sister in Hamilton.

"I could see steady improvement also after using four bottles of that precious medicine I was feeling well again. The old trouble being completely a thing of the past.

"To-day I would not take one thousand dollars for what this grand medicine has done for me."

Peruna is a universally recognized catarrh remedy. It will relieve catarrh in the most obstinate form.

Ozonized Butter the Latest.

Sterilizing butter by the J. Howard Bridge ozonization system has worked out perfectly. The worst kinds of butter found on the market have been subjected to the ozonizing process with the result that all rancidity has been removed and the butter has been restored to its original fresh condition. The process is one of destroying bacteria in butter, oxidizing the products of bacterial action and then adding to the sterilized butter only the beneficient bacteria which gives the butter its flavor. The ozonized butter, however rancid to begin with, has the delicate fragrance of clover, and in other respects is just like the fresh dairy butter. The process is being looked into now by New York capitalists, with a view to exploiting it on a large scale.

If troubled with indigestion, constipation, no appetite or feel bilious, give Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets a trial and you will be pleased with the result. These tablets invigorate the stomach and liver and strengthen the digestion. Sold by all dealers.

Cosgrave's Beer

Words of praise have ever prevailed in advertising "copy." That a producer should wax enthusiastic over his own wares is but human. But it's the praise of the consumer that counts—and it is to a discriminating and critical public that "Cosgrave's" refers you.

It is safe to say that no product of any kind enjoys a more enviable reputation than does this famous Cosgrave Beer of Toronto in districts where it is offered.

Its self-evident honesty of purpose, purity, brilliancy, body, and every other attribute that goes to make a perfect beer are ever in evidence.

FALLACY OF SUFFRAGE.

Church Paper Editor Gets "In Bad" on Account of His Lecture—Called to Task for Words.

Chicago, March 4.—Simon A. Baldus, editor of the Church Extension Magazine, sowed a wind last night from which he is to reap a whirlwind that will make a Kansas cyclone look like a gentle spring zephyr if the womman-suffragists who attended the sewing bee live up to their promises. Mr. Baldus lectured at the Association Auditorium, 153 LaSalle street, on "The Fallacy of Woman Suffrage," and his views have put him "in bad," as they say in police circles, with the suffragists.

The principal fallacy of woman suffrage, as Mr. Baldus sees it, is that women can't run their own homes as they should. If they can't run their own homes, he asks, how can they expect to run the government?

There was no interruption while he expounded his views on the question. As he left the hall he was introduced to Mrs. Minona S. Fitts-Jones, an active worker and official of the "No Taxation Without Representation League," which has just sprung into being in Chicago. He and Mrs. Fitts-Jones engaged in an argument on the question that attracted far more interest than the lecture itself.

The lecturer had asserted that the vast army of immoral women in the United States to-day is due to the fact that women have not properly reared their daughters and their sons who contribute to the delinquency of girls. Principally on this point Mrs. Fitts-Jones assailed him.

"You have told me things I never knew before," she said. "I didn't know conditions were so bad. They have come to be so bad under men's rule, and I think it is high time women were taking a hand in the administration of affairs. You have given us more arguments in favor of women's suffrage than we could have found elsewhere in a long time.

"You say we ought to be at home taking care of our children. Why, bless your soul, man, some of us have raised our children. Some of us are grandmothers, and our duty to our children is done. Who should object to our taking an interest in the affairs of our city?"

"I never was so disgusted and insulted in my life," said Mrs. John MacMahon, president of the Catholic Women's League, after the lecture. "I wonder that the men would sit there and allow him to say such things."

"Do you think they should have gone up on the platform and cleaned him out?" was asked.

"They should have thrown him out—they couldn't clean him out."

Mrs. Julia Ward Clingen, Chicago representative for the Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Legion, also criticized the lecture.

"He didn't advance a single argument against woman suffrage," she declared. "If his own mother had been here she would have been disgusted."

Similar remarks were uttered by many of the women as they left the hall, and those who are avowed suffragists are planning to make capital out of Mr. Baldus' statements.

"Suffragists advance the potent argument that by not being permitted to vote they are being classed with idiots and criminals," said Mr. Baldus in his lecture. "Idiots and criminals are the pitiable accidents of society. Now, if the right to vote is conferred on woman, she still does not escape the accidents of society—no, she encounters a still more pitiable class in the shape of baims and bawds. The suffragists are howling because they are classed with the confined criminals, of which, for example, there are a total of 2,400 in the State of Illinois. She forgets that when she demands to vote she is clamoring to be classed with bums and bawds, of which there are thirty or forty thousand in the City of Chicago.

"Fifty thousand divorces are granted every year. Who is to blame, the man or the woman? Sometimes the man, sometimes the woman, most generally both. Let us say that for 50 per cent. of the divorces the men are to blame. Let us say that for 50 per cent. of the divorces the women are to blame. In the end, however, the parents of each are to blame for not having taught their sons to be the right kind of men, husbands and fathers, and their daughters to be the right kind of women, wives and mothers. You cannot change this condition by a vote.

"For every divorce granted there are four couples at least living a cat-and-dog life—no happiness in their homes. Who is to blame, the men or the women? No matter, in the final analysis, again the parents. You cannot change this condition by a vote.

"There are, according to the state attorney's estimate from 25,000 to 30,000 women of evil repute in this city. Don't you think that if the mothers throughout the land were giving a better training to their children, this number could be cut down considerably? Statisticians and sociologists maintain that there are in the United States, conservatively estimated, 200,000 women living an evil life. Can you change this through the ballot box? If your daughter stands in danger to-day, the ballot box will not save her from the terrible fate.

"Miss Jane Addams, of Hull House is authority for the statement that in the city of Chicago alone, 15,000 young men and young women below the age of 20 are tried in the courts every year for infractions of the law. You cannot change this condition through the ballot-box."

DR. KOHN'S SPIRIT LIVES.

Public Schools May Yet Establish a Course in Social Hygiene.

Chicago, March 4.—The body of Dr. Alfred D. Kohn lies a-mold'ring in the grave, but his spirit goes marching on.

One of the pet projects of the well known physician and member of the board of education who died a short time ago was the establishment by the public schools of a course in social hygiene. It was his firm belief that this would be a severe blow at the very root of the white slave traffic and would also eliminate many other social problems.

He succeeded in converting other members of the board to his idea, and three months ago a committee was appointed to draft a report on the subject. Dr. Kohn was made chairman of the committee, but two days before it was to have held its first meeting he died. Lack of familiarity with the subject caused the board members to let it lie dormant until yesterday, when Dean Sumner revived it at the meeting of the school management committee.

Judge Stein and Dr. Walsh were added to the committee, which includes, besides five board members, the superintendent of schools, Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, and four district superintendents, two men and two women. At Dean Sumner's request the committee will meet directly after the board meeting next Wednesday afternoon and organize for business. It is the intention of the committee members to push the idea along until it has assumed definite shape and have radical recommendations ready for the board at an early date.

The Carl Schurz High School, scheduled to open next September, may be opened in a week or ten days if the hopes of Trustee George F. Wooster are carried out. He has been receiving complaints from parents of pupils who are now attending the Jefferson High School that they are too crowded, and yesterday he inspected the Carl Schurz School. He reported to the school management committee that part of it could be ready to accommodate pupils by the middle of the month. The matter was referred to the superintendent of schools, the architect and the chief engineer for a report.

Four rooms in the South Chicago High School, recently vacated when the Bowen High School was opened, are to be used to accommodate pupils from the Phil Sheridan School. The Sheridan School has been one of the most congested for several months and attempts to relieve the congestion had been futile until the South Chicago High School was vacated. The manual training department will be installed at the high school building, which will leave room at the Sheridan School for a gymnasium.

Plans are being made by Mrs. Young for the annual spring song festivals. After the various schools schools have given their own festivals it is expected that a large picked chorus will give an entertainment at one of the centrally located schools.

While it is often impossible to prevent an accident, it is never impossible to be prepared—it is not beyond any one's purse. Invest 25 cents in a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment, and you are prepared for sprains, bruises and like injuries. Sold by all dealers.

Get Well First

Don't risk even a penny—until health first returns.

And I mean just exactly that.

I am the one physician who says to the sick: "I will, out of my own pocket, pay for your medicine if it fails to bring you help."

And for 20 years Dr. Shoop's medicines, now used and recommended in every city and hamlet in America. They are positively endorsed in every community—and everywhere. Then why pay the cash, and of your risk, for other unproved and uncertain medicines? Thousands upon thousands have in the past successfully used Dr. Shoop's Restorative. When the stomach nerves, or the Heart or Kidney nerves fail, these sick ones have very quickly Dr. Shoop's Restorative will bring them back to health again. But best of all, they positively take no money risk whatever. They know that when Dr. Shoop's Restorative fails, Dr. Shoop will return to them my own personal check for the amount of money paid for that. And I'll do that on a full 30 day treatment is freely entitled. Just write me first for an order.

This will save delay and disappointment.

All druggists sell Dr. Shoop's Restorative and Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy, but all are not authorized to give the 30 day test. So drop me a line—for I have specialized on honest and responsible druggists in every community. Then, every day you buy "no cash" medicines to the Pay which bear your name. The latter will surely open up your eyes and behold those who are not well. Dr. Shoop can pay for a consultation just as you would your home physician. My advice and the book I offer are yours—free and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will show me some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription. My best of For it is yours for the asking. So write now, while you have it in mind. Or tomorrow never comes. Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

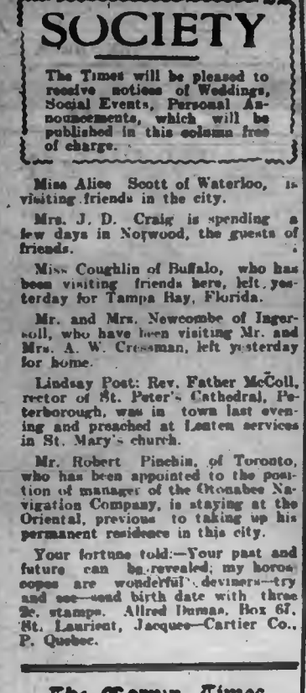
Fined $10 and Costs.

A local young man who is on the "Indian list," appeared in the police court yesterday morning and pleaded guilty to having been drunk the night before. In the absence of Magistrate Dumble, City Clerk Armstrong and City Treasurer Adams presided. A fine of $10 and costs, amounting to $15.25 was imposed and paid forthwith.



Get the Choice Oranges of Our 5,000 Groves

We pick, pack and ship 60% of the California Orange crop. These are of varying grades. The choicest selections are packed under the "Sunkist" label. To get the finest oranges you must insist on fruit that is wrapped in tissue paper with the word "Sunkist" printed thereon.

"Sunkist" Navel Oranges Are Seedless

They are delightfully sweet, juicy and fiberless. They are firm, thin skinned and deep tinted.

"Sunkist" oranges and lemons are picked by gloved hands, wrapped in "Sunkist" tissue paper, packed carefully so as to eliminate chances of becoming bruised or soft. No bruised fruit or fruit that falls to the ground is put in a "Sunkist" wrapper.

Look for "Sunkist" on the wrapper. Ask your dealer for oranges and lemons with "Sunkist" label on the tissue paper wrapper. Oranges and lemons without "Sunkist" wrappers are not "Sunkist" brand. Be sure you get oranges and lemons in their original "Sunkist" wrappers.

Free: Rogers' Orange Spoon

To make it doubly interesting for you to insist on "Sunkist" in the original wrappers—either oranges or lemons—we will give you a beautiful Rogers' Orange Spoon. Just send us twelve wrappers and six 2c stamps for postage, packing, etc., and we will send the spoon by return mail. Get a dozen "Sunkist" and send today for your first spoon. Address

(Charter Applied For).

CAPITAL $40,000.00

Divided into 4000 shares at $10.00 each, same being Common Stock.

Head Office and Farm—MONTREAL, QUE.

Incorporators: C. J. BELL, Manager. LOUIS P. RENE, A. W. SAGER

Room 53, Royal Trust Building.

The object of this Company is to operate a Poultry Stock Farm and to supply eggs, fowls, etc., etc., to the Montreal market. At the present time there is no such business being carried on in this part of the country, although in Western Canada and the United States many similar farms are being conducted with great success, and each and every one shows a handsome profit on the capital invested. By being the first to operate such a business in this part of Canada, where the output could be sold many times over, and with competent men to manage the farm, the success of the business is assured.

It is hoped to have the farm inoperation about the first of April, and we will gradually increase so as to meet the demand of the trade. The shareholders will have first option upon the output, which it is intended to deliver daily.

It is worthy of note that the freight charges paid to the different railway companies for transporting eggs, poultry, etc., into Montreal amount to thousands of dollars per year, said eggs, poultry, etc., being shipped from all parts of Ontario and Quebec, together with shipments from other provinces, all to be consumed in the City of Montreal, and in nearly every case those shipments are controlled by the Wholesale Produce Merchants, and re-sold to Retail Dealers, then sold by the latter to the consumers; therefore, it is easily perceived that in this way four profits must be divided from the price the farmer sells at to the price the consumer pays for the above-mentioned articles.

At the present moment fresh eggs are very scarce; so-called fresh eggs are being sold to the consumer at from 30 cents to 63 cents per dozen. We do not expect to be able to overcome this great problem, but we do expect to be in a position to furnish the Shareholders in this Company and other Retail Dealers with fresh eggs daily. Taking into consideration the number of eggs that are consumed in Montreal every day, the pricing of the output is a foregone conclusion.

In P. E. I. the average profit per hen for eggs a year is $2.00; in York Co., Ont., $2.75; in New Jersey, $6.00. It is expected that the average profit in Montreal will be $3.00.

It is understood we are to start this business in the right way. In the first place, only first-class fowl, such as hens, turkeys, geese, ducks, etc., will be purchased, and by purchasing a farm within the suburbs we will in a few years save the entire price paid for same by the saving of the enormous freight charges on eggs, etc., from an outside point.

A stray dog, which took refuge in a Hunter street livery stable, was shot by the police on Thursday night.

Croup positively stopped in 20 minutes, with Dr. Shoop's Croup Remedy. One test alone will surely prove this truth. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—50c. Sold by all dealers.

A bylaw to give the Hastings Tanning Company a fixed assessment of seven thousand dollars on their property in the village of Hastings was passed last week by a vote of 129 for, with 2 against.

The Hotel St. Lawrence, Port Hope, has changed hands, Mr. Blake Crawford having purchased the business. Mr. Bradburn, the proprietor of the building is making extensive improvements.

There was a Lenten lecture in St. Luke's church last night by the Rev. H. R. Trumpour, rector of All Saints' church. His subject was "English Cathedrals," and the lecture was illustrated by limelight views.

A failing they serve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the Heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The Stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing Stomach, Heart or Kidneys. His prescription— Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by all dealers.

THE FARMER'S PART.

The Canadian Grocer has published an article for the purpose of showing the part played by farm products in the present high cost of living. The paper concludes that the prices of farm products are almost entirely responsible for any increase in the cost of living. There is no doubt that the scarcity of raw material and the shortage of certain supplies have played an important part in bringing about the present condition. But the situation is much more involved than the Grocer apparently appreciates, says an exchange. While it is true that the farmer is securing good prices for his produce, and in some instances is selling articles of inferior quality, it must be remembered that the cost of labor, the price of agricultural machinery, the increased rates for transportation, and the higher prices paid for everything the farmer buys including mill feeds, etc., have to be taken into consideration. Nor is this all. There seems to be an extraordinary difference between the prices the farmer receives and the prices the city consumer pays for the food necessities of life. The fact is there are too many profits secured by the people who handle the products from the time they are sold by the farmer until they reach the consumer's table.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

We call the attention of the investing public to the advertisement of the above company in this issue of The Times. The company is well offered and is entering a field of activity which promises the best of results. There are many similar companies operating in various parts of the United States, with great success.

Mr. C. J. Bell, the manager of the company will be pleased to furnish further information to any who care to invest. There are only a limited number of shares on the market, so that it will be a case of "first come first served." The office of the company is situated at Room 53, Royal Trust Building, Montreal.

More Barnardo Waifs.

The number of Barnardo children coming to Canada will be increased hereafter by 300 per year, owing to the munificence of Lord Strathcona, who has given $300,000 for the purpose. This will mean more girls for the Peterborough home.

A Record Price.

Toronto World: H. P. Kennedy of Peterborough, one of the largest live stock dealers in Ontario, sold hogs on the Montreal market this week at $10 cwt. live weight. Mr. Kennedy is the first man in Canada to sell at this high price.

Former Citizen Dead.

Mr. John Lillie, a former resident of Peterborough, and a well-known manufacturers' agent, passed away on Thursday in Toronto. Mr. Lillie, who was 68 years of age, was a native of Ireland, and after coming to Canada resided at Peterborough for some time. For the past thirty-five years he had been a resident of Toronto, and prior to going into business for himself, some fifteen years ago, represented well-known Toronto wholesale houses.

Miss Florence McIntosh of Park street, has returned from Toronto, where she has been visiting with her sister, Miss Iva McIntosh.

Was Surgical Operation Needed?

Our esteemed Hunter street contemporary is having troubles of its own these days. In a recent issue the Editor told a pathetic story of how he had been visited by a book agent, an insurance man, and last by a man wanting to sell him a canary. The item winds up as follows: "He (the Editor), broke down completely when the bird dealer tried to get some money out of him." Evidently a surgical operation was the only alternative.

Silver Wedding.

Port Hope Guide: Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Martin of Strassburg, Saskatchewan, were entertained by their friends, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Gist, Canton, near Port Hope, Friday evening. Friends from Peterborough, Rosemount and Garden Hill, gathered to the number of about fifty, to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Martin on the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding and presented them with an address and a beautiful set of silver knives and forks.

Rebuilding the Line.

Norwood Register: The sleet storm last November, which pulled down most of the telegraph lines on the C.P.R. between Havelock and Smith Falls, has necessitated the reconstruction of the line. About twenty-five men are employed at the work, and it will likely be the end of June before the task is completed. The company have decided to construct the line in such a manner that sleet storms will have no effect on the system in future. During the storm communication was cut off between
